

THE BREAKING POINT OF LOVE

Chapter 835

After the ceremony ended, the parents gradually began leaving. Celeste and Trevor were getting ready to leave as well.

Celeste said, "I'm leaving now. If you need anything, call me, okay?"

Jordyn nodded. "Okay."

Seeing that Celeste seemed to have finished saying goodbye, Trevor gently pinched Jordyn's cheek. "I will come pick you up after school this afternoon, okay?"

Jordyn paused and slightly turned her head toward Celeste.

Clearly, she wanted to hear Celeste say those words to her instead. However, Celeste happened to have an incoming call and didn't notice her daughter's gaze.

Jordyn withdrew her gaze. "Okay."

Then she turned back to Celeste. "Mom, you can go ahead and take care of your work. I'll go back to my classroom first. Class is about to start."

Celeste smiled. "Okay."

Jordyn waved goodbye, and Trevor and Celeste watched her leave.

Celeste didn't answer the call earlier, so after seeing Jordyn enter her classroom, she picked up her phone and returned the call.

"I have something else to take care of. I'll go first," Trevor told her.

Celeste paused for a moment, then nodded.

Trevor picked up his phone and made a call. Then, he headed toward the parking lot while talking on the phone.

Celeste was heading back to YodaVision as well.

So, they both went toward the parking lot, but there was some distance between them. To anyone who didn't know them, they might as well have been complete strangers.

When they reached the parking lot, they each got into their own cars, and soon drove away.

After their cars had left, another car not far away slowly pulled out as well. The person sitting inside was Wynn.

She knew Jordyn was starting school today, so she'd made a special trip over.

Seeing how distant and unfamiliar Trevor and Celeste had seemed just now, the hand she'd been gripping the steering wheel with finally relaxed a little.

Celeste was truly dazzling now.

Wynn had wondered before whether Trevor might start seeing Celeste differently. Ever since last year, after Celeste had demonstrated her her abilities in king athero

, Trevor have no

differently.

But clearly, seeing someone in a new light didn't necessarily lead to love.

No matter how impressive Celeste was now, even if Trevor admired her more than he used to, he still couldn't fall in love with her.

The corners of Wynn's lips curved upward at that thought. The heavy weight that had been pressing on her heart finally began to lift.

After Celeste returned to YodaVision, Kieran came to see her to discuss some work matters.

Once he entered her office, he couldn't help asking with concern, "Why did you get back to the company so late today? Did something happen?"

Aside from genuinely being concerned that something might have happened to her, he also- wanted to know whether she'd gone to the courthouse with Trevor to get their divorce certificate.

After all, they still hadn't officially divorced.

Celeste didn't think much of it and answered casually, "I went to my daughter's school opening ceremony."

"...Oh, I see."

If that was the case, then she'd obviously run into Trevor.

Of course, Kieran didn't ask about that. He quickly composed himself and moved on to work.

After they finished discussing their work, Matthias came in to talk to Celeste about some of her upcoming work arrangements. By the time they finished, it was almost noon.

Matthias stretched and couldn't help asking, "You saw him today. Did you bring up the divorce again?"

Celeste shook her head. "I thought about it, but I don't think he'll agree."

Matthias pursed his lips. "That's true. With everything involving you, him, and Wynn still at the centre of public attention, you bring divorce now, it's not just him even his family probably won't agree."
