Chapter 7966

4-6 minutes

For an ordinary person, a hundred years is basically the end of their life, but for a cultivator, two hundred years is just the beginning, three to five hundred years is merely the entry point, and a thousand or even several thousand years is just the start of the path to immortality.

When cultivating in seclusion, the better the conditions, the higher the level of immersion. Charlie Wade is completely different from Meng Changsheng (Willie). Meng Changsheng (Willie) can abandon everything for cultivation, yet he has too many worldly ties he cannot sever—family, friends, and confidantes are all precious to him. He cannot bear the thought of emerging from seclusion after several years or decades to find everything changed. Lin Wan'er (Alani) understands Charlie Wade's worries. She has long seen that Charlie Wade is loyal and compassionate, not the kind of fanatic who would disregard everything for cultivation, even sacrificing everything. How could he be willing to waste his prime years in endless cultivation?

So she smiled and said to Charlie Wade, "If you're worried about being in seclusion for too long, young master, I can accompany you to seclusion for several months every Antarctic winter. After the Antarctic winter, I'll wake you up."

Charlie Wade smiled and nodded, saying, "That's a good idea."

However, Charlie Wade quickly felt it was inappropriate and said, "It's just that this place is too shocking. Apart from Miss Lin, I really dare not let a third person know. If it's just the two of us here, and I'm in seclusion, Miss Lin will have to live here alone for several months. I'm afraid she'll be very lonely." When Lin Wan'er (Alani) heard Charlie Wade say that he didn't intend to let a third person know the secret of this place except for her, she was overjoyed and touched. She knew that Charlie Wade trusted her, but she didn't expect him to trust her to this extent. Her girlish heart had already begun to open because of Charlie Wade, and now that her beloved recognized her so much, she was naturally overjoyed.

Shy Lin Wan'er (Alani) lowered her head, not daring to look Charlie Wade in the eye, and stared at her toes, murmuring softly, "Young Master, you are overthinking it. I have survived four hundred years, what is a few months?"

Charlie Wade nodded gently and smiled, "What Miss Lin said makes sense. If I really need to go into seclusion in the future, then I will trouble Miss Lin to come with me." Lin Wan'er (Alani) smiled and said, "Young Master, you can now go into seclusion here. I will stay and watch over you. There's still a month and a half left in the Antarctic winter. I can wake you up in forty days, and we'll return to the research station and then pick up Miss Yun and Miss Song to leave Antarctica together."

Charlie Wade laughed, "How can that be? What will you eat in forty days? There's no food here."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) then realized her mistake and said shyly, "Young Master is right. I was inconsiderate."

Charlie Wade smiled and said, "I mainly wanted to show you this place. There are still many wonders here that we haven't had time to explore or experience."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded gently and suddenly asked Charlie Wade a question, "By the way, Young Master, the spiritual energy here is so rich. If we have the opportunity to transplant the Mother of Pu-erh Tea here in the future, what will happen to her life?" "Won't her growth rate be astonishingly fast?"

Charlie Wade pondered for a moment, then agreed, "It must be so. She inherently possesses spirituality, and she must have started cultivating herself before the Dharma-ending Age, which is why she was able to undergo tribulation at the Heavenly Pool hundreds of years ago. But now, after her rebirth, it is the complete Dharma-ending Age, and she can hardly absorb spiritual energy from heaven and earth. If we don't intervene, even if she grows for tens of thousands of years, she probably won't reach the strength to undergo tribulation. If we transplant her here, her cultivation speed will increase exponentially."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said happily, "Then I humbly request that you bring me to Antarctica again next year, young master. I want to bring the Mother of Pu Cha here so she can live here!"

Charlie Wade suddenly had a flash of inspiration and smiled, "Why wait until next year? Let's go back now and transplant her!"

Chapter 7967

3-4 minutes

She asked charlie wade with a face full of doubt, “Young Master, it’s winter in Antarctica now. Aren’t there no ships that can cross the Roaring Forties?”

charlie wade smiled and said, “I didn’t say we were going to take a ship back.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) was even more surprised and couldn’t help but ask, “Then are we going to take a plane back? Ordinary planes taking off and landing on the Antarctic ice sheet would be quite difficult.”

charlie wade shook his head mysteriously and smiled, saying, “It’s not by plane.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) found it strange. To return to Jinling from Antarctica, there were only two routes: sea and air. But charlie wade said neither was possible. Could there be another possibility?

In that instant, she suddenly remembered the teleportation array charlie wade had used to bring her in, and exclaimed in shock, “Young Master, could there be a teleportation array here that allows us to leave Antarctica?!”

charlie wade looked at Lin Wan’er (Alani) with delight. He knew Lin Wan’er (Alani) was intelligent, but she always seemed to be pushing the boundaries of his understanding. He couldn’t help but exclaim, “Miss Lin is indeed exceptionally intelligent; she guessed it right away!”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) smiled modestly and said, “Young Master, you flatter me. The reason I was able to guess it was a teleportation array is mainly because you personally experienced it with me just now. Otherwise, even if I thought about it for three days and three nights, I wouldn’t have been able to figure it out.”

charlie wade laughed, “Isn’t that just a matter of intelligence?”

After saying that, charlie wade continued, “Miss Lin guessed correctly. There are nine teleportation arrays in this place, each corresponding to one of the nine different places on Earth, basically covering all continents. I’ll take Miss Lin back to China first. After we move the Mother of Pu Cha from Zijin Manor, I’ll show you the other teleportation arrays.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) nodded excitedly and said, “I’m already looking forward to it!”

charlie wade took her hand, and all the teleportation arrays in the entire underground city appeared in his mind. The Four Directions Pagoda has nine floors, and each floor has a teleportation array. The Bagua diagram that can teleport to all parts of the world is located on the fifth floor of the Four Directions Pagoda.

As for what’s on the other eight levels of the Four Directions Pagoda, charlie wade hadn’t had time to explore them all last time before returning to the research station, so he planned to study them slowly after returning from Jinling this time. He simply recited the incantation for the teleportation array on the fifth level of the Four Directions Pagoda in his mind, and in the blink of an eye, charlie wade and Lin Wan’er (Alani) appeared in the space of the Bagua compass from that day.

Lin Wan’er (Alani), well-versed in the I Ching and the Eight Trigrams, exclaimed in surprise after observing the eight halos representing the eight directions: Kan, Gen, Zhen, Xun, Li, Kun, Dui, and Qian

. “These eight halos in different directions must be the teleportation arrays to various parts of the world, right?” charlie wade nodded, pointing to the central halo and saying to Lin Wan’er (Alani), “There are nine teleportation arrays in total. Only the central one is in China. If we want to return to Jinling, we must first use this teleportation array to reach China and then figure out how to get there.” Lin

Wan’er asked him, “Does Young Master know where in China this teleportation array goes?”

charlie wade replied, "Western Sichuan, Heming Mountain."

Wan'er nodded in sudden realization and exclaimed, "Crane Cry Mountain makes perfect sense. It's the birthplace of Taoism and must be a sacred place for cultivators. Perhaps these cultivators from before the Dharma-ending Age attained enlightenment and entered the Tao in Crane Cry Mountain."

charlie wade nodded, his brows furrowing slightly, and said, "There's just one thing I don't quite understand."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) looked at him and said, "Please speak, young master. I'll see if I can answer your question."

charlie wade took her hand and led her to the central circle of light, saying earnestly, "Let's talk as we walk."

The next moment, the two appeared in the special cave within Crane Cry Mountain. Having already demonstrated composure during the previous two teleportations, Lin Wan'er (Alani) was now largely unfazed. charlie wade, holding her hand, led her skillfully out of the cave.

As they walked, charlie wade voiced his concerns: "Miss Lin, I've researched some history. The Daoist sect originated around 140 AD, meaning it's less than two thousand years old. If what we now call the Daoist sect is the ancestor of all cultivation, then the entire history of cultivation is only a little over a thousand years, less than two thousand. Furthermore, based on Meng Changsheng's life story, we can roughly determine that by 664 AD, when Meng Changsheng was born, the world had already entered the Dharma-ending Age. This means that from the beginning of cultivation to the arrival of the Dharma-ending Age..." "It's only a short five hundred years, but Meng Changsheng has lived for a thousand years. For many high-level cultivators, their lifespan is probably even longer. How could this short five-hundred-year timeline possibly accommodate the cultivation and inheritance of several generations of cultivators?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) listened to charlie wade's doubts, pondered for a moment, and asked charlie wade a question: "Young Master, the history of human civilization is only a short 5,000 years. Do you think a 5,000-year timeline can accommodate the development of the path of cultivation?"

charlie wade thought for a moment and said seriously, "In my opinion..." Our current understanding of cultivation is probably only the tip of the iceberg. That's why I always feel that the history of cultivation must have taken an extremely long time to evolve. Even if we estimated 500 years, let alone 5000 years, it still wouldn't be enough for cultivation to go through its birth, rise, flourishing, decline, and the end of the Dharma era—a process spanning several epochs. If we consider it within the context of Earth's history, an epoch would probably take tens of millions of years.”

Lin Wan'er (Alani) smiled and nodded, saying, “Modern human civilizations, under Earth's natural environment, can probably only sustain themselves for a few hundred thousand years. After that, all traces of human construction will likely vanish. Therefore, in Earth's billions of years of history, if a civilization primarily focused on cultivation truly existed, even with great supernatural powers, the traces they could leave behind after the passage of time would be negligible.”

At this point, the two had already reached the cave entrance hand in hand. Lin Wan'er (Alani) turned back to look at the completely unmarked rocks, marveling at the miraculous magic, and suddenly gaining some insight.

As Lin Wan'er (Alani) admired the long-lost, lush beauty of the mountains, she suddenly realized and said to Charlie Wade, “I understand! Although the manifestations left behind by great supernatural powers are minuscule, they are not nonexistent. There must still be some supernatural powers that have been preserved, just like the underground city we just visited. Therefore, I deduce that the reason why Crane Cry Mountain is the birthplace of Taoism is that, very long ago, there were cultivators active here. In other words, Taoism was not the originator of the path of cultivation, but rather a legacy left behind by the path of cultivation. It wasn't until two thousand years ago that the founder of Taoism was inspired by the miracles left behind by these cultivators, and then established Taoism!”

Charlie Wade exclaimed with a look of sudden realization, “So my initial line of thinking was wrong! This question is not about which came first, the chicken or the egg, but about where the chicken came from and who its ancestors were! If I remember correctly, the ancestor of the chicken was a dinosaur!”
