

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 641

Celeste was unaware of what Harvey and Lennox were thinking.

Her expression remained unchanged as she chatted about work with Lazarus and the others while they ate.

After the meal, Celeste and Lazarus's group left the private room and prepared to head downstairs, only to run into Harvey and his group again.

This time, however, it was different from earlier. Wynn and Lilian were also present, making the group noticeably larger.

The Lockets and the Shaws also saw Celeste.

Linda and Lennox's expressions immediately turned cold when they saw her.

Lazarus and the others noticed this and gave an awkward smile.

Wynn, however, looked completely normal. She didn't even glance at Celeste, as if Celeste wasn't worth her attention at all.

Just as Wynn was about to greet Lazarus and the others, someone happened to walk toward the elevator.

When they saw who it was, not only Wynn, but also Harvey and Lazarus froze, instantly falling silent.

Celeste had her side turned toward the newcomers and didn't know who they were. Sensing the sudden change in everyone's expressions, she was about to turn her head when the other party had already recognized her.

A refined yet authoritative face immediately broke into a smile. "Cel?"

Celeste was startled. When she turned around, she realized the person was Kael.

Of course, Kael wasn't alone—there were also several other prominent figures commonly seen in political circles.

Celeste came back to her senses. "Mr. Gendric."

Kael walked over, his smile unchanged. "Out having a meal with friends?"

Celeste nodded obediently. "Yes."

Kael smiled and introduced the people beside him.

"Cel, this is Dominic Lafayette, this is Adrian Burlington, this is Alistair Tillingham."

After introducing everyone one by one, Kael smiled again. "They've all heard about you and have wanted to meet you for some time; but we never had the chance. What coincidence to run into you today."

Celeste nodded and greeted each of them politely.

With so many people present, Kael didn't chat with her for long. He simply said with a smile, "I was originally supposed to go to Theodore's place for dinner with you, Zachary, and Harold last night but an urgent matter came up, so I couldn't make it.

"Thinking about it now, I do regret it a little. After the New Year, I should have some time. Please come over with Zachary and the others for a meal at my place."

Celeste hurriedly replied, "I will. If I have time, I'll definitely come."

Kael smiled, said a few more words to her, then led the others into the elevator first.

Aside from Linda, almost everyone present knew who Kael and his group were.

So, even though many people were around while Kael spoke with Celeste, the area was extremely quiet-no one dared to speak rashly.

As Kael and his group left first, everyone politely nodded and watched them go.

Only after the elevator doors slowly closed did Linda quietly ask, "Mom, who exactly were those people just now?"

Ruby had never encountered so many figures she had previously only seen on television.

She was still a little dazed.

Hearing Linda's question, she took a deep breath to calm her racing heart before saying, "T-Those people are... very, very important figures in the country..."

As she spoke, she leaned close to Linda's ear and quietly told her the identities of Kael and his group.

After hearing this, Linda was completely stunned.

Earlier, even though she hadn't known Kael's identity, she could tell from his demeanor that he wasn't an ordinary person Coupled with how, solemn everyone else looked in front of him, she hadn't dared to speak carelessly.

But she had never imagined that their backgrounds would be this formidable.

Such high-ranking figures had taken the initiative to speak to Celeste, and judging from their manner, they seemed genuinely fond of her.

It wasn't just Linda. Lazarus and his team were also stunned.

They knew that Matthias was a student of Zachary, but they had never imagined that through Matthias, Celeste would actually be able to enter Zachary's circle of friends.

That was a circle far beyond anything the business world could compare to.

Harvey, Lilian, and Patricia were equally shocked.

They had known earlier that Celeste had met Kael and the others before, but they had all assumed she had merely followed Matthias along as someone insignificant who wouldn't truly register in the eyes of people like Kael.

After all, circles like Kael's and Zachary's were not places ordinary people could enter, let alone be acknowledged.

But it turned out-

The only person present who wasn't surprised was Wynn.

Celeste had met Kael and Rowan long ago.

Later, when Harold ran into Celeste at work, his attitude toward her was noticeably warm. From that alone, Wynn already knew that these influential figures held Celeste in very high regard.

What Wynn didn't expect was that Celeste had actually gone to the Robinson family's home for dinner together with Zachary and the others.

If that was the case, then Jorge might already know-

The elevator then arrived.

Celeste and Lazarus's group entered first, while Wynn and her family waited for the next one.

After the elevator doors closed again, Lennox broke the silence after a long moment. "I really didn't expect her to be so fortunate."

No matter why Celeste had been able to marry Trevor back then, when they first learned that she had married him, they had all been genuinely shocked.

They truly hadn't expected that when the Rodriguez family was in decline, Celeste could still marry so well.

Now that Trevor was out of the picture, there was Matthias.

More importantly, even before marrying Matthias, she had already gained the affection and recognition of Zachary and his wife, along with the influential figures in their circle.

That meant that even if nothing had gone wrong between Trevor and Wynn, even if Wynn had married Trevor as planned, if Celeste really married Matthias you might not have been able to outshine her.

Not to mention the current situation between Trevor and Wynn.

It wasn't just Lennox. No one had expected Celeste to suddenly rise so spectacularly.

Now Celeste was thriving, while they were...

Lilian lowered her gaze and said calmly, "Let's go back."

The group entered the elevator in silence.

Linda might be impulsive, but she wasn't stupid. Ever since she learned the identities of Kael and the others, she had been in a daze all the way into the elevator.

It wasn't until they exited that she finally came back to her senses.

She also realized that if things between Wynn and Trevor truly fell apart, then everything the Lockets and the Shaws currently had would...

The more she thought about it, the more anxious she became. She looked at Wynn and finally couldn't hold back.

"Wynn... has Trev gone with Celeste recently to handle the divorce procedures?"

That was something everyone else wanted to know as well.

They just didn't dare to press Wynn.

Wynn's expression didn't change. Her tone was cold and flat as she answered, "I don't know."

Linda also understood that this wasn't something Wynn could easily ask Trevor about.

His attention was entirely on Celeste now.

If Wynn didn't ask, things might still be manageable, but if she did, and Trevor got angry and broke things off with her outright, they would be worse off.

So, even though Linda was anxious, she didn't say anything more.

In truth, Wynn wanted to know more than anyone whether Trevor and Celeste had recently gone to handle the divorce.

If she wanted to find out, asking Miles would be the best way.

It was just that she hadn't yet found the right opportunity.

Chapter 643

Ruby, however, seemed to think of something and said, "She can't have the cake and eat it too. Celeste can't keep holding on to both Trevor and Matthias forever. She'll have to choose one eventually.

"If she deliberately keeps Trevor hanging to sabotage your relationship with him while refusing to marry Matthias, and she mishandles it, she might end up with neither.

"So, she definitely won't drag out the divorce with Trevor for too long. There's no need for us to be overly anxious."

Linda's eyes lit up. "That's right. Just because Trev and Matthias both seem to like her now doesn't mean they won't get tired of her one day."

That was possible. But it was hard to say.

What if Trevor was the one who refused to let go?

All of Linda's assumptions were based on the idea that Celeste and Matthias were a real couple.

But Wynn knew that there was no romantic relationship between Celeste and Matthias.

So, if Trevor didn't want to divorce Celeste, and Celeste didn't seem to have fallen for anyone else either, then it was entirely possible for Trevor and Celeste to reconcile.

After that, Ruby and the others talked a bit more. The general idea was that no matter what, there was still a chance between Wynn and Trevor.

After all, Trevor had never once brought up breaking up with her on his own.

What if one day he suddenly came to his senses and realized she was better and more suitable for him?

When it came to Trevor, she absolutely could not give up lightly.

Wynn thought the same.

As for Trevor, she would never give up easily.

With that thought, she called Trevor once she got into the car.

The call went through, but he didn't answer.

Whether he hadn't seen it or simply didn't want to respond, he never contacted her, even by evening.

Wynn glanced at her completely silent phone, thought for a moment, and then called Jordyn.

When Jordyn saw her call, she answered happily right away. "Wynn!"

Wynn smiled. "Jo, are you on holiday? What have you been up to lately?"

"Yeah! I just started my break. Nothing much. Dad and the others are all busy, so no one's playing with me."

Wynn said, "Is there anywhere you want to go tomorrow? I can take you."

Jordyn was pleasantly surprised. "Really? Wynn, don't you have to work?"

"I'm not busy these days. Why don't you think about where you want to go tomorrow and let me know once you've decided?"

"Okay!"

Before hanging up, Wynn reminded her, "Remember to tell your dad about us going out tomorrow, alright?"

"Okay, I know!"

After hanging up, Jordyn had the butler help her plan where to go the next day.

That evening, when Trevor got home, she told him about going out with Wynn the next day.

Hearing this, Trevor smiled. "Alright, I got it. You two go have fun tomorrow. If anything happens, call me."

"Okay!"

After telling Trevor, Jordyn was about to message Wynn to tell her where she wanted to go when Wynn called first.

"Jo, did you tell your dad about us going out tomorrow?"

"Yes! I just told him. Dad said we should enjoy ourselves."

Wynn's smile paused slightly. "Is that so... Then, he's not coming?"

Jordyn said, "Dad told us to go and said I should call him if anything happens. That probably meant not going."

Wynn lowered her gaze. "I see..."

he's

Chapter 644

The next day, Wynn took Jordyn out to play.

They went to places that Jordyn wanted to visit, and Jordyn had a great time.

By evening, Wynn asked, "Jo, there's a bonfire party here tonight, and there are other activities tomorrow morning too. Do you want to stay here for another night?"

Since Trevor and Celeste were both too busy to spend time with her, Jordyn had actually been quite bored. Hearing this, she immediately nodded. "Sure!"

"Then I'll let your dad know."

"Okay."

Wynn picked up her phone. She originally planned to call Trevor, but just as she was about to dial, she changed it to a text message instead.

The message was sent very quickly.

Recently, Trevor rarely answered her calls, and even when she texted him, he seldom replied. Even if he did, it was usually after a long delay.

She thought this time would be the same.

Unexpectedly, not long after she sent the message, Trevor replied, "Okay, I got it. Thanks."

Seeing his reply, Wynn paused, then sent another message. "Still busy?"

This time, it took quite a while before Trevor replied. "Yeah."

When Wynn saw his response and noticed that he didn't ask where she and Jordyn had gone or whether they had fun, she knew that although he replied, it was perfunctory and had a distant attitude.

Looking at the screen for a long moment, she actually wanted to ask whether he had time tomorrow night, but in the end, she didn't send it.

Instead, she typed, "Jo and I are going to eat first."

This time, Trevor replied after a long while. "Okay."

That night, Wynn and Jordyn stayed at a hotel near the scenic area.

After returning to the hotel, Jordyn even called Trevor. He picked up very quickly.

Jordyn had the call on speaker, so Wynn heard everything clearly.

Trevor was probably still in the car. As Jordyn excitedly shared the fun things she did that day, Trevor listened attentively on the other end, responding to every sentence, being extremely patient and gentle.

Not only Miles and the others, but even Wynn had felt that Trevor treated Jordyn very well.

Even when her relationship with him was at its best and when Trevor was most infatuated with her, she often felt that in his heart, Jordyn was more important than she was.

And yet, before Jordyn turned three, Trevor hadn't liked her at all.

After a moment, Wynn came back to her senses and joined the conversation. "Heading to a business engagement?"

"Yeah," Trevor replied.

"Jo and I will probably stay here and have fun for another day. Do you have time to come over and have a meal together tomorrow?"

Jordyn also missed Trevor a little.

Hearing Wynn ask, she quickly added, "Yeah, Dad, why don't you come over and have fun with us for half a day tomorrow?"

Trevor didn't give a definite answer. He only said, "I'll see if I can make some time. If I can, I'll let you know then."

Jordyn replied disappointedly, "Okay then..."

They chatted for a while longer. When they were about to hang up, Trevor politely said to Wynn, "Thanks for taking care of Jo these past two days."

Wynn smiled and replied, "It's no trouble at all. Having Jo accompany me on this trip makes me very happy too."

Chapter 645

The next day, just as Wynn was thinking of finding a chance to contact Trevor to ask whether he had time to come over and have lunch with them, Jordyn's phone buzzed.

"It's a message from Dad," Jordyn said.

Before Wynn could react, she heard Jordyn continue, "Dad says he still has things to deal with, so he won't be coming over to have a meal with us."

"...Alright, I got it."

Not only did Trevor not come over to eat lunch with them, but when Jordyn got tired in the afternoon and wanted to go home, Trevor directly arranged for a car to come and pick her up.

He never showed up at all.

After the person he sent took Jordyn away, he also didn't contact Wynn at all.

After finishing up matters on the Fleming Group side over the past two days, Celeste was just about to take half a day off when her phone rang.

It was a call from Jacob.

Celeste paused briefly before answering.

On the other end of the line, Jacob's tone was cool and distant. "Ms. Rodriguez, this is Jacob. Mr. Fleming said that the cooperation between you and Mr. Stone also needs to move forward soon. He would like to discuss the specifics with you. May I ask if you're free this evening?"

So, it was Trevor asking Jacob to contact her about work.

Celeste replied calmly, "Yes."

"Alright."

After confirming the time and location with her, Jacob hung up.

Celeste checked the time. After finishing up the work at hand, she tidied up her things and was just about to head out when Kieran knocked and came in.

Seeing that she was about to leave, he asked, "Heading out?"

"Yes, I'm meeting someone to discuss something."

Kieran had just finished up his own work and asked, "Is it convenient to bring me along?"

This project with Fleming Group and Quincy also required Kieran's involvement, so Celeste agreed.

When they arrived at the destination and pushed the door open, Trevor was already there.

However, besides Trevor, Miles was there as well.

Kieran only knew that this project was mainly a collaboration between YodaVision and Fleming Group, but he hadn't expected Trevor to personally come for discussions.

When he saw Trevor, his steps paused slightly.

Seeing him, Trevor's expression remained quite calm. He nodded at Kieran and Celeste. "You're here."

Celeste nodded, politely shook hands with Trevor, then sat down in a chair nearby.

They exchanged a few pleasantries before getting down to business and discussing work.

Kieran didn't know much about this new project they were cooperating on, so he could only listen from the side and pour tea for Celeste when appropriate.

Celeste was focused and engaged in her discussion with Trevor and instinctively reached for the tea Kieran had just brewed for her.

Startled, Kieran quickly grabbed her hand and said, "Careful, it's hot."

Celeste was momentarily stunned when he suddenly held her hand. But after reacting, she calmly withdrew it and said, "Thank you, I will."

Miles was usually a very talkative person.

Today, however, he was unusually quiet.

There was no other reason for it other than the fact that this was the first time he had seen Celeste and Trevor discussing work in such a purely businesslike manner

The way they looked now seemed like they were completely unfamiliar with each other. No one would be able to tell that they were husband and wife let alone a couple six-year-old child.

ita

In fact, he was willing to bet that Kieran hadn't noticed it either. Otherwise—

At first, when he saw how attentive Kieran was toward Celeste, he hadn't thought much of it. But the more he watched, the more something felt off, and it didn't take long for him to confirm that Kieran genuinely had feelings for Celeste.

Now, seeing Kieran holding Celeste's hand, Miles instantly raised his eyebrows in excitement and looked toward Trevor.
