

The Amazing son in law Chapter 7891

At this point, Kohei Kikuchi said seriously, “Master, as long as you keep a straight line between us and them while you’re running away, that is, you always run directly in front of us, they won’t be able to detect your presence. I can have the other vehicles change formation and drive alongside us to create a larger blind spot for you. Once you’ve run a certain distance, we’ll stop and surrender. This way, it will be difficult for their radar to lock onto you. If their attention is drawn to us, then you can leave silently.”

“Okay, very good.”

Wu Bolin (Bick) was overjoyed.

If Kikuchi Kohei’s method were followed, although he would lose Wu Han Palace, at least he wouldn’t be exposed or attract any pursuit.

I can find a safe place to hide for a while, and wait until the dust settles down before figuring out how to leave Antarctica.

If I can’t leave before winter ends, I’ll just find a deserted area and dig a deep ice cave.

He originally thought that he should find another unmanned research station as a place to stay, but then he thought that even if there was no one at the research station, there must be various monitoring devices. He didn’t understand those modern technologies. What if he was accidentally caught by their surveillance without knowing it? Wouldn’t that be like walking into a trap?

Therefore, digging an ice cave to hide in became the best solution he could think of at the moment.

The Antarctic ice sheet is thousands of meters thick. Although the temperature is extremely low, as long as you can avoid the Antarctic wind and snow, the pressure will be greatly reduced. Moreover, igloos have always been an excellent choice for protection in the polar regions. Although he did not understand the physical principles behind it, he had known for a hundred years that in the northern wilderness, there was a race similar to the yellow race, called the Inuit, who lived in igloos, which not only blocked the wind and snow but also had excellent insulation.

Dig an ice cave tens or even hundreds of meters deep, hide inside like a hibernating polar bear, and the loss of spiritual energy can be greatly reduced!

Having made up his mind, Wu Bolin (Bick) immediately asked Kikuchi Kohei, “Kikuchi, what will happen to you if you get caught?”

Kohei Kikuchi shook his head: “Reporting to Master, I am not sure either. It depends on how this matter is defined in the country. However, what is certain is that we will be escorted back to the country for interrogation as soon as possible. We may even be escorted to the McMurdo Station in the United States, or even a US military base in South America for interrogation. Because based on my understanding of the United States, they must be very curious about what we are exploring in Antarctica. If we don’t find out this, even if Goro Watanabe wants to send us back to the country, the United States will definitely not agree.”

Kohei Kikuchi knew more about modern history than Wu Bolin (Bick). Although the United States was nominally for justice or peace, it also had its own selfish motives. For example, during World War II, many German and even some Japanese scientists were war criminals with countless crimes, but because they possessed advanced technology, they were directly taken back to the United States. They even helped these war criminals evade trial by military tribunals.

This shows that justice is by no means 100%, and may even be mixed with a lot of personal interests.

Recently, everyone has been exploring the Antarctic continent to help Wu Bolin (Bick) find the underground town he mentioned. The United States must be extremely curious. Since Japan asked them for help, they must take this opportunity to find out everything.

Upon hearing Kikuchi Kohei’s words, Wu Bolin (Bick) immediately said, “Kikuchi, you are a loyal subordinate. I have another task for you before I leave this time.”

Without hesitation, Kikuchi Kohei replied, “Please speak, Master! Kikuchi will gladly die for you!”

Wu Bolin (Bick) said coldly, “I have given the others psychological suggestion, so they will definitely not betray me, and so will you. However, as you said, they are so curious about this matter, they will definitely try to find out the reason. I hope you can take the initiative to shoulder this responsibility and tell them that you are in charge of all of this and that all members of the scientific expedition team obey you.”

Kohei Kikuchi immediately nodded and said, “Don’t worry, Master, I will do as you say!”

Wu Bolin (Bick) added, “If they ask you why you want to do this, just say that you’ve always felt that Antarctica must contain a lot of gold, and you want to take this opportunity to explore the gold reserves in Antarctica. If you can take this opportunity to mine some gold ore, that would be even better.”

Kohei Kikuchi nodded, but then said with some concern, “Masato, they might not believe this explanation.”

“It’s alright.”

Wu Bolin (Bick) said in a cold voice, “Even the most discreet person can’t keep a secret better than a corpse. So the best way to keep a secret is to die with it. After you tell them all this, don’t worry about whether they believe you or not. When they’re not paying attention, find an opportunity to commit suicide and leave it all as a mystery. Once you’re dead, they’ll gradually give up digging deeper!”