Chapter 7984

But now the situation has drastically changed.

The buds and leaves of the Mother of Pu-erh Tea not only have a much higher spiritual energy content, but their quantity has also increased dramatically.

Stronger and more abundant, if used properly, this would be a formidable source of spiritual energy.

Moreover, unlike the thousands of spirit stones, which are non-renewable resources, and likely nearly nonexistent on Earth

, the buds and leaves of the Mother of Pu-erh Tea can continuously grow.

charlie wade speculated that the reason the spiritual energy content among the buds and leaves of the Mother of Pu-erh Tea became so high after its transplantation was because it absorbed the ridiculously dense spiritual energy here.

charlie wade had no way of verifying the exact strength and quantity of the spiritual energy here, but judging from the level and strength of the cultivators who built this place, the spiritual energy here was practically inexhaustible for someone of his cultivation level.

He felt like an ant who had accidentally found a food depot left behind by human civilization when they withdrew from Earth. While the food depot was finite, its upper limit was so high that it was practically limitless to him.

With such abundant spiritual energy here, it wouldn't matter if another Mother of Pu-erh Tea were consumed alongside. In charlie wade's view, even the Mother of Pu-erh Tea couldn't consume spiritual energy much faster than him.

Moreover, what's even more remarkable is that he couldn't take the spiritual energy here with him; he could only use it here. However, the Mother of Pu-erh Tea seemed to have transformed the spiritual energy that couldn't be taken away into a different kind of spiritual energy that it could carry away. Its wildly growing buds and leaves were a way of taking away this spiritual energy, which was naturally a good thing for it.

Moreover, the growth rate of these buds and leaves was incredibly fast. The speed at which the two of them could pluck them was far slower than the speed at which the tender buds grew. The Mother of Pu-erh Tea seemed to be under a spell, growing and growing desperately. If those tender buds weren't plucked within thirty seconds, they would unfurl into small leaves; if they were left for a few more minutes, they would become large leaves.

In the half hour that the two of them were plucking them, the Mother of Pu-erh Tea had grown at least several more batches of tender leaves. The entire tea tree had reached an exaggerated level of lushness, like a whole acre of wheat huddled together.

Its trunk had also grown from the thickness of a bowl to the thickness of a plate, its overall size expanding more than two or three times.

charlie wade could even feel that its root system was also growing at an extremely fast speed; before long, the roots would fill the entire space enclosed by the bluestone.

As charlie wade plucked tender leaves, he sighed, "I feel this space is still too small."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) smiled and said, "It doesn't matter. Its roots will eventually grow tightly together, and then we can make the stone enclosure bigger."

charlie wade exclaimed, "These buds have extremely high spiritual energy content. For cultivators who have just attained enlightenment, they are simply the best cultivation material. If Miss Lin can also achieve enlightenment, that would be even better!"

If Nanako's enlightenment was a tremendous surprise for charlie wade, then Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s inability to achieve enlightenment was a source of deep regret.

Heaven had bestowed upon Lin Wan'er (Alani) a five-hundred-year lifespan, perfect beauty, exceptional intelligence, and unparalleled resilience. Logically, she had already received far too much favor, yet the more this was the case, the more Charlie Wade felt Heaven had been unfair to her.

Because she could clearly be even more perfect.

If Lin Wan'er (Alani) couldn't attain enlightenment, and he couldn't obtain the Hundred Reincarnation Pill within the next hundred years, then Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s lifespan would come to an end.

But Charlie Wade felt that Lin Wan'er (Alani) deserved to live another five hundred years, or even fifteen hundred.

Unlike Sara and Meng Changsheng's paths to immortality, Lin Wan'er (Alani) hadn't wasted a single day of the past four hundred years; even in her escapes, she had lived a vibrant and fulfilling life.

In Charlie Wade's eyes, this was the woman who truly deserved immortality.

What Charlie Wade regretted was that, given his current abilities and resources, he simply couldn't help Lin Wan'er (Alani) achieve enlightenment.

Lin Wan'er (Alani) was deeply moved that Charlie Wade still remembered her. She smiled and said, "I'm already very content that you still remember me, young master. As for enlightenment, I don't aspire to it. Even if I were to die now, I would still be luckier than most people in this world."

Charlie Wade looked at her and sincerely sighed, "If today were the end of the world, and only one person could survive, I hope that person would be you."

This sudden remark stunned Lin Wan'er (Alani). The next moment, a mist welled up in her eyes, and she quickly turned away, gently wiping away tears with her sleeve. Wiping away the tears she couldn't hide, she lowered her head and feigned a lighthearted smile, saying, "Young Master's kindness is beyond words."

Charlie Wade smiled slightly, "When I find a way to help you comprehend the Dao, you can think of how to repay me then. Until then, I owe you everything. I survived the self-destruction of the Marquis of Changsheng and was able to find this underground city all thanks to you. This kindness can only be repaid by helping you comprehend the Dao or by giving you the Hundred Reincarnation Pill."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) looked at Charlie Wade with red eyes and a slight smile, asking him, "Am I a very special person to Young Master?" Charlie Wade nodded without hesitation, saying firmly, "Of course!"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) then asked, "If I were to pass away one day, what would that mean for you, young master?"

Charlie Wade replied, "It would mean losing a true confidante."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded gently.

She understood Charlie Wade's feelings.

Because she and Charlie Wade shared the same feeling, both believing that the other was the most trustworthy person in the world.

At this moment, the Mother of Pu-erh Tea was still growing rapidly.

Like a magic bean in a fairy tale, it continuously sprouted a large number of tender shoots, and Charlie Wade could feel that the spiritual energy of each new shoot was always stronger than the previous one.

Charlie Wade felt that if it continued to grow at this rate, the Mother of Pu-erh Tea could completely support the cultivation needs of several hundred beginner-level cultivators. Compared to snacks that diminish with each use, this was definitely a huge renewable resource.

The only pity was that he didn't have that many enlightened cultivators around him.

However, if this kind of good thing were given to a martial artist like Xion, it would be an absolutely divine treasure, and would definitely be of great use in strengthening the body, enhancing internal strength, and improving cultivation.

Although I don't have the ability to train hundreds of cultivators, if I can train the hundreds of martial artists at the Champs-Élysées Hot Spring Hotel to the peak of martial arts, they will definitely be a powerful force that should not be underestimated!

Seeing Lin Wan'er (Alani) frantically picking tender buds, but unable to keep up with their growth, Charlie Wade simply pulled her along, saying, "Let's go, Miss Lin, forget about it for now. There are still eight teleportation arrays on the remaining eight levels of the Four Directions Pagoda

, and I haven't had a chance to explore them yet. Why don't you come with me to see them?" "Okay!" Lin Wan'er (Alani) happily agreed, smiling as she said, "Since the Mother of Pu-erh Tea is thriving here, there's no rush to pick too many tea leaves. I'll prune its branches later, and then you can store them all in your space, branches and leaves alike, and bring them back to China for me to use in making tea."

Charlie Wade readily agreed, and then led Lin Wan'er (Alani) to the teleportation array in the center of the plaza.

Holding Lin Wan'er (Alani)'s hand, Charlie Wade thought about using the teleportation array to reach the first level of the Four Directions Pagoda, but to his surprise, the teleportation array didn't react at all.

He tried the second, the third, and even all eight teleportation arrays except the fifth, but without exception, they all failed to work.

Charlie Wade, puzzled, said to Lin Wan'er (Alani), "The remaining eight levels seem to be locked. I don't know if they're truly locked, or if my abilities aren't sufficient, but I can't get in."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) said, "Perhaps there's some high-level secret there for them. But don't worry too much, young master. Once the base around the teleportation array is completed, you can return here anytime and eventually find a way in."

Charlie Wade nodded slightly, saying helplessly, "That's the only way I can comfort myself for now."

Then, he suddenly became interested and asked Lin Wan'er (Alani), "Of the other teleportation arrays, which one would you most like to go to, Miss Lin? Since we have some free time, why don't we travel around and explore?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) asked excitedly, "Will you take me, young master?"

charlie wade nodded seriously, “You choose a place, and we’ll go for a few days, just to relax.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) said joyfully, “Then I want to go to America!”

charlie wade assumed that, given Lin Wan’er (Alani)’s personality, she would prefer secluded places like Kilimanjaro or the Alps. He was surprised to find that she immediately blurted out “America.”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) noticed charlie wade’s surprise and smiled, saying, “I lived in America for a long time and received my education at many universities there. It broadened my horizons. Now, I think America is like the city where most people go to university—it always holds a special place in my heart. So, I’ve been wanting to go back and revisit it all these years.”

Hearing this, charlie wade immediately understood her feelings.

Although he had only attended university for a short time, he knew that most people who graduated would miss their alma mater and the city where it was located.

So he immediately said, “In that case, let’s set off now. Which city would you like to go to first?”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) thought for a moment and smiled, saying, “Harvard!”

charlie wade asked her, “Harvard is in Massachusetts?”

“Yes,” Lin Wan’er (Alani) nodded.

charlie wade asked her, “The teleportation point is in the Sierra Nevada Mountains of California. How far is it from Harvard?”

Lin Wan’er (Alani) was surprised and smiled, “The distance between the two places is about four thousand kilometers from the West Coast to the East Coast.”

Then, Lin Wan’er (Alani) added, “But since the teleportation point is in California, we can go to Stanford first. I studied there too.”
