Hearing that President Pei had arrived at the gate of the community and wanted to meet him, Jacob was overjoyed.

He knew that President Pei came to see him at this time, and his tone was so polite, and he said that there was good news, which must have solved the problem of his return to the Calligraphy and Painting Association! The excited Jacob quickly calmed down and thought to himself: "The Pei surnamed man took the initiative to show me goodwill, he must have felt pressure from Master Don Albert! I must be dignified at this time, and I can't let him think that I really want to go back!"

Thinking of this, he replied: "It seems that there is nothing between the two of us that needs to be explained in person. I know why you do this, so let's not talk about it." As soon as the message was sent, President Pei, who was sitting in the car, felt a pang in his heart.

He handed the phone to his wife and said depressedly, "Wife, look, does Jacob not want to go back to the Calligraphy and Painting Association?"

Huang Qiuyun looked at the content sent by Jacob and was a little unsure for a moment. She murmured, "It is not impossible that Jacob does not want to return to the Calligraphy and Painting Association. After all, it is quite embarrassing to make a fool of himself. Later, he was tricked by you and kicked out of the Calligraphy and Painting Association, which was even more embarrassing. If he goes back now, I don't know how many people will talk behind his back."

President Pei asked nervously, "What should I do if he doesn't want to go back? The position of director is the best result I can get for him. If I really say to give him a vice president, let's not talk about which vice president will agree. The key is that if this matter gets out, everyone will talk about me, and I won't be able to bear the pressure by then. Stop!"

Huang Qiuyun sighed and said, "This is really a difficult situation. If you kick Jacob away, Jacob will hate you. If you invite Jacob back, Jacob will still hate you, and other people will be dissatisfied with you. This is something we have to do. Alas, it's all my fault..."

President Pei waved his hand: "Don't talk about this now, let's think about how to get through Jacob. If he doesn't go back, I will be completely offended by Master Don Albert. I used to think that it didn't matter whether I offended Master Don Albert or not. Although he was doing well, I didn't ask him to do anything. Besides, now we live in a society ruled by law, and he can't do anything to me. But I never expected that Master Don Albert's connections were so strong that he directly cut off my promotion. If I can't satisfy him this time, maybe I won't be able to sit on the position of the president of the Calligraphy and Painting Association for long."

Jacob was slightly stunned, and asked nervously: "With Master Don Albert's order, does he dare not obey?"

charlie Wade said: "Obedience also depends on the actual situation. This kind of thing is easy to cause misunderstandings. If he thinks that you would rather die than return to the Calligraphy and Painting Association, then he will definitely not come to beg you again. This is the same as a man and a woman dating. It's okay for you to control the other party, but you must grasp the degree. If you make the other party completely desperate, the other party will definitely no longer insist fearlessly."

Jacob nodded thoughtfully: "That makes sense... Then I'd better go and meet him. I must return to the Calligraphy and Painting Association, otherwise I can only stay at home and stare at your mother every day."

Coincidentally, President Pei called again at this time. Jacob didn't hesitate any more and picked up the phone and asked him: "Mr. Pei, what do you want to talk to me about?"

President Pei said quickly: " Oh, Jacob, you finally answered the phone. I just wanted to apologize to you in person and then tell you some good news. I'm at the gate of your community now. Don't worry, I won't take up too much of your time!"

Jacob deliberately asked him, "Can't we just talk about it on the phone?"

President Pei said in a humble tone, "Jacob, I know you must hate me in your heart, and I also know that I did a bastard job on this matter. I really want to make up to you as much as possible and try to make up for the mistakes I made, so I hope you can give me a chance. I won't take up too much of your time. Ten minutes is enough. I hope you will give me a chance because we have worked together for so long..."

Jacob was deliberately silent for a moment, then he sighed and said, "Okay, okay, I'll come out, you wait for me at the door."

President Pei was immediately excited and said, "Okay, okay! I'm already at the door, you can see me when you come out."

"Okay."

As soon as Jacob came out, he saw President Pei standing at the bottom of the stairs. When they met again, Jacob's hatred and anger towards President Pei were aroused again, and there was a knife in his eyes.

And the moment President Pei saw Jacob, his face was full of flattering smiles. Before Jacob walked down, he took three or two steps to meet him, and held Jacob's hand in the middle of the steps, and said with great shame: "Jacob, I'm sorry for you!"

Jacob naturally knew that the other party was just acting, so he said sarcastically: "President Pei, I have known you for so long, and this is the first time I found that you are a powerful actor!"

President Pei's old face turned red, and he said embarrassedly: "Jacob, I know you have a lot of dissatisfaction with me in your heart, and I won't hide it from you. It was indeed not right for me to do that to you, but I, Pei Qidong, swear to heaven that I really didn't intend to cheat you at the beginning. I really intended to keep a director position for you..."

At this point, President Pei made up his mind and said: "Hey, let me tell you the truth, the reason why this matter turned out to be different in the end is... It's all my spendthrift wife's fault! She was the one who kept whispering in my ear, saying that if I helped you like this, I would definitely leave someone with a handle. If someone with ulterior motives used it to make a big fuss, my own future might be affected. I was also blinded by greed, thinking that I had waited for so many years for an opportunity to be promoted. If I couldn't grasp it, my future might be completely ruined. That's why I decided to break my promise to you temporarily..."

Jacob looked at him doubtfully and asked, "It's not appropriate for you to pass the blame to your wife for this kind of thing, right?"

President Pei was anxious and said quickly, "How can this be called passing the buck, Jacob, I swear on my life that I was purely bewitched by my narrow-sighted wife. If I lied to you, may God take me away tonight!"

Jacob believed President Pei's words by 80%, and his anger subsided a lot.

So, he waved his hand and said, "Okay, let's not talk about this now. Just tell me what you want to talk to me about today."

President Pei said hurriedly, "Jacob, I came to you for no other reason than to invite you back to our Calligraphy and Painting Association. I have already secured the position of director that I promised you before. You can come back anytime and take up the position anytime!"

The moment Jacob agreed to go back, President Pei almost cried.

He had waited for so long just for Jacob's words. As long as Jacob showed his willingness to go back, he would have passed this hurdle.

As for whether he could be promoted in the future, he no longer dared to hope for it. Now he was very satisfied to be able to keep the position of the president of the Calligraphy and Painting Association safely.

So, he excitedly shook Jacob's hand, and said with emotion: "That's great, Jacob! After you come back, we two brothers will still fight side by side. Don't worry, I will find opportunities and ways to promote you little by little."

Jacob had lost his basic trust in him, so he said indifferently: "Whether you will be promoted or not, let's not talk about it now."

After that, Jacob deliberately pretended to be cool, so he pointed to the magnificent gate of Tomson Yipin behind him, and sighed: "Well, in fact, it can be seen that with my family situation and my age, there is really no need for me to work hard. The reason why I went to work in the Calligraphy and Painting Association is because I like it. I will do this job if I am happy, and I will not do it if I am not happy. As for what position I will be in the future, it doesn't matter. No matter how high the position is, I may not be able to afford a house in Tomson Yipin."

When Jacob said this, he was actually very insecure.

Although the house in Tomson Yipin was indeed very expensive, he knew that this house was not bought with his own money, nor with his son-in-law's money, but was bought by his son-in-law from others based on feng shui.

People always say that people who live in Tomson Yipin are either rich or noble, but Jacob knows very well that his family is not really rich and noble. It was just by chance that they got here and became the owners of this place. What he wants to do now is to establish his rich and noble personality in front of President Pei, so that he knows that he is not very interested in this job.

"Yes, yes, yes." President Pei nodded in agreement and said, "In fact, Jacob, I have seen it a long time ago. You came to the Calligraphy and Painting Association just for fun. With your family conditions, how could you possibly look down on the trivial things in the Calligraphy and Painting Association.”

Then he said, “But Jacob, brother, let me be honest. Sometimes you can’t just have this kind of playing mentality. After all, we are an association. If you treat everything as a game, many things will not be rigorous enough. In an association, once you are not rigorous enough, it is easy for others to catch you. Look at what you did with Zhang Ermao this time. I can see that you are also a true person. You are unhappy with that guy named Zhou, so you messed with him for fun. But once this kind of thing is exposed, it will indeed affect your development in the association.”

Jacob also knew that what President Pei said was indeed reasonable, and he defined himself as a true character, which made him feel a lot more comfortable, so he nodded and said: “It is true that I was a little impulsive, and I will definitely not make this mistake again in the future.”

President Pei patted him on the shoulder and said: “Jacob, let’s stop here and let it turn over. In the future, we will still be good friends in the association. I will always keep your affairs in mind. If you don’t trust me, you just have to wait and see my actual actions.”

Although Jacob was still angry and no longer trusted President Pei, he nodded very tactfully at this time and said: “Okay, since President Pei said so, I will definitely believe you.”

“Okay!” President Pei said with a smile: “It’s quite cold outside, I won’t keep you too long. That’s all. See when it’s convenient for you. If you don’t have anything to do recently and want to come back to work early, then come directly to the association tomorrow morning. I have arranged everything. If you feel that you haven’t rested enough and want to rest for a few more days, it doesn’t matter. You rest first. When you want to come, call me and I will arrange it.”

Jacob was almost going crazy these days in the UAE. It was not easy to get a chance to return to the Calligraphy and Painting Association. He didn’t want to let this matter drag on. It would be safer to quickly complete the procedures and get the position of director in his pocket.

Thinking of this, Jacob said: “President Pei, I went out to play for so many days some time ago, and I have rested enough. I will report to the association tomorrow.”

President Pei said happily: “Okay! It would be best if you report tomorrow. Let’s quickly settle this matter.”

“Okay.” Jacob said: “Then let’s meet at the association tomorrow morning. It’s getting late, so you should go back and rest early.”
