

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 655

Lincoln smiled warmly and was the first to speak. "Cel is here too? It's been a long time."

Celeste nodded. Because Jordyn was present, she hesitated for a second before calling out softly, "Father."

Lincoln smiled and nodded. "There are so many people standing here, we're blocking the way. Let's go inside and talk."

Celeste nodded. Just as she was hesitating, Jordyn grabbed her hand and pulled her forward. "Mom, let's go."

Once they reached the private room and took their seats, Lincoln continued, "Cel, I heard you're doing quite well at YodaVision now. Congratulations."

"Thank you," Celeste replied.

As soon as she finished speaking, Trevor naturally sat down in the seat beside her. Celeste slightly turned her head and pretended not to notice.

The Fleming family was actually quite curious about why Celeste had come today and what her current situation with Trevor was, but no one asked.

Besides that, there had been plenty of rumors in their circle about Celeste and Matthias.

Since Lincoln knew she was now working at YodaVision, he must have heard something about the two of them as well.

Even so, he didn't ask.

Lincoln and Trevor didn't keep in close contact in daily life, but they both had a fair understanding of each other's work developments.

Soon, they began talking about work-related matters, with Teagan and Queenie occasionally joining in.

Celeste heard bits and pieces of what they were discussing, but she didn't interject.

Martha had long stopped involving herself in such matters and couldn't be bothered to join in. Smiling, she picked up food for Celeste. "Cel, are you still very busy with work lately? Look at you you've lost weight again."

She then asked, "Have you decided on your holiday schedule for this year?"

"It's been decided, but after the break, I'll still need to attend a few banquets. Even during the holidays, I won't really be free."

As Celeste was talking to Martha, she reached out to pick up a piece of duck meat. Just as she did, Tucker, who wasn't paying attention, took the dish.

Noticing that Celeste was about to take some food, he quickly e apologized and was about to put it back when Trevor moved faster, picking up the meat and placing li into Celeste's plate.

"Do you want more?" he asked.noveldrama

Celeste froze.

Aside from Jordyn, everyone else looked over in unison.

When Trevor picked up another piece of meat, Celeste came back to herself and said calmly, "That's enough. Thank you."

Trevor didn't say anything. He put the meat into his own plate instead.

Watching this, everyone felt that although the relationship between the couple seemed to have eased somewhat, it was still very distant.

Throughout the meal, Lincoln and Trevor talked quite a bit, while Celeste rarely joined the conversation.

After dinner, in the parking lot, Celeste said, "Grandma, Father, I still have work to take care of, so I'll head off first."

Seeing that Celeste was finding an excuse to leave instead of returning to the manor with them Martha sighed inwardly, while Lincoln and the others showed no surprise at all.

Martha and Lincoln nodded and watched her leave before getting into their cars one after another.

None of them noticed that someone was watching them leave, eyes filled with shock and keen interest in the gossip.

After Trevor got into his car, that person sent a photo to the group chat and tagged him.

"Just saw this. Mr. Fleming's

officially transferred back? First family dinner after coming back, a you invited Celeste too? You two aren't divorcing for now and are really putting on a convincing act."

Trevor saw the photo Miles sent to the group, but didn't respond. Wynn and Beck also saw the message in the group soon after.
