

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7551

Jacob fanned the flames and said, "Yes! This experience is extremely bad. It's really unreasonable not to come up with some compensation plan."

Many tourists around also echoed the sentiment. After all, everyone had spent a lot of money to come here, and they deserved some compensation for encountering a disaster for no reason.

At this time, Bernard Arno hurriedly hobbled in front of the crowd and said loudly: "Don't worry, don't worry about the compensation. White Horse Island will definitely give you a satisfactory answer. I can promise you that we will bear all the accommodation expenses, seaplane fees and air tickets to and from the Maldives for your visit to White Horse Island this time!"

Elaine looked depressed, and muttered to Jacob beside him: "This has nothing to do with us. Aren't all our expenses on the island charged to the good son-in-law's friend? We don't have to spend any money in the first place."

"That's right." Jacob was also a little unhappy, and whispered: "This boss looks quite rich. He donated 50 million to the Maldives military alone. We should ask him to give us some compensation for our mental damage, right?"

While the two were mumbling, Bernard Elno had already seen the dissatisfaction on their faces. He whispered to the service staff beside him and learned that the two had landed on the island with Charlie, so he immediately said: "In addition, we have preliminarily decided to provide each tourist with a compensation of 100,000 US dollars. Underage tourists can also receive 100,000 US dollars in compensation. Before everyone leaves the island, this compensation will be deposited into everyone's account!"

As soon as these words were spoken, there was cheering and applause from the audience.

One hundred thousand dollars is not a small amount of money.

The average per capita consumption of everyone on the island is only around 30,000 to 40,000 US dollars. Now the compensation per person is 100,000 US dollars, which is indeed a good deal.

The main thing is that no one was actually injured, and this is just a simple compensation for mental damage, which is really very generous.

Bernard Elno was already addicted to acting at this time. He not only had to satisfy Charlie's father-in-law and mother-in-law, but also the majority of netizens. A compensation of 100,000 US dollars per person would mean tens of millions of dollars in expenditure for White Horse Island.

But he felt that it didn't matter.

It's a rare opportunity to be generous, so just be generous to the end.

It feels like a stingy but spending-capable person who comes to a high-end restaurant and feels reluctant when he first orders one or two dishes after looking at the menu. But after ordering more, he gradually develops a sense of heroism: "F*ck you, I can't make it, so I'll just eat as much as I can today."

While Bernard Arnault was taking the opportunity to build up his persona, the Internet was praising him generously while scolding Blackwater as stinky shit.

More than three million people have voted in favor of the White House petition for a thorough investigation of Blackwater. Now that things have come to this, the U.S. government must give the American people an answer on this matter.

The US officials are also overwhelmed. If you ask who is Blackwater's biggest customer, it must be the US officials.

Blackwater was present in every war they fought in the Middle East. Blackwater was doing all the dirty work for them. Most of the oil that was stolen and sold in Syria was also secretly helped by Blackwater.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7552

In other words, Blackwater is the close younger brother of the U.S. government. Although it is not very visible in public, it has a very good relationship with the boss in private.

Now, people across the country and even the world are calling for severe punishment of this little brother, and the American officials don't know what to do.

If we really want to deal with it strictly, at least all the senior executives involved should be arrested, and then a comprehensive investigation of the entire company should be conducted to give the public an explanation.

However, senior American officials were also involved in this matter. They hoped that Blackwater would inherit the legacy of the Ten Thousand Dragons Palace in Syria and take this opportunity to bring down the Ten Thousand Dragons Palace.

But how could the American government possibly admit to such a thing? All it can do now is pass the buck and find scapegoats.

So, after an emergency meeting of internal senior executives, Blackwater decided to push forward one unlucky guy to take the blame.

The unlucky guy who was pushed out was a vice president of Blackwater and the one with the smallest shareholding in Blackwater's board of directors.

Blackwater's plan was to let this man take the blame and confess that all this was a personal conspiracy between him and the Syrian opposition and had nothing to do with Blackwater's top decision-makers.

In order to make the show complete, they even asked the unlucky guy to surrender to the US police himself.

According to relevant laws, the final result for this person must be life imprisonment without parole. In order to compensate him, other shareholders jointly gave 200 million US dollars to his family.

Although the shareholder was unhappy, he had no choice.

These shareholders were all tough guys who had served in the military and worked as mercenaries in their early years. If I agree to the deal, they can give me some compensation. If I don't agree, I might die at home tonight, and be accused of committing suicide out of fear of punishment tomorrow, and I will have to take the blame for them in the end.

As a result, the US government immediately announced to the world that the White Horse Island terrorist attack case had been solved, the planner had surrendered to the US police, and the US police were conducting an in-depth investigation into Blackwater.

This is nothing but a smoke screen to fool the public. They think that they should first show an attitude of severe punishment, and then stop the subsequent investigation after the public's attention and anger gradually subside. After another two months, most people will definitely not pay attention to this matter, and then they will directly announce that this matter was the personal behavior of the vice president and has nothing to do with Blackwater, and basically they will get away with it.

However, Charlie did not intend to let Blackwater go.

He wanted to make Blackwater pay a heavy price and let them know that the Ten Thousand Dragon Palace was never a target they could ever dream of annexing.

But now, Bernard Arnault is still strong and full of drive. If he holds on to Blackwater, it will surely bring great trouble to Blackwater!

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7553

An hour later, the Maldivian naval vessels finally arrived.

There was nothing else for them to deal with at the scene except the corpses, so the soldiers prepared to load the corpses onto the ship and take them back to the capital, Male.

charlie sent a WeChat message to Tawana, asking her to remind Bernard Elno.

After Bernard Elno saw it, he immediately said to Tawanna, “Ms. Sweet, please help me reply to Mr. Wade and tell him that it is rare for Mr. Wade to need me. I will do my best for this matter!”

After that, he said to the commander with his head held high like a rooster: “These bodies are all Blackwater mercenaries. In the presence of netizens all over the world, I will not allow you to handle the bodies in any way that is not in accordance with the procedures. The identity of each body must be investigated clearly. In addition, I also ask the US government to take responsibility for this matter. If these mercenaries are really Blackwater mercenaries, then Blackwater must give the public an explanation!”

As soon as these words were spoken, the head of Blackwater who was watching the live broadcast almost vomited blood on the spot.

Originally, they wanted to let the U.S. diplomatic department mediate with the Maldives and either ship all the bodies back to the United States for disposal, or simply send people over to deal with it. In short, the bodies must not be allowed to be seized and used as a cause for concern.

Most of Blackwater’s mercenaries have public identities. After all, Blackwater itself is a mercenary company exposed to the public. The whole world knows about its existence, and its people are also required to register their professional information in the United States.

In reality, these mercenaries were all living individuals with their own circles of relatives, social circles, and social activities from childhood to adulthood. Each person had at least thousands of direct contacts and hundreds of thousands or even millions of indirect contacts. Once the identities of these corpses were verified and made public, each circle of identity would trigger a discussion, and people would share on social media that someone was his classmate or his neighbor or his neighbor’s brother’s younger brother.

Moreover, once “insiders” get involved in online gossip, the general public will tend to pay more attention.

Blackwater wanted to lower the heat quickly, but once dozens of people started discussing it, the heat about Blackwater would remain high...

At this moment, the top executives of Blackwater were simply dead, Bernard Arnault.

However, no matter how much they hated Bernard Arno, they had no way to deal with him. After all, he was once the richest man in the world, had extraordinary influence, and was French. No one dared to take action against such a person. The people they sent out were unlucky enough to meet him today.

Seeing Bernard Elno's firm and resolute attitude, the commander of the Maldives military said to him: "Don't worry, Mr. Elno, we will handle this matter according to the regular procedures and there will be no mistakes."

Bernard Elno nodded and said loudly: "I am not the only one who is paying attention to this matter. Every victim present and every enthusiastic netizen watching the live broadcast will continue to pay attention to it. You must disclose the specific progress of the matter within the specified time, otherwise you will face accountability from people all over the world."

At this point, Bernard Elno continued very seriously: "And you must not forget that this matter concerns the reputation of your Maldives. Whether tourists will be willing to come here in the future depends on how well you handle this matter. If you handle it well, this matter will be an accident and will not deepen people's doubts about you. But if you don't handle it well, the public will definitely have strong doubts about your credibility, and then it is very likely to cause your country's tourism market to plummet!"

Tawana also said at this time: "I will continue to pay attention to this matter, and from today on, I will take at least 30 minutes every day to broadcast live on my personal account to synchronize the progress of this matter with fans around the world. I hope you will not let us down!"

If Bernard Elno represents the world's top aristocratic class, then Tawana represents the people of the world.

The influence of rich people lies in their money, not themselves. Many wealthy people, when they are rich, can call the shots in the local area and are known to everyone. But if they go bankrupt or go bankrupt, people will not even look at them twice when they walk on the street.

The influence of celebrities lies in themselves. They make the public like them from the bottom of their hearts through their works, their professional level and personal charm. Even if such celebrities retire from the entertainment industry one day, there will still be many people following them when they walk on the street.

Bernard Elno and Tawanna spoke out for this matter at the same time, which complemented each other's strengths.

One is rich and can call the shots;

A talented person can command the support of hundreds of people.

They both expressed their willingness to pay close attention to the follow-up of this incident. Not to mention Alexander from Blackwater, even the top leaders of the Maldives were sweating with nervousness.

They knew that this incident would attract such widespread attention from all over the world in such a short period of time, and if they did not handle this matter to everyone's satisfaction, it would be a huge blow to their country's reputation, and it was very likely that this resort would never recover from now on.

Tourism is the real pillar industry of the Maldives, and they will not allow such a thing to happen.

Not to mention Blackwater, even if high-level American officials came, they could not hide or cover up anything, because they knew very well that their country had no strategic resources and was not a strategic stronghold. It was completely unprofitable for America. America could not possibly support such a large population for them, so they could only rely on themselves.

The military commander nodded quickly: "Don't worry, although our country is not big, we still have a strong sense of responsibility!"

At this time, netizens all over the world have great admiration for Bernard Elno and Tawanna.

The two men's fearlessness of power amazed everyone.

Especially Bernard Arnault, he really made a big show today.

This is very difficult for Blackwater. What they fear most now is that the scapegoat cannot take the blame, and they are afraid that this incident will bring them even greater losses.

For Blackwater, this matter is like cancer. If it is carcinoma in situ, they can make up their minds to perform surgery and remove a certain part of the body tissue, and it will be considered cured.

But if the cancer has already spread, even if the lesions are removed surgically, new lesions will emerge. If this continues, you will lose half your life if you don't die.

Although the Maldivian military took a long time to deal with the situation on the scene, Elaine and Jacob were always in high spirits.

This was mainly due to the $100,000 reward that Bernard Elno had promised himself. The two of them felt like they were on a roller coaster ride, and at this point, they were so happy that they couldn't stop smiling.

The military only allowed the tourists to return to their rooms to rest after registering the information of each guest and dealing with all the bodies.

It was already late at night, and many people were exhausted both physically and mentally, so they walked back supporting each other with their families.

Elaine and Jacob walked out hand in hand. The sea breeze brought a smell of blood. Elaine closed her eyes and took a deep breath, sighing: "Oh, husband, I don't know why, it feels like the air in the Maldives has become sweeter!"

Jacob had a similar feeling, but he didn't realize it was the fresh smell of blood in the air. He said with a smile, "Oh my god, I came out for a trip and didn't spend a penny and picked up $100,000 for free. Not only did the air become sweeter, I even felt like the sea water became sweeter."

Elaine said happily: "Oh, it's New Year's Eve, and I encountered such a good thing. This is a sign of good luck next year!"

As she spoke, she suddenly remembered something and said with some disappointment: "Oh, what a loss! What a huge loss!"

Jacob asked hurriedly: "What's wrong? What's the loss?"

Elaine sighed and said, "Oh! Chu Ran and his son-in-law didn't come to the bar tonight! If they came, wouldn't it be an additional $200,000 in compensation?"

Jacob suddenly realized and blurted out, "Oh, yes! Damn! This is a huge loss! Two hundred thousand US dollars just passed by!"

Elaine said: "No, I'll quickly call them and see if they can get up and go over to register their names and information. I'll tell them that I forgot to register when I left just now, and I'll make up for it temporarily. Maybe I can get some compensation."

As he spoke, he quickened his pace, intending to jog back to wake Charlie and Claire up.

Jacob quickly held her back and reminded her, "Forget it, don't bother. They've already registered and the number of people has been counted. If you let them go now, what if they get caught? We don't understand the local laws in the Maldives, and we might be charged with fraud. Don't do this during the New Year!"

Viola Ma stopped and sighed, “That’s right, this is not like at your own doorstep, it’s better to be cautious, forget it, anyway, a good son-in-law can make money, and he doesn’t care about the two hundred thousand dollars.”

At this point, she smiled and asked, “By the way, honey, after you get this $100,000, how are you going to spend it?”

“How should I spend it?” Jacob shook his head: “I don’t know. There’s nothing to spend money on. I’ll just save it first.”

Elaine said: “Save a fart, I have thought about it. I will take a few days off after I go back, and then find a better place to travel!”

Jacob asked: “Where are you going?”

Elaine bit her back teeth: “Dubai!”

Jacob frowned and asked, “Why are you going to Dubai again?”

Elaine said angrily: “It was all your fault last time. You caused all those weird things and made me not have a good time in Dubai. This time when I go there again, I must have a good time and spend all the $100,000!”

When Jacob thought of Dubai, he couldn’t help but recall the painful experience of setting up a trap to trap Zhou Liangyun, but ended up shooting himself in the foot, and he felt uncomfortable again.

He was just about to say that he would not go this time, but Elaine warned him directly: “I tell you, it was you who caused me to go last time. You must accompany me this time, and you must compensate me well! When the time comes, take out 50,000 US dollars to buy me a gift, and that will be considered compensation!”
