

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7801

Upon seeing charlie wade emerge, Lin Wan'er (Alani) quickly stepped forward, bowed slightly, and said, "Young Master, I have consulted some classical materials and combined them with what I have seen and heard in the past. I have a general understanding of the hand seals you have been practicing these past two days."

charlie wade said with delight, "Miss Lin, please tell me about it."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said, "If I am not mistaken, the hand seal that the mysterious thing transmitted to you through the aurora should be the true hand seal of the Buddha Vairocana, also known as the Vairocana Mudra."

"The Great Sun Tathagata's hand gesture?" charlie wade asked, "What's the origin of this?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) explained, "The current Vairocana Buddha mudra is completely different from the real Vairocana Buddha mudra. The real Vairocana Buddha mudra is the meditation mudra of Vairocana Buddha, a mudra that truly possesses magical power. In other words, this is the mudra used in Buddhist practice. However, this kind of mudra with magical power was gradually lost. The mudra that has been passed down has become a kind of ritual in Buddhism."

charlie wade, unfamiliar with religion, humbly inquired, "Miss Lin, who is the Vairocana Buddha you just mentioned, and which Buddhist master?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) smiled and said, "Vairocana Buddha is the same as Mahavairocana Buddha, which is Shakyamuni. However, they are not absolutely equivalent. It can be understood that Shakyamuni is a 'manifestation body' of the Buddha to adapt to the mortal world. The Buddha has three bodies: Dharmakaya, Manifestation Body, and Sambhogakaya. The Buddha's 'Dharmakaya' is Vairocana Buddha."

charlie wade sighed, "Although Buddhism and Taoism have different ideologies and principles, they ultimately lead to the same goal in cultivation. It seems that the legend of cultivating to sainthood is not just a myth. Perhaps those sages of the past really did create their own Pure Land of Ultimate Bliss! I never expected to have such an honor as to learn the true secrets of Buddhism. It is truly a great honor.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) nodded and said devoutly, “I have been a devout Buddhist since childhood, but I have never been as extraordinary as you, young master. It seems that you are the one who truly has a connection with Buddhism!”

Upon hearing this, Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu were already moved to tears.

Ever since they first saw the handprints up close, their emotions have become extremely fragile and sensitive, and they would burst into tears at the slightest provocation.

They were already incredibly grateful for the opportunity Charlie Wade had given them, and now that they learned it might be the invaluable Great Sun Tathagata Handprint, they were even more grateful. In their entire lives, they had never imagined they would have such good fortune, and all of this was thanks to Charlie Wade.

So, the two of them held hands and knelt down before Charlie Wade again, sobbing uncontrollably.

Charlie Wade was having a bit of a headache. These two were really addicted to kneeling. They would kneel down at the drop of a hat, and he really couldn’t keep up with it.

He quickly stepped forward to help the two up, but to his surprise, they showed no intention of getting up and their legs remained bent at a 90-degree angle.

Yun Rugo choked back tears as she spoke, “Mr. Wade, you may not know this, but since the day I attained enlightenment, I have been like a rootless duckweed, a beggar in cultivation. Obtaining a cultivation technique or a single elixir is as difficult as ascending to heaven. I was even forced to grovel before Sara, acting as her accomplice and doing all sorts of evil deeds for her, just to barely obtain a few cultivation resources. But since I met you, Mr. Wade, I have not yet done anything of value for you, yet I have already received all sorts of incredible opportunities from you. The gratitude in my heart is beyond words. I can only say that I wish that one day I can give my life for you, Mr. Wade, and repay your kindness with my death!”

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7802

In the following days, the aurora no longer appeared precisely every night.

charlie wade waited a week in the polar region and only saw the aurora twice. In order to obtain more Great Sun Tathagata hand seals, he spent a total of four Qi Cultivation Pills in two transactions and traded another thirty-two hand seals from the mysterious object.

The sixty-four hand seals more than doubled the efficiency of spiritual energy growth.

Although only six pills remained, charlie wade was still hoping for the aurora to appear. Unfortunately, the warm current from the North Atlantic caused the temperature in northern Northern Europe to rise rapidly, and the snow began to melt gradually. Helena told charlie wade that the arrival of the North Atlantic warm current meant the end of the long winter.

The end of winter also means the end of the aurora borealis's performance in the Northern Hemisphere. To see the aurora borealis again in the Northern Hemisphere, we will have to wait until the end of this year when winter returns.

With the aurora gone, there's no point in staying in Northern Europe.

However, charlie wade felt that if the mysterious thing within his body was indeed teaching him the hand seals of the Great Sun Tathagata, then with the Great Sun Tathagata's supernatural powers, the sixty-four hand seals he had learned were likely just the tip of the iceberg.

His powerful thirst for knowledge was like an invisible hand, pushing his mind and body forward relentlessly.

However, he didn't know for a moment what other mediums besides the aurora could be manipulated by the mysterious entity.

Therefore, the safest way is to go to Antarctica. Right now, the Southern Hemisphere is in winter and it's the season for the aurora borealis.

Moreover, Lin Wan'er (Alani) told charlie wade that every year in March and September, the angle between the Earth's magnetic field and the solar wind is at its best for the formation of auroras in Antarctica. During these two months, solar particles are more likely to enter the Earth's atmosphere, so the aurora activity and brightness are at their highest, making it the best time to observe the aurora.

It is currently mid-March.

So charlie wade immediately asked Helena, "Does Northern Europe have a research station in Antarctica?"

Helena nodded and said, "The Nordic countries have three research stations in the Antarctic Circle, but they are all summer stations. People are only sent there in the summer, and the stations are closed and the researchers are withdrawn in the winter."

charlie wade asked, "So that means these stations are all currently unmanned?"

"It should be," Helena said. "I need to check with the relevant departments for more details."

After saying that, she took out her phone and said, "Mr. wade, please wait a moment while I make a call."

charlie wade nodded slightly, and Helena then dialed a cabinet member on her phone. After consulting with the member, she told charlie wade, "Mr. wade, I just asked about the specific situation. Two of the three research stations have already been seasonally shut down, and the other is conducting early winter tests in preparation for becoming a permanent station next year. There are currently four staff members there, and they will be heading back to China soon. Our research vessel is now being prepared in a port in Argentina. Some supplies and new equipment need to be transported to the research station. After the staff completes the installation and debugging of the equipment, it will leave Antarctica with the ship."

charlie wade asked her, "Could you arrange for me to go to Antarctica with the research vessel? After your people leave, I can stay there for a while?"

Helena said with some surprise, "Mr. wade, the temperature in the Antarctic Circle is already very low. It has reached minus forty degrees Celsius near the research station, and it will drop to minus seventy degrees Celsius or even lower during the coldest periods. Wouldn't it be too dangerous for you to stay there?"

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7803

charlie wade said, "There shouldn't be any danger, but the main issue is whether it's feasible to stay at your research station."

Helena thought for a moment and said, "I'm not sure if it's feasible right now. In principle, the direct management department will definitely not agree. I can try to see if I can mediate."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said from the side, "Young master, if you directly ask to stay at a national-level scientific research station, I'm afraid no one in charge would agree. This not only involves the misuse of public resources, but also many security risks. I don't think that would be the way to go through normal channels."

"That's true." charlie wade sighed, "It's winter in Antarctica, and the climate is harsh. It would be very difficult to survive without a place to stay. Even if I can barely hold on, you, Miss Yun, and Miss Song probably won't be able to."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said, "Why not try a different approach? For example, we could ask Helena to put in a good word so that we can get to Argentina first and catch up with that research vessel. We can just say that we're hitching a ride to Antarctica and then come back with the ship. It should be easy to open a back door like that. Once we get to Antarctica, you can use some psychological suggestion to let them complete their work and then leave, tacitly assuming that we'll stay and not make it public."

charlie wade nodded slightly: "That's one way. In any case, let's go first."

Helena agreed, saying, "Ms. Lin's method is feasible. After the research station is sealed off, it will be forgotten for a long time. As long as those involved do not speak recklessly after they return, the relevant personnel in China will not know the specific situation. Moreover, when the station reopens next year, it will still be these front-line research personnel who will go there. As long as they can keep the secret, no one will know."

charlie wade snapped his fingers: "Let's do it this way. Helena, please help us communicate with them. We'll go to Argentina to catch up with that research vessel."

Helena nodded and then asked him, “Mr. wade, if you want to stay there, you may have to stay in Antarctica for the next few months after the research vessel leaves. If you want to come back, I’m afraid there will be no ship to pick you up.”

“It’s nothing,” charlie wade said. “The main reason is to cultivate in seclusion. If I’m immersed in it, a few months will pass in the blink of an eye.”

After saying that, he looked at Lin Wan’er (Alani) and said, “Miss Lin, the environment in Antarctica should be much harsher than here. It’s easy to get in but difficult to get out. Why don’t you consider going back to Aurous Hill first?”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) shook her head: “If I go back to Aurous Hill by myself, I will definitely miss you all day long and find it hard to concentrate on anything. It would be better to go with you. When you are in seclusion, I can read books and write calligraphy. I can manage to get by no matter what.”

Helena was shocked. She could tell from Lin Wan’er (Alani)’s words that she made no attempt to hide her feelings for charlie wade. She was also very surprised that Lin Wan’er (Alani), who was so young, would fall in love with charlie wade, a man who was nearly thirty years old. She couldn’t understand why charlie wade always kept her by his side.

charlie wade could understand Lin Wan’er (Alani)’s dependence on him. For so many years, she had shouldered everything alone. Not only that, but many children also depended on her. She had to be strong and carry on with the burden.

Now that she no longer needs to take care of her adopted children or bear responsibilities for others, she is more like a little girl. Moreover, since I can protect her safety to a certain extent, she can finally experience a relaxed lifestyle. It is normal for her to rely on me more under these circumstances.

Moreover, he himself felt that it would be the best outcome if Lin Wan’er (Alani) was willing to go to Antarctica with him. He was also secretly worried that Lin Wan’er (Alani) would be in danger if he was not by her side.

So he readily said to Lin Wan’er (Alani), “In that case, Miss Lin can prepare more living and entertainment supplies to avoid being too bored in the polar region.”

Helena chimed in, “After winter sets in in Antarctica, the closer you get to the South Pole, the shorter the daylight hours become. By May, it’s basically polar night, which lasts for more than two months. It’s freezing cold and dark all the time, so life must be very miserable. Miss Lin, you should try not to suffer like that.”

Lin Wan'er (Alani) didn't mind at all, and said with a smile, "How could I feel miserable if I could accompany you, young master? If it were up to you, would you be willing?"

Helena never expected the girl to be so direct, and her question immediately made her blush.

Yes, the Antarctic Circle is freezing cold, and there are often long periods of polar night where you don't see the sun for months. Who would want to spend months there for no reason?

But the thought of spending a few months with Charlie Wade made that gloom vanish instantly.

But she also knew very well that it was no problem for an empress to disappear from the public eye for a few days, just like taking a vacation. But if she disappeared for several months, wouldn't the people go crazy?

With this thought in mind, Helena thought dejectedly, "Maybe I should just abdicate. Let whoever wants to be this damn empress be it; I don't want to be one for even a day longer."

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7804

For Helena, abdication is simple, but for the Nordic royal family, once she abdicates, the royal family is basically doomed.

Now that the throne has come to her, there is no one to pass it on to. If she insists on abdicating without an heir, there are only two possible outcomes: either the royal family will come to an end and there will be no more Nordic royal families; or they will simply borrow a king from another constitutional monarchy in Europe.

Such things were common before World War II. At that time, European royal families were mostly related by marriage. If no one from the maternal uncle's family was left, it was not uncommon for the family to send a young person to inherit the throne.

However, nowadays, relations between people are relatively distant, and the national concepts among the people of European countries are no longer as harmonious as before the war. They generally view other countries with prejudice, so from the people's perspective, it is difficult to accept members of other countries' royal families coming to be their kings.

Thinking about this, Helena couldn't help but recall the key point her grandmother had always emphasized.

The point isn't that she absolutely has to marry charlie wade or anything like that; the point is that she has to have a child.

She couldn't help but sigh to herself, "Grandma was right after all... No matter what, the royal family needs an heir..."

Seeing that she had fallen silent and looked thoughtful, Lin Wan'er (Alani) stepped forward and whispered, "Does Her Majesty the Empress also want to go to Antarctica with us?"

Helena felt that the little girl had seen right through her. Embarrassed to meet her mischievous gaze, she muttered awkwardly in a low voice, "I... I'm not as free as you guys, going wherever I want. The royal family's activities only have a few days of rest. Before long, we'll be participating in various activities and making friendly visits to different countries again."

After saying that, she sighed softly, "I'll make another call to confirm and see which day would be more suitable for you to arrive in Argentina."

Seeing that she was distracted, Lin Wan'er (Alani) chuckled and stopped teasing her.

Helena quickly returned from the call and said to the group, "I just checked, the research vessel is currently in the port of Ushuaia, Argentina, and is scheduled to depart in five days. As long as everyone can arrive in Ushuaia before departure, there will be no problem."

charlie wade nodded and said, "Then I'll coordinate the flight and have it depart directly from Northern Europe."

Yun Rugo couldn't help but remind him, "Mr. wade, don't forget that the Broken Qing Society's hideout is on a small island in South America near Antarctica."

Argentina is a springboard for them to spread their influence around the world. If we go directly to Argentina, won't we be walking into their trap?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) smiled and said, "Young Master and I have both tracked a shipping company actually controlled by the Breaking Qing Society. We found that they do have frequent flights to and from Buenos Aires, but Ushuaia has never been mentioned. Ushuaia is at the southernmost tip of Argentina, and also the southernmost point of South America. It is two or three thousand kilometers away from Buenos Aires. People usually use it as a transit point to go to Antarctica. Since the Breaking Qing Society has never used Ushuaia, it proves that their lair is not near Ushuaia. We will bypass Buenos Aires and fly directly to Ushuaia, which should be much safer."

Helena said seriously, "Flying from the Arctic Circle to the Antarctic Circle will probably take at least twenty hours. Such a long flight is very rare. Civil aviation enthusiasts will definitely be curious about the purpose of the flight and may even discuss it online. So, if Mr. Wade doesn't mind, I'll arrange the flight. It just so happens that the Nordic research vessel is in Ushuaia. We can announce that it is an emergency transport of a batch of special supplies needed for Antarctica to the research vessel in Ushuaia. That would seem more reasonable."

Charlie Wade nodded and said, "Then I'll trouble you to make the arrangements."

Helena asked, "When do we leave?"

Charlie Wade said, "The sooner the better."

Helena then said, "Then let's return to Osu City first thing tomorrow morning. I'll have them prepare so we can take off tomorrow afternoon. Also, I'll have someone prepare a set of Nordic identity documents for you, so it will be safer to enter Argentina."

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7805

The next morning, Charlie Wade drove a minivan left behind by the Nordic royal family, carrying four women, on his journey back to Ausu City.

Because Helena's trip to the Arctic was kept secret, she did not have a royal convoy escort her back. As long as Helena was with Charlie Wade, she felt safe enough and had no worries about any safety risks.

Most of the areas along the way were sparsely populated, so the return journey was very smooth, and a few hours later, they were already close to the city of Osu.

The international airport in Ausu City is located in the northeast of the city. charlie wade and his group drove south from the north to Ausu City and happened to pass by the airport.

charlie wade originally planned to send Helena back to the palace first, and then take Lin Wan'er (Alani) and the other two to the airport. However, when they were almost at the airport, Helena, who was sitting in the back row, said to charlie wade: "Mr. wade, the royal staff are already waiting at the airport with the documents for Miss Yun and Miss Song. The plane is ready for takeoff. I have also arranged for someone to purchase the daily necessities that Miss Lin needs. They have been packed and loaded onto the plane. Once we arrive, you can take off directly."

charlie wade asked her, "Shouldn't we send you back to the palace first?"

"No need to trouble yourself," Helena said. "I can't waste the time of all four of you because of me. I can also go to the airport to see you off. After you leave, I'll go back with the royal staff."

charlie wade nodded slightly. This was indeed more reasonable. Otherwise, he would have to go to Ausu City first, make a detour, and then return to the airport.

So he said, "Thank you, Helena."

Helena smiled and said, "Mr. wade, there's no need for you to be so polite with me. Once you arrive in Antarctica, if you need anything, please contact me immediately, and I'll try to coordinate a solution."

charlie wade nodded, no longer standing on ceremony with Helena, and drove directly onto the ramp leading to the airport.

As we got closer to the airport, the previously unobstructed roads suddenly became much busier, and the speed of vehicles continued to decrease.

charlie wade found that the road ahead was completely blocked, and his car could only slowly slow down until it came to a stop on the highway. He couldn't help but mutter to himself, "Why is it so congested? Has there been some kind of traffic accident?"

Helena leaned over to take a look. The traffic jam stretched for at least several hundred meters ahead, and the cause of the congestion was completely unclear from here. So she said to Charlie Wade, "Mr. Wade, please wait a moment while I ask about the specific situation."

After saying that, she took out her phone and sent a message. A moment later, she said with a grim expression, "Mr. Wade, there are environmentalists protesting ahead. They have blocked all the roads leading to the airport and are demanding that no one drive through. Some passengers who are in a hurry to catch their flights have already gotten out of their cars and started walking."

Charlie Wade asked in surprise, "Does your country also have such extreme environmentalists?"

Helena smiled wryly: "The most famous environmental activist is a product of our neighbor Sweden. In recent years, under her influence, many young extreme environmentalists have emerged in Northern Europe. What's most troublesome is that many extreme environmentalists from all over the world have been inspired by them and have traveled thousands of miles to join them in protests. This is not the first time they have blocked roads and held protests. A few days ago, they held one in Åsú, blocking the main road in the city center for 24 hours. Later, the police arrested more than 100 extreme environmentalists, of whom more than 60 were from abroad, accounting for nearly half."

Charlie Wade asked in surprise, "This time it won't take 24 hours too, will it?"

Helena said, "In general, the police cannot arrest people directly in this situation. They have to make their behavior have a large enough negative impact before arresting them. Only then will the public pressure be less. I estimate that even if it doesn't take 24 hours, it will take at least several hours or even more than ten hours."

Speaking of this, she sighed helplessly: "The situation in Northern Europe is rather awkward. Many people have very strong left-wing ideas. Take global warming for example, the simplest solution they can think of is to protest in the city center, block the road and prevent cars from passing, forcing people to walk. I guess the theme this time will be the same."

"There are all sorts of weirdos out there." Charlie Wade sighed helplessly, then glanced at the navigation. The navigation showed that it was still nearly five kilometers away from the airport terminal. So he said, “Five kilometers is not a big problem for us to walk there, but as the Queen of the Nordic countries, if you walk there with us, won’t people recognize you?”

Helena immediately styled her long hair into a bun, then put on a dark blue fisherman’s hat, completely covering her hair. She then took out a mask and sunglasses, and said with a smile, “Look, people are getting off the bus one after another. With so many people walking, no one should notice me. Besides, once they start, it’s unlikely to end anytime soon. Just leave the car here, and I’ll arrange for someone to come and take over.”

charlie wade nodded and said, “In that case, let’s get off the bus and walk!”
