

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 651

After the school holidays began, Jordyn grew bored and didn't feel like traveling. So, the next morning, she followed Trevor to Fleming Group.

Most people at Fleming Group already knew that Trevor had been married and had a child. After all, Jordyn had been to the company before, and some employees had seen her.

Still, when Jordyn appeared at the company together with Trevor that morning, it inevitably stirred curiosity among the staff.

Although everyone knew Trevor was once married and had a child, in their day-to-day interactions with him, many people barely even remembered this fact.

Moreover, compared to his past marriage, the relationship between Trevor and Wynn was far more widely known within the company.

Noticing many people secretly glancing her way, Jordyn didn't feel shy or bothered. She calmly lowered her head and continued swiping on her tablet.

Trevor was on a phone call. Seeing that her hair was a little messy, he reached out and smoothed it for her.

From this alone, everyone at Fleming Group could tell that their relationship was very good.

Before long, the news that "Mr. Fleming's daughter has come to the company" spread throughout the entire building.

When Celeste, Matthias, and Kieran arrived at Fleming Group and heard the news, both Celeste and Matthias subtly slowed their steps. Kieran reacted the same.

Kieran had long known that Trevor had been married and had a daughter, but he had never actually met Trevor's child.

Matthias tilted his head and leaned closer to Celeste's ear. "Don't tell me we're going to run into her today?"

Celeste hadn't spoken yet when Matthias continued, "If we do run into her, that'd be great. But then..."

Their relationship would be exposed.

When that happened, it would definitely shock everyone.

Just thinking about it felt thrilling.

Celeste said nothing. She didn't know whether Trevor was aware that she would be at Fleming Group today.

Although during their previous two meetings, Trevor didn't seem worried about their relationship being exposed and affecting his relationship with Wynn.

Did he really not care?

So, even if he had brought Jordyn to the company today, he would probably have someone keep an eye on her and make sure there was no chance for her and Jordyn to run into each other.

The others didn't hear what Matthias was whispering. Seeing them talking quietly, they simply thought the two of them were close.

At that moment, someone at Fleming Group also brought up the topic of Mr. Fleming's ex-wife.

In fact, every time employees saw Jordyn, it would spark a round of discussion about who "Mr. Fleming's ex-wife" actually was.

"Mr. Fleming's daughter looks a lot like him really beautiful. It's not hard to imagine that his ex- must've been a great beauty too."

"Her temperament feels quite similar to Mr. Fleming's. With so many people looking at her, she doesn't at all. She even has a get fleste vibe

bit of a cool and she's super cute."

Listening to the others talk about Jordyn, Matthias raised his brows with a smile and glanced at Celeste.

Celeste listened quietly, her expression unchanged.

Soon enough, however, the gossip died down, and everyone returned to their work.

On the other side of the company, Trevor had just finished handling some work when Jorge and his secretary arrived.

The moment Jorge entered Trevor's office, he saw Jordyn lying on the sofa, flipping through a comic book.

He froze for a moment.

Jordyn also noticed him.

Trevor stood up and said, "Welcome, Mr. Robinson."

Then he turned to Jordyn and said, "Jo, greet Mr. Robinson."

Jordyn stood up properly and greeted him politely, "Mr. Robinson."

Jorge nodded silently. "Hello."

He withdrew his gaze and was about to speak to Trevor when he suddenly paused, then looked at Jordyn again.

For some reason, he suddenly felt that Jordyn looked somewhat familiar.

Chapter 652

Naturally, Jordyn resembled Trevor.

But aside from Trevor, she seemed to carry traces of someone else as well.

Trevor said, "Mr. Robinson, please have a seat."

This wasn't the first time Jorge had felt that Jordyn looked familiar, yet no matter how hard he tried, he couldn't recall exactly whom she resembled.

He withdrew his gaze and sat down on the sofa.

Soon, they began discussing business matters.

When it came to work, Trevor was focused and serious, his smile calm and appropriate, as though he wasn't the least bit concerned about Jorge having discovered the matter between him and Celeste.

At some point, Jordyn must have come across something while watching videos. Midway through their business discussion, she told Trevor that she wanted to go out for some fun.

Trevor didn't stop her. "Go ahead, but don't stay out too long. Head home before it gets dark."

"Okay."

Near noon time, just as Trevor and Jorge were about to finish with their discussion, Zeke leaned over and whispered something into Trevor's ear.

Trevor nodded, then smiled and asked, "My secretary just told me that Mr. Yoder from YodaVision has also come over today. I'll be treating Mr. Yoder to a meal later. So, Mr. Robinson, do you have time to join us?"

Jorge's relationship with Trevor and Matthias was only average. Under normal circumstances, he would have declined.

But now...

Thinking of the matter between Trevor and Celeste, and seeing that Trevor showed not the slightest embarrassment or guilt when mentioning Matthias, Jorge replied coldly, "Sure."

So, when Celeste, Matthias, and Kieran arrived downstairs at Fleming Group, just as they were about to go for lunch, they all stopped when they saw Trevor and Jorge there as well.

They already knew they would be eating with Trevor, since Lazarus had informed them beforehand.

What surprised them was that Jorge was also present.

Trevor stepped forward courteously and took the initiative to shake Matthias's hand.

"I really appreciate you coming personally to handle the project matters. It's truly been a great help."

Matthias answered, "Mr. Fleming, you're too polite. It's what I should do."

Trevor then politely nodded to Celeste.

Watching Trevor being so courteous toward Matthias, and thinking of the matter between Trevor and Celeste, Jorge hadn't yet reacted when he saw Matthias put his Matthias out his lips and cast him a flat, indifferent glance.

For a moment, he felt like he was being irritated into a laugh.

His gaze turned cold, and he looked away.

After a brief round of pleasantries, the group headed to the restaurant.

Once seated and after exchanging a few more courtesies, the conversation ranged far and wide.

Celeste remained mostly silent.

She only spoke up when the discussion touched on certain aspects of cooperation between Fleming Group and YodaVision.

As the host, Trevor frequently took the initiative to speak with Matthias and Jorge. In this regard, Jorge felt that Trevor handled things quite well.

Matthias, for the sake of surface-level politeness, could only respond whenever Trevor brought up a topic.

As a result, to many observers, the two of them seemed to be getting along rather well.

Seeing that Matthias appeared to know nothing, and noticing that Trevor and Celeste had virtually no interaction throughout the meal, with Celeste remaining silent the entire time as though she were completely unfamiliar with Trevor, the chill in Jorge's eyes deepened.

She really was good at putting on an act.

If he hadn't seen it with his own eyes, judging by Celeste's quiet manner at the table and her lack of involvement in others.

conversations, he would truly have thought she was a well-behaved engineer who simply focused on doing her job. Content bétongs

But in a way, Trevor and Celeste really were the same kind of people.

Chapter 653

After the meal ended, Jorge said to Matthias, "Mr. Yoder, could I have a word with you?"

The incident where Jorge had run into Celeste dining out with Trevor and his daughter some time ago was something Celeste had never mentioned to Matthias, so Matthias truly didn't know what Jorge wanted to talk to him about.

He didn't like Jorge, that was true, but he still had to give Theodore some respect.

He nodded. After moving a little distance away from the others, he asked, "What do you want to say?"

Jorge hesitated.

He didn't dislike Matthias. He simply didn't like Celeste.

On the contrary, he actually admired Matthias.

That was why he didn't want Matthias to continue being deceived by Celeste.

But Matthias clearly liked Celeste very much, and their relationship seemed good.

What Jorge said would most likely not be believed and might even deepen the misunderstanding between the two of them.

Still, after hesitating for a moment, he spoke directly. "Some time ago, when I was out having a meal, I ran into Ms. Rodriguez, and... Mr. Fleming and his daughter. They looked very close."

Hearing this, Matthias finally understood Jorge's purpose.

He raised an eyebrow. "Oh? Is that so?"

To Jorge, this reaction meant disbelief or perhaps even that Matthias thought he was deliberately trying to stir up trouble.

Jorge pressed his lips together.

Matthias's reaction was more or less within his expectations.

He continued, "Actually, it wasn't just that one time. Before that, I'd also run into Ms. Rodriguez and Mr. Fleming behaving intimately."

After saying this, and without waiting for Matthias to respond, he added, "No matter how you view me, even if I dislike Celeste, I don't think I'm so despicable or morally corrupt as to deliberately sabotage your relationship. I'm just stating what I saw. As for whether you believe it or not, that's your business."

With that, he said nothing more. He nodded once at Matthias, then turned and left.

Matthias raised his eyebrows slightly.

Celeste hadn't left yet. She was still waiting for him.

When she saw him return and recalled the look Jorge had given her before leaving, she almost immediately guessed the purpose of their conversation. "He told you about me meeting Trevor in private?"

Matthias smiled. "Yes. I didn't expect it."

But it also wasn't entirely surprising.

After all, the way Jorge had been looking at Celeste today really did seem like he was growing increasingly displeased with her.

Celeste smiled faintly and didn't say anything more.

Although Jorge had already gotten into his car, he hadn't driven far yet. When he looked back, he happened to see Matthias leaning close to Celeste smiling as he spoke softly to her.

Matthias wore an animated expression, as though he were gossiping enthusiastically with Celeste clearly having no faith at all in what Jorge had just said.

Jorge frowned.

He knew there was a high chance Matthias wouldn't believe him. After all, he had no concrete proof.

But he didn't expect Matthias not to take his words to heart at all, showing not the slightest doubt toward Celeste.

Trevor hadn't left yet either.

He greeted Matthias again. Just as he opened his mouth, his phone rang.

He casually answered the call.

No one knew what was said on the other end, but he immediately replied, "Alright, I understand."

After hanging up, he exchanged a few more polite words with Matthias, and then everyone got into their respective cars and left.

After getting into his car, Trevor called Jordyn. "Jo, your grandpa is back Don't stay yout too late Come. home tonight to have dinner with your grandpa and the family."

Chapter 654

"And also, later give your mom a call and ask if she has time tonight."

Jordyn replied, "Okay, got it."

Jordyn was at the amusement park playing games.

After hanging up, she planned to call Celeste once she was done, but she got carried away and forgot. By the time she remembered, it was already past four in the afternoon.

She hurriedly called Celeste. "Mom, do you have time to have dinner together tonight?"

Celeste was still at Fleming Group, discussing data analysis with others.

Hearing this, she assumed Jordyn meant dinner just between the two of them.

Her eyes stayed on the screen as she answered casually, "Yes. Send me the address later. I'll head over once I'm done with work."

"Okay!"

Celeste said, "I'm still busy; I need to hang up first. We'll talk tonight, alright?"

Jordyn had wanted to share her day with Celeste, but hearing that, she could only reply, "Okay. Bye, Mom."

After hanging up, Celeste continued talking about work, completely unaware that several people present were left stunned by what they had just heard.

Most people at InnovaTech and YodaVision knew that Celeste had been married before and had a child. But among those at Fleming Group who worked with her, this was the first time they'd heard of it.

Someone couldn't help asking, "Ms. Rodriguez... you have a child?"

Celeste didn't look up. She gave a light nod. "Mm."

Everyone else became dumbfounded.

She had a child!

But as far as they knew, Matthias wasn't married. So Celeste's child... had nothing to do with Matthias?

Seeing that the others weren't particularly shocked by the news, the Fleming Group staff realized they must have already known about it.

When Celeste went to the restroom, someone couldn't resist asking a Son employee, "What's going on with Ms. Rodriguez? Isn't she and Wide Couple?

Yoder a

Fleming Group and YodaVision had been working together for so long that both sides were familiar with each other.

The YodaVision staff didn't feel comfortable spreading too much gossip and only replied vaguely, "We're actually not very sure either. We just know Ms.

Rodriguez was already married, but... we heard before that she and her husband were planning to divorce Not sure if it's finalized yet."

Hearing this, the Fleming Group employees were even more surprised. "Well, who would've thought?"

They had really believed Celeste and Matthias were a couple.

Celeste was very busy. By the time she finished, night had already fallen. After seeing the address Jordyn sent her, she drove away from Fleming Group.

She called Jordyn. "Jo, I got held up and might be a bit late. If you're hungry, go ahead and order first."

"Mom, I'm on my way too. No rush."

"Okay."

When Celeste arrived at the destination and was about to get out of the car, she saw Trevor and Jordyn.

She paused, but still got out of the car.

When Jordyn saw her, she waved excitedly. "Mom!"

Celeste nodded and was about to speak when the doors of two cars beside them opened. Queenie and Lincoln, Tucker, Teagan, and even Martha all got out one after another.

Seeing them, Celeste froze for a moment and almost immediately understood what was going on.

She had thought Jordyn had called her on her own.

In an instant, her steps halted where she stood.

Everyone from the Fleming family, including Martha, looked equally shocked when they saw her.

They hadn't expected Celeste to be there as well.