

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7416

Then, Tawanna picked up the microphone and began to sing with passion.

The crowd went wild once more, their screams echoing through the venue.

Backstage, Tawanna's team finally let out a collective sigh of relief.

No one had expected that such a major stage accident would have no impact on the performance whatsoever.

At last, charlie Wade could breathe a sigh of relief. Watching Tawanna singing with full focus from backstage, he couldn't help but feel a deep sense of admiration for her.

Setting aside her personal life, Tawanna's musical talent was truly unmatched. Every song she composed had a strong hook, which is why she consistently topped major music charts.

During the hour-long performance, Tawanna hardly took a break. Hit after hit kept coming, and for most of the show, the stadium echoed with the voices of tens of thousands singing along, creating a warm and electrifying atmosphere.

As the moment for Stefanie sun's appearance drew closer, she had already arrived at the lift and was standing by, fully prepared.

Just then, Tawanna wrapped up one song and began her most iconic hit, Romeo.

The instant the opening notes played, the audience erupted in excitement. Many fans had fallen in love with Tawanna because of this very song—her breakout hit and most recognizable piece.

As soon as Tawanna began singing, the crowd of tens of thousands joined in, their voices rising in perfect harmony.

After finishing the first verse and as the instrumental played, Tawanna spoke into the microphone: "It's a great honor to bring such a passionate performance to everyone here in Yanjing. For tonight's show, I've invited a very special friend to be my guest. This is the first time I've ever invited a guest to perform at one of my solo concerts. I hope you'll welcome her with the warmest applause!"

Fans were instantly surprised and intrigued.

Tawanna had always performed her concerts solo, rarely bringing on guest performers. Her immense popularity made collaborations unnecessary—after all, most other singers simply didn't match her level of fame.

This time, Tawanna not only clearly announced that she would have a guest performer at the concert, but also emphasized that the guest was a close friend whom she had personally invited.

This immediately sparked speculation among the audience, who eagerly wondered who Tawanna's special guest might be.

At that moment, the interlude ended.

All cameras and big screens on-site suddenly turned toward the five central electric lifts.

Seconds later, one of the lifts revealed Stefanie sun, dressed in a white wedding gown. As she was elevated onto the stage, she picked up a microphone and began singing Tawanna's hit song Romeo.

There were five large screens on stage—three on the main platform, including a central liftable screen and two fixed ones on each side. Additionally, two sets of high-definition screens were positioned on both sides of the stage. These side screens were essential for helping audience members in distant seats see the stage clearly.

When Stefanie sun's stunning face appeared on the big screens, the crowd erupted into near-frenzied cheers.

No one had expected that Tawanna's guest performer would be Stefanie sun!

More than half the audience was Chinese, and they immediately recognized her. Many of Stefanie sun's fans even stood up and applauded enthusiastically.

As Stefanie sun finished the first part of the song, Tawanna walked toward her and warmly embraced her on stage.

Then, Tawanna took the microphone and shouted, "Please give Miss Stefanie sun the warmest round of applause!"

At that moment, the atmosphere at the performance venue was electric.

It was a rare and almost unprecedented occasion to see two top female vocalists from the East and the West share the same stage, bringing the audience an unexpected and thrilling surprise.

When the duet ended, the applause and cheers from the fans echoed for several minutes.

Tawana then took Stefanie sun's hand, and together they walked to the center of the stage. Smiling warmly, Tawana bowed slightly to the audience and said, "Next, I'll hand the stage over to Stefanie. I hope everyone can fully enjoy her musical brilliance."

She then gently embraced Stefanie sun before stepping onto the lifting platform and descending slowly, accompanied by the thunderous applause of tens of thousands of fans.

With the spotlight now on her, Stefanie sun began her first solo performance of the evening.

As Tawana reached the bottom of the stage, a large group of staff quickly surrounded her.

The major mistake that had occurred earlier left everyone on edge. Many of the people in charge were still visibly nervous, unsure of how Tawana would react.

The stage director and equipment engineer approached her immediately, both filled with anxiety and guilt.

The stage director said, "I'm so sorry, Miss Sweet. The fault is entirely mine. I didn't catch all the potential issues in time."

The equipment engineer added with regret, "Miss Sweet, the equipment setup was my responsibility. The winch failure was my fault, and I accept full accountability. I apologize sincerely."

Tawana had no intention of arguing with them—her only thought was to find charlie Wade as soon as possible. She simply said, "You each made a serious mistake. If something like this happens again, I won't hesitate to fire both of you."

Relieved, the two of them quickly bowed in gratitude, as if receiving a pardon.

Given the nature of their work, following Tawana was undoubtedly the best job in the world. Not only did she hold numerous concerts globally, but each performance also brought in high profits. As a result, their compensation increased with the workload, and the bonuses from her concerts were far greater than those from working with other artists. No one wanted to lose this opportunity.

Tawana had issued a serious warning. To keep their jobs, they couldn't afford to make any further mistakes. This meant they would have to give their absolute best in all future work.

At that moment, Tawana didn't want to waste time dealing with the staff. She exited through the passage under the stage and, upon reaching the right side, began looking for charlie Wade.

Coincidentally, charlie Wade was there watching Stefanie's performance. Unable to contain her emotions, Tawana quickly approached him and said respectfully, "Mr. charlie Wade, thank you so much for earlier!"

charlie Wade smiled at her and replied, "No need to be so formal. After all, I'm also part of the concert staff in Huaxia. You're my employer, and it's my duty to ensure your safety."

Tawana nodded softly, her eyes already brimming with tears.

Standing on the high platform earlier, she had truly panicked—nervous and afraid that the concert might fall apart in her hands from the very start.

And when charlie Wade, through unknown means, managed to sever the faulty safety rope behind her, she had felt another wave of fear.

But remembering charlie Wade's extraordinary abilities—his calm, capable presence and his knack for turning danger into safety—gradually brought her peace of mind.

By the time she stepped onto the stage, her gratitude and admiration for charlie Wade had reached their peak.

In that moment, all she wanted was to throw herself into his arms and cry her heart out, to shower him with kisses. The impulse was so overwhelming that she had to stop herself from rushing toward him several times.

However, she was well aware that charlie Wade had no inappropriate thoughts toward her. And while the tens of thousands in the audience couldn't see backstage, there were still hundreds of staff watching. If she embraced him or tried to kiss him now, word would spread quickly.

Helplessly, she could only suppress the strong impulse in her heart.

However, her thoughts soon shifted to the idea of performing on stage alongside charlie Wade later.

Suddenly, a bold idea struck her—she could use the performance as an opportunity to publicly express her love for charlie Wade, right there on stage, in front of tens of thousands of spectators and countless fans around the world.

At that moment, charlie Wade wasn't paying much attention to Tawana. His eyes remained fixed on Stefanie sun, who was performing with full devotion. Watching her sing so passionately, charlie Wade couldn't help but admire her. Even in the presence of Tawana—an internationally renowned singer—and her massive fanbase, Stefanie sun remained calm, confident, and composed. In fact, she performed even better than usual. Her ability to rise to the occasion and thrive under pressure was far beyond that of ordinary people.

It was then that charlie Wade began to see Stefanie sun not just as a younger sister, but as a remarkably capable woman.

Tawana, observing all this, was filled with envy.

She could tell that, although charlie Wade deeply loved his wife, he also cared very much for Stefanie sun. It was clear that Stefanie sun held a special place in his heart.

As for herself, Tawana felt that charlie Wade only regarded her as a regular friend—and sometimes, not even that. At times, it felt more like a professional relationship built on mutual benefit rather than genuine friendship.

Meanwhile, Stefanie sun was captivating Tawana’s foreign fans—many of whom had never heard her sing before—with her powerful performance.

Even though the audience didn’t fully understand the lyrics, they still responded with enthusiasm, clearly enjoying Stefanie sun’s voice, songs, and stage presence. Applause and cheers filled the venue.

After several songs, a staff member approached and reminded them, “Ms. Sweet, Mr. charlie Wade, it’s time for both of you to return to the dressing room to change.”

Tawana nodded and said to charlie Wade, “Mr. charlie Wade, let’s head back.”

“Alright,” he replied.

charlie Wade agreed and turned to head backstage with her.

As charlie Wade began changing into his assassin costume, Stefanie sun finished her second-to-last song.

Soon after, the large screen began showing behind-the-scenes clips of her and Tawana, giving Stefanie sun time to quickly head backstage and change.

Stefanie sun and Tawana shared the same dressing room. When she entered, Tawana was halfway through having her makeup done.

Tawana looked at her and smiled. “Stefanie, your performance just now was amazing. Mr. charlie Wade and I watched from the side for quite a while. You could see how much the audience enjoyed it. I even checked social media—everyone’s giving you great reviews!”

Stefanie sun smiled and replied, “I’m just glad I didn’t hold you back.”

Her makeup artist immediately began working on her new look.

A few minutes later, Stefanie sun’s transformation was complete. She stood up and said to Tawana, “Tawana, you look stunning. The blend of Eastern and Western styles is beautiful. When you step on stage later, I’m sure the fans will be blown away.”

Tawana smiled and said, “As long as the Chinese fans like it, I’m happy. What I worry about most is being seen as disrespectful to traditional Chinese culture.”

“How could that be?” Stefanie sun responded with a smile. “I think your look is definitely going to trend on Chinese social media!”

Tawana nodded, but silently thought to herself, I don’t just want to trend because of my makeup—I want to trend because of my actions.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7419

While the audience was still watching the rehearsal highlights of Tawana and Stefanie sun on the central and side screens, charlie Wade had already arrived at the stage lift with Stefanie sun.

This time, he would take the stage alongside her.

charlie Wade wore a full suit of armor, a mask on his head, and held a sword in his right hand. Stefanie sun, dressed in a flowing pre-Qin style gown, stood beside him, holding his hand with their fingers interlocked.

As the national-style prelude began to play, a staff member called out, “Please get ready. Countdown to stage entrance: three, two, one!”

As soon as the countdown ended, the stage lift rose swiftly, bringing the two directly onto the stage.

At that moment, the stage scene changed dramatically. The backdrop transformed into a paradise beneath Mount Zhongnan, with a gentle breeze sweeping through a valley filled with colorful wildflowers and fluttering butterflies.

Stefanie sun, known for having no public scandals or close ties with any male celebrities, suddenly appeared hand in hand with an armored man, surprising many of her Chinese fans.

Throughout her career, Stefanie sun had maintained a pristine image, never seen in close contact with the opposite sex.

She never imagined that she would one day appear on stage in ancient costume, hand in hand with a man whose face was hidden behind a mask.

charlie Wade, for his part, felt a bit nervous.

Although he had experienced much in life, he had never faced something like this.

Tens of thousands of people filled the audience, and for someone stepping onto the stage for the first time, he couldn't help but feel uneasy.

Everyone had assumed that Stefanie sun would sing a duet with the mysterious man, but to their surprise, the masked figure suddenly performed a graceful sword dance on stage.

Everyone quickly realized that the man in armor was the dancer for this performance.

But why would Stefanie sun appear on stage hand in hand with a dancer?

Was it merely for the visual effect of the performance?

That seemed like too great a sacrifice—something completely unprecedented.

However, the audience's curiosity soon shifted to the masked dancer on stage, whose fluid and unrestrained movements were captivating.

Then, the music shifted in tone—depicting an emperor's reign and the people's suffering. charlie Wade sheathed his sword and prepared to part ways with Stefanie sun. She sang while shielding him from behind, her expression filled with reluctance.

At that moment, dancers portraying the enemy army appeared on stage and began to battle charlie Wade.

The large screen zoomed in on charlie Wade's every move, thrilling the audience of tens of thousands. It felt like watching an uncut action movie performed live, without a single retake.

As charlie Wade fought on with his sword, many in the audience felt their blood surge with excitement.

When charlie Wade finally defeated the emperor and returned triumphantly, another performer rose from a lift on the stage—an ancient-costumed beauty with blonde hair.

The screen instantly focused on her, and to everyone's astonishment, the blonde beauty was none other than Tawana Sweet!

No one had expected Tawana to perform alongside Stefanie sun—let alone see her wearing traditional Chinese attire, which suited her beautifully.

But the biggest surprise came when Tawana began to sing. Her pronunciation was flawless in standard Chinese, and her melodious voice was stunning—completely different from her usual wild image. It was unexpected, yet refreshing.

charlie Wade had already returned to center stage from the back when Tawana eagerly rushed toward him, throwing herself into his arms and hugging him tightly.

A wave of screams erupted from the audience.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7420

Then, just as Stefanie sun had done earlier, Tawana laced her fingers with charlie Wade's, holding his hands tightly. As they walked hand in hand to the front of the stage, the camera zoomed in and projected Tawana's face onto the big screen. She appeared surprisingly shy, her fingers nervously clutching the hem of her skirt like a bride on her wedding day.

Tawana had always been bold and uninhibited on stage, often dressing in daring styles. Who would have thought she'd suddenly seem like a delicate and bashful girl?

Still holding charlie Wade's hand, she sang her part of the duet.

With only one line left in the song, Stefanie sun stepped forward to harmonize with her, singing a different melody.

Originally, the performance was meant to end with that final line, after which Stefanie sun would bow to the audience and conclude her guest appearance.

But to everyone's surprise, the moment Tawana sang the last note, she suddenly rose on tiptoe, lifted her head, and kissed charlie Wade on the lips of his mask!

Though the mask was firm, it had been on charlie Wade's face for several minutes and had already grown slightly warm. Tawana kissed him passionately, separated from him by only the thin material of the mask—catching charlie Wade completely off guard.

The audience nearly erupted in shock and excitement!

Despite her sultry stage persona, Tawana had never displayed such intimate behavior with a dancer before.

This was a bold, intentional kiss!

And even with the mask, it was just a thin layer—enough to create a charged, ambiguous atmosphere that filled the entire venue and left everyone stunned.

Stefanie sun stood frozen for a moment—but quickly regained her composure.

She had long noticed Tawana's hidden feelings of restraint and insecurity around Charlie Wade. There was no way Tawana would pass up this rare chance to express what she truly felt inside.

The audience broke into thunderous applause. Most believed that Tawana's uninhibited kiss was simply a result of being deeply immersed in the emotion of the performance.

After all, the song portrayed the reunion of an assassin and his lover after enduring endless hardships and life-and-death struggles. At such a moment, passion and desperation would naturally peak—so her emotional display seemed understandable.

But soon, people began to sense something unusual.

If Tawana's kiss had only been driven by the mood of the performance, then why, even after the song ended, did she remain in that same posture—still holding the dancer, still lost in the moment?

She even unconsciously wrapped her arms around the dancer dressed as the assassin, as though unwilling to let go.

The camera continued capturing close-up shots of Tawana's face, displaying high-definition images on the big screen for the entire audience to see. Tens of thousands watched in awe as silent tears rolled down from the corners of her eyes.

It was as if she feared the man before her would vanish again. She clung to him, kissed him, and wept as if time had stopped.

The crowd was stunned.

Even Tawana's agent stood frozen in disbelief.

Only one thought echoed in her mind: How the hell am I supposed to write the press release for this? How can I spin this to keep the narrative on track and avoid suspicion?

Your unrequited love is way too obvious, isn't it?

Sister, if you really wanted to kiss him, couldn't you have waited until he took off his mask backstage?

You did this in front of tens of thousands of people! That clip's probably going viral on short video platforms around the world in minutes. You've guaranteed yourself a global trending spot. Great for you—but what about me?

Don't forget—you still have a boyfriend. He's back in the U.S. right now!

Can someone, anyone, please save me?!
