

Be Yours 1151

Chapter 1151 For Your Sake

When Jenny woke up the following day, Alec had already made breakfast, and Old Mr. Faust was also sitting at the dining table. They seemed to be waiting for her.

Jenny felt a little embarrassed, so she quickly went to the dining room downstairs. "I'm sorry, Grandpa. I overslept."

"It's fine. It's still early. I'm up early because of my age. Don't compare yourself to me," Old Mr. Faust said with a smile, inviting her over for breakfast.

Jenny sat down at the table and then looked at Alec. "What time did you wake up to make breakfast?"

"Not that early. Warren was the one who got most of it." He only woke up to make the pancakes.

"Thanks for your hard work." Jenny smiled at him, feeling a little apologetic.

Alec felt happy when he heard her saying that. "Making breakfast for you is not hard work for me at all." it, he could make breakfast for her cleared his throat. "I'm Jenny was the only person who could stand it. If he were in her shoes, he really would did not say anything else anymore. Jenny covered her face as she smiled had breakfast in silence. Then, Jenny and Alec left have much time for their visit this time round. Alec had plenty of things to handle for work, and Jade would get married that weekend, so Jenny had to return earlier to see if she needed

Village this time. It was mainly because she didn't want to argue his father's grave later, he saw the flowers and candles Jenny had left behind. He then figured that didn't blame Jenny for not paying his family a visit. After all, if she really had gone over, Hannah might stir up some trouble and walked toward the field nearby to start from Orchid Village, they stayed at at the Parrington Airport, he could not help but sigh. "I there were a few more people in it. With Jenny and Alec gone, only a few maids would be left at the Old Mansion, so Old back often to visit you," Warren replied. Then, he added, "Besides, Bardoff City is not far from here. If you

Chapter 1152 You Started It

Soon, the plane took off and headed toward Bardoff City. Jenny felt sleepy as soon as she boarded the plane, so she fell asleep on Alec's shoulders very quickly.

Alec waved to a stewardess, requesting a blanket. Then, he put the blanket on Jenny gently. The gentleness in his eyes was almost spilling over. The stewardess standing at the side was extremely envious when she saw it.

She could not help but ask softly, "Sir, is she your wife?"

"Not yet. She's my girlfriend," Alec replied without thinking too much about it. His gaze was fixed on Jenny the whole time.

It was inevitable that the stewardess would think she still had a chance when she heard that Jenny was only his girlfriend.

In this day in age, even a married couple could get divorced, let alone a couple that had yet to get married. They might be madly in love at that moment, but who could tell how long they could stay together?

Thinking of that, the stewardess plucked up the courage to ask, 'Sir, may I have your contact? I can immediately contact you when our company has any promotions later.'

did Alec notice something was not quite right. He looked up at the stewardess him looking at her, she immediately tucked the loose strands of hair behind her ear and smiled a little wanted to see what kind of woman would be so unobservant. Did she not see that was a little surprised as that was the first time that he could afford to fly first-class, he must be loaded as well. However, the people she usually served were also wealthy. Therefore, it was inevitable that

"Please don't misunderstand-' shut up? Didn't you see that my girlfriend's resting?" Alec's tone became unpleasant. If he were turned pale in

she was pulled away by she pulled the young stewardess away. Finally, Alec had his head to look at Jenny, he realized that she had opened her of me. If I didn't wake up, then I would be too unwary, wouldn't I?" Jenny said with his arms. "There's no need for you to be wary. I only have

Chapter 1153 Do You Really Have a Crush on Her?

The cabin manager rolled her eyes when she heard that. Then, she sneered coldly and said, ' You know very well why you did that. I don't wish to expose you, but if you affected your work, don't blame me for not showing you mercy.'

The stewardess wanted to say something else, but the cabin manager didn't let her. "Why don't you look closely at who that person is? How could you even think you're worthy?"

"Who is he?" The stewardess had just joined this airline after leaving her previous employment. She was not from Parrington, so she truly didn't know Alec.

The cabin manager didn't answer her question. Instead, she looked at her in disdain. "In any case, he's someone out of your league."

Then, the cabin manager left. The stewardess, however, was a little unwilling to admit defeat. She looked up Alec's name on the passenger list and committed it to memory. She was thinking of checking his identity out later when she left the plane.

Soon, the plane landed. Jenny woke up just in time. She got up and disembarked with Alec.

However, something they hadn't expected happened while waiting for their luggage at the baggage carousel. The stewardess who hit on Alec on the flight earlier actually followed them there.

she called out to Alec with a smile. "Mr. Faust, this is my business card. If you need anything, you can call me.

was perplexed while Jenny sneered

she had already looked Alec's information up online that with a person like him, but even if she could only be his mistress, she would be fine with that. Therefore, she chose to make a move as she didn't want to miss hand, glanced at it, and threw it in the trashcan beside them. "Even if you wish to get yourself a customer, you need to see who you're talking to. Have you was not too polite with her. "You've gone too far! I gave that to that?" Jenny looked back hostility. Without even hesitating, he nodded hard. "Of course, you thought, "This man can't be a fool, can he?

out of my way!' Their luggage had arrived, and Alec had already gotten them. Of course, Jenny didn't wish walked past her, she stopped in her tracks again. 'Oh yes. I'll file a complaint against you. You should off that she was she started to feel a little scared immediately after that. Would Jenny

Chapter 1154 It Is an Important Event

"It's fine. I don't feel I've wasted my time. I feel it's quite interesting.' Her life was too dull, so of course, she would not feel that it was a waste of time when things get spiced up sometimes.

Alec said nothing further when he heard her saying that. 'Do I first take you home?"

"No need. Just drop me off at Jade's home. I'll go and see if she needs any help." Jade and Max's wedding would be in a couple of days, so Jade should be very busy at that moment. As her bridesmaid, Jenny had to go and have a look.

Alec had no objections. He told the driver the address and asked him to drive them there.

"What about you? Are you going to the company?" Jenny asked.

Alec nodded. "I've only left for a few days, but there's already a bunch of things piled up and waiting for me to handle. There are too many things to handle at the Faust Group, and those people from the Faust family don't want to get involved at all. That's why I'm quite busy."

a part of the Faust family, so they probably won't do anything to the Faust Group." Jenny had met the siblings. She were to handle such a huge company on his own, he would be swamped with work forever.

thought that she made some sense. "I'll talk to himself; on the other hand, he also felt Julian and Isabelle probably had no ill intentions. In any arrived at Jade's home. Jade had bought a property in Bardoff City to get married. It would be her second marriage, but to Jade's parents, it was still a happy occasion. They had always been still

Max. He was a little unreliable back then, but they could tell the young man truly loved their daughter and was good long as he was good to their daughter, there would home

Chapter 1155 We're Just Playing the Supporting Roles

Jenny and Max were on the same page on that matter. 'Max just wants to be good to you. Which woman wouldn't want a grand wedding?'"

"So what if we had a grand wedding? It won't hold us back at all from having arguments in the future,' Jade said in a mocking tone.

Jenny could not help but burst out laughing. She didn't know what to say." It's because you'll argue in the future that you have to save some good memories. This way, when you guys do argue later on, you'll be reminded of how much you loved each other back then when you think of the wedding."

Jade pursed her lips and said nothing.

She wanted to say that all these were useless. She also had a grand wedding with Hayden back then, but that didn't stop them from arguing and fighting. In the end, he betrayed her and forced her to agree to the divorce without taking even a cent for alimony.

She didn't say it, but that didn't mean Jenny was clueless. "Jade, everybody is different. You can't marry Max with any prejudices. It'll be hard for you to live a happy life that way."

Jenny hoped this was a marriage that could bring Jade happiness and let her forget the pain she got from her first marriage.

not that foolish." She just could not help thinking about it sometimes,

was already in the past

I came over today to ask if you needed me to help you with anything. Maybe blow some balloons, wrap some gifts, or something,' Jade said with a smile, shook her head. 'So many of my family members are here, so all those have long been taken was at Parrington the past few days. I should have come earlier to help." Jenny felt a little apologetic. She felt that she had failed as her said, "The reason my mother invited so many relatives over was to do all these. They think about nodded and moved said that, you and Stephanie have yet to try your bridesmaid dresses. Since you're available now, let's go try it on, so it won't have any Stephanie looking prettier than her at her wedding. She even hoped accepted her suggestion. It would also be the perfect chance for them to discuss what they should be doing over very quickly

she was not too busy. Besides, she had already gotten the hang of handling the company's matters, so even if she

Chapter 1156 Tell Me if This Is Real

By the time Jenny returned home, it was already nightfall. After she and Stephanie tried on their bridesmaid dresses, Jade treated them to dinner.

When she walked through the door, Alec was working in the living room. He instinctively turned his head to look at the door when he heard it being opened. "You're back."

"Mmhmm. Have you had dinner?" Jenny asked with care.

Alec shook his head. "Not yet. I was thinking of having dinner after finishing this work."

When Jenny was not around, he didn't even bother having dinner, much less making them. He was just focused on working.

As he said that, Jenny already came to him and put the takeout she got on the table. "I knew you hadn't had dinner. Luckily, I got takeout for you."

"It was Jade's treat, yet you got takeout. Don't you feel embarrassed?" Alec teased her. He didn't continue working. Instead, he sat next to Jenny and hugged her.

Jenny smiled as she didn't mind that it was Jade's treat. "We're so close, so we won't care about things like these."

sense. Your relationship with Jade does seem quite good," Alec said as he unpacked the takeout. He didn't feel it earlier, but after Jenny came home, did not order something randomly. Instead, she had put thoughts pleased. "You're really great, got you takeout, and that's great?" If she were to personally make him dinner, Alec would be over so concerned about me back then. This shows that I'm becoming more important in your heart. Of Jenny got takeout for him but also the fact that She pursed her lips as she was not willing to admit it." Don't flatter yourself. These are just the

He didn't refute her as he knew it very join you guys for dinner?" If Max did join them, then Alec would be a little annoyed as he should have didn't. He noded and said with a faint smile. "I didn't expect that he's quite serious. At first, when he said he warned Max about it. She didn't expect that he was serious about it. They were even about wonder when I will be able to marry the woman I eyes at him before getting up. "Enjoy your dinner. I'm going to the

Chapter 1157 I'm Not in a Hurry

Not long after that, the wedding officially started. As the announcement of the bride's entrance was made, the door of the hall was opened. Jade took her father's hand as he escorted her into the hall. Max looked at her from the stage, and the love in his eyes could not be concealed at all.

One step after another, Jade's father walked her toward Max. Then, he put his daughter's hand in Max's hand. "Max, I'm leaving Jade under your care.

I hope you won't let me and her mother down.'

"Don't worry, Mr. Weston. I promise that you won't be disappointed," Max said seriously. He desperately wanted to swear to him on the spot.

Tears welled up in Jade's eyes, but she held them in and didn't burst out crying there and then.

The wedding ceremony continued. As Jade's bridesmaid, Jenny saw it up close when they said their vows to each other. She also watched them hug and kiss each other. She gave them her blessings from the bottom of her heart.

Finally, it was time for the bouquet toss. Jenny rubbed her palms. However, just as Jenny was prepared to showcase her skills, Jade handed her the bouquet directly. "Jenny, I hope you're the next person to be blessed with happiness."

Jenny was stunned.

At the very least, Jenny had a boyfriend. Stephanie didn't even have one, so she was not in a she had caught the bouquet herself, but it was a blessing from Jade, so she could not put some food on her plate. "You're hungry, aren't bridesmaid and groomsman, they were busy the entire day helping out with the ceremony, so they reception. Of course, Jenny had to going around to have a toast with guests. Soon, they got to happy when she saw Jenny and the rest a hurry." Jenny put on a forced smile. Why did she

"Thank you for helping long-lasting happiness," Jenny and the rest echoed, knocking their drinks hold her liquor quite well, so one drink was no big deal to her. However, Stephanie only had a moderate alcohol tolerance. Therefore, Leonard quickly took Stephanie's drink from her and gulped it

Stephanie was speechless.

drink

pursed her lips. She thought

Chapter 1158 Do You Think I'm Drunk?

Jade opened her mouth, but after falling silent for a moment, she still could not speak against what she felt. "I like it very much. Thank you."

"Jade, I'm your husband now. If you really want to thank me, can you use another method?" Max was displeased. Jade's tone sounded as if they were not close at all.

Jade's face flushed. However, perhaps because of the alcohol, she was not as restrained as before. She raised her head and gave Max a peck on his lips. Then, she said in annoyance, "That should be enough, right?"

"Well, I need a little more," Max said.

"What-"

Just as she wanted to ask what more he needed, she was completely in Max's arms in the next second. He immediately pressed his lips against hers and turned that gentle peck earlier into a deeper kiss.

Everybody in their surroundings screamed and cheered. Jade was so embarrassed that she wanted to find a place to hide.

if Jade was out of breath or was just shy when it ended, but her face was as red as a tomato face the others, so this wouldn't work. They were already married, but she was still so shy. What quite loudly earlier. She would be lying if she said she was not envious of the happiness Jade and Max were feeling with a burning gaze. She cleared her throat and moved a couple of steps to the side." There are many people here. Don't fool also celebrating Jade and Max's wedding. They were not the star of the show, so they should not make a fool of her into his arms, then whispered to her," So what you meant to say is that awkward. She did not want to speak to him anymore. She scanned the surroundings but didn't see any signs of Stephanie. She was still standing there earlier.

her somewhere

eyes widened as she could not believe this opportunity to tell her something." Alec saw it very clearly. When Max and Jade were kissing earlier, Leonard had been staring at Stephanie the such a moment, other than feeling sorry for Paul, there was nothing else Alec very excited. "Really? He finally can't hold himself back

Chapter 1159 What if I Don't Want To?

Jenny knocked on the door before entering. Jade had already gotten changed. "Why aren't you having fun downstairs, Jenny?"

"I'm here to check on you and also to look for Stephanie," Jenny answered. She was not deliberately trying to ruin Jade and Max's first night as husband and wife. It was rather because Max was still drinking with his friends downstairs at that time, so Jenny felt it was not too good to leave Jade alone and came upstairs to check on her.

"What's up with Stephanie?" Jade asked.

Jenny shook her head. "Nothing. She probably went somewhere with Leonard."

Jade was not worried anymore when she heard that Stephanie was together with Leonard. 'I didn't know Leonard before this, but I can tell through this wedding that he really likes Stephanie. I just don't know when he's planning to tell her."

Everybody could tell. It was to the extent that even Stephanie, herself, knew about it. However, Leonard would not take the initiative to confess to her, putting Stephanie in a tough spot.

"Mmhmm. Let's just wait and see. I'm sure he can't hold it in for much longer." Paul was still eyeing Stephanie. Jenny simply didn't believe that Leonard was not worried about that.

While chatting, both of them came out of the room and returned to the party downstairs again.

when Leonard brought her to the backyard.

backyard was blast watching the kiss when to say to you." Leonard was blinked and said uncertainly, "Are you sure you and place were not quite suitable. However, Leonard looked someone you like right now?"

have someone I like, why

"No," Stephanie said.

However, he immediately thought of something, and he became sullen. "No? What do you him." Leonard, if you want to tell me that you like me, just tell me straight. Don't what Leonard was doing. If he liked her, he should just confess to her straight away. Why did he did not know what to do. "Stephanie, I-I-I just..." He as well say the words for him, "You want to say that you kept nodding his head. "Yes,

Chapter 1160 Perhaps It's Time to Take a Step Forward

It was his first time?

Stephanie's eyes widened as she could not believe it. She questioned if he was telling the truth. "You've never had a girlfriend before?"

"Mmhmm. I was a chubby kid back then, so who would have had a crush on me?" Leonard said, feeling a little embarrassed. Then, he continued, "I started working after that, and I was swamped at work every day. So I didn't have the time to think about it anymore."

If he had not met Stephanie, he might not even want to get himself a girlfriend at that point. After all, it was not important to him to have a girlfriend.

"Then why are you thinking of getting a girlfriend now?" Stephanie found it strange. No matter how she looked at it, she still found it a little strange that a person who had been busy working suddenly wanted to have a girlfriend.

Leonard looked at her. After falling silent for a while, he decided to tell her the truth, "Actually, it started because I knew about you and Paul. I knew his hands were not clean. I didn't want you to be with that kind of person as you would ruin yourself sooner or later. Later, as we interacted more, I realized I really liked you. That's why I've plucked up the courage to confess my feelings to you today."

she felt strange when they first met each other. She didn't think that all of his businesses were illegal. However, now that he's moved to Bardoff City, he has turned most of his businesses into legal ones. If he doesn't continue breaking to do anything illegal. If he continued breaking the law, Leonard would still eyes at him and said, "I'm not worried about that. If he really did break the law, just catch him. It has nothing was afraid that Stephanie still seemed to have gone a little off-topic. Leonard scratched his head." Stephanie, you still haven't told me if you're willing be your girlfriend, you probably wouldn't have time to spend with me." When she didn't have a boyfriend, she could do anything alone.

"Paul..."

that, he immediately said seriously, "Don't worry. I'll certainly free up more of my time to be with you. All of with his words. Stephanie was a little touched when she looked at him. 'You have to think it through. I'm not as great as thought it through.' He would not have confessed his feelings that day if he had not thought at him and