

At The Top 2381

Life at the Top Chapter 2381-Kant and the others looked at each other after hearing Warwick's words. Then, they quietly breathed a sigh of relief.

It seemed that Warwick had no intention of pursuing this, which was a good thing.

Kant and the others rejoiced. After all, they knew very well that the person behind the scenes was most likely Jagoan, and it would be very unfavorable to them if this matter was investigated further.

On the contrary, there was an almost undisguised disappointment on the faces of Shulman and Harry. Their original idea was to use this matter to expand the conflict and finally help their country win more interest in Qari. Yet, it seemed that the plan fell through.

Now even Warwick, the victim, had expressed that he did not care. If they wanted to make use of this matter again, it would appear a bit too deliberate.

Jagoan, however, was sitting on the sidelines unperturbed. He seemed not at all surprised by Warwick's performance.

"However, at least one thing is certain. The person behind the scenes has planted many people secretly in Qari, and they are using equipment to monitor our every move. Although I am only a member of the Elvis Family, I am also a member of Qari. I will never allow this kind of thing that endangers our national security to happen."

"I will propose to my uncle to call on all colleagues in the oil-related industry to investigate and monitor the matter together. We will never spare the evildoer!"

Warwick's words were powerful and resonating.

The annoyance on the faces of Shulman and others disappeared and smiles once again appeared from the corner of their mouths.

It turned out that it was not that Warwick did not want to investigate the mastermind behind the scenes, he just wanted to go big.

In his heart, he had already decided that the United States was the mastermind behind the scene!

The oil industry was Qari's largest, and only, pillar industry. And the Elvis Family, as Qari's monopoly oil processing group, had an irreplaceable position in Qari's oil industry.

Now the Elvis Family was taking the lead in calling for investigation and monitoring, which was tantamount to forcing the Qari government to follow up on this initiative.

As for the so-called investigation and monitoring, this was simply a cover. Warwick was trying to take this opportunity to remove the eyes and ears the United States planted. After all, everyone knew that after years of painstaking efforts, the United States had already penetrated Qari like a sieve. So, Warwick's move was tantamount to pulling the carpet out from under them.

"It seems that Warwick really hates the mastermind behind the scenes." At some point, Harry leaned over to Jagoan's side and winked.

Jagoan smiled. "In any case, Xenna is Warwick's bottom line. Now that someone had used her to sow discord, he certainly won't spare the other party so easily."

Harry nodded. He was convinced when he heard the words.

"Speaking of this, it's all thanks to you, Mr. Laine. If it weren't for you discovering the other party's mistakes and resolving the crisis in time, this marriage would really be a mess and I will be scolded to death by my father when I return..."

"However, I'm really looking forward to the expression of the person behind the scenes. They've gone for wool and come back shorn."

Having said that, Harry could not help but laugh from the schadenfreude.

Jagoan also smiled and replied, "Well, I am also looking forward to it. This is such a wonderful thing for me."

Next, the two chatted with each other, and after a while, Shulman and the others joined in.

The few people chatted in full swing, and they gradually became closer.

On the other side, the faces of Kant and the others were very dark. At this moment, they were even thinking about how to rat out Jagoan to the family when they went back.

Life at the Top Chapter 2382-Slam!

Jagoan punched the table angrily. "It's Jagoan again! Why? Why do you always want to go against me?"

At this moment, her face was full of anger like an angry female leopard.

Just now, she had learned what happened in the newcomer's locker room through the bug.

In her original plan, Warwick and the others should have no time to think about the authenticity of the email due to the suddenness of the incident. By then, she would be able to successfully disrupt the wedding when the conditions were right.

However, she never expected that Jagoan to secretly send someone to contact Xenna's family ahead of time, ruining her plan.

Jagoan despised Jagoan in her heart now, but she seemed to forget that she was the one who forgot this entire thing since the beginning.

"Miss Jagoan..."

When Jagoan heard Edmund's voice, she also realized her gaffe just now.

Thus, Jagoan quickly recomposed herself, went back to her precious calm expression, and said with a smile, "Edmund, I'm fine, you don't have to worry."

"It doesn't matter if Jagoan discovers my plan. This is just an appetizer. The show I prepared for him is not that simple. Next, I'll have to depend on Kimbra and your performance."

After saying that, Jagoan shook her hips and walked in front of Edmund, staring straight into Edmund's brown eyes.

"Edmund, you won't let me down after this, right? I want to make a comeback, and you are the only one I can rely on."

Edmund looked at Jagoan in front of him and immediately put his doubts behind him.

"Miss Jagoan, I will definitely not let you down!"

On Jagoan's side, the turmoil subsided, and the wedding went on as usual. The best men and bridesmaids became busy again.

At this moment, they seemed to have forgotten the rift just now, and they had started talking and laughing again. However, once some things had happened, it would be difficult to completely forget it.

Soon, Warwick and Elibetha, who were dressed to the nines, walked to the center of the venue surrounded by the crowd and accompanied by cheerful music.

The wedding had officially begun!

"As the bride, it's fine for Elibetha to wear a long robe as a sign of respect for the customs here, but why are you also wearing a veil?"

Jagoan looked at Jagoan, who had changed without him realizing, and spoke with curiosity.

Although he was also one of the best men tonight, he did not have a lot of tasks, so most of the time, he could just sit in the corner and rest.

Jagoan rubbed her forehead helplessly and sighed, "Do you think I want to dress like this? It's because Beth said that even though I couldn't be the bridesmaid, she still wanted me to enjoy the treatment of a bridesmaid."

"Well, the bridesmaid's treatment is this long robe that will cover my entire body."

Jagoan was about to continue complaining but was interrupted by Jagoan waving his hand. "Keep it down, the clergyman is starting the wedding ceremony!"

Under the watchful eyes of everyone, the clergyman in a white robe began to preach.

After a series of procedures, the wedding finally progressed to the most critical part.

"My children, tell me, are you willing to take this person next to you as a lifelong partner, never to apart?"

The clergyman's voice sounded slowly in the hall.

Warwick and Elibetha stood facing each other with deep affection in their eyes. The answer was self-evident.

When they were about to say their answers out loud, a burly figure suddenly rushed in front of them.

It was Kimbra!

Life at the Top Chapter 2383-Solander, the Elvis family's patriarch, who was originally smiling widely, changed his expression.

A bad premonition came to mind.

"Get someone to take Kimbra away now!"

As soon as Solander finished speaking, he heard Kimbra's rough voice.

"I object to this wedding! The Elvis family is betraying Qari's interests! The wedding is invalid!"

There was a constant buzzing at the scene, and everyone in the audience showed astonished and inexplicable expressions on their faces.

Kant and the others panicked initially, but after a while, a smile began to appear on their faces as if realizing something.

Behind them stood the Rothschilds and the United States, so it was in their interest that this wedding went wrong.

"Damn, Kimbra, what the hell are you trying to do?" Solander roared and stood up, pointing his fingers at Kimbra.

At the moment, he was clearly furious.

"Kimbra, you have to give me an explanation today, otherwise you will become an enemy of the Elvis family!"

Facing Solander's questioning, Kimbra spread his hands and said, "Solander, are you confused? I've made it very clear just now. This wedding is going against the rules, and I want to stop it!"

"Going against the rules my ass!" Solander rushed to the stage, nearly spitting in Kimbra's face.

"Tell me then, why is this wedding not in compliance with the rules? If you can't give me a good reason, you won't be able to leave this place alive today!"

Kimbra smirked. "Solander, what big words! You're violating the doctrines so brazenly and yet you sound so righteous!"

After Kimbra finished speaking, the air froze instantly.

Almost everyone in Qari was very religious. In a country like that, it was a very serious charge to openly violate the teachings of their religion.

Solander was also taken aback by Kimbra's words, so he lowered his voice a little when he asked, "How am I violating the doctrines?"

"You blatantly let your nephew marry a woman who has no faith. God will punish you to hell!"

Kimbra's voice was loud and righteous.

According to the teachings of their religion, a man of this religion was not allowed to marry a woman who had no belief. So, the woman had to also convert to the same religion as him before they could get married. As for women with religious beliefs, they were not subject to such restrictions.

Solander obviously did not expect Kimbra to use this as an excuse, so he burst out laughing in anger. "Who said Elibetha has no faith? She is a member of the royal family of the United Kingdom, and of course, she believes in the state religion of the United Kingdom."

When Kimbra heard that, he said with confidence, "You say Elibetha believes in the United Kingdom state religion, right? So how do you explain the fact that she doesn't wear a cross?"

"The reason why you would rather violate the religious rules and let Warwick marry Elibetha is clearly because you want to collude with the United Kingdom, sell our oil to the United Kingdom cheaply, and let the United Kingdom monopolize our resources!"

"Also, you invited Jagoan, a Somerlander, to become Warwick's best man! When was a Qari wedding reduced to the point where even the worst human alive is eligible to be the best man?"

"Are you also in collusion with Somerland?"

When the matter escalated to this point, Solander also understood Kimbra's intentions. He only wanted to ruin the wedding!

As for the reason, he would just make one up on the spot.

According to him, if Elibetha did not wear a cross, then it proved that she was not a person of faith, but if Elibetha really wore a cross that represented the state religion of the United Kingdom, she would be accused of disrespecting Qari's religious traditions!

He who had a mind to beat his dog would easily find his stick.

Life at the Top Chapter 2384-"Kimbra, it looks like you really don't want to work with my family anymore." Solander narrowed his eyes at Kimbra, his voice low and husky.

Those who were familiar with Solander would know that he was seething when they saw him like this.

In fact, Solander even had murder on his mind.

The news about the United States taking action in Qari had been making rounds for a long time, and all the families were planning their retreat. The Elvis family was no different.

This marriage was not so much the union of two families as it was the proof of allegiance submitted by the Elvis family to the United Kingdom.

This was a deal.

As part of the deal, the Elvis family would then receive the protection of the royal family of the United Kingdom. In any future wars, their interests would be protected and not disturbed by the conflict.

In exchange, the royal family of the United Kingdom would have the right to intervene in the internal affairs of the Elvis family and get a share of Qari's black gold market.

The chemical industry under the Elvis family alone occupied 65% of Qari's market. Even a strong country like the United Kingdom would covet such a big profit.

If they had to watch the United States take this piece of cake from them, the United Kingdom would also be heartbroken. Therefore, regardless of whether it was the United Kingdom or the Elvis family, either party had to ensure this marriage went smoothly, and there was no room for mistakes!

It was as if Kimbra did not understand Solander's threat, as he sneered and said, "Solander, you may not have understood the situation. It is not me who is against the Elvis family, but the entire Qari oil industry!"

Solander frowned slightly upon hearing this. He suddenly had a bad feeling!

Sure enough, as soon as Kimbra said that, an old figure appeared before everyone's eyes.

"I agree with Kimbra, Solander. I think Warwick and Miss Elibetha's marriage needs to be considered in the long run. I can understand what you have in your mind, but please also take into account the views of all the religious members. Until Miss Elibetha's religious beliefs are confirmed, I think it would be better to put the wedding on hold for now."

Solander clearly did not expect the appearance of the visitor.

"Abe, even you are a part of this. What benefits did Kimbra offer you?"

Solander's voice was hoarse and there was disbelief in his eyes. Kimbra even wooed Abe, vice chairman of the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce Headquarters.

Before Kimbra seized power, he was just the second son of the Kurt family who was not valued. Meanwhile, the external affairs were mainly controlled by the eldest son of the family, Robbins. Thus, it stood to reason that Kimbra should not have such a close relationship with Abe.

Unless...

"Okay, okay, okay, I finally understand what's going on. It seems that the two of you have the same employer!"

Solander was not stupid, and after thinking about it for a moment, he seemed to understand what was going on.

There could only be one reason why Kimbra and Abe, who were strangers to each other, suddenly colluded.

They both had the same employer, and it was the Rothschilds!

The news that Kimbra succeeded in seizing power because of the support of the Rothschilds had long been no secret among the big Qari families. It was precisely because of this that Solander resolutely chose to form a connection with the United Kingdom via marriage.

If not, the Elvis family could very well become the next Kurt family!

Solander could never accept this!

However, he did not expect that even after backing down in every possible front, the Rothschilds would still crack down on him using such a lame reason!

Plus, he would never expect that his long-time friend Abe to also work for the Rothschilds!

Life at the Top Chapter 2385-“Solander, I’m too old and I don’t understand what you’re saying. The reason why I choose to speak up is purely out of faith in our God.”

Of course, Abe would not be so stupid as to admit it directly. He spread his hands and looked serious.

With Abe taking the lead, new figures came out one after another.

“I agree with Vice Chairman Abe and Chief Kimbra. I don’t think it is appropriate for Mr. Warwick’s wedding to take place now.”

“Warwick casually marrying a woman of unknown faith is a taint to the faith of our God!”

“Solander, are you so desperate to let Qari’s industry fall into foreign hands?”

These people were impassioned, and their families had all obtained some oil fields.

Obviously, these people were in the same group as Abe and Kimbra, and they were all spies of the Rothschilds in Qari.

Solander viciously scanned these people from head to toe as if he wanted to keep all their faces in mind.

Everyone who was originally angry shuddered uncontrollably and looked away when they met Solander’s murderous gaze.

If Solander was able to become the patriarch of such a big family like the Elvis family which played an important role in Qari, he was naturally not someone to be trifled with. To put it bluntly, he was someone who emerged from the bloody and gory family battles.

Those who were hooting along with Abe and Kimbra understood at this moment that they had completely offended Solander.

What awaited them later was the violent revenge of the Elvis family. However, when they thought of the reward that Abe had promised them on behalf of the Rothschilds, they became more courageous.

Among the group of people, only Kimbra glared back at Solander with more ferocious eyes without giving in from the beginning to the end.

“Solander, stop putting on airs. As long as I’m here today, Warwick will never be able to get married!”

When Kimbra saw that he had the upper hand now, he became even more arrogant.

Then, he pointed at Jagoan and said coldly, “And you! Don’t think I’ll forget what happened last night, you Somerland monkey! I heard what you’ve done in Bashra. It was so peaceful there but once you’re here, it becomes so chaotic and everyone can’t get any peace and quiet anymore!”

“You’re in Bardot and this is not a place where you can do whatever you want!”

Kimbra always remembered the secret meeting between Jagoan and his father Baltimore. In his heart, anyone related to Baltimore had to be eliminated quickly.

Therefore, even at this time, he did not forget to twist the truth. He wanted to involve Jagoan in it and try to take the opportunity to get rid of Jagoan in one fell swoop.

Solander had been in charge of the Elvis family for many years and was very cunning. So, of course, he could read Kimbra like a book.

"Kimbra, Mr. Jagoan is a distinguished guest of our family. You have no right to point fingers at my guest."

Now, it was clear that the United States had controlled these forces through the Rothschilds to try to force the Elvis family to abdicate. The situation was very unfavorable to them now. Even if the Elvis family had the United Kingdom as a backer, it would be good to have an extra backer at this time.

After all, Jagoan had an embassy bond and was not representing Somerland.

Harry and Shulman had been sitting on the sidelines and watching coldly, but after seeing how aggressive Kimbra was, they could not hold themselves back anymore.

Harry was about to stand up, but a strong arm pulled him back.

Harry turned his head dissatisfied, only to see Jagoan shaking his head slightly.

Life at the Top Chapter 2386-Seeing that the person holding him back was Jagoan, Harry was stunned.

In his impression, among everyone present, the ones who had the most reason to be angry, except for the Elvis family, would be him and Jagoan.

Harry came to the wedding today on behalf of the royal family of the United Kingdom. From a certain point of view, he was a member of the bride Elibetha's family.

Now, Kimbra was accusing Elibetha of concealing her beliefs, which was tantamount to slandering the United Kingdom royal family directly. Not to mention Jagoan, who was accused of having ulterior motives for no reason.

"Jagoan, what's the meaning of this?" Harry asked quietly.

The image of Jagoan calmly resolving the turmoil just now had a very deep impact on him. He refused to believe that Jagoan would be a soft guy who dared not fight back in the face of provocation.

"Harry, can you trust me this time?"

Jagoan did not explain, and he just looked at Harry seriously.

Harry hesitated and finally nodded. "Okay, I hope you won't let me down..."

Then, he sat down in silence.

Facing Kimbra's aggressiveness, Solander was just about to snap back when he felt a hand pat him on the shoulder. Solander turned his head angrily and was about to reprimand the person, but upon the face of the person, he swallowed the words that were about to escape his lips.

“Uncle, it’s my wedding, so let me handle this matter...” Warwick looked at Solander, his eyes determined.

Only then did Solander realize later that Warwick was the only one who was most qualified to be mad in this turmoil. He was the main character today.

Warwick walked straight in front of Kimbra, met his gaze, and said coldly, “Kimbra, I guess you must have planned this matter for a long time and will not give it up easily. However, I’m curious about one thing. What would you do if I refuse to agree to your request and insist on marrying Elibetha?”

Kimbra narrowed his eyes as if he had just met Warwick for the first time today.

Although Warwick had been the CEO of the largest chemical group in the Elvis family in name for a long time, all the power of the company had still been in Solander’s hands.

Warwick was more of a mascot than the company’s top leader. However, today, Warwick’s performance far exceeded his expectations.

In the face of such a huge disturbance, he actually chose to stand up and face Kimbra, who was known for his viciousness and mercilessness. This courage alone made everyone present look at him with admiration.

At this moment, Solander’s eyes revealed his appreciation for Warwick unabashedly.

My nephew seems to have really grown up after all the changes...

“If your family insists on going your own way, we can only take extreme measures. We will never tolerate you for marrying a woman of unknown faith as a believer and trying to betray Qari’s interests. At that time, we can only apply to the president to deprive the Elvis family of your qualifications in black gold processing.”

The implication was that if the Elvis family refused to agree to their request, they would forcibly carve up the assets of the Elvis family!

When Solander heard what Kimbra said, his face was full of anger.

Kimbra wanted to exterminate the Elvis family!

If the Elvis family obeyed them, they would definitely offend the United Kingdom. Then, they would not have protection in future wars launched by the United States.

If that happened, the Elvis family would definitely become lambs waiting to be slaughtered in the eyes of others. However, if the Elvis family rejected them, they would unite to block and carve up the property of the Elvis family.

When it came to the Kurt family, which held more than half of Qari’s black gold, and the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, which held Qari’s black gold qualification certification, their powerful alliance was almost equivalent to representing the will of the state.

They were totally capable of this!

This was a dead end!

Life at the Top Chapter 2387-After hearing Kimbra's blatant threat, Warwick did not respond immediately but instead turned his head to look at Solander.

"Uncle, I want to confirm with you, can my decision later represent the will of the Elvis family?"

Solander had not expected Warwick to suddenly ask that.

If it was any other time, he would have thought that Warwick was trying to seize power if he asked this question. Now, the same sentence had a completely different meaning. Warwick wanted to take the risk of the decision on his own.

In this case, no matter what Warwick said next, the Elvis family still had other options. They would be alright even if Warwick ended up failing. It was because Warwick was the one who made the decision, not the patriarch, Solander.

Warwick was mentally prepared to be abandoned just to fight for a little hope for the Elvis family!

Solander thought for a while, then laughed, "Warwick, you are my first-in-line heir. Of course, your decision can represent the will of the Elvis family and my own."

"Uncle, you..." Warwick was also surprised by Uncle Solander's words.

Solander implied that no matter what Warwick wanted to do next, Solander would stand by him without hesitation.

This trust was precious and heavy.

After Warwick thought this through, he lowered his head and remained silent for a while. When he raised his head again, his eyes were filled with the flames of confidence.

"Kimbra, I am now formally informing you as the first heir of the Elvis family that this wedding will not be terminated for any reason. I, Warwick Elvis, am going to marry Elibetha today, and no one has the right to stop this!"

"You!" Kimbra was about to blow up when he heard the words.

However, Warwick continued, "Besides, I want to announce another thing!"

"From now on, as long as Kimbra remains the patriarch of the Kurt family, all cooperation between the Elvis family and the Kurt family will be terminated! The Elvis family will never do business with the Kurt family with Kimbra around!"

After he said that, the room fell silent.

Kimbra's expression began to become visibly unpleasant.

The Kurt family behind him could indeed cooperate with the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce to cut off the source of the Elvis family's oil processing. However, similarly, the Elvis family could also choose not to provide processing services to the Kurt family's oil.

Since the Elvis family had almost monopolized the entire Qari processing market, once the Elvis family terminated the cooperation, there would be no other company in Qari that could quickly take over this production capacity. Even if they went to a foreign company to temporarily put out the fire, the cost would be so huge that even the Kurt family would suffer.

Unprocessed petroleum was no different from waste products, and the Kurt family could not afford this risk at all.

If Warwick wanted to engage in a life-or-death struggle, he had to fight Kimbra to the end!

This kind of courage moved everyone present.

Jagoan watched coldly but shook his head slightly.

Facing the joint attack of the Kurt family and the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, Warwick's move could only buy himself time. Once the United States officially intervened, oil processing plants under the direct control of the United States would surely spring up like mushrooms after rain, and Warwick's threat would be useless.

"But... Kimbra, do you think you can really win just from this?" Jagoan murmured silently before standing up.

Life at the Top Chapter 2388-Jagoan stood up suddenly and attracted everyone's attention.

Just now Kimbra had been trying to direct the attacks at Jagoan, but Jagoan had not responded. At this time, it was strange for him to get up suddenly.

"Hey, Jagoan, you finally stopped being a coward. Why? Are you trying to threaten us on behalf of Somerland? Qari will never allow you foreign forces to wantonly harvest our precious wealth!"

Kimbra's accusation also attracted the support of everyone behind him.

"Girl, this Kimbra person is so hateful. He's obviously helping the United States disrupt the situation, but he is still accusing Jagoan of being a foreign power!" Elibetha sat next to Jagoan at some point, her face full of resentment.

Jagoan smiled and said, "Beth, you're actually worried about Warwick, right?"

Elibetha could not help but blush when she was exposed.

However, she still insisted, "Now, Jagoan and Warwick are on the same front, and I should also feel mad on behalf of Jagoan. But..."

At this point, Elibetha showed a puzzled look, and said softly, "Kimbra has been slandering Jagoan this whole time, so why did Jagoan not start defending himself until now?"

After Jagoan heard Elibetha's question, she lowered her head and pondered for a while.

Then, she said with uncertainty, "Maybe Jagoan wants to pull the snake from its hole."

"Pull the snake from its hole? Is this a common saying of you Somerlanders? Does it mean to bait a bad guy into acting and exposing their whereabouts?"

"Yes, that's what it means. Back in Bashra, we had always suspected that Jagoan had colluded with the top management of the Qari Petroleum Chamber of Commerce, but we had no proof. Now that Kimbra is making a fuss, the people behind him will naturally expose themselves. Moreover, we might even get an unexpected surprise.”

Elibetha knew that the unexpected surprise Jagoan was referring to was those little guys who followed Abe to accuse the Elvis family.

If it was not for this incident that forced this group of people to expose themselves one after another, it would be hard for them to find proof that the Rothschilds had been secretly bribing these families.

“What will Jagoan do after pulling the snake from its hole?”

“After that...” Jagoan smiled and said with a chuckle, “He’ll eliminate everything in one fell stroke, of course.”

After Jagoan heard the noises from Kimbra’s side, his expression remained unchanged.

He just smiled lightly and said, “Kimbra, oh Kimbra, I didn’t expect that you to be so affectionate and not hesitate to tell such a big lie just because of a woman you met once...”

Kimbra predicted that Jagoan would either yell or refute, but he never expected Jagoan to say such a thing. Now, he was a little confused.

“Jagoan, what do you mean?” Kimbra questioned loudly, feeling inexplicably flustered.

“You should ask yourself what you did yesterday.”

After Jagoan finished speaking, he turned his head to look in the direction of Elibetha and Jagoan.

Then, he said with a grin, “Ladies, can you take off your veils now?”

Following Jagoan’s eyes, everyone began to look at Elibetha and Jagoan. They recognized one of them to be the bride tonight. Kimbra’s expression changed drastically!

Because Elibetha and Jagoan had been wearing veils, he did not pay much attention to their appearance. Now, after being reminded by Jagoan, he suddenly found that the faces of these two people to be very familiar.

A trace of fear welled up in his heart.

No way. There can’t be such a coincidence...

Life at the Top Chapter 2389-As Elibetha and Jagoan took off their veils, the last bit of hope in Kimbra’s heart completely disappeared.

It was them!

Damn it, he should have thought of this when he saw Jagoan suddenly transform into the best man!

He actually almost raped the bride of the Elvis family!

Although Kimbra was flustered, he still forced himself to calm down and said, “Jagoan, what are you trying to say? I don’t know these two ladies. Don’t try to change the subject!”

However, Kimbra did not realize that his voice was now much weaker than the menacing voice he had earlier.

Abe was also sensitive to the change in Kimbra's attitude, so he suddenly had an ominous omen.

Would this long-planned siege stop just like this...

"It seems that Chief Kimbra's memory is not very good. If that's the case, I don't mind refreshing your memory..."

After Jagoan finished speaking, he took out a USB flash drive from his pocket and handed it to the attendant at the side.

"Please play the video on the USB drive."

The attendant quickly took the USB flash drive with both hands before running backstage.

Soon, shaky scenes appeared on the screen directly behind the hall.

The man with a ferocious face walked towards the two unconscious ladies with narrowed eyes. Finally, after Jagoan's righteous rescue, the man fled.

Although the scene was blurry, everyone recognized the big man on the screen as Kimbra!

And the identities of the two ladies who were obviously drugged caused a commotion in the room.

"Oh my God, the two ladies on the screen are clearly the bride Elibetha and her friend!"

"Did Kimbra try to rape the bride? This is horrible!"

"Thank goodness for Mr. Jagoan's help, otherwise the consequences would have been disastrous!"

Solander and Warwick at the side were trembling with anger.

"Kimbra, you must explain to me what you were going to do to Beth last night!"

"Also, Abe, did you also know about this a long time ago, or do you also have a part in this? Otherwise, why would you defend Kimbra so much?"

Facing Solander's accusation, Abe also showed a rare panicked expression on his face.

"N-No, no, Solander, it's just a misunderstanding... I genuinely had no idea about this."

Abe hated Kimbra in his heart right now.

By now, he had also seen the current situation clearly. Now that there were witnesses and material evidence, Kimbra would not be able to clear his rape accusation against the bride.

The most urgent thing he had to do now was to quickly distance himself from this troublemaker!

"Damn it, this video is fake! It's all fake!"

At this time, Kimbra did not look as aggressive anymore. He just wanted to get rid of the suspicion quickly.

When he was accusing the Elvis family of betraying the country, he was making things up, but now Jagoan's accusation was justified. Because of this incident, the credibility of his earlier accusation would also dramatically go down.

"So, Kimbra, is that the real reason why you're trying to ruin the wedding? Because you've got your eye on the bride and don't want her to marry Warwick?"

"Or... Were you deliberately trying to ruin the bride's innocence before the wedding to destroy the wedding?"

Jagoan pressed on step by step, looking at Kimbra as if looking at a prey that had fallen into a trap unknowingly.

Life at the Top Chapter 2390-"You... You're talking nonsense! You're making false accusations against me!"

Kimbra retreated step by step. He no longer had the earlier arrogance.

The reason why he dared to so unscrupulously threaten to divide the Elvis family just now was that Abe chose to stand in the united front with him in addition to having the Rothschilds supporting him. As for the reason just now, it was just for the sake of righteousness.

However, a reason was still essential at critical moments even if he needed to make one up at will. Now, the main premise of this reason had been shaken.

His "allies" obviously noticed this too, so they distanced themselves from him.

At this moment, none of them mentioned the "crime" of the Elvis family. If it were not for these people, he might not be able to get out of the A. H. Mosque under the rage of the Elvis family.

Thinking of this, he gritted his teeth, ignored Abe's expression of refusal, and rushed directly in front of Abe.

He then said in a low voice, "Old man, I recorded you when we were talking to Miss Jagoan. Don't you think you can cut ties with me so easily now!"

And at this moment, Solander asked, "Abe, tell me now, do you have any part in this matter?"

Abe lowered his head and began struggling internally. The reason why he could have his current status was all thanks to the Petroleum Chamber of Commerce.

However, once the United States launched a war, all the old orders would be completely destroyed. At that time, it would be hard to say whether the United States would recognize Abe and his people.

He needed the Rothschilds if he still wanted to guarantee his status. This was also the reason why he agreed to Jagoan without hesitation when he learned that Jagoan was very likely to be abandoned by her family due to a series of failures. Thus, Abe, had no choice.

Now came the critical decision.

Thinking of this, Abe stiffened his neck and argued strongly against Solander who was pressing on every step of the way, "Solander, I really think you need to calm down... Kimbra represents the Kurt family, and they are also an important part Qari's oil industry. You should not do things that make your loved ones hurt your enemies. Let's put whether Kimbra really did it aside. Even if this video is true, it may be taken out of context."

However, Abe did not expect that his words could not appease Solander and that Solander's face would become angrier.

"Old man, you just reminded me! This brat dared to act so recklessly because Kurt is behind him. He even dared to violate the bride of the Elvis family. Then I will make him completely lose the asylum of his family! Everyone knows that Baltimore is the patriarch of the Kurt family, and his heir is Robbins."

"When will Kimbra, the second son of the family, have a chance to speak?"

"I now officially declare, as the head of the Elvis family, that I do not recognize Kimbra as the head of the Kurt family! In the future, I will unite with other colleagues to seek justice for old Baltimore!"

After hearing this, Kimbra turned pale, and for the first time, a fearful expression appeared on his face. This was because Solander was serious.

This was the wrath of the Elvis family!