

The Amazing son in law

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7816

The main reason why these Western environmentalists can act with impunity is that they have the advantage of so-called political correctness. As long as they hold onto this point, no matter what they do, others will dare to be angry but not dare to speak out.

Today, they lost this buff, which is equivalent to an opponent in the game who was invincible suddenly entering a state where invincibility is invalid. At this time, we should seize the opportunity to kill them in one blow and not give them a chance to escape. Otherwise, once they reactivate the invincibility buff, everyone will be helpless against them again.

charlie wade's advice to Helena was to seize this rare opportunity and deliver a fatal blow to these people.

If she successfully kills her opponent, she will become the savior of all normal people in Europe.

Helena understood charlie wade's meaning. Without hesitation, she immediately said, "Okay, Mr. wade, I'll contact the police chief right now and ask them to conduct a thorough investigation! At the same time, I'll keep you informed with the Swedish side and follow up on the progress."

After saying that, she took out her phone and dialed a series of numbers.

As soon as the call connected, she immediately issued orders, demanding that the police go to the scene immediately, take all the protesters to the police station for investigation, focus on Park Soo-hyun, make sure to get all his statements, and then dismantle the organization from within, trying to get others to reveal more secrets of the organization.

At this moment, online discussions about this matter have become increasingly heated.

The people of Europe have almost all been harassed and interfered with by these so-called environmental volunteers. Now, this farce has suddenly broken out, revealing the true face of this organization to everyone.

However, everyone knows very well that knowing the true nature of these people is not enough. The allegations in the video have not been verified. Even if they are true, they need to be investigated by a country's law enforcement agencies to provide a final solution. If no follow-up action is taken, the final result may very well be that nothing is resolved.

Initially, everyone was waiting for the Swedish government to make a statement, but the Swedish government remained silent on the matter. The reasons for their silence were simple: firstly, they did not want to get involved in this mess, and secondly, they were somewhat wary of these extreme environmentalists. If they angered them, there would be more and more related protests in the country, and they would be the ones who would be in a mess.

In fact, many European countries share this mentality, which is why these people cause trouble everywhere, but rarely receive any real severe punishment. If they go too far, at most they'll be arrested and detained for a couple of days, and then released after a show of it.

However, Sweden did not expect that the Nordic countries would try a different approach this time.

Just as Charlie Wade and his group boarded the flight to Argentina, the Nordic police received instructions from Queen Helena to bring all those who participated in the protests back to the station for questioning.

Although Helena is merely a national mascot and has no actual political power, she is theoretically the highest leader of the country. Even the prime minister must meet with her regularly to report on his work, which is just a formality.

If the Nordic government were to decide to declare war on another country, it would have to ask Queen Helena to read the declaration of war.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7817

Moreover, she currently enjoys extremely high public approval ratings. If the ruling party doesn't cultivate a good relationship with her, and she subtly expresses her dissatisfaction with the current government, it will definitely affect their votes in the next election.

In addition, Helena herself has the authority to make suggestions to various departments in the country, so these departments naturally dare not neglect her.

Since Her Majesty the Queen has instructed that these environmentalists be thoroughly investigated, the Nordic police immediately began to go all out.

This incident had already garnered significant attention online, so when Nordic media learned that their national police had taken action, they flocked to the police station in charge of the case for interviews. Following Helena's instructions, the police chief told the media, "Her Majesty the Queen is very concerned about this incident. She believes it has disrupted the normal lives of the Nordic people and violated their legitimate rights as citizens. Therefore, she has instructed us to thoroughly investigate this matter, and we will keep the public informed of our progress in real time."

This news caused quite a stir throughout Europe.

No one expected that the young, beautiful, and respected Nordic Queen would also take notice of this matter and would even demand that the Nordic police investigate it thoroughly, which has made many people look forward to the next development of this matter.

While Charlie Wade and his group were flying over the Atlantic Ocean, the Nordic police had already obtained many very explosive statements.

Using Park Soo-hyun as a breakthrough point, they successively conquered many young people within the organization who hadn't earned much money, were timid, and had fragile psychological defenses.

As a result, the organization's structure and related network of interests were clearly identified.

Park Soo-hyun's understanding of this organization was not comprehensive. However, the police investigation revealed that almost every protest organized by this organization over the years had a sponsor behind it. If the protest was against a certain industry, there was always another industry that was in competition with it fueling the flames. If the protest was against a certain company, there was always its competitor secretly supporting it.

These competitors would even tell the target companies some environmental vulnerabilities, allowing them to target them effectively and deliver a fatal blow. Many European companies suffered reputational damage, sharp declines in revenue, and even bankruptcy due to their deliberate targeting.

When these statements were presented to Helena, the head of the police system said cautiously, “Your Majesty, this content is a bit too explosive. What do you intend to do with it?”

After reviewing the documents, Helena said calmly, “Have the Ministry of Foreign Affairs send these materials to Sweden. Tell them that I, Helena Iliad, demand that they thoroughly investigate this matter and not let any potential suspects escape justice. We must not allow such a hypocritical organization to wreak havoc on Northern Europe again.”

After saying that, Helena instructed him: “By the way, you should make this public and release it to the media at the same time to put pressure on Sweden.”

The person in charge hesitated for a moment, then said respectfully, “Your Majesty, isn’t this a bit too radical? There are far more environmentalists in Europe than just the hundred or so we’ve arrested; there are at least tens of thousands. Offending them could cause serious trouble in the future.”

Helena asked him, “Do you know how many people live in the European Union?”

The person in charge said, “About four or five hundred million.”

Helena nodded and said calmly, “Even if they make up one percent of the population of four or five hundred million, so what? There are still ninety-nine percent of people who are no different from them. We are doing something righteous. As long as the majority of people are on our side, we have nothing to worry about or be afraid of.”

After saying that, she remembered Charlie Wade’s words and said firmly, “The people of Europe have been tormented by them for a long time, and everyone dares not speak out against them. It’s time to change this situation where the kind are bullied!”

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7818

In the past, the royal family was mostly a mascot, and occasionally a puppet of the ruling government. The government would only call on the royal family when needed, and at other times the royal family had no chance to interfere in state affairs.

Moreover, the ruling party and cabinet have always been wary of the royal family, giving them superficial respect but preventing them from interfering in national affairs.

However, Helena's influence in Northern Europe is extraordinary, and she enjoys an excellent reputation throughout Europe and even the world. While bringing a perfect international image to Northern Europe, she has also brought in a lot of investment. With such a queen's help, the current Nordic government can be greatly relieved of pressure. Therefore, the government attaches great importance to her and is even willing to let Helena participate in national affairs to a certain extent. They will seriously consider Helena's suggestions and try to adopt them, which has given Helena a certain degree of so-called real power.

Her suggestions on how to handle the incident were quickly approved by the Nordic government. The government was well aware of the people's hatred of extreme environmentalism and their inability to speak out. Now that they had such a good opportunity to take action against them, whoever seized it would be a hero.

Of course, the only slightly unfair aspect of this matter is that it involves dragging Sweden down. Once the state intervenes, it's like putting Sweden in a very difficult position. If Sweden resolves the issue properly, in the eyes of the public, it can only be considered as making amends. But if Sweden can't resolve it, then it has to honestly bear the blame.

In contrast, no matter how Sweden handles this situation, it won't stop the Nordic countries from becoming heroes.

Therefore, the Nordic government released all the details of the matter to the media, while also sending the information to Sweden through diplomatic means and making a public statement to the media.

Helena herself, speaking to the media, stated firmly: "As the Queen of the Nordic countries, I demand that the Nordic police severely punish these lawbreakers who disrupt the normal order of Nordic society. Those who seriously violate Nordic laws should be handed over to the Nordic judicial authorities, and all others should be deported. I also demand that the immigration authorities impose a ten-year ban on these individuals from entering the Nordic countries. Furthermore, I publicly appeal to the Swedish government to conduct a thorough investigation into this organization that uses environmental protection as a pretext to amass wealth and seriously disrupts the lives of European people and the operation of businesses. I urge them to uncover every dirty and criminal act they have committed and punish them severely. I hope the Swedish government can conduct a fair, efficient, and swift investigation and handle this matter openly, fairly, efficiently, and quickly, and eradicate these black sheep from Europe!”

After being reported by major media outlets, Helena’s video instantly made headlines across Europe and became the most popular content on social media and video platforms throughout the continent.

No one expected that Queen Helena, whose influence rivals that of top celebrities, would personally demand that the Nordic government arrest those extreme environmentalists, and even directly called on the Swedish government in a video to severely punish their organization.

It’s important to understand that other countries have long been bullied by these people, but very few have actually been arrested. Even if they are symbolically arrested, they are quickly released after being criticized and educated, without any further judicial proceedings. It’s unprecedented for a country like Northern Europe to arrest more than a hundred people at once and have the judicial authorities go through the process directly.

Helena’s tough stance was also supported by a very good moral foundation. As the Queen of the Nordic countries, she showed no mercy to these lawbreakers who disrupted the Nordic order, making her the best example of loving her people like her own children.

Europeans were immediately thrilled and expressed their support and admiration for Helena online.

In the video, Helena is not only elegant and beautiful, but her voice is also melodious yet carries a powerful aura. Her undeniable strong attitude, combined with her flawless beauty, instantly maximizes her charm.

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7819

Europe has been detached from the world's cultural center for over a century, and in that time, it has produced almost no national idols. But now, Helena has all the elements of a European national idol.

In terms of appearance, she is impeccable;

In terms of status, they were incomparably noble;

In terms of charm, no one can match her;

More importantly, her humanity shines brightly; she is not only incredibly inspiring but also utterly flawless.

The European people love her to the core; men, women, and children all hold her in high esteem. This positive influence that covers the whole of Europe is something that no one in history has ever achieved. After all, Europe was never peaceful in the past, with various wars that have been going on for thousands of years. What is an idol in the eyes of the people of one country may be a devil in the eyes of the people of another country. It is rare for anyone to be universally recognized.

Many people online even say that the last European empress with such a strong will was probably Catherine II of Russia in 1762, who seized the throne through a coup.

Helena's reputation in Europe has reached a new level.

However, the Swedish authorities were suddenly put in a very passive position.

When many of the organization's misdeeds were exposed, Sweden itself was blamed for inadequate oversight. Every month, people all over Europe would mail hundreds of tons of used clothes to the organization's headquarters in Sweden, with donors even bearing the postage costs. After arriving in Sweden, these used clothes were brazenly packaged and sold to Africa by a so-called environmental organization, and the relevant Swedish departments were completely unaware.

Moreover, this is not the worst of all.

The most egregious acts are those demonstrations specifically targeting certain companies with ulterior motives. For money, they become the most unethical accomplices in business competition, forcing many companies to suffer losses or even go bankrupt, and causing countless employees to lose their jobs. If the evidence is conclusive, many of them will be sentenced to prison.

Swedish officials immediately convened an emergency meeting to discuss the current situation and how to handle it. At the meeting, the officials unanimously criticized Helena, believing that she had obviously climbed the social ladder by stepping on Sweden. After a long period of condemnation, they sat down dejectedly to discuss what to do next.

The reason why the Swedish government turned a blind eye to them was that although their behavior was somewhat extreme, they were indeed pioneers of environmental protection in Europe before their actions backfired. According to common sense, the more pioneers a country produces, the more it shows that the country itself is a leader in environmental protection.

In recent years, as the environmental girl's fame has continued to rise around the world, Sweden has become the environmental center of Europe. She has become famous, and her country will naturally benefit as well. Why not?

However, Sweden did not expect that these environmental pioneers would collapse so quickly. This time, hundreds of people were arrested in one go in the Nordic countries, and the entire huge environmental camp was wiped out, which immediately put the government in the spotlight.

Now, all of Europe is waiting for a public statement from the Swedish government, which is practically forcing the authorities to stand up and take the hit.

Although the Swedish government was frustrated, it knew that it had no other choice at the moment. So it could only publicly announce to the media that it had decided to thoroughly investigate domestic environmental organizations, accept public supervision, and release the investigation results to the public as soon as possible.

At this moment when Sweden stood firm and accepted the blows, in the eyes of the European people, it was a huge victory for Helena alone.

As a result, Helena's popularity soared once again, making her a national idol throughout Europe!

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7820

The overwhelming media coverage and the widespread praise from the public across the internet surprised Helena and the entire Nordic government. No one expected that seizing this opportunity would have such a huge impact.

Online, in addition to praising Helena's decisiveness and courage this time, many people have also reviewed her series of actions since her ascension to the throne. Looking back on her journey, people have found that this young and beautiful empress has taken each step steadily and with great steadiness.

Beautiful, composed, capable, and righteous, Helena possesses almost all the qualities that royalty desires, naturally boosting her prestige.

charlie wade, the mastermind behind all of this, has quietly landed in Ushuaia, the southernmost port city in Argentina, known as the end of the world.

After charlie wade and the three beautiful women landed at Ushuaia Airport, the four of them successfully entered the country as Nordic citizens.

The crew of the Nordic research vessel were already waiting outside the airport.

He received information that several meteorologists from Northern Europe were going to temporarily board their ship to Antarctica to install a batch of climate monitoring equipment before returning with the ship.

The reason for saying this is that the Nordic research station is not a year-round station. If someone were to say right away that someone wanted to stay here for the winter, it would be almost tantamount to suicide in the eyes of these researchers. The news would likely spark a discussion among them before charlie wade even arrived, and charlie wade would not have time to solve the problem by using psychological suggestion.

charlie wade's Nordic identity is named Jimmy Lewis. He and three beautiful women had just exited customs when they saw a middle-aged man holding a sign with the words "Jimmy Lewis" on it. So he walked up to the man and said, "Hello, I am Jimmy Lewis."

The other party was somewhat surprised to see that the meteorological experts who came were of Asian descent, and that all four of them were Asian. He stammered, "Are you Mr. Louis? Then... then these three must be the other three experts who came with you, right?"

The Nordic countries are not immigrant countries, so Asian tourists are common, but Asian immigrants are much rarer. The meteorological department is not a department where Asians have a strong advantage, like the power sector. So, it was indeed a bit unbelievable for the staff member who was picking them up to have four Asian meteorological experts arrive at once.

charlie wade smiled and said, “That’s right, it’s the four of us who need to take the boat. When does our boat depart?”

The man snapped out of his daze and explained, “Mr. Louis, our research vessel is currently waiting in Ushuaia to refuel and replenish supplies. The original departure time was 7:00 AM three days from now, but the Drake Passage has been very rough lately, so we may have to wait here for a couple more days until the waves subside before we can set sail.”

At this point, he quickly added, “By the way, Mr. Louis, you four can come with me to the dock to board the ship later. We have prepared four rooms for you. The research vessel is large and has good facilities. Moreover, we are mainly picking up people this time, so there are not many people on board, so it is relatively quiet and comfortable.”

Because the journey to Antarctica involves passing through the Roaring Forties, where the winds and waves are among the worst in the world, Antarctic research vessels from around the world use large-tonnage hulls capable of withstanding even stronger winds and waves. Their displacement is generally over 10,000 tons. These vessels have very ample internal space and can carry not only a large amount of fuel and supplies and scientific research equipment, but also at least a hundred people. Since there were not many people on this trip, the rooms were naturally very spacious.