

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 737

Beck and Jorge were also attending the technology conference. However, they arrived later than Celeste and the others.

Unlike Nathan's group, when Beck entered the venue, the first people he noticed were Celeste and Matthias.

He had not seen Celeste for quite a long time.

So, he went over to greet Celeste and Matthias first.

When they saw him approach, they politely greeted Beck.

Beck had originally wanted to talk to Celeste, but seeing that she and Matthias seemed to be discussing something with others, he did not want to disturb them further.

After greeting a few more acquaintances, he went to look for Trevor.

Trevor was also discussing technology and cooperation with others. When he saw Beck, he smiled and said, "You're here."

Beck hummed a response.

Wynn had a calm expression and said nothing.

Perhaps Trevor was too focused on his conversation and didn't notice, but she saw that Beck had immediately gone to look for Celeste the moment he arrived.

It could be said that in Beck's eyes and mind, he only saw and thought about Celeste.

Jorge also saw Celeste and Matthias, but he did not go over to greet them. Instead, he looked for Wynn's figure.

After seeing Wynn, he walked straight toward her.

However, before he could say much to Wynn, he was surrounded by people who wanted to discuss matters with him.

Inside the venue, Celeste and Matthias were both very busy. So were Trevor and Jorge.

Wynn seemed somewhat of an exception compared to them.

When Trevor was discussing business with others, she could not interrupt.

Although she had her own company, its current situation left very little room for cooperation with others.

In the current setting, she was not well known and the vast majority of people did not see her as someone worth discussing technical matters with.

So, she appeared somewhat idle.

At that moment, Rodney walked over.

swn?

Wynn's eyes lit up after seeing him and she politely went forward. "Professor Milford, long time no see."

Rodney naturally still recognized Wynn. He nodded and shook her hand warmly at her polite greeting. "Ms. Locket, long time no see."

Wynn smiled. "Professor Milford, I'd like to discuss with you the multimodal architecture that you developed—"

This was something that involved InnovaTech, so she wanted to discuss cooperation with him. But before she could finish the professors assistant said, "Pro, Ms. Rodriguez and Mr. Yoder are over there."

Rodney's eyes immediately lit up.

He cut Wynn off by saying, "Sorry, Ms. Locket. I have something to discuss with Ms. Rodriguez, so please excuse me."

Wynn immediately froze. The smile on her face stiffened for a moment, but she quickly regained a composed expression.

"Alright, please go ahead then. We can talk another time when you're available."

"Of course."

Although he said that, Rodney's attitude seemed perfunctory. He quickly left after that as he seemed extremely eager to speak with Celeste.

Wynn slowly clenched her hand into a fist and pressed her lips together, her gaze instinctively drifted toward Celeste.

Unlike where she stood, which was rather quiet, Celeste's side was crowded with people.

When Rodney went over, the first person

`saw and greeted was

Celeste not Matthias. Right after greeting her he eagerly began discussing things with her
