

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 745

Celeste and Matthias always appeared to have an excellent relationship. So, Quentin had never imagined that Celeste would be involved with Trevor.

She had already taken so many things that rightfully belonged to Wynn, yet she still wasn't satisfied. Now she was even setting her sights on Wynn's boyfriend.

"Quentin, I'm talking to you. Why are you so distracted? And why do you look so upset?"

Quentin gritted his teeth and clutched his phone so tightly that his knuckles turned white. His expression was both ugly and frightening.

Hearing the question from his colleague, he slowly came back to his senses but said nothing.

The next day, Celeste and several engineers from YodaVision went to Fleming Group again.

Unfortunately, they ran into Quentin and his colleagues at the elevators on the ground floor once again. Naturally, there were also a few employees of Fleming Group waiting for the elevators.

As Quentin watched Celeste, he saw Fleming Group's employees warmly greeting her on their own initiative. He saw YodaVision's employees naturally picking up conversations with her.

It was obvious that the people from both YodaVision and Fleming Group liked her a lot. Moreover, some of the Fleming Group's employees even took the initiative to ask her technical questions.

Whenever they sought her advice, Celeste answered gently and patiently.

Celeste looked refined, quiet, and almost perfectly pleasant on the surface. Who would've imagined that the real her was so vile?

At the thought, Quentin's cold eyes filled with mockery. "What a convincing act," he thought.

The elevator arrived at the ground floor. Just as everyone was about to enter, someone suddenly called out, "Please wait."

Quentin paused the moment he heard the voice. Turning around, he saw exactly who he expected-Wynn hurrying toward the elevator.

When Wynn saw him, she smiled.

"I heard CodeFlux and Fleming Group were collaborating. I didn't expect to run into you here so soon-"

Before she could finish speaking, she spotted Celeste inside the elevator.

In fact, Celeste had recognized Wynn's voice the moment she heard it.

When Wynn looked over, Celeste acted as though she hadn't seen her.

Wynn immediately withdrew her gaze and entered the elevator alongside Quentin.

Several employees of Fleming Group in the elevator recognized Wynn and took the initiative to greet her.

Wynn just smiled and responded with a nod.

Quentin had considered telling Wynn after learning about Celeste and Trevor. However, he kept it to himself in the end.

Just now, he noticed that the moment Wynn saw Celeste, her eyes instantly turned cold. Yet not when

Celeste saw Wynn, there wasn't the slightest trace of guilt or unease.

Celeste had even deliberately looked away, as though Wynn wasn't worth acknowledging at all.

Quentin shot Celeste a cold look while pressing his lips together.

Wynn turned to him after she finished greeting the others. "Is this your first day here?"

It was only then that Quentin came back to his senses. "No, I came yesterday too."

Then, thinking of something, he asked, "Are you here to see Mr. Fleming?" Wynn smiled at the mention of Trevor. "Yes, he helped arrange a meeting for me."

"I see..."

Quentin had only learned that Trevor had given InnovaTech as a birthday gift to Wynn a few days earlier. And from what he had observed, Trevor was extremely attentive to her. He cared deeply about her and was clearly very much in love with her.

As for the matter between him and Celeste...

Wynn smiled and asked after noticing that Quentin was still glaring coldly at Celeste, "Are you in a bad mood? Why do you look so upset? Or did you not get enough rest last night? Are you tired?"

Quentin snapped out of his thoughts.

A warmth spread through his heart after hearing her concern for him.
