

After the last father and daughter duo left, Xavier gave Jorge a light punch on the chest. "That young woman just now was totally your type in terms of looks and personality. Are you seriously not going to consider it?"

Jorge frowned. "Stay out of it."

Xavier genuinely cared about his friend. He couldn't help glancing toward Wynn and Trevor before lowering his voice.

"You can't keep going on like this. Sure, Trevor cheated, but overall, he's still pretty good to Ms. Locket. They're probably not going to break up. Are you just going to keep waiting in silence as long as they stay together?"

Jorge looked toward Wynn as well. Then he withdrew his gaze and said evenly, "I'm not waiting."

Xavier fell silent.

If Wynn and Trevor ever did break up, Jorge would probably be the first person to appear at her side.

Xavier continued, "How about this? Just tell her that Trevor cheated. If it's awkward to say it yourself, send the photos to her anonymously. What she does with the information is up to her."

He paused, then added, "Honestly, for a woman like Wynn, if she finds out Trevor betrayed her, she might make a clean break once she gets over the shock. Wouldn't that finally give you a chance?"

Jorge didn't answer.

The more Xavier thought about it, the more convinced he became. He turned to Caleb and said, "Caleb, tell me I'm making sense here."

Caleb's gaze had been fixed on Celeste in the distance. He finally looked away and nodded after hearing the question.

"At the very least, telling her about the affair isn't unreasonable."

In truth, Jorge had considered that long ago. He hadn't acted because he knew that Wynn loved Trevor deeply. If he suddenly exposed the truth, he was afraid she wouldn't be able to handle it.

Especially when the woman involved was Celeste.

But if Wynn found out, then...

Xavier understood his hesitation and sighed. "The sooner it's done, the better. Even if she finds out later that you were the one who sent the photos and even realizes that you hoped to step in afterward the real problem is still Trevor. That's not on you, right?"

'I know.' Jorge said nothing more.

Having finished worrying about Jorge, Xavier shifted his attention to Caleb. "And what about you? What's going on with your side? She still hasn't officially divorced?"

For the longest time, he'd heard that Caleb had someone he loved, but he never revealed who it was.

These two friends of his had grown up with him. Both of them had good looks, wealthy families, and were capable and successful. They were the kind of men elders adored and women pursued.

He never would have imagined that their love lives would turn out this messy.

One had fallen for another man's girlfriend. The other had fallen for a married woman.

It still felt unreal each time he thought about it.

Over the past six months, every time Caleb returned from the military base, the first person he contacted was Matthias. So, he knew that Celeste hadn't officially gotten. divorced

Caleb glanced toward Celeste and replied quietly, "No."

Xavier was speechless.

Jorge also snapped out of his own thoughts. "Wait, what? Didn't you say it was supposed to happen soon? Why hasn't she divorced yet?"

Xavier blurted out, "Exactly! It's been this long already. Don't tell me they're not divorcing after all?"