Chapter 7931

4-5 minutes

charlie wade knew that during the battle, he couldn't possibly conceal his cultivation level and spiritual energy from Wu Bolin (Bick). The incantation Yun Rugo had taught him to conceal his cultivation was only suitable for hiding before being exposed, as it required the use of no spiritual energy. Now that they were already at war, hiding and pretending were meaningless.

This meant that even if he secretly consumed pills, Wu Bolin (Bick) could easily see through his changes. It was better to be open and even provoke him.

charlie wade's words not only made Wu Bolin (Bick)'s Dao heart waver but also made him seriously re-examine his duel with charlie wade.

His cultivation was far superior to charlie wade's, so charlie wade's cultivation and spiritual energy reserves were practically invisible to him.

It was like two people playing cards, with charlie wade unilaterally revealing his cards, and everything being under Wu Bolin (Bick)'s control.

However, charlie wade's words just now gave Wu Bolin (Bick) another perspective.

Being able to see through someone's hand isn't the key to victory; having a good hand and playing it well is the real deal.

His own spiritual energy was already severely depleted, and being struck by lightning twice in quick succession, along with dodging and telekinesis, had further increased its consumption. He was now at his limit. charlie wade, on the other hand, lacked martial ethics; not only was his spiritual energy abundant, but he also possessed something he'd never even heard of—the Great Qi-Nourishing Pill. If it really came down to a war of attrition, he might not be a match for him.

After all, his opponent had the best hand, and a whole host of other cards to draw upon from outside the game. In this situation, what use was it even if he could see through his opponent's hand? It would only make his defeat more understandable!

Wu Bolin (Bick) knew that if this continued, he would most likely lose. And in battles between cultivators, the outcome was never just victory or defeat, but survival. Losing meant death; there was no chance of recovery.

Thinking of this, he couldn't help but grit his teeth, silently reciting an incantation. Suddenly, he unleashed a speed and strength far exceeding his usual limits, charging towards Charlie Wade at an incredible speed.

Charlie Wade knew that his opponent would definitely fight to the death, but he didn't expect that his opponent could unleash such a powerful burst of energy in an instant. Right now, Wu Bolin (Bick)'s speed was almost twice as fast as when he had ambushed him and dodged at top speed earlier, and he was right in front of him in the blink of an eye. Unbeknownst to Charlie Wade, Wu Bolin (Bick) had already activated a life-saving technique taught to him by Wu Feiyan: the Meridian Burning Technique.

A cultivator's growth almost entirely depends on continuously using spiritual energy to expand their meridians, cleanse their marrow, and strengthen their physical body.

As cultivation increases, the spiritual energy absorbed by the cultivator's meridians also accumulates over time.

Once the spiritual energy within the body is nearly depleted, this technique can be used to convert the meridians, strengthened over many years, into spiritual energy.

In other words, it's burning one's own cultivation to temporarily obtain spiritual energy.

The advantage is that it can replenish depleted spiritual energy in the shortest amount of time, but the disadvantages far outweigh the advantages. If one obtains spiritual energy by forcing the meridians open in this way, cultivation will be consumed at an even faster rate. Even if one uses ten times the amount of spiritual energy today, it may not be enough to replenish it tomorrow.

But in this critical moment, he couldn't care less about these things; survival was the most important thing.

Moreover, once Charlie Wade is killed, he can obtain Charlie Wade's magic weapon that can summon heavenly lightning, as well as an unknown number of Great Qi Cultivation Pills. The spiritual energy consumed by burning his meridians might be replenished many times over!

What's more, charlie wade himself is a good opportunity to claim the reward!

So, he once again used his flying sword, channeling even stronger spiritual energy into it, and the sword's edge shot straight at charlie wade's face like an arrow released from a bow. charlie wade had never practiced this kind of technique before. Seeing Wu Bolin (Bick)'s sudden surge in power, his flying sword becoming much faster and stronger than before, charlie wade was immediately startled. This turn of events was truly unexpected.

In his panic, he could only continue throwing heavenly lightning at Wu Bolin (Bick) while simultaneously retreating at top speed, gathering all his spiritual energy to prepare for a direct confrontation with Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying sword.

Having learned from his previous experience, Wu Bolin (Bick) no longer held the flying sword in his hand, but instead used his spiritual energy to control it, keeping it at least five zhang away from him, fearing that the sword might attract lightning again.

Moreover, after activating his Burning Meridians, his reaction speed was much faster than before, making dodging charlie wade's heavenly lightning no longer difficult.

A bolt of heavenly lightning struck, and Wu Bolin (Bick) dodged it with a swift movement, not finding it too difficult. The flying sword, as if it were part of his will, continued its rapid attack on charlie wade, without any hesitation despite Wu Bolin (Bick)'s dodging of the heavenly lightning.

charlie wade was now at his wits' end. He lacked any powerful offensive weapons; neither the Nine Profound Heaven Scripture nor the Great Sun Tathagata Hand Seal were particularly effective in close combat. In close combat, they proved rather ineffective.

Wu Bolin (Bick), however, was different.

After his initial flustered struggle, he quickly regained his rhythm.

He was skilled at wielding flying swords. While true flying swords were magical artifacts that allowed cultivators to fly, his sword, though not allowing him to fly on its own, could be controlled by his spiritual energy.

His flying sword, crafted by Wu Feiyan, possessed tenfold extension capabilities. Normally only about a foot long, unassuming yet incredibly sharp, it could cut through iron like mud and pierce stone like paper, boasting immense speed and unparalleled control. He could even use his will to chase its target, making it far superior to Charlie Wade's Soul-Piercing Blade.

Although Charlie Wade used all his potential to dodge, the opponent's flying sword was simply too fast. He could only find the right moment to stop and then use his powerful spiritual energy to capture the opponent's flying sword again.

The opponent's flying sword was very fast and extremely agile. Charlie Wade tried to intercept it with his spiritual energy, but the opponent made a ninety-degree turn and shot straight into the sky, then swooped down towards him at an extremely fast speed.

Helpless, Charlie Wade gathered his spiritual energy above his head again, but the opponent changed direction again.

To capture the opponent's flying sword simply by relying on spiritual energy, a sufficiently high density was required, which meant that quickly gathering a large amount of high-density spiritual energy was far less efficient than the opponent's.

This time, Charlie Wade could barely concentrate on the top of his head, but the next moment, the opponent bypassed his head and attacked his back directly.

At this moment, Charlie Wade had no time to make any preparations and could only tough it out by forming an invisible shield of spiritual energy behind him while simultaneously lunging forward to dodge.

Immediately afterward, he felt a powerful force strike his back. Even with a shield temporarily protecting him, the flying sword easily shattered it. Fortunately, the shield bought Charlie Wade time to dodge, and the sword missed his back, instead slicing a wound almost to the bone in the instant he lunged forward.

Charlie Wade felt a sharp pain and a hot, wet sensation in his back—the feeling of blood soaking into it. The air was thick with the smell of blood. Charlie Wade didn't dare think too much and immediately used his spiritual energy to quickly heal the wound. Otherwise, another violent dodge would likely tear the wound even more severely!

In that life-or-death moment, Charlie Wade understood a principle: the battle between spear and shield tests not only who is sharper or stronger, but also who is faster.

If the spear's speed exceeds the shield's, even the strongest shield will be ineffective!

Wu Bolin (Bick) had initially thought that this attack, even if it didn't kill Charlie Wade, would at least severely injure him. He hadn't expected Charlie Wade to dodge so quickly.

The attack didn't cause a fatal wound, only a minor cut and laceration. For a cultivator, this was nothing serious; as long as their spiritual energy was sufficient and they healed quickly, there wouldn't be any major problems.

Nevertheless, this attack still gave Wu Bolin (Bick) a great deal of confidence.

He glared at Charlie Wade, sneering, "Kid, you're lucky today. This might be the worst I've been in years. Otherwise, with your cultivation level, I would have taken your head long ago!"

Charlie Wade sneered, "Have you ever heard the saying 'Strike while the iron is hot'? You're using this method of burning your cultivation to gain spiritual energy to fight me. As long as I can outlast you, I'll eventually wear you down until your cultivation level is lower than mine!"

Wu Bolin (Bick) said disdainfully, "Kid, you were lucky to dodge that attack just now, but you won't be so lucky next time! Do you really think that's all I, Wu Bolin (Bick), have to offer?"

With that, Wu Bolin (Bick) once again activated his flying sword, attacking Charlie Wade at incredible speed.

Charlie Wade had no other options but to try and distract his opponent. So he immediately unleashed three Thunderclap Commands in quick succession while desperately dodging at top speed.

Wu Bolin (Bick) hadn't expected Charlie Wade to wield the Thunderclap Token so skillfully, throwing out three in the blink of an eye. The thought of the excruciating electric shock sent a chill down his spine, and he immediately dodged to the side.

For Wu Bolin (Bick), Charlie Wade's Thunderclap Tokens were becoming increasingly easier to defend against.

The Thunderclap Token's greatest advantage was its ability to strike unexpectedly and kill in one blow.

Many opponents never expected lightning to descend from the sky, so most would be struck on their first attack.

However, if the Thunderclap Token failed to kill the opponent with a surprise attack, it wouldn't be so easy to pull off another.

Wu Bolin (Bick) also saw that Charlie Wade was at his wit's end, and the psychological pressure of his Burning Meridians eased considerably. After dodging the three bolts of lightning, he immediately charged towards Charlie Wade at top speed, simultaneously accelerating his Burning Meridians and unleashing another burst of spiritual energy within his body. This powerful spiritual energy created an invisible and intangible pressure, completely surrounding Charlie Wade. At this moment, he had entered a state of rapid meridian burning, determined to kill Charlie Wade in one strike.

Charlie Wade had focused all his energy on defending against Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying sword, but he hadn't expected to suddenly feel as if he were in water, his body encountering immense resistance.

Recalling that he had just used the same method to block Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying sword, he immediately realized that Wu Bolin (Bick) was using the same method against him.

Enveloped by this powerful spiritual energy, it was as if a slowing spell had been cast. Charlie Wade was already no match for Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying sword, and with his speed reduced, he would find it even harder to escape his opponent's clutches.

Seeing that his flying sword was about to pierce Charlie Wade's heart, Wu Bolin (Bick) was still not satisfied. He had already consumed too much spiritual energy this time by burning his meridians, and if he couldn't finish the job in one go, he would likely be exhausted after a second or third strike.

So, he went all out again, shouting, "Ten Thousand Swords Return to the Origin!"

As soon as he finished speaking, the flying sword seemed to be under a spell, instantly transforming into countless sword blades.

Countless sword shadows suddenly appeared in the sky, each one hurtling towards charlie wade.

charlie wade had initially intended to rely on his greater reserves of spiritual energy to try and defend against the attack, but he never dreamed his opponent would have such a move.

This move, "Ten Thousand Swords Return to One," directly caused the flying swords to transform into countless clones. These clones attacked charlie wade from all directions, making it difficult for him to distinguish which was the true form.

Moreover, he had a very strong intuition that Wu Bolin (Bick)'s "Ten Thousand Swords Return to One" was not merely an illusion. He had just sensed powerful spiritual energy emanating from Wu Bolin (Bick)'s body, directly merging into the flying swords. This meant that even without the clones, this attack was at least two or three times stronger than before. Combined with the countless sword shadows, he felt there was more than one true form; it was likely one true form plus multiple clones possessing at least half the power of the true form.

In this situation, charlie wade had no way to dodge with his body or use his spiritual energy as a shield to defend against any single direction.

In a flash, charlie wade considered many possible solutions, but ultimately rejected them all. He believed that the only thing he could do now was to gather all his spiritual energy on his body surface and use it to provide even defense for all parts of his body. However, the drawback was also obvious: once pierced by the true form of the opponent's flying sword, there would be no way to defend against it, and the opponent would most likely pierce through his defenses, or even his body.

Although extremely dangerous, he had no other choice.

Wu Bolin (Bick) also knew that this combination of punches had basically sealed Charlie Wade's fate. Although the cost of connections was high, the joy of victory outweighed it. He laughed loudly, roaring to the sky, "Haha, kid, I'll make sure you die a horrible death!"

Charlie Wade was not afraid of death because he knew he wouldn't die. With the ring Lin Wan'er (Alani) had given him, the worst he could do was suffer the pain of death.

So he steeled himself and said coldly, "You won't even have a chance to see my corpse!"

Then, he sat down on the ground, gathering all his spiritual energy on his body, preparing to withstand Wu Bolin (Bick)'s Ten Thousand Swords Return to One!

Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying swords arrived in the blink of an eye!

Charlie Wade felt as if he were wearing a bulletproof vest, being bombarded by countless bullets.

His carefully constructed defenses were swiftly destroyed by countless flying swords. The opponent's attack was truly formidable; Wu Bolin (Bick)'s method of burning his meridians allowed him to unleash his full power at a tremendous cost. Charlie Wade's cultivation was far inferior, leaving him with no chance of victory.

Moments later, Charlie Wade felt his spiritual energy nearing depletion.

Even taking medicine now was too late, as the rate of consumption far exceeded the rate of replenishment.

Although he was prepared to experience death again, this time the pain was far greater than Chang Shengbo's self-destruction.

While Chang Shengbo's self-destruction was powerful, its speed was remarkable; the person felt extreme pain in that instant. Charlie Wade even felt that without the ring protecting him, he might not have even had a chance to feel the pain before being reduced to dust.

But this time was different; this time it was like being torn to pieces. Ninety-nine percent of his spiritual energy had been consumed, and his clothes and skin were slashed countless times by the frenzied flying sword clones. He could only endure this pain with astonishing willpower.

Just then, he suddenly felt an extremely powerful force rushing towards the top of his head. It felt like a gigantic sword weighing ten thousand tons was falling from a height of ten thousand meters onto his head, the oppressive force almost suffocating him.

He knew this must be the true form of Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying sword.

He also knew he was doomed this time.

Not far away, Wu Bolin (Bick)'s expression showed that he had already begun to celebrate his victory. Above his head, the immense pressure even made Charlie Wade feel the wind rushing into the top of his head from the pores of his scalp.

At the last moment, he couldn't help but touch the ring Lin Wan'er (Alani) had given him. Just as he was preparing to go to Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s side again, he suddenly realized that Lin Wan'er (Alani) wasn't alone this time. If he appeared naked in front of three women, wouldn't that scene be a little too...unpleasant?

Wu Bolin (Bick) looked at Charlie Wade with a sinister grin, wanting to see his final terror and struggle before death, but unexpectedly, he saw a hint of... embarrassment on his face?!

Embarrassment?!

What was he embarrassed about?!

Wu Bolin (Bick) found it unbelievable.

It seemed that Charlie Wade wasn't thinking about death at that moment, but rather about how embarrassing the next scene would be for him.

Wu Bolin (Bick) was even more curious: this guy, he's already dead, what does he care about saving face?

Chapter 7935

---

Wu Bolin (Bick) couldn't understand charlie wade.

But his doubts were quickly replaced by the impending victory.

He knew charlie wade's cultivation level wasn't high enough, but his successive victories over the four earls of the Po Qing Society showed that while the kid lacked hard power, he made up for it with soft power. He probably had plenty of magical treasures and pills on him. As long as Wan Jian Gui Zong killed this kid, he could loot all his belongings.

Wu Bolin (Bick) had already consumed a lot of spiritual energy in recent days, and his cultivation had also greatly declined after burning his meridians. He desperately needed to obtain some pills from charlie wade to quickly replenish his lost spiritual energy.

At this moment, charlie wade, under the influence of Wan Jian Gui Zong, had already given up resisting.

The fatal blow that Wu Bolin (Bick) had obtained by burning his cultivation was truly powerful. Before the pressure even truly touched charlie wade, it had already torn his clothes to shreds, and his skin felt as if it had been ripped open, causing him excruciating pain all over.

At this moment, he realized he couldn't continue resisting, because such futile resistance would only intensify and prolong the pain.

It was like the difference between slow slicing and beheading; the former allowed him to live a little longer, but the price was unbearable. So, he had completely resigned himself to the situation and was waiting for the teleportation to begin.

However, charlie wade was also vaguely worried. What if the teleportation function failed? He would be completely ruined this time.

But now he had no choice, and regret was pointless. The only thing he could think of was the mysterious thing that had guided him. Just as Wu Bolin (Bick)'s flying sword was about to pierce his skull, he suddenly roared, "So this is what they mean by 'fortune favors the bold'! Today I finally understand the meaning of that saying!"

After saying that, he instantly withdrew all the spiritual energy he had used to resist, waiting for that moment to arrive. The flying sword itself possessed immense power, and even with Charlie Wade's cultivation level, his resistance, though seemingly futile, was better than nothing. However, at this moment, he decided not to waste any more time; fighting with all his might would only prolong his life by a few more seconds, which wasn't very meaningful.

Seeing Charlie Wade suddenly give up, Wu Bolin (Bick)'s lips curled into a cruel sneer. He could already see Charlie Wade's face contorting under the pressure of the flying sword!

In a flash, a deafening boom erupted as the flying sword, along with countless clones, struck Charlie Wade simultaneously. Dust billowed, and the sky was filled with shattered ice and other debris, obscuring the view from Wu Bolin (Bick)'s outside.

He was deeply puzzled. Charlie Wade was merely a mortal; a flying sword strike should have resulted in a thousand arrows piercing his heart, causing him to bleed instantly. How could it have such a cataclysmic effect?

Before he could even see what was inside, his expression suddenly darkened, filled with utter horror. He could no longer sense his flying sword at all!

Wu Bolin (Bick) was utterly horrified. He never expected things to develop in such a bizarre direction. He had victory firmly in his grasp, so why the sudden change?!
