“Spirit stones?”

Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu were both visibly surprised upon hearing this.

Yun Rugo exclaimed, “The Po Qing Society has a long-standing bounty for spirit stones. Anyone who finds a spirit stone containing spiritual energy and hands it over to the leader will receive a reward, usually a pill, a cultivation technique, or even a promotion within the Po Qing Society. However, most of us, including myself, have never found one.”

Song Ruyu nodded in agreement, “Yes, I’ve been trying to obtain such a spirit stone for years within the Po Qing Society to exchange for the reward, but I’ve never even seen one, let alone gotten my hands on one.”

charlie wade asked curiously, “If you find a spirit stone, will you hand it over to Sara along the way?”

“Yes.” Yun Rugo nodded and said, “If we find them, we must hand them over to our superiors. Spirit stones have the highest priority in the Broken Qing Society’s resource sequence. The Five Armies Command must respond in the shortest possible time and report to headquarters immediately.”

charlie wade said in surprise, “Sara can refine pills herself, so she should not lack spiritual energy. If she doesn’t lack spiritual energy, why would she set the priority of spirit stones so high? Spiritual energy must have other uses.”

Yun Rugo asked him, “Mr. wade, besides absorbing spiritual energy, what other uses do spirit stones have?”

charlie wade said, “They have a lot of uses. In my understanding, this thing is like a battery that is always on standby without any standby wear. It has many applications, but its greatest use is to provide energy for formations. For example, my Thunderclap Token has the formation engraved inside the lightning-struck wood. But because the lightning-struck wood itself does not have spiritual energy, I need to transfer spiritual energy into the Thunderclap Token every time it is triggered to activate the formation and generate heavenly thunder. If I use spirit stones as energy, then theoretically the Thunderclap Token can be activated by itself.” Song Ruyu and Yun Rugo both suddenly understood, but Lin Wan’er (Alani) frowned and asked him, “Young Master, if we use spirit stones to activate the Thunderclap Token, what is the activation logic of the Thunderclap Token? Will it keep activating until the spiritual energy of the spirit stone is exhausted? Or can it be like computer programming, with some special instructions added, such as how long to release it at a time? If we add the release coordinates, can it be targeted precisely?”

Charlie Wade nodded and said, “I think formations are like software in the world of cultivators. Theoretically, the design of each formation is no different from the development of a software. A master of formation design should be able to achieve more complex functions, such as defining a range or friend and foe in an attack formation, and then giving it the ability to identify enemies. In this way, a restricted area can be defined, and once an enemy approaches, the formation can automatically launch an attack.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) smiled and said, “This might require two formations to cooperate with each other, for example, one formation could operate continuously like a radar to detect the surrounding environment.” “Once the enemy is detected, the attack formation will launch an offensive.”

Charlie Wade said very seriously, “Miss Lin is very right. The underlying logic of experts in every field is the same. Perhaps the world of formations also has its own programming logic. Once you master many formations, you might be able to set up a set of formation clusters that are close to automation.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) sighed and said, “To achieve this, you must be as proficient in the language of formations as a programmer is in computer languages. Only in this way can you write formations with complex functions, just like software. Some can communicate, some can watch and listen to audio, and some can locate and navigate.”

Charlie Wade agreed with Lin Wan’er (Alani)’s analogy and nodded, “Miss Lin is right. Formations must also have their own development language. If one day I can master the secrets of this, it will definitely be of endless benefit.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) smiled and said, “Young master, there is no need to rush. I think there will definitely be opportunities in this regard in the future. It’s just that the time is not right yet.”

charlie wade smiled and nodded. Although he imagined mastering the development language of formations would be a very interesting and practical thing, he wasn't in a hurry. After all, the underground city had already brought him too many surprises. The underground city full of spiritual energy, the storage ring, and the teleportation arrays that could instantly travel to various parts of the world all had great uses waiting for him to explore.

So, he stood up and said to the three of them, "Wait for me a moment."

After saying that, he returned to his room, and with a thought, four egg-sized spirit stones appeared in his palm.

He turned around and walked out of the room, came to the three of them, divided the four spirit stones into two portions, and placed them in front of Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu respectively, smiling and saying, "Miss Yun, Miss Song, please accept these four spirit stones. One can be used to absorb spiritual energy, and you can keep the other."

Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu were stunned.

They had never seen spirit stones before. When charlie wade said that these were spirit stones, they were instinctively shocked, and they both subconsciously used their spiritual energy to examine them.

This investigation revealed something extraordinary: both women were astonished by the incredibly dense spiritual energy within the spirit stone.

They had never seen anything like it before; the spiritual energy it contained far surpassed that of any elixir. In fact, this kind of top-grade spirit stone is many times stronger than ordinary pills, such as the Qi Cultivation Pill, or even the Greater Qi Cultivation Pill. Its only weakness compared to pills is that it cannot be absorbed by the body as quickly as pills, but the amount of spiritual energy it contains is far greater than that of the Qi Cultivation Pill.

Neither of them had ever received even a low-grade spirit stone in their entire lives. Charlie Wade suddenly giving them two each was truly overwhelming. Yun Rugo even hesitated to accept it, instinctively leaning back and waving her hands nervously, saying, "Mr. Wade... this... this is too precious, I cannot accept it..."

Although Song Ruyu longed for the two spirit stones, seeing that Yun Rugo had expressed her desire, she quickly waved her hands as well, saying, "Mr. Wade, Sister Yun is right, you need these spirit stones more than we do. You should keep them for yourself." "Alright!"

Charlie Wade looked at the two of them and smiled, "Since I can give it to you, it proves that I've definitely kept enough for myself. You two don't need to be so polite. There are still at least two months until the Antarctic winter ends. During these two months, you should use the spirit stones to focus on your cultivation in seclusion. With the help of the spirit stones, plus the Great Sun Tathagata Hand Seal, you can continuously absorb more spiritual energy and continuously purify and strengthen your meridians. I believe that after two months, your strength will have greatly improved."

Yun Rugo was extremely grateful, but she still couldn't make up her mind to accept it, and was somewhat conflicted.

Song Ruyu was young and regarded Yun Rugo as a senior and a close older sister, so she would follow Yun Rugo's lead. If Yun Rugo accepted it, she would accept it; if Yun Rugo didn't accept it, she certainly couldn't accept it either.

At this moment, Lin Wan'er (Alani) smiled and said to the two of them, "You two don't need to be so polite with the young master. The young master can even teach you the Great Sun Tathagata Hand Seal. What are two spirit stones? If you refuse again, it will seem like you're being too polite!"
