

The amazing son in law - The Amazing Son In Law

Chapter 7083

charlie Wade said: “Don’t be too confident in everything, let alone take it lightly. We should not be nervous or relax, and we should proceed steadily according to our established plan.”

After hundreds of cavalry guards left the station in Nigeria, Wu Shutong also left by car accompanied by Andre.

However, Wu Shutong drove in the opposite direction of the cavalry guards, heading towards Abuja, the capital of Nigeria.

The reason for going to Abuja is that Wu Shutong feels that hundreds of cavalry guards are now playing open cards and must have been exposed. Taking advantage of the opportunity of the cavalry guards to attract the other party’s attention, he took a detour from Abuja to Morocco, which must be much safer.

But Wu Shutong never dreamed that the vehicle he was riding in had been captured by the vending machine from the moment he left the oil field, and also entered the scope of Ai’s key monitoring.

It takes at least six or seven hours to drive from the oil field to Abuja. It was already morning when he arrived. Wu Shutong began to arrange for the emergency evacuation of the Right Army Governor’s Office on the road.

According to the normal working procedures of the Governor’s Office, it must have the basic conditions of one main and two backups, that is, one main station and two backup stations. Once an unexpected situation occurs, it can be directly switched to the backup station.

Not every member of the Right Army Governor’s Office knows about the backup station. Those who know about the backup station are basically the real senior officials and confidants of the Right Army Governor’s Office. In other words, they are the Wu family’s own people.

Even Andre doesn’t know where the two backup stations are now.

The reason for strict confidentiality is to prevent internal problems.

At present, the backup stations of the Right Army Governor’s Office are in Spain and Lithuania, the former is close to the Strait of Gibraltar, and the latter is in the heart of the Baltic Sea.

Once the emergency rotation is initiated, all work of the Right Army Governor’s Office will be temporarily stopped, and then the senior officials who know the backup station branch will organize everyone to set off immediately, but will not tell them where to go and how to get there until they arrive at the new station.

Wu Shutong only took a look at the map and decided to move the Right Army Governor's Office to Lithuania. The reason is that the place is the farthest from Morocco, a place of trouble. On the contrary, Spain is separated from Casablanca in Morocco by the Strait of Gibraltar. A small speedboat can drive there in an hour, which is equivalent to sticking a pole to the fire.

But on second thought, it seemed that choosing Lithuania was not very appropriate. When the time comes to report to the King, the King will know his motive for choosing Lithuania at a glance.

Helplessly, he could only give up Lithuania and notify the confidants of the Wu family to immediately prepare to move the entire Right Army Governor's Office to Spain.

At the same time, Jadiel also reported Wu Shutong's decision to Sara, and told Sara: "King, Shutong decided to go to Morocco to redeem himself and vowed to find clues about the enemy."

Sara raised her eyebrows and said: "Since he is going, notify the three elders to get ready and set off for Morocco tomorrow."

Jadiel asked her: "King, didn't you ask the three elders to wait for news in Nigeria? Why send them out at this time?"

Sara said: "A few hundred Cavalry Guards and Tiger Guards may not be able to attract the other side. The other side just defeated us once in Morocco. I think They would not take risks just to kill some Cavalry Guards and Tiger Guards, but it would be different if Wu Shutong went there. He was the Grand Commander of the Right Army Commander's Office. If the other party knew he was there, they would probably not be able to hold back and attack him. Letting the three elders follow him secretly would not only give them a chance to kill the enemy with one blow, but also protect Wu Shutong's safety. "

Jadiel knew that the British Lord was planning to use Wu Shutong as bait. In this situation, the other party had won a great victory in the first battle, so they naturally had no intention of fighting again. Unless a very valuable target appeared, they would want to pursue the victory. In this way, Wu Shutong was indeed a good bait.

Moreover, with the three elders secretly guarding him, Wu Shutong would not be in any danger, so Jadiel immediately said: "The British Lord is wise! I will pass the order to the three elders!"

