

Chapter 0027

Chapter 0027

The billionaires heirs

Ashley...

"This is it for today, guys. Thank you for making another event successful," I told them and they all high-fived each other.

"You can go home now; I know we have worked hard today to make this party the biggest yet. Go and enjoy the afternoon," I told my employees.

We had a big party this morning. One of the CEOs retired and his son was made the new CEO. They asked me to do the catering and there were more than five hundred people. It was one of our biggest events yet.

I was nervous at first but when I saw how my team worked together, I knew we would do alright.

My phone has been ringing non-stop since this morning but I ignore it since I know it was Adrian who was calling me. I don't have anything to say to him, not after what he did last night.

I was just about to leave my office when Luke came in and said, "Ashley."

Great, what the hell does he want?

"Luke, what are you doing here? We are closed," I asked, taking my handbag.

"How are you?" he asked, ignoring my question.

I roll my eyes, wondering when he will understand that I'm not interested. "I'm good, and you?" I decided to play nice.

He smiled, and I swear, if his ears weren't in the way, his smile would have gone around his head.

"Good, so..." he answered but trailed off as I walked out of my office.

He followed me as I closed the door. "So?" I asked with a smile.

"What are you doing tonight?" he asked and I know that he is nervous.

"Nothing much, just spending time with my kids. Why are you asking?"

"I was wondering if maybe the three of you want to go out. You know, maybe catch dinner and go to the amusement park?"

"Sure, what time?" I asked and his smile grew bigger.

"Really?"

"Yup, really," I smile, and the next thing I knew, he was wrapping his arms around me.

"What the hell is going on here?" I hear an angry Adrian's voice and when I pull away from Luke, I see Adrian standing there, glaring at us. I take Luke's arms and walk towards the door.

"You may, we are on our way to get my children; the four of us have a date," I smiled at Adrian but he doesn't seem too pleased with my answer.

"Like hell you are," Adrian says, pulling me away from Luke as I struggle to get out of his grip.

"Who are you?" Luke asked, now glaring at Adrian.

"I'm her husband and you?"

"Husband?" Luke asked, frowning as he looked at me.

"No, more of my ex-husband," I smirked as I saw Adrian glare at me once I said the ex-word.

"So he is the reason..."

"Yes, Luke, it's him," I quickly say, not wanting Adrian to know that I never dated after our divorce.

"Come, Ash, let's go," Adrian says, grabbing my arm and trying to pull me away from Luke.

"She isn't going anywhere with you," Luke growled, pulling on my other hand.

"Says who?" Adrian challenges him. I must take action; I cannot allow Luke to be harmed because of me.

"It's alright, Luke; I will call you later," I say, hoping he will leave before something happens.

"Are you sure?" Luke asked, looking down at me.

"Yes, now go."

Luke seems hesitant for a second as he stares daggers at Adrian but when he looks down at me again, he smiles. "Alright, beautiful, I will see you tomorrow," Luke says, kissing my cheeks. Then he walks past Adrian and mumble something under his breath.

Adrian grabs my arm again and I slap his hand. "Let go of me!" I snapped, wiggling out of his grip.

"What are you doing planning dates with another man?" He snaps back at me.

"It's none of your business, Adrian. If I want to take my kids on a date with me, I can do whatever the hell I want."

"You mean our kids," he yells as I walk past him to my car.

I turn to him and glare. "Oh, so now they are your kids? It didn't seem that way last night when you were out with Tonya. You didn't even call them!" I accused him.

"Are you jealous?" He asked with a smirk.

I got into my car and locked the doors, then I rolled the window down slightly and said, "Don't flatter yourself, Adrian, because how can I be jealous if I don't love you anymore?" I say this and drive away, leaving a shocked Adrian behind.

I lied when I told him I didn't love him but he doesn't need to know that. I can't move on and start a new life with someone else because Adrian will always have my heart. Yes, yes, I'm jealous. Fuck, I have been jealous since the day we first dated. I knew he always dated supermodels and when we first started dating, I was sure he would rather be with one of them than with an orphan like me. 1