

The Breaking Point of Love

c 813

Wynn pushed her thoughts aside and sent Trevor a message. "How is Jo doing now?"

...

Meanwhile, Kieran and Celeste had been discussing work for a while in the car. His phone suddenly rang when Celeste was talking about something else with Matthias.

It was a friend calling. "You were there tonight, right? Are the things online true? Holy crap, this is explosive!"

Kieran paused and gave a brief response before hanging up. He glanced at Celeste and Matthias in the back seat before opening his phone.

He did a quick search and saw countless posts about Celeste, Trevor, and Wynn appearing. Just as his friend had said, everything that happened that night had already been posted online.

The Internet was flooded with photos of Celeste, Trevor and Wynn. There were photos of Trevor and Celeste together and some photos of Celeste with Jordyn and Trevor with Jordyn, respectively.

The comments were filled with shock and disbelief.

"Holy crap, Celeste and Trevor are actually married? Are you serious? Aren't Celeste and Matthias a couple? And Trevor's girlfriend is actually Celeste's half- sister and a homewrecker? What the hell! Is this gossip even real?"

"No way. Is this story seriously this insane? That race car driver, CC, actually comes from a family of homewreckers? And they even repaid the Rodriguez family's kindness by betraying them? It's seriously rare to find an entire family this vicious!"

There were also plenty of comments expressing shock over the revelation that Celeste was Zachary's student.

"So, Celeste is Mr. Newman's student, and YodaVision was founded jointly by her and Matthias? No wonder she's so ridiculously talented and suddenly became famous. She was hiding her identity this whole time!"

Kieran wasn't surprised that the events of that night had exploded online. However, the situation was somewhat different from what he had expected.

The discussions were extremely heated, but many people were still unsure whether the revelations were actually true.

Although some of the posts included videos and photos, the videos had no audio, so netizens remained skeptical about how much of the information was genuine.

The most convincing evidence was still the intimate photos of Celeste and Trevor. Even so, the revelations had already generated an enormous amount of attention.

elaporan

By the time Kieran finished reading, their car had arrived at YodaVision.

Kieran looked at Celeste after getting out of the car.

Celeste could tell that he wanted to say something. So, she asked, "What is it?"

"I... went online just now. Someone posted what happened tonight."

Celeste hummed a response.

Matthias became interested as well and looked over.

Kieran then continued, "But none of the videos posted online have any audio. According to the people who posted them some of them even tried to livestream the event, but couldn't because of network problems."

Celeste and Matthias both stopped in their tracks.

Matthias quickly understood. "Someone deliberately disabled the audio and interfered with the network?"

In other words, whenever someone was recording, they were unable to capture any sound.

"Probably," Celeste said.

Kieran guessed, "Professor Lancaster?"

Celeste shook her head. "Probably not."

She remembered that she'd still been receiving messages on her phone during the banquet. She had also seen other people's phones displaying videos. fo

In other words, this had nothing to do with Philip.