

Ruby and Linda had strong reactions as well. Linda's face instantly turned pale. However, the person who reacted the most was Wynn.

Originally, her thoughts had been the same as her family's. She believed there was still a chance to stop things from escalating further. But she never imagined—

She stared blankly at the large screen, her mind completely empty. The wineglass slipped from her fingers without her realizing it and fell to the floor.

Besides Wynn and her family, Celeste and Matthias were equally stunned the moment they saw the photos. Neither of them had expected Quentin to pull something like this.

Matthias glanced at Celeste. Raising his eyebrows slightly, as if asking her, "When did this happen?"

Celeste shook her head. It meant she didn't remember.

Standing on the stage, Quentin took in everyone's reactions-Lilian, Celeste, Matthias, Wynn, Trevor. He saw every single one of their expressions.

The first people he looked at were naturally Matthias and Celeste. Seeing the momentary shock on their faces when they saw the photos, he smiled.

But soon, his attention shifted to Wynn.

When he saw her face turn pale the moment she looked at the screen, followed by the dazed, devastated, and disbelieving expression on her face, his heart ached. But at the same time, the anger in his heart burned even stronger.

He gritted his teeth and didn't even bother looking at Trevor's reaction. Instead, he turned his attention back to Matthias and Celeste.

With a cold smile, he said to Matthias, "Mr. Yoder, the person you were willing to sacrifice everything to protect seems to have quite a complicated private life. What do you have to say?"

The clothes Celeste and Trevor wore in the photos were all different. Quentin had even thoughtfully marked the dates and times when the photos were taken.

The implication was obvious.

He wanted everyone to know that Celeste and Trevor had been secretly involved for quite some time. And the most recent photo was taken just last week. In other words, they had likely maintained this ambiguous relationship behind everyone's backs all along.

Everyone present turned their attention toward Celeste and Matthias. To be honest, they were excited. They had never expected to witness such a shocking revelation.

Even without the confrontation

between Matthias and Quentin earlier many people at the event. could already see how devoted Matthias was toward Celeste.

He had practically given her everything. Some even suspected that he might have bent the rules for her.

Yet Celeste had apparently been cheating on him all this time. Honestly, whoever was in Matthias's position would probably lose their mind.

Matthias lowered his eyes. He didn't meet Quentin's gaze. He didn't say anything either.

Celeste was the same.

The exchange of glances between Celeste and Matthias when they first saw the photos had not escaped Quentin's notice.

He assumed that when Celeste shook her head, she was telling Matthias that the photos were fake and asking him not to believe what he was seeing.

Thinking of that, Quentin smiled again. Then he continued, "Mr. Yoder, or are you saying these photos are fake?"

After that, his gaze shifted to Celeste. "Or perhaps, Ms. Rodriguez, do you want to say this was simply 'normal' contact between you and Mr. Fleming during your business cooperation?"

Before Celeste and Matthias could respond, the crowd erupted into another wave of discussion.

"Those photos really don't look fake....."

"Exactly. Even if YodaVision and Fleming Group were partners, was there any need to be holding each other like that? And even going home together...

"That's right..."

The entire banquet hall was filled with whispers.

At that moment, Matthias finally spoke, "I never said that."

He looked at Quentin and smiled.

Quentin froze for a moment when he saw Matthias's smile.
