Chapter 7916

4-5 minutes

Five more days passed in the darkness.

During these five days, Wu Bolin (Bick) was like a miner working in a black coal mine, digging with all his might into the ice layer below.

Each day, the ice layer was being excavated to a depth of at least two hundred meters.

Fortunately, the surface was protected by a biting wind; otherwise, simply clearing the accumulated ice debris would have been an enormous undertaking.

With each nearly thousand-meter advance, the green light became increasingly clear.

To his surprise, the light wasn't a spot or patches of light, but rather it grew larger with increasing depth, now resembling a black hole shimmering with an eerie green light.

Yes, it looked like a black hole.

Although the ice layer was still tens of meters thick, the basic shape of the black hole had emerged—an entrance directly into the rock layer.

Wu Bolin (Bick) was overjoyed. Was this hole the entrance to an underground city, or the legendary gate to ascension?!

The legend of the Gate of Ascension didn't primarily attract him with the possibility of ascension itself. He knew his strength was far too weak, and even if a Gate of Ascension existed, its threshold was beyond his current reach.

What truly captivated him was the legendary sect that had migrated to Antarctica and discovered the Gate of Ascension there.

Whether that sect had ascended or perished, their ruins and cultivation resources were unlikely to have been taken with them or lost forever. Therefore, he hoped the opening led to the sect's underground ruins in Antarctica.

If it truly was ruins, it meant that below, like the headquarters of the Destroying Qing Society, lay an underground city entirely built into the rock.

The green-glowing opening below would likely be the only entrance to this underground city.

He, then, would become the lucky one to exclusively enjoy all the cultivation resources of this underground city. Thinking of this, his nearly depleted spiritual energy seemed to receive a significant boost, instantly filling him with energy.

However, in reality, his spiritual energy hadn't been replenished at all; on the contrary, it had been reduced to less than 20% over the past few days.

But like a driver with less than 20% fuel left but about to refuel at a service area, everything was within reach, so he didn't care about his depleted spiritual energy. He felt he was about to receive a massive replenishment, perhaps even an inexhaustible supply station.

At that moment, a few dreamlike lights suddenly streamed into the ice cave over a thousand meters deep above him.

Wu Bolin (Bick) looked up and saw the aurora borealis appearing outside the seemingly tiny ice cave entrance, no bigger than a match head.

This filled Wu Bolin (Bick) with immense joy.

The aurora, which had disappeared for many days, had suddenly returned!

He felt that the aurora's appearance at this moment was a completely auspicious sign!

It foreshadowed that he was about to obtain a priceless treasure and usher in a new chapter in his life!

His body trembled slightly with excitement as he laughed heartily in the ice cave thousands of meters deep: "Heaven has helped me! It truly is heaven's help! I thought everything had reached a dead end, but I never expected this to be such a great blessing from God! This gate to ascension is hidden deep within the rock layers beneath the Antarctic ice sheet. Even the Japanese exploration equipment couldn't reach this depth. If the American army hadn't invaded Antarctica, even if those Japanese had explored the entire Antarctic for me, they would never have discovered this place! It's fate! It really is fate!"

With that, he let out a long roar, squeezing out even more spiritual energy from his body, making his flying sword run even faster!

Meanwhile, at the Nordic research station, charlie wade, Yun Rugo, and Song Ruyu were still in seclusion. Lin Wan'er (Alani) sat alone by the window, brewing tea. There had been no aurora for several days, and charlie wade hadn't emerged from seclusion. Although Lin Wan'er (Alani) was somewhat lonely, she wasn't bored. She spent her days drinking tea, reading books, and calculating divination, finding a fulfilling time alone in the polar night. However, she was always cautious. Because it was polar night outside, and there was an unknown elder of the Broken Qing Society roaming Antarctica, she always made sure to close all the curtains tightly before emitting any light.

At this moment, Lin Wan'er (Alani) had the curtains closed, boiling water in an electric kettle. After the water was boiled, she brewed a pot of Pu'er tea, then turned off the light and opened the completely blackout curtains.

As soon as she opened the curtains, she was astonished to find that the polar night outside was no longer just a hazy, starlit expanse; streaks of aurora borealis, like endless green ribbons, had appeared in the sky!

Lin Wan'er (Alani) was overjoyed.

She quickly got up and went to the room where charlie wade, Yun Rugo, and Song Ruyu were in seclusion, gently knocking on the door and saying, "Young Master, the aurora has appeared!"

charlie wade instantly awoke from his meditation.

The aurora had arrived!

These past few days, he had replenished his spiritual energy to a state of abundance, almost overflowing, just waiting for the aurora to arrive so he could quickly make a deal with that mysterious entity and use up the excess spiritual energy.

Now, the aurora has finally arrived!

Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu were also awakened by Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s voice. They opened their eyes and looked at Charlie Wade. Song Ruyu asked her in surprise, "Mr. Wade, the aurora has appeared again?"

Charlie Wade stood up excitedly and said with a smile, "Miss Lin said it appeared, so it must have appeared. Let's go see!"

After saying that, he stepped to the door and opened it. Lin Wan'er (Alani) was standing outside the door with an excited expression.

Charlie Wade looked out the window and saw that the aurora had indeed appeared. He immediately said, "The aurora is right overhead, so we don't need to go far. We can start practicing the hand seals as soon as we step outside."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) asked him, "If you practice the hand seals, will the mysterious entity be able to pass on the new Great Sun Tathagata hand seals through the aurora, and that elder of the Destroying Qing Society see it?"

Charlie Wade smiled and said, "There is definitely such a risk, but I think it's worth the risk. After all, the aurora stretches for thousands of miles and keeps changing. If you look at the aurora from other angles, you might see thousands of miles of laser beams overlapping together, which would make it difficult to see the specific shape of the aurora. Only when we are right under the hand seals can we see it clearly." Then, Charlie Wade added, "There are definitely risks, but I think it's worth the risk. The Antarctic winter lasts at least two more months; we can't just sit here and wait to die for that long."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded slightly and said, "What I said makes a lot of sense. Whether we can even see it from a distance is still unknown, and even if we can, it probably won't look the same as what we saw from below."

Afterward, the four of them immediately left the warm research station.

Upon reaching the courtyard, Charlie Wade immediately sat cross-legged in the snow, intending to immediately activate the hand seals that distributed a large amount of spiritual energy.

It was at this moment that Wu Bolin (Bick) exerted all his strength to break through the last layer of ice between himself and the cave entrance.

To his surprise, the dark cave entrance seemed to be blocked by an invisible force, and his body couldn't enter at all.

At this moment, he seemed to be inexplicably suspended above the cave entrance; no matter how hard he tried, his body couldn't penetrate even an inch.

Meanwhile, within Charlie Wade's sea of consciousness, a golden pagoda, mostly repaired, slowly emerged from the sea, followed by a burst of brilliant golden light.

Before Charlie Wade could finish his hand seals, Lin Wan'er (Alani) suddenly exclaimed, "Young Master, look!"

Charlie Wade, focused on his hand seals, abruptly looked up and discovered that even before he finished and the spiritual energy was drawn away, the aurora in the sky had already changed its appearance.

However, it was no longer in the shape of hand seals, but rather... an arrow that rolled across the sky like a flag, always pointing south!

3-4 minutes

The four people beneath the aurora borealis stared in astonishment at the enormous, rolling arrow formed from aurora particles in the sky, exchanging bewildered glances.

None of them understood why the usually majestic aurora had suddenly changed its appearance.

For days, they had been following the aurora to learn the Vairocana Buddha hand seal, and looking up at the massive seal made them feel inherently small.

Furthermore, the Vairocana Buddha hand seal was a Buddhist practice, amplifying the solemnity, majesty, and sense of oppression.

Now, the Buddhist hand seal had suddenly transformed into an arrow, a change that was quite disconcerting.

charlie wade stared at the arrow pointing south, muttering, "What does this sudden arrow mean? Is it guiding me?" As soon as he finished speaking, the arrow vanished, then reappeared, flashing three times in the air.

"Holy crap..." charlie wade exclaimed in surprise, "This thing can even understand human speech..." Song Ruyu stared in disbelief and said, "Mr. wade, it's telling you to go south. Could there be some kind of opportunity in the south?"

Yun Ruge nodded and said, "That mysterious thing has been teaching you the Great Sun Tathagata hand seal all along. Now it suddenly conjures up an arrow pointing the way. It seems that, just as Ruyu said, it's pointing you to some kind of opportunity."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said seriously from the side, "Young master, this mysterious thing wants you to go south. The south is the heart of Antarctica, all the way to the South Pole. This route is desolate and uninhabited. Before reaching the South Pole, there are no research stations along the way. I speculate that the elder of the Broken Qing Society is probably hiding in this area to avoid those American soldiers. Although this area is very large, I think that in such a desolate place, once someone appears, the target will be very obvious. In addition, the other party's cultivation level is very high. He will most likely find you before you find him. We should be more cautious."

charlie wade was also somewhat hesitant at this moment. If that elder hadn't been in Antarctica, he would have followed the guidance without hesitation. After all, the harsh Antarctic weather wouldn't kill him; at worst, he'd make a wasted trip without any real danger.

But Lin Wan'er (Alani) was right. Although the area south of here was vast, it was all uninhabited. Anyone appearing in this area would be completely out of place. Moreover, the elder of the Broken Qing Society was far more powerful than him. If he were discovered, his attack would likely strike before he could even react.

Just as Charlie Wade was at a loss, the arrow in the sky suddenly disappeared. Then, the particles that made up the aurora began to break and reform, vaguely forming five large characters in the air.

These five characters were in traditional Chinese characters and read: "Fortune favors the bold."

Charlie Wade was immediately shocked.

This was the first time the mysterious entity had communicated directly with him.

Before this, besides showing him various hand seals, it had only shown him the arrow.

4-5 minutes

Charlie Wade hadn't initially thought this mysterious entity possessed intelligence; he assumed it followed some kind of mechanism, displaying those hand seals upon encountering the aurora, like a pre-programmed projector.

But at this moment, he understood: this mysterious entity possessed intelligence and its own consciousness.

Not only was Charlie Wade astonished, but the three women beside him were also completely dumbfounded.

Who could have imagined that something invisible and intangible existed in this world, possessing human wisdom and consciousness, and even fluent in Chinese characters?

Lin Wan'er (Alani), well-informed, almost immediately pointed to the five characters and exclaimed, "Young Master, these characters are all in traditional clerical script! Both the font itself and the writing style conform to the characteristics of the Tang Dynasty, and it's the official clerical script form standardized in the Zi Tong (a dictionary of Chinese characters), unlike any other dynasty before or after it!”

charlie wade was even more astonished. He still couldn't figure out where this mysterious thing came from, or where it was located. Now that he knew it even had its own consciousness, it was truly unsettling.

However, now was not the time to investigate the origin of that mysterious thing.

charlie wade looked up at the five words “Fortune favors the bold” and thought to himself, “The fact that the other party gave me these five words as guidance suggests that there must be an opportunity in the South. However, opportunities are accompanied by dangers. I might encounter that elder of the Broken Qing Society. The elder's cultivation is second only to Wu Feiyan, so he should be much stronger than me. If I were to meet him in this vast Antarctic, I would probably be unable to fight back or escape, and it would be almost certain death.

However, on the other hand

, this mysterious thing has been quite good to me. I gave it a lot of spiritual energy, and it taught me the Great Sun Tathagata Hand Seal. It's unlikely that it would betray me now.

Since it said ‘Fortune favors the bold,’ it must mean that I have a chance to escape unscathed.

As long as it's not a certain death, I can consider giving it a try!” With this thought, charlie wade immediately said to the other three, “Miss Yun, Miss Song, you two stay here with Miss Lin and protect her safety. I will follow the guidance to find out what's going on.” ”

Young Master, isn't this too dangerous?” Lin Wan'er (Alani) asked worriedly.charlie wade pointed to the words in the sky and smiled, “Even it says, ‘Fortune favors the bold.’ Danger is inevitable, but opportunity certainly exists.”

Lin Wan'er (Alani), reluctant to see charlie wade take the risk, advised him, “Young Master, I believe safety is far more important than any opportunity. You're so young and already possess such extraordinary fortune; you're truly a dragon among men. Perhaps a little more caution is warranted.”

charlie wade smiled, "Miss Lin, don't worry. Although this journey is risky, please don't forget the great gift you gave me. With it, even if I encounter danger, I should have a chance to escape."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) knew that the great gift charlie wade spoke of was the ring she had given him.

Based on their previous experience, the ring hadn't recognized charlie wade as its master and still considered his father its owner. If the ring's holder encountered danger, the ring would still send him to the person his father most wanted to see.

In other words, if charlie wade encountered danger, the ring would save him again, sending him to her.

This reminded her of the first time the ring was presented to charlie wade, and their intimate moment in the hot spring. Her heart pounded, and her face flushed crimson.

She could tell that charlie wade was determined to investigate, and she couldn't dissuade him.

So she earnestly instructed him, "Young Master, please prioritize your safety. Do not act rashly or linger in battle. I will await your safe return."

charlie wade nodded slightly and smiled, saying, "Don't worry, I know what I'm doing. Trust yourself, and trust the mysterious thing, or rather, the mysterious person, with whom I've been communicating for so long. I will definitely obtain the wealth he spoke of and return safely to see you all!"

5-6 minutes

Although Lin Wan'er (Alani) didn't try to persuade charlie wade again, she still felt worried about his safety.

Unlike before, when she might have objectively considered the risks and opportunities, Charlie Wade was now the only person she cared about, and she had even fallen for him. At this moment, she didn't want Charlie Wade to take any risks.

In the face of Charlie Wade's safety, revenge was less important; she only hoped he would be safe and sound.

However, since Charlie Wade had made up his mind, she felt that as a woman, she couldn't stop a man's decision, so she could only keep her worries to herself.

Charlie Wade noticed her worry and smiled, "Miss Lin, there's no need to worry too much. Actually, given the current situation, even if I encountered that elder, I might not necessarily be at a disadvantage."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) asked in surprise, "Why do you say that, young master?"

Charlie Wade smiled and said, "Think about it, he previously used psychological suggestion to control nearly a hundred Japanese research team members, which consumed a lot of spiritual energy. Moreover, he's currently wandering alone in Antarctica, constantly consuming spiritual energy to maintain his strength. He was also chased like a dog by the American army, further depleting his spiritual energy. Therefore, I speculate that his current spiritual energy reserves are definitely insufficient. If things really come to a head, even if I can't defeat him, I should be able to outrun him."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) pondered for a moment, then nodded slightly, agreeing, "What you say is true, young master. " " That makes sense. He's been in Antarctica for so long, constantly consuming his spiritual energy, while you, young master, have replenished your spiritual energy to its limit using the Great Sun Tathagata Hand Seal. That's definitely a huge advantage."

Charlie Wade laughed. "And don't forget, I still have pills. If we really have to fight, as long as he can't kill me in one blow, I can wage a war of attrition against him. Maybe I can even turn the tables and kill him in the end."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) quickly advised him, "Young master, don't be too optimistic. The three elders of the Broken Qing Society are second only to Sa in cultivation. Their combat power is definitely not to be underestimated. Although I haven't attained enlightenment, my father once said that in the path of cultivation, every advancement in realm multiplies one's strength. As the saying goes, even a starved camel is bigger than a horse. Young master, please, please don't get carried away in battle."

"Alright!" Charlie Wade also knew that once there was a difference in cultivation realms, it would be like heaven and earth. He said this only to reassure Lin Wan'er (Alani).

However, there was one thing Charlie Wade didn't say.

That is, if they actually meet, it won't end well; even if they're willing to give up, the other side won't let it go. They'll turn Antarctica upside down just to find them and kill them.

What will happen to Lin Wan'er (Alani) then? What about Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu?

Moreover, even if they can't find him and Lin Wan'er (Alani), they'll still pass this news on to Sa, and then he'll probably be exposed. Therefore, Charlie Wade was already prepared to fight to the death if he were to encounter his opponent head-on.

After bidding farewell to the three women, Charlie Wade raced alone across the Antarctic ice sheet under the aurora borealis.

He didn't use a snowmobile because he was worried about making too much noise. After all, it was proven that snowmobiles couldn't evade US aerial reconnaissance. In this frigid weather of minus sixty degrees Celsius, the engines and exhaust fumes of snowmobiles would become the most conspicuous light sources in the darkness under thermal imaging systems.

Moreover, the noise from a snowmobile might disturb the elder of the Broken Qing Society.

Although the opponent's spiritual energy perception range far exceeded Charlie Wade's, Charlie Wade knew that no cultivator would be so extravagant as to constantly use spiritual energy to perceive everything around them. It's like a radar with a long detection range; if the power supply isn't unlimited, it must reduce its power to conserve energy.

His opponent's current situation was probably not good, so it was even less likely that he would be constantly monitoring his surroundings.

At this moment, Wu Bolin (Bick)'s situation was indeed not good.

In fact, it was extremely poor.

He dug over a thousand meters before finally reaching the rock layer and the mysterious entrance, but no matter how hard he tried, he couldn't penetrate even an inch.
