Chapter 8032

4-5 minutes

Upon hearing charlie wade's question, Du Heng subconsciously frowned.

After a moment's thought, he respectfully replied, "The Left Army Commander's headquarters has completed a major overhaul of all its elite guard posts. The scale of this overhaul is enormous, involving the relocation of tens of thousands of personnel. It has now been ensured that no elite guard or elite soldier can be stationed in the same location as their families. Such a relocation can only be achieved with the personal order of the Grand Commander, and because it requires coordination from almost all departments, the operation is too large to be kept secret from the wise ruler."

charlie wade knew that Du Heng wouldn't lie, so he reasoned that piecing together tens of thousands of people who had been completely scattered would be an extremely massive undertaking, and might even attract Wu Feiyan's attention.

Therefore, charlie wade could only temporarily abandon the plan; whether to rescue these elite guards and elite soldiers would have to be considered later.

Now, there's no need for him to continue cultivating his relationship with the Left Army Commander's Mansion. After all, he needs to wait for the Rothschild family to push oil prices to a new high, allowing the Left Army Commander's Mansion to make a fortune in this artificially created market. As long as Rachel Getty becomes the Left Army Commander's Mansion's most trusted scholar, there will be plenty of opportunities to deal with them slowly in the future.

So, he told Du Heng, "From now on, you must contact Rachel Getty once a day. If I have any orders for you, Rachel will relay them for me. At that time, you must do your best, understand?"

Du Heng respectfully replied without hesitation, "I understand!"

charlie wade nodded and instructed him, "Now take me to the shore, and then you can go back."

Du Heng immediately complied and docked the ship at the nearest point.

After disembarking from the ship, charlie wade immediately called Steve Rothschild. Steve quickly arranged for a bulletproof Cadillac to come to charlie wade's location. After the car stopped, charlie wade opened the door and got in. Lin Wan'er (Alani) was sitting alone in the back seat. Seeing charlie wade get in, she asked with concern, "How did things go, young master?" charlie wade smiled slightly and said, "It's all taken care of. Didn't you want to go to Harvard? Why don't you have Steve arrange a plane, and we'll go to Massachusetts first?"

Lin Wan'er (Alani) asked charlie wade, "Is there nothing else to do in Miami?"

charlie wade nodded and said, "We'll have to wait a bit until Steve takes care of things."

Lin Wan'er (Alani) nodded gently and smiled, "Since there's nothing else here, then I'll follow your instructions, young master."

charlie wade took out his phone and called Steve, asking him to arrange a private jet for him, as well as a hotel for him after landing in Massachusetts. The Rothschild family's businesses are spread throughout the United States, and Harvard, as one of the top universities in America, is naturally the cradle for the Rothschild family to cultivate the next generation. They have deep roots in and around these Ivy League schools.

As charlie wade expected, after receiving charlie wade's call, Steve immediately said to him, "Mr. Ye, our family has a private club on the Harvard University campus. Ostensibly, it's a private club for high-end alumni, but in reality, it's our family's property. There are guest rooms there; you two can stay there. The Rothschild family will take care of you."

charlie wade nodded and said, "That's best. You arrange it. We'll head to the airport now."

"No problem."

The armored car immediately took charlie wade and Lin Wan'er (Alani) to Miami Airport, escorting them directly to the Rothschild family's private jet, which flew to Cambridge, Massachusetts.
