The testing personnel gasped.

Before this, the highest recorded mental power score was only 16, while the upper limit of the device was close to 300. Who would have thought that this machine would be pushed beyond its limits and become paralyzed?

Inside the testing room, Nyx was completely absorbed in the game when suddenly everything went black, as if someone had abruptly pulled the power cord on her computer when she was a child.

She was startled and almost fell off her chair.

As soon as she took off the helmet, she heard a loud, chaotic noise coming from the equipment connected to the staff on the other end, like a crowd of people running and shouting.

On the other end of the line, several staff members were in a heated argument over what happened.

Most of them insisted it was a machine malfunction.

Even though they hadn't found anything wrong with it earlier, how could a female's mental power possibly exceed the detection range?

"No female could have that much mental power! It has to be a malfunction somewhere!"

"We should recalibrate the machine!"

"I agree, it's the machine!"

"The data from just now must be wrong; we have to discard it."

"I knew it! There's no way there could be an SS-level female."

"Let's retest."

Convinced it was a machine error, the earlier excitement had all been for nothing.

Only the staff member responsible for Nyx's test insisted, "I don't think the data is wrong!"

But he was just one voice, and he couldn't argue with so many colleagues.

The commotion attracted Felix, followed by the testing center's highest-ranking administrator, who had been chatting with him.

"What's going on?" the administrator asked the staff.

The staff members were all red-faced, talking incoherently, still clearly agitated. "The machine malfunctioned."

'A machine malfunction? Then why were they so worked up?' Felix frowned and looked at the staff member who had been testing Nyx. "What happened? You tell me."

Honored to be addressed directly by Felix, the staff member eagerly recounted what had just happened.

He described in detail everything from Nyx's rapidly increasing core to it breaking 100, then 200, and finally causing the equipment to crash.

"I don't think the data is wrong; we shouldn't discard it!" he insisted, summoning his courage.

Hearing that Nyx's mental power might have exceeded the equipment's capacity, the administrator was shocked.

He was stunned for a good half-minute before he came to and quietly conferred with Felix.

With the machine broken, a retest was necessary to satisfy everyone.

84%

But if Nyx's mental power truly was beyond the equipment's limits, using another machine wouldn't yield different results.

Even if they retested, they should use a different method.

"Bring out the Sacred Crystal," the administrator ordered his subordinates.

Sacred Crystal Resonance was the Empire's oldest method for testing mental power.

The Sacred Crystal was a special crystal mined from the Holy Ground. A female's mental power could resonate with it, causing the normally dim crystal to glow. The brighter the glow, the higher the mental power. Before the Empire had advanced technology, mental power testing relied on these crystals. The drawback was that it couldn't quantify mental power with numbers, and the ratings weren't precise, so it was gradually phased out after testing equipment was invented.

Now, the testing center had no choice but to bring out the long-unused Sacred Crystal.

Nyx had sensed something was wrong the moment the machine crashed. Sure enough, when she heard she needed to be retested, she felt a wave of despair. 'Do I have to go through that tedious game again?'

Felix reassured her gently. "This time we'll use the Sacred Crystal to test you. There definitely won't be any more problems." Before Nyx could ask what a Sacred Crystal was, she saw the Sacred Crystal and was speechless with surprise.

It was a huge crystal ball.

Taller than she was, with a smooth, clear surface, it seemed to have no impurities or flaws.

'Is this thing really natural?' she thought.

Seeing her staring intently, Felix guessed she liked it and said, "I have one in my private collection. I'll find it for you when we get back."

Hearing this, the staff members were astonished, looking at Felix in utter disbelief. 'Is this really Marshal Lane? Or is someone impersonating him? When did the Marshal start trying so hard to please a female? He is casually offering a priceless treasure like a Sacred Crystal!'

Nyx quickly shook her head, refusing.

Such a valuable item should stay safe in Felix's private collection

"Can we start the test?" she asked the staff, changing the subject.

The staff members snapped back to attention and quickly nodded. Nyx walked towards the Sacred Crystal with curiosity.

As she approached, even before she reached out to touch it, intense mental fluctuations began to resonate with the crystal. The crystal lit up, like ripples spreading across a clear pool, a hazy glow gradually spreading outward from its core.

The staff held their breath, silently recording the scene, not daring to disturb it.

Most ordinary females could only cause a weak reaction in the Sacred Crystal, emitting a faint, firefly—like light that quickly disappeared.

Only S-level females could truly make the Sacred Crystal glow brightly over a large area.

According to imperial historical records, the strongest S-level female in terms of mental power made the Sacred Crystal shine like a lamp, shocking the entire empire at the time.

And now, witnessed by many eyes and recorded by professional equipment. Nyx raised her hand and gently touched the Sacred Crystal.

In an instant, the entire room was brightly lit.

It was as if the sun had fallen to earth, a scorching, dazzling light erupting from within the Sacred Crystal.

In every corner of Central Planet, countless people looked up and saw an unknown, intense light emanating from the mental power testing center, turning it into a beacon.

The light was brilliant and scorching, as if it could pierce through all haze and illuminate every darkness.

Caught off guard, everyone shed involuntary tears, feeling dizzy and unable to look directly at the dazzling light. But Nyx, at the center of the light, didn't feel the slightest discomfort, only a bright and warm sensation around her. Her soul form involuntarily emerged from her palm, just two pitiful little leaves, yet swaying vibrantly.

The light of the Sacred Crystal intensified even further.

The light of the Sacred Crystal flickered slightly with the rhythm of the little sprout.

After playing for a while, still not hearing any further instructions from the staff, Nyx finally couldn't help but ask, "Is the test over?"

Turning around, she discovered that everyone behind her had somehow knelt down in unison.

Even Felix couldn't resist and was kneeling on one knee, his noble head lowered.

Nyx was stunned in surprise.

On StarNet, there was a flurry of discussion.

[Did you guys see that? Such a bright light.]

In an empire where no S-level female had appeared for centuries, an SSS-level female had actually awakened.

The news was so shocking that it was almost unbelievable.

Everyone's first reaction was, "Is this fake?"

However, the mental power testing center not only issued an official announcement but also released a recording of the awakening, showing the public the entire process of this SSS-level female's awakening.

The light of the Sacred Crystal caused a massive shock throughout the empire.

On StarNet, there were no more doubts, only cheers-

[SSS-level!]

[Am I really not dreaming?]

[The Beast God has manifested!]

[I'm so excited, I'm going to cry.]

[What is the concept of SSS-level? I can't even imagine!]

An A-level female was already the limit of what ordinary people could imagine, an S-level female was like a god, let alone SS-level or SSS-level.

Some people recalled the intense mental fluctuations that the entire Central Planet had felt before and immediately connected it with the news of the SSS—level female's awakening.

[Sorry, guys of Central Planet, I shouldn't have said you were lying.]

[I was wrong! But who could have imagined that a female was actually awakening!]

[I couldn't believe it at all before.]

[I told you we weren't lying!]

[How lucky. I actually had the honor of feeling the fluctuations of an SSS-level female's awakening!]

[To the person above, I advise you to retract that, because I'm jealous.]

[Wooo, why don't I live on Central Planet!?!]

StarNet was in an uproar.

At the mental power testing center, every staff member still looked dazed.

Everything that had happened today felt like a dream.

Even if she had awakened a very high level of mental power, she hadn't undergone any other changes besides having one more little sprout in her Sea of Consciousness. She was still just an ordinary person.

For her, awakening SSS-level mental power wasn't as surprising as learning from the Divine Tree that she was actually a Beastman who could live for 500 years.

Seeing the staff members acting erratically, like a group of wandering souls, Nyx coughed lightly, a little worried.

"Ah!"

"Y-yes, how can we be at your service!?"

A group of people immediately snapped out of it, rushing forward to await her commands.

"Is your throat uncomfortable?"

"Here's some warm water."

"I'll go contact a doctor for you!"

Nyx couldn't help but take a few steps back.

Luckily, Felix intervened in time, stopping these fanatical males.

Felix's powerful aura steadily suppressed the scene. "Has the mental power information been entered?"

"It has been entered into the system," a staff member replied, bowing his head.

Now that the information was entered and all the procedures were completed, they could leave.

Nyx immediately made a quick getaway, dragging Felix along.

Theon and Zayne were still waiting for her outside.

It was already late at night.

The mental power testing center's lobby was brightly lit, and many males were still waiting for their females.

A curly-haired female came out of the testing room, beaming, walking briskly, clearly having received good test results.

Her males immediately crowded around her, congratulating her.

The curly-haired female rolled her eyes and contemptuously pushed them away. "Stay away from me! I just tested as a B- level mental power! You should consider whether you're worthy of me!"

-She had previously accepted these simps because she thought her mental power was low. Now that she had discovered she could have better options, she immediately wanted to distance herself from this embarrassing past.

No matter how her males begged and pleaded, the curly-haired female didn't even give them a second glance, turning and walking away quickly.

The people around her cast sympathetic glances at her males. 'What poor fellows, so ruthlessly abandoned.'

Not long after, another female came out of the testing room, her gray eyes full of gloom, looking very unhappy.

Her males cautiously asked her about the results.

"Get lost!" The gray-eyed female slapped one of them and threw a cup of hot water all over him.

The people around them only glanced at them before looking away, not finding it strange at all.

This was a very common occurrence.

Compared to females with excellent test results, most females were like this, taking their anger out on their males when the results weren't satisfactory.

The males were used to being emotional punching bags for the females, silently enduring their anger. Even after being slapped and having boiling hot water thrown on them, they didn't bother to take care of themselves, apologizing and trying to appease the female.

"Zayne! Theon!" A crisp, oriole-like voice suddenly rang out.

Everyone in the hall immediately looked towards the source of the voice-

They saw a petite woman with fine, fair hair emerge from the testing room; her clear, lake-like eyes held their gaze captive

Under everyone's astonished gaze, the small female happily lifted her skirt and ran towards her males.

Opening her arms, she leaped and actually threw herself into the arms of one of the males.

Her flower-like face was filled with a warm, contagious smile that seemed to melt the surrounding atmosphere.

Many people's jaws dropped, finding it incredible. 'Does such a female exist in the Empire?'

In their minds, females were all like the curly-haired female and the gray-eyed female from before.

For a moment, envy, jealousy, and various other emotions surged and brewed in the hall. They thought, 'Why did some people have such good fortune? To have such a lovely female!'

The male who had been splashed with hot water by the gray-eyed female couldn't help but look at Nyx, then looked down at himself, a hint of sadness flashing in his eyes.

This hint of sadness was caught by the gray-eyed female, who immediately became furious. "You're looking at her? You're looking at another female? Don't tell me you think my mental power is low and you want to find another matron?"

"What's so much better about her?" the gray-eyed female said, pointing at Nyx and sneering, "Looking at how she fawns over males; it's obvious her mental power isn't high!"

Any female with high mental power was aloof and waited for males to grovel at their feet.

A female who flirted and smiled at males like that must have received poor test results.

But when she saw the males behind Nyx, the gray-eyed female's resentful voice stopped abruptly, catching in her throat.

"The Marshal?' The gray-eyed female was stunned, rubbing her eyes in disbelief. "To actually be able to get involved with the Marshal, who exactly was this female?"

In the hall, some people were browsing StarNet, repeatedly watching the official video of the SSS-level female's awakening. Every time they saw the Sacred Crystal glowing, they trembled with excitement. Hearing the commotion, they looked up and immediately saw Nyx's beautiful face-It was exactly the same as

"Oh my god! It's her-" someone shouted.

Felix quickly shielded Nyx in his arms, holding her and quickly walking outside to avoid causing a bigger commotion.

Zayne and Theon brought up the rear, preventing people from getting close and following them.

Even without getting close to Nyx, everyone's gazes were still filled with awe, fixed on her from afar.

"SSS-level female!"

"Beast God Messenger! She must be the Beast God Messenger!"

"The Beast God hasn't abandoned us!"

24%

The shouts were deafening, and others who didn't know Nyx's identity finally realized in surprise. 'So she is actually an SSS-level female? This is completely different from what we've imagined!'

In everyone's imagination, an SSS female should be a lofty, god-like being, far more unattainable than other females.

Ordinary females already treated males as lowly slaves; this unique SSS-level female must have an even worse temper and be even more difficult to serve.

But no matter how bad the SSS-level female's temper was, countless males would willingly and eagerly be at her disposal.

After all, she was an SSS-level female.

But the legendary SSS-level female had a gentle smile on her face and actually ran into her male's arms. Nyx was incredibly beautiful, her appearance and temperament truly as otherworldly as they had imagined, but her sweet personality was beyond their expectations.

Even more surprisingly, her males skillfully accepted her hug, not showing any sign of being flattered.

This undoubtedly meant that she was usually this gentle, not just giving her males a good face when she was in a good mood.

Looking at the males beside the gray-eyed female, who were in a terrible state, made them look even more miserable.

The contrast was too stark, and everyone sighed.

Complex gazes came from all directions, and the gray-eyed female's face turned red.

She had said that a female who fawned over males like that couldn't possibly have high mental power.

And now, the hall was filled with shouts of SSS-level female, as if a slap had landed on her face.

A trendy post quickly appeared on StarNet. [So lucky, I saw an SSS-level female with my own eyes. I've never seen such a gentle female. Her males are so happy.]

This caused a huge stir, with countless replies in the comments section.

[Nonsense! Who wouldn't?!]

After the official announcement of the SSS-level female's awakening, Nyx's identity was almost instantly exposed.

$.24%2

Her previous videos went viral one after another; her fans were ecstatic, and others who were just learning about Nyx were captivated.

The events at Jade Garden moved them deeply.

When they saw Nyx comforting the out-of-control Black Mamba, they sighed at her kindness and gentleness.

The replays of her breakfast livestream also saw a surge in views. The males, seeing the small female hugging the Snow Wolf lion and smiling happily, became increasingly jealous, wishing they could pull Theon and Zayne out of the screen and replace them.

When the official announcement was first released, StarNet was shocked, but everyone only saw the SSS- level female as a symbol of hope, admiring and sighing like they were looking up at a lofty god.

It wasn't until these videos were dug up that StarNet completely changed, and Nyx became the dream matron in the hearts of almost every unmarried male.

The entire empire fell into a frenzy called "Nyx."

A beauty that surpassed mortal standards, a personality that was unbelievably perfect, SSS-level mental power.

Whoever was fortunate enough to become her partner would surely become the object of envy for billions of males.

The personal information found on the system showed that she currently had no partner.

Therefore, the guardians became the primary targets of attack, and the third guardian besides Theon and Zayne was finally identified-

[Am I seeing this right.]

[Oh my god!]

[Felix Lane? Is it the Felix Lane I'm thinking of?]

After the intense shock, everyone gradually calmed down.

[They're just guardians; they probably won't become partners. The Marshal is probably just helping Theon take care of his female.]

[It's normal for an unmarried elder to be a female's guardian.]

[The Marshal is a bachelor; he's not interested in females.]

[That's the cold-blooded Marshal!]

Felix's image of being indifferent to women was deeply rooted in people's minds. Only the staff in the military felt a subtle sense of unease.

[Um. I'm from the military; the Marshal actually took leave to go on a date before. Is it okay to say this?]

[Don't say it, I'm afraid the Marshal will want to have a word with you.]

[Even if he wants to talk to me, I have to say it, it's true!]

[I'm also from the military; I can testify.]

[Since you all said it, I'll say it too; it's true!]

[We were guessing who the Marshal's date was before; we never dared to guess it was Nyx.]

[Now it seems it might really be Nyx.]

The voices of the military staff were too quiet and didn't attract much attention. Even if someone saw what they said, they just treated it as a joke.

[Hahahaha, you dare to joke about the Marshal, you're so bold!]

[I understand you, I also like to spread rumors about my boss.]

[Make it up, keep making it up. I'll lose if I believe a word.]

Convinced that Felix couldn't possibly have any feelings for Nyx, the heat was about to die down.

Until the people surfing StarNet suddenly discovered that Felix had updated his personal feed-

Felix declared: [I am Nyx's guardian. I am also her suitor, not an elder.]

As the Imperial Marshal, Felix rarely posted on StarNet. The few posts on his homepage were all work- related, mostly serious official announcements.

A confession post was conspicuously pinned at the top of these posts, looking very out of place, almost to the point of being absurd.

People who saw the post all rubbed their eyes in unison, suspecting that their frequent late nights had caused their thoughts to be muddled, mistaking some high-imitation account for Felix.

21:09 Fri, 14 Feb

The uproar intensified.

They thought, 'Would a female really reject the Marshal? If you were to rank the most popular males among females in the empire, the Marshal would definitely be at the top. Over the years, countless females have expressed their admiration for the Marshal.'

He had never responded to any female, seeming to have no interest in finding a partner. Yet now, he claimed to be Nyx's suitor.

Someone immediately raised a question: [Marshal, do you pursue Nyx because, as an SS-level male, you need her Mental Soothing to alleviate your loss of control?]

This question was too harsh, too direct.

In fact, most unions between females and males in the empire weren't based on love but on an exchange of benefits.

This held true not only for the powerful but also for ordinary people. Both men and women were highly pragmatic, typically basing their choices on the man's wealth and status, the woman's mental power, and a degree of mutual attraction. Even if they didn't say it out loud, everyone knew it in their hearts and understood it tacitly.

Marshal Lane had always been cold to females. Now, he suddenly became Nyx's suitor. 'Of course, it's because Nyx's mental power is strong enough!' they thought.

This was everyone's consensus, but asking it so bluntly was very insensitive.

[Stop asking such pointless questions!]

[Tell me, are you a hater of the Marshal or a hater of Nyx?]

[Why don't you go home and ask your father? Did he pursue your mother to get her Mental Soothing?] [Sick!]

[The Marshal doesn't need to answer. I'll answer for him: Get lost!]

The malicious questioner was chased and scolded by everyone and sheepishly deleted the question.

The onlookers won a great victory and were about to disperse contentedly when they were shocked to find that Felix had updated his feed again, seemingly responding to the doubts-

Felix: [When I fell for her, she hadn't awakened yet. My pursuit of her has nothing to do with mental power.] Such a lovestruck declaration, coming from Marshal Lane's mouth.

The onlookers were so shocked that the melons in their mouths fell to the ground.

If other males said such things, they would mostly be lying, saying nice things to please females.

+13

21:09 Fri, 14 Feb

Chapter 64

But this was Felix. He never deigned to use lies.

The cold-blooded Felix, who was known for being ruthless, had actually fallen in love. This was even more explosive than him claiming to be Nyx's suitor.

[I thought the Marshal had long given up on love.]

[Ah, this-]

[So absurd.]

Amidst the stunned silence, Nyx's fans were the first to recover.

[Actually, there's a bit of logic to it.]

[After all, it's Nyx!]

[If I could be around such a lovely female, I would fall in love with her at all costs!]

[Same here.]

When they first met Nyx, she didn't have the halo of an SSS-level female, but her strong personal charm was already captivating.

Mental power was just icing on the cake for her. Even without mental power, she would have had many suitors.

And now that she had awakened as an SSS-level female, even more top figures would become her admirers. After all, she was the only cure for high-level males.

Besides Felix, there were other SS-level male figures in the empire. They must already be eager to make a move.

People sighed.

[The Marshal is really lucky.]

[The other big figures just found out the news, but the Marshal has already taken the position of Nyx's guardian! Far ahead!] [Speaking of which, the royal family held a palace ball today specifically to select a consort for His Highness.]

[I wonder if His Highness has chosen a Crown Prince consort yet.]

[If he has already chosen, he will probably regret it.]

The news of the palace ball being terminated was still being kept secret, and most people were unaware, still thinking that His Highness was dancing with other females at the ball, causing them to sigh.

Only a few people who had been at the ball knew the truth.

In a luxurious but cold hospital, Aurora lay unconscious on a bed, with her family guarding her.

"This is outrageous!" Aurora's mother had always doted on her only daughter. Seeing Aurora's pale face, her heart was pierced with pain.

She suddenly raised her voice, scolding her partner and sons, "What are you standing there for? Go and make the person who hurt Aurora pay the price!"

Moreover, they were not in the right. If Aurora hadn't attacked first, she wouldn't have been injured in the counterattack.

This wasn't the first time Aurora had used her mental power to attack other females.

But before, she had always picked on weak targets whose mental power she could overwhelm.

Even if those ordinary females were injured, they wouldn't dare to speak up, and the matter would be suppressed and resolved by Aurora's family before it could cause any trouble.

Until this time, she thought she was still dealing with cotton, but she had kicked a steel plate.

"Heh, I don't care who she is!" Aurora's mother said with a cold smile. "So what if Aurora attacked first? It's her fault for hurting Aurora! Even if we can't win a lawsuit, it won't stop you from finding a chance to teach her a lesson in private!"

She thought, 'Just a female. Even if her mental power is high, she can't withstand violence and beatings. We can even arrange a few disabled and ugly inferior males to add insult to injury.

"But her guardian is Felix Lane!" Aurora's father stopped the matron's crazy plan, frantically showing her the posts on StarNet.

Not only a guardian and suitor, but this cold and ruthless lion had even fallen in love.

The more indifferent a person was, the more fiercely they would protect their weakness once they had one.

This lion was not easy to provoke. Even powerful nobles like them felt a little apprehensive in front of him.

All the males present broke out in a cold sweat.

They didn't want Felix Lane to fight them to the death.

Aurora's mother also choked. 'Felix? The Marshal?'

Her face twisted and changed several times, but she still squeezed out a sentence through clenched teeth.

“What are you afraid of? Our backer is the Queen, the entire royal family.”

Aurora was the Queen's niece. She believed the Queen would support her.

Using the royal family as her shield, Aurora's mother became more and more confident.

But Aurora's brother looked troubled.

He had attended the palace ball and knew more about what had happened there than his mother.

"His Highness likes Nyx. The royal family won't help us," he whispered.

“What nonsense are you talking about! The Crown Prince likes Nyx?”

Aurora's mother immediately exploded, shouting in disbelief.

It was common knowledge that Aurelius usually stayed in the Palace and hadn't appeared at public events for Everyone's expressions froze on the spot in the large ward. "His Highness? What is he doing?"

As if competing with Felix, Aurelius also appeared on StarNet. Although he didn't post anything, he personally liked a comment.

The iconic White Tiger Totem, which only royal family members were qualified to use, immediately attracted everyone's attention when it appeared on StarNet.

[?]

[His Highness?]

[?]

[Was it a slip of the finger?]

Knowing that with an SS-level male's agility, there was no possibility of a slip of the finger, but everything in front of them was unbelievable.

The comment that Aurelius liked was: [Actually, His Highness and Nyx are quite a match.]

It was originally just a casual comment that no one paid attention to.

But the person in question actually liked it, and the meaning immediately became extraordinary.

Aurelius was not the frivolous type like the Second Imperial Prince. He would never easily associate himself with a female. Such an active endorsement of the “match” comment could only mean that Aurelius was interested in Nyx.

'But has there been any interaction between them? The onlookers were even more confused.

Until half a minute later, the royal family confirmed that Nyx had safely awakened and lifted the news blockade.

Freed from the royal family's constraints, the palace ball attendees, who had been holding back, flocked to StarNet and thoroughly complained about everything that had happened at the ball.

The public, who had been kept in the dark, were hit with a series of shocking blows-

'What? Nyx was invited to the palace ball?

'His Highness actually took out Nyx's pearl earring and invited her to dance?

'And a female inexplicably provoked Nyx and attacked her with mental power?

'Who was so overconfident?

'And it was too vicious!'

a mental breakdown, making her unable to recover.

Fortunately, the evildoer suffered the consequences of her own actions.

A wave of mockery swept across StarNet.

Amidst the condemnation, other females and their families who had been harmed by Aurora's mental power also spoke up.

This intensified the worsening situation.

In just a short moment, Aurora and her family were reduced to imperial pests that everyone wanted to beat.

[That Ashton was already very arrogant before. This Aurora is even more arrogant. These nobles are going too far.]

[Is it fun to bully people with power? Disgusting!]

[Mental power is a gift from the Beast God, not a weapon to point at innocent people!]

[Wait, the royal family has issued another announcement.]

[Yes! The royal family said they will investigate thoroughly!] [Good! Good!]

In the ward, there was silence.

Everyone's faces became as ugly as Aurora's on the bed.

Aurora's mother was brought down to earth with a thud. Her fiery temper was extinguished, leaving her speechless.

They hadn't expected the royal family to be so merciless towards them.

After all, the Crown Prince seemed to really like Nyx.

Compared to the Crown Prince, they were nothing.

The plan to retaliate against Nyx was abandoned. The most important thing now was how to protect Aurora and their family.

**

While Aurora's side was silent, on the other side, the home of the noble male who had been matched with Nyx by the guardianship system was in chaos.

The noble male had happily gone to the palace ball, but after returning, he locked himself in his bedroom without saying a word.

His family initially ignored him, assuming he was just frustrated from not pleasing any females at the ball.

But when the SSS-level female's awakening and identity were revealed, his father rushed to the bedroom door in one step and shouted, "Valen, come out! We need to talk! Was this female named Nyx your previous match?"

He remembered that on the day of the match, Valen had frowned and said that he had been matched with a commoner female without mental power named Nyx.

Such an ordinary female was clearly not within their family's selection criteria. He didn't take it seriously and waved his hand, saying that they should just give her some money to send her away.

Valen obediently did as he was told, and his father was very satisfied with this.

Until now, Nyx's name was everywhere on StarNet.

24%

Valen's father's pupils shrank, staring intently at the name, checking it again and again. It was actually the female who had been matched with Valen.

An SSS-level. A commoner female who originally had no mental power had leaped to become the most supreme being in the entire empire.

"Valen! Come out!" Valen's father banged on the door. "Did you get her contact information that day? Contact her quickly!"

"Didn't you say she liked you that day? You didn't reject her too thoroughly, did you? Now, immediately, agree to her!"

There was no movement from inside the room.

The father remained at the door, refusing to leave. After a moment, he shifted to a more persuasive approach, employing a mix of gentle and forceful tactics. "The family needs you now, Valen. You need to be reasonable.

"You've always been an obedient child.

"I'm talking to you. Can't you hear?"

"Come out, Valen!"

The door suddenly opened, and the noble male Valen appeared before his father, looking dejected.

His father bombarded him with a series of questions-

"Did you see her at the ball today?"

"Did you dance with her?"

"What did you talk about?"

"No!" Valen loudly interrupted his father's questioning.

"What do you mean no?" The father didn't understand and frowned.

Valen lowered his head. "Nothing."

Not only did they not chat or dance, but he also didn't get Nyx's contact information.

The father's face hardened, his breathing deepened, and he remained silent for a long moment. Then, his demeanor softened, adopting a tone of concern for Valen's well-being as he persuaded him, "It doesn't matter. You two are meant to be together, and she likes you.

"Listen to me, go find her, and try to please her."

The opportunity to become partners with an SSS-level female was rare. They had to seize it.

If he succeeded, Valen would be able to stand on equal footing with powerful figures like Felix and Aurelius.

If only Valen could win Nyx's favor and have her give birth to their family's offspring.

Valen's father became excited, and his breathing quickened,

"But I refused to be her guardian that day. She must be angry with me, Valen said hesitantly,

Even now, he still thought Nyx must have feelings for him. Otherwise, why would she say that she wasn't dissatisfied with him to the city hall staff when she was clearly angry? Not dissatisfied must mean satisfied, Valen thought of Nyx's beautiful face and couldn't help but curl his lips into a smile,

In fact, he was quite satisfied with Nyx; the only flaw was her lack of mental power. However, now that this flaw had vanished, it had turned into an advantage,

He and Nyx were indeed destined to be together.

Nyx even smiled at him at the ball.

At the time, Nyx was dancing with Felix, but she smiled at him. It seemed that he was more important in Nyx's heart than Felix.

The dejected aura gradually disappeared, and confidence surged. The noble male regained his spirits.

The father also comforted him, "It's okay to be angry. Females need to be coaxed. You just need to coax her.

"Nyx should be living in the Marshal's residence. I'll send people to keep an eye on things there. When she appears, you must seize the opportunity to meet her."

Doing this was indeed very risky. But no matter how big the risk, it was worth taking a chance.

"I will," Valen said confidently.

Of The Beastmen 66

Chapter 66

The desire for the SSS-level female prompted Valen's father to immediately take action, arranging for stalkers to lurk near Felix's residence.

Unfortunately, Felix's residence was too large, and outsiders couldn't even get close to the core area.

As the Imperial Marshal, even if he didn't like extravagance, Felix's manor was still many times more luxurious than Theon's small villa, and its area was comparable to a royal estate.

Nyx had arrived late last night and hadn't had a chance to observe carefully. It wasn't until she woke up the next morning and looked out the window that she couldn't help but exclaim in surprise.

No wonder Felix had casually suggested that she could bring her favorite animals home when they were soaking in the hot springs in the snow mountains.

With such a large manor, raising any animal would be no problem.

Even if the climate wasn't suitable, as long as they used superpowers, they could use technology to simulate it.

Mountains, grasslands, lakes, streams-everything was there, like a miniature world.

The manor was full of small animals that had been assessed by the security system as non-threatening. As soon as Nyx appeared, many little creatures automatically gathered around her.

Although she had always been attractive to animals, it hadn't been this obvious before. It seemed that with the awakening of her mental power, she was like a jar of aged wine that had finally been opened, the fragrance bursting out intensely, expanding the range of its influence hundreds of times.

Too many small animals could easily lead to indecision, not knowing which one to favor first.

Nyx hesitated for a long time, about to bend down to touch a little rabbit when a piercing alarm suddenly sounded in the manor.

The security system had been triggered.

Almost instantly, Felix's figure appeared beside Nyx, his speed so fast that he only left an afterimage.

Nyx only felt a blur before her eyes, and she was already being protected in Felix's arms, her heart pounding. This was the first time she had clearly seen how strong a male could be. This speed completely broke through the limits of the human body as she knew it.

Realizing belatedly that a strong, powerful arm was tightly wrapped around her waist, her ears turned red.

The word "matron" that Felix had said at the palace ball suddenly echoed in her mind, and Nyx shifted uncomfortably.

"Don't move," Felix tightened his grip slightly on her waist.

Instantly, Nyx stiffened, her breathing becoming even more rapid.

Seeing her agitated reaction, Felix clearly understood that she disliked him, finding it unbearable to be so close to him.

Recalling the different treatment he had received yesterday at Holy Ground, a shadow passed over Felix's eyes.

"I will apologize to you later and let you do as you please, but for now, please bear with me until the danger is gone. Even if Nyx disliked him, he wouldn't let her leave his side until the crisis was resolved.

Theon and Zayne went to the location where the alarm was triggered to investigate.

Not long after, the two of them returned, carrying a pitiful-looking, furry creature.

The furry creature was black and white, its fur looking like it had been struck by lightning, with several wounds. It made soft, baby—like whimpering sounds, reaching out its paws towards Nyx.

Nyx couldn't help but widen her eyes, her heart aching. It was a panda's cub.

She instinctively reached out to take the panda from Theon, but he stopped her. "Don't touch it. It's a Beastman."

It was precisely because it was a Beastman that it had triggered the security system and been driven away so miserably.

The reason Theon and Zayne hadn't ruthlessly chased it away or sent it to prison was because it was just a cub.

It looked no older than six.

Nyx frowned. "Why is a cub wandering around alone? Where's its family?"

Felix glanced at the message on his Intelligent Brain and said, "Its family is outside."

The panda cub hadn't gotten lost. Its family had taken it out, but it had run off and entered the manor. The family had watched it disappear, but they couldn't enter due to the security measures.

Nyx breathed a sigh of relief.

After hesitating, she still opened her arms to Theon, insisting, "Let me hold it. It's still young. It's okay."

The whimpering panda cub was too pitiful. Even if it was a Beastman, it was far from being old enough to be wary of. There was no need to avoid it so much.

Unable to persuade Nyx, Theon reluctantly handed the panda cub to her.

As soon as the cub was in Nyx's arms, it immediately relaxed, as if the terrible wounds all over its body didn't hurt anymore. It looked up at Nyx with its round face.

Before she transmigrated, this was an endangered animal.

Nyx never dreamed that she would one day hold such a rare treasure.

She couldn't resist the urge and rubbed its furry ears.

The panda cub's family was anxiously pacing outside the manor. When they saw Nyx from afar, they were stunned.

Like a goddess descending to earth, the small female's slender figure appeared in the light.

In her arms, the panda cub was as well-behaved as a toy, obediently holding a small apple with its paws, offering it to the small female's mouth.

The panda cub's father was almost in tears. 'Is this obedient cub really my mischievous troublemaker?'

He bowed to Nyx, but she stopped him.

"Take it to the hospital for treatment," Nyx urged.

Although they were all superficial wounds, it still pained her to see them.

The panda cub's father didn't seem to care much. He grabbed the cub and looked it over. "It's okay. They're all superficial wounds. Males are tough. There's no need to go to the hospital. We'll just use the medical pod at home."

'How could that be okay?' Nyx was shocked.

But looking around, neither Felix, Theon, nor Zayne, as a professional, objected.

Nyx was momentarily speechless.

Males were tough to this extent. And this was just a cub under six years

In a corner outside the manor, a gaze was fixed on this direction.

Felix's eyes were sharp, and he sensitively looked up.

old.

The stalker instantly hid behind a big tree, breaking out in a cold sweat. 'His alertness is terrifying!'

The stalker hired by Valen's father was highly skilled, specializing in tracking and assassination, and he was usually foolproof.

But just now, he was sure that Felix had discovered him.

A tense atmosphere spread. The stalker contacted his employer as quickly as possible. "The target has appeared on the outskirts of the manor, accompanied by her guardians, including Marshal Lane."

The timing wasn't ideal, but considering that he had already alerted Felix, there might not be another chance.

Urged by his father, Valen tidied his clothes, looking radiant, and pretended to pass by the manor, stopping briefly in front of Nyx.

Nyx's gaze instinctively went over, pausing for a moment.

He looked a little familiar. She suddenly remembered. 'Oh, it's him? That noisy, slightly annoying match.

What's his name again?'

She had no impression at all.

Nyx didn't think much of it and quickly looked away.

Seeing that Nyx hadn't taken the initiative to talk to him, Valen became anxious and couldn't help but take a step forward-

Before he could even touch the hem of Nyx's clothes, there was a loud bang. Valen was pinned to the ground, his neck twisted and his arm held behind him, his face covered in dirt, letting out a terrified scream. "Aghhh-" Nyx was startled and took half a step back.

In the instant before she could react, Felix and Theon had exchanged glances, and Theon directly took action, decisively subduing this suspicious intruder.

His carefully styled appearance was a mess. Valen only felt a sharp pain on his face, which he was so proud of, and every joint in his body ached. He didn't care that Nyx was present and how embarrassing it was, crying out in pain.

Felix's expression was cold as he looked down at him.

Few people were so bold as to try something on his territory.

Felix asked, "Where are your accomplices? Call them out."

Valen trembled. "W-what accomplices?"

He wasn't a bad guy. He just wanted to meet Nyx.

Felix frowned and looked at Theon.

Theon understood and increased the pressure on Valen's neck. They then heard the captive scream even louder.

Felix was unmoved and coldly commented, "The one hiding behind the tree earlier, he's your accomplice, right? He's clearly much stronger than you, both in terms of alertness and vigilance. You're not on the same level."

The one who had been hiding had at least S-level strength, while the one in front of him seemed to be a weak and incompetent waste.

Judging by his attire, he seemed to be a noble.

Felix thought, 'A noble shouldn't have the guts to provoke him, so he must be after Nyx.

He searched his memory and quickly recognized Valen as the guardian that the system had matched with Nyx before.

The threat to his past position triggered a sudden crisis, intensifying his hostility toward Valen.

Felix's words provoked Valen, his face flushed red. He was panting heavily, thinking, 'I am a noble. How can I be compared to that guy who works for money and does shady things?

"The Marshal must be jealous that I could win Nyx over! That's why he was saying such harsh words to me!"

The hem of Nyx's skirt brushed against Valen's line of sight, and he grabbed at it as if it were a lifeline. "Save me! Nyx, Nyx! Make this rude guy let go."

Calling Nyx's name further enraged Theon, and he threw a punch at Valen.

"Theon!" Nyx called out, stopping him.

Because she stopped him, the punch lost most of its force, but it still landed squarely on Valen's face.

21:11 Fri, 14 Feb

With a muffled thud, Valen screamed, feeling several of his teeth loosen, but his eyes suddenly lit up. He knew that Nyx would definitely save him.

He thought, 'Next, she would definitely stand up for me and settle the score with this rude guy!

Under Valen's expectant gaze, Nyx reached out her hands in his direction-

She used her slender fingers to gently touch Theon's arm.

Valen froze.

24%

He watched as Nyx grabbed the muscular arm, even shaking it slightly, her tone filled with worry. "Don't be so impulsive next time. Just hand those pesterers over to the Security Bureau."

+13

Her twenty years of life on Earth had made Nyx subconsciously reject all violence. She was worried that this kind of private fight would get Theon into trouble with the law.

But in reality, this level of conflict between males was not within the scope of imperial law.

Moreover, the other party had been loitering suspiciously outside Felix's private manor, clearly with ill intentions, deserving to be punished.

Even so, Theon didn't argue with Nyx. The young, golden-haired male was like an obedient puppy in front of his beloved female, nodding obediently. "Okay, I'll take him to the Security Bureau right away."

Once he was in the Security Bureau, Valen, who dared to plot against an SSS-level female, would definitely receive the harshest interrogation.

Valen blankly watched everything happen, his brain unable to process what was going on. Seeing that Nyx seemed about to turn and leave, he hurriedly shouted, "No! Nyx! I came to find you!

"I came to propose to you!

"My father has agreed that we can be together!

"Don't send me to the Security Bureau! I'm not a bad person!"

Every word he said was like stepping on the guardians' landmines.

Theon clenched his fists, wanting to punch him a few more times, but he had just promised Nyx not to be impulsive, so he had to force himself to suppress his anger.

Zayne's eyes were icy cold.

The oppressive aura around Felix became even stronger, like a storm about to break.

Nyx went speechless.

She was speechless for a long time, falling into a long silence.

She could understand every word the noble male said, but putting them together made the meaning abstract and difficult for her to understand.

She thought, 'We are not close, right? We've only met three times at most. How could this person propose marriage so suddenly?'

Although they had been matched by the guardianship system before, that match had long been dissolved, and they hadn't even exchanged many words.

She didn't even remember his name.

After thinking for a long time, Nyx barely managed to squeeze out a sentence. "I don't like you. Don't overthink it."

Before she could finish speaking, she was loudly interrupted by Valen. "I don't believe it! Are you angry with me? Because I refused to be your guardian that day?"

He regretted it. He really regretted it.

If he had known that Nyx would awaken SSS-level mental power, he would never have refused her.

"My guardian is Felix!" Nyx finally lost her patience. "Even if you hadn't suggested dissolving the match that day, I would have refused you! You're not my type at all!"

Silence fell.

The three guardians' expressions changed, each revealing a subtle sense of joy.

Before today, Nyx had never said "like" to them.

But now, she had said these words.

Did it mean that they were actually Nyx's type? Otherwise, they wouldn't have had the chance to become her guardians and stay by her side.

Felix's previously suppressed emotions were stirred up even more intensely. A great sense of satisfaction surged into his heart, and the hostility around him slowly dissipated.

Valen was struck by lightning.

His self-confidence finally cracked, gradually collapsing. He was stunned for a full two minutes, unable to say a word. 'How could it be-How could Nyx not like me?'

+13

At home, Valen's father, who was waiting for good news, was restless, pacing back and forth in the yard.

A long time had passed. Valen still hadn't sent any news.

'Is he chatting with that little female? Being lovey-dovey?

'What stage have they reached? Have they agreed on a date to register their marriage?

'But even if they are having a good time, he should at least send me a message to report the results!' Valen's father waited and wondered. Although he was impatient, he was full of expectations.

Unexpectedly, the butler suddenly rushed over in a panic. "Sir! Something bad has happened!"

"What's with this panicky behavior!?" Valen's father frowned and scolded.

Their family was about to be related to an SSS-level female. They would be under the spotlight, yet the butler was so careless. It seemed he had to replace this butler.

24%

The butler, unaware that he was facing the risk of losing his job, didn't care about being scolded and wiped the sweat from his forehead. "Bad news! Valen has been sent to the Security Bureau!"

"What nonsense are you talking about?" Valen's father was furious.

But in the next second, a message from the Security Bureau popped up on his Intelligent Brain.

The Security Bureau formally informed him that, due to Valen's unwarranted loitering near Felix's residence and subsequent incoherent statements upon apprehension, he was suspected of plotting against an SSS— level female. As Valen's father, he was therefore summoned to the Security Bureau.

'What? What's going on? Why hasn't anyone informed me of it?' Not having time to think it over, Valen's father hurriedly urged the butler, "Quick! Go to the Security Bureau! We have to get Valen out!"

It wasn't so much that he worried about his son, but rather that if the matter reached the Security Bureau and Valen confessed to hiring someone to stalk, not only would the family's reputation be irrevocably damaged, but he himself would be utterly disgraced.

Before Valen was truly convicted, the family hurriedly sent people to negotiate with Felix.

With their status, they weren't qualified to negotiate directly with Felix, so Zayne came forward.

The eyes behind the gold-rimmed glasses seemed to be smiling, but they were not; Zayne glanced at the negotiators opposite him, staring at them until they were drenched in sweat.

"May I speak with Lady Nyx for a few words?" Valen's father, still unwilling to give up, asked with a fawning smile, rubbing his hands together.

Before the Security Bureau personnel could even stop him, the others sent by the family had already swiftly pulled him aside and tightly covered his mouth.

They thought, 'Shut up already! This father-and-son pair was acting crazy, and our whole family was implicated! An SSS- level female is not someone we are worthy of thinking about! She's the empire's unique treasure!'

Not only was the entire empire paying close attention to the SSS-level female, but even the Underground Arena forces hidden in the shadows and the Space Pirates seemed to have smelled blood, coming in droves.

Outside the routes monitored by the empire, a giant starship floated in the vast universe.

The destination was Crimson Sands, the territory of the notorious Space Pirate "Jaws."

The starship's exterior was disguised as an ordinary imperial passenger ship, but its interior revealed the true nature of the Space Pirates: blood, sweat, violence, and screams filled the cabins.

The Space Pirates were mostly energetic, destructive, and malicious individuals. When they didn't have a mission, they were idle, their bodies full of pent-up anger that couldn't be released.

Almost every day, there were internal fights, which were usually quickly and violently suppressed by upper management, with corporal punishment or confinement, but even if they were half-beaten to death, they never learned their lesson.

But from last night until today, not a single person had caused trouble or started a fight.

The sudden appearance of the SSS-level female had not only shocked the entire empire but had also captivated the Space Pirates, unable to extricate themselves.

Pursuing females was a male's instinct, and high-level females were precisely what males instinctively craved the most.

Countless covetous gazes stared at Nyx's photos, repeatedly watching the few available videos.

SSS-level female! So beautiful! they thought.

Unlike the imperial males who held females in the palm of their hands and pampered them, the more pure and lofty a being was, the more these outlaws wanted to desecrate them.

The Space Pirates were driven mad with desire.

Whispers and lewd fantasies filled the air, casting a chaotic, lustful hue over the entire ship.

This was a unique SSS-level female. If they could experience her Mental Soothing even once, they couldn't imagine how amazing it would be.

"Will the Loss of Control Index go straight to zero?"

"If I could just have one taste, I could die without regrets."

"We don't have that kind of luck, but the Boss might-"

"Will the next mission be to invite this little female to our place as a guest?"

"Hard to say. The Lord is an SS-level male. He's in need of Mental Soothing."

"Hiss. If I was the one to take on this mission, I definitely wouldn't be able to resist taking a bite first."

Vulgar words filled the air. Bear hid in a corner, sighing to himself. He was glad that Black Mamba was away on a mission and wasn't on this ship.

Otherwise, with his protectiveness towards Nyx, he might go crazy and cause a bloodbath here.

But he never thought that the little female named Nyx would actually awaken SSS-level mental power.

'Would Black Mamba still be able to protect her in the future?' Bear looked up at the highest level of the starship, sighing worriedly.

On the highest level, the door to the Lord's room was tightly closed, having not been opened for several days.

It was very noisy outside. The buzzing sound was giving him a headache.

Jaws opened his eyes from his hangover, his eyes looking fierce, full of bloodthirsty rage.

He thought, 'So noisy. What are they shouting about again?'

In the past, only those guys in the lower-class cabins made noise. The upper levels were relatively quiet. Now, even they were starting to become restless.

21:11 Fri, 14 Fet

What's it? Are they planning a rebellion? Jaws raised his hand and rubbed his throbbing temples, drowsily getting up and stepping over the scattered wine bottles and discarded needles used for injecting drugs.

He was shirtless, his skin flawless, his physique boasting well-defined, proportionate muscles. His waist was lean and supple, possessing a coiled, almost serpentine strength.

However, from his collarbone down, his body was a tapestry of scars, new wounds overlaying old layer upon layer, creating a fiercely marred appearance that starkly contrasted with his otherwise flawless physique.

These were almost all marks left from fighting against the pain of losing control.

Jaws casually draped a robe around his marred body, concealing the scars he seemed accustomed to.

"Click," the door opened.

As a strange fragrance came from afar, the chaotic cabin instantly fell silent.

"Lord Jaws-" his subordinates said, their voices trembling.

The overly beautiful face seemed to be coated with poison in the eyes of his subordinates. His expression was gentle as water, but he was actually enraged.

If they couldn't calm his anger in time, the consequences would be unimaginable.

"An SSS-level female has awakened—a subordinate nervously said, trying to use this shocking news to divert his attention and prevent him from getting angry.

There was silence for a few seconds.

Jaws slightly raised his eyebrows. "Oh? SSS-level? Female? Are you sure? You're not lying to me?"

from

Not to mention an SSS-level female, even an S-level female hadn't appeared for a long time unless he hadn't woken up his hangover and was still hallucinating. Otherwise, how could he hear such absurd words that were impossible to happen?

The series of slow questions made the subordinates break out in a cold sweat. "Of course, we wouldn't dare to lie to you. The empire's official announcement has been released."

"Is that so? An official announcement?" Jaws still didn't quite believe it, slowly bending down, getting closer to the subordinate's Intelligent Brain. "Then let me take a look."

Even if it was an official announcement, it wasn't impossible for the information to be false.

Maybe the empire hadn't had an S-level female awakened for too long, so they made up some fake news to appease the public.

Jaws quickly scanned the announcement, his expression remaining unchanged, his composure undisturbed, the oppressive atmosphere surrounding him undiminished.

The subordinate secretly lamented his misfortune, feeling that his death was imminent.

The screen began to automatically play the video of the awakening.

Nyx's figure appeared in the camera, walking step by step towards the Sacred Crystal under everyone's attention.

Jaws's eyes suddenly trembled. 'IS THAT HER?'

+13.

The Sacred Crystal shone brightly, and everyone was dazzled and involuntarily closed their eyes.

However, Jaws ignored the stinging pain in his eyes and stared straight at the figure.

SSS-level female...

Nyx...

These days, he somehow had investigated some information about this little female.

She was picked up from a primitive planet, physically weak, suffering from amnesia, and suspected of having been abused.

He didn't think much of it, just considering that she was a pitiful little thing. But now, she had unexpectedly awakened her mental power for the second time and become an unprecedented SSS-level female.

Jaws slowly furrowed his brow, letting out a thoughtful tut.

It was hard to imagine that such a special female was born naturally.

Coincidentally, she was an amnesiac female picked up by the Imperial Army from a primitive planet with no inhabitants. No one knew about her past.

It was really hard for him not to overthink it.

He wondered, "Could it be that the experiment was actually successful back then? Some test subjects escaped and weren't destroyed?"

His handsome face changed through various expressions. Jaws suddenly spoke, "When Black Mamba returns, tell him to come see me immediately."

The warm sunlight shone on the manor, but Nyx suddenly felt a chill down her spine and sneezed.

The Intelligent Brain on her wrist suddenly vibrated twice.

whic

Nyx turned on the Intelligent Brain and found the iconic white tiger totem flashing continuously in the system. She wondered, "Is this...Cotton Candy?"

No, it's the Crown Prince."

The Crown Prince seemed to have been waiting for a long time. As soon as she accepted his friend request, he sent a message.

Instantly, Nyx's eyes lit up.

Aurelius sent three consecutive photos of a white kitten squatting, lying, and pouncing on its food.

Every move was meticulously planned, yet left no trace.

With a cute anti-counterfeiting mark on its forehead, the white kitten opened its blue eyes in front of the screen. Its fur seemed to have been specially cared for, becoming fluffier and smoother than usual, making her involuntarily imagine how wonderful it would be to pet it.

21:11 Fri, 14 F

Chapter 69

Nyx's hands hanging by her sides curled slightly, a mischievous urge bubbling up inside her.

It was so cute.

The Crown Prince, a man known for his integrity, was now using himself as bait to ask her out.

Aurelius sent another message: [I'm outside Marshal Lane's manor, waiting for you.]

He even sent another picture of the kitten raising its pink paw which melted Nyx's heart.

24%

Rationally, she knew that the person on the other side of the screen was the Crown Prince rather than someone she could manipulate.

However, the white kitten was so tempting. Although it was slightly different from when it was out of control-a little less natural and a little more deliberately ingratiating-she still couldn't resist it at all.

Normally, Nyx would probably hesitate before accepting his date invitation, as it could potentially add another chapter to her long list of romantic affairs.

However, at this particular moment, she was carried away by the kitten's cuteness and agreed in a daze. Before Nyx could even reach the manor's gate, she heard the kitten's affectionate purring from afar. Accompanied by the jingling of a bell, a white kitten moved towards her like a soft cloud, dashing straight to her.

When they met last time, Aurelius noticed Nyx's apparent fondness for his juvenile beast form.

Aurelius was adept at leveraging his advantages. For this meeting with Nyx, he had his fur all over groomed and adorned his neck with a small, silver bell.

The swaying bell made the dignified Crown Prince resemble a pet cat.

Nyx involuntarily picked up the delicate bell for a closer look, only to discover her name engraved on it.

A strange, ticklish feeling stirred in her heart.

While Nyx was lost in thought, Aurelius nudged his fluffy head into her palm.

Nyx subconsciously bent her fingers and scratched the kitten's chin.

It was still so pleasant to touch, even softer, but she hadn't heard the familiar purring for a long while.

When she looked down, their eyes met. Nyx abruptly withdrew her hand, her face flushed. She finally realized that she was petting a Male Beastmen rather than a pet cat.

She was at a loss for words.

Happiness was too short-lived. Aurelius shook his fur in annoyance, realizing that he might have revealed a flaw.

It seemed that he still needed to continue to practice diligently.

The white kitten stopped acting like a cat and transformed into a human form.

The white-haired, blue-eyed Crown Prince raised his hand to his chest, bowed gracefully to Nyx, then took her hand, and gently kissed her fingers as if nothing had happened. Then, he greeted her politely, "Good day, lady."

Seeing Aurelius' human form for the second time, Nyx was still involuntarily stunned,

Such a dignified man, elegant and noble in demeanor, was obviously a young ruler wielding absolute power/ How come he transformed into such a cuddly kitten?

24%

Thinking back, she found this kitten seemed to have two sides when it lost control, and she didn't know which one was his true personality.

As Nyx was fond of Cotton Candy, although she was not close to Aurelius in human form, she quickly relaxed.

As an SSS-level female, she was in the glare of public attention. What was more, it was only the second day after her awakening. The news was widespread, and the debate was in the air.

Nyx had a lot of attention, so people certainly wouldn't miss the opportunity to witness her date with the Crown Prince.

"Do you mind if some people take our photos and spread them on StarNet?" sensing the commotion, Aurelius asked Nyx.

In fact, many of the royal family's private itineraries were kept confidential, and even if they were photographed, they could block the news from spreading on StarNet.

Today's date was undoubtedly a private itinerary, but Aurelius didn't want to keep it a secret.

However, everything depended on Nyx's thought.

Nyx

decided to throw in the towel and said, "I don't mind. It doesn't matter."

Hearing this, Aurelius was secretly delighted, but still pretended to be reserved and said, "But...in this case, the public might think we're in a relationship."

"Didn't you already accidentally like the comment?" Nyx glanced at him sideways. "I suppose they have thought so already." His little trick was exposed on the spot, and the Crown Prince's ears turned red.

After a long while, he softly defended himself. "It wasn't an accident."

The blush seemed contagious. Nyx turned her head slightly, not answering him.

As dusk approached, the sky was filled with rosy clouds, casting a layer of purple-red gauze over the earth.

Aurelius was calm and reliable, arranging the date very well, and even lunch was unexpectedly to Nyx's liking.

At the end of the day, Nyx was delighted, completely forgetting the unpleasantness brought by the noble male early in the morning.

The last date spot Aurelius chose was Theon's small villa.

Although Nyx had moved to the larger and more luxurious Marshal's manor, in her mind, this small villa was her home in this world.

It was not only the first safe and comfortable place she had ever had, but also the place where she had lived

the longest in this world.

Looking out the window of the aircraft, Nyx saw the familiar scenery and villa. Surprised, she turned to look at Aurelius.

But she saw that he had turned into a white kitten again. He twitched his ears and wagged his tail ingratiatingly at her.

"Want to go in?" he asked. Nyx couldn't help but reach out and rub him, then retracted her hand with restraint.

"Can you get in?"

The white kitten nodded confidently.

Nyx's biological information was recorded in the villa's system, and she could enter with a simple iris scan.

Meanwhile, Aurelius once again became an illegal intruder, skillfully evading the tight scrutiny of the security system and slipping through the gate.

Standing in the courtyard, Nyx looked around and then walked around.

Wherever she went, the kitten followed closely behind her, letting out a few sweet meows from time to time.

For a moment, Nyx felt like she was back to the time when she and the kitten depended on each other. While she was absent-minded, her fondness for the white kitten reached its peak.

At one point, she even had the urge to keep the white kitten with her regardless of its identity. Revisit this place, although Aurelius hadn't regained the memories during the period of his losing control, he still felt a strong sense of familiarity.

His nose twitched slightly, and his instinct led him to run toward a bush behind the swing.

"Cotton Candy!" Nyx shouted subconsciously.

She chased after him and her eyes widened when she saw what was hidden behind the bushes.

Nyx thought she knew every inch of the courtyard. After all, she had spent a lot of time in the courtyard almost every day and searched every corner of it for Cotton Candy.

However, she had no idea that there were so many things hidden in the bushes.

Seeing the familiar branches, Nyx fell into a brief daze.

It was clearly the cat teaser she made with a branch when she first met Aurelius.

She thought she had lost it, not expecting it to be safely preserved behind the bushes.

Besides the cat teaser, there were many things, including the small feather she used to tease the cat and a piece of her clothing.

When she looked at the familiar clothing, a hint of surprise flashed across her eyes.

The clothing, which was soft and light, was her favorite, and she wore it most frequently, but one day she suddenly couldn't find it.

She didn't expect that it was stolen by the kitten thief.

When on earth did it steal it?

She didn't notice a thing.

Aurelius was also shocked by what he saw.

He saw the small piece of clothing at a glance, but only dared to take a quick look before lowering his furry head, not daring to look again.

Intense shame made him tremble all over, and he apologized repeatedly, "I'm sorry. I'm sorry. I didn't mean to steal it." Male Beastmen lost human rationality and had no idea of privacy when they lost control.

The clothing must have absorbed Nyx's scent, which made him feel at ease and fond of it when he was out of control, so he secretly hid it.

Thinking of this, Aurelius felt as if he could smell the faint sweet scent of the clothing again, his ears red, and he wished he could dig a hole in the ground and crawl into it.

Nyx was both amused and annoyed, looking at his ashamed look, and decided to let it go.

She told herself, 'Forget it, forget it. When he did this, he was just an ignorant kitten. What wrong could a kitten have done?' Nyx bent down to pick up the clothing, dusted it off, and put it into the Space Button.

In this way, she had confiscated the most important thing from Cotton Candy's treasure trove, leaving only some odds and ends.

Rummaging through the things, Nyx even saw a withered rose, the one that the kitten had brought to her from outside the window and that she had worn on her head.

Although the petals had withered, none of them were broken or fallen. The rose was preserved very well, obviously cherished by the kitten.

A surge of warmth rose in her chest, and Nyx's eyes softened.

Looking at the rose, once again, she thought of that strange dream in which Cotton Candy transformed from a white kitten into a big white tiger.

When she woke up, she was still lost, thinking that it would be great if Cotton Candy could really transform into a tiger, as it would be very pleasant to touch.

As she pondered, she recalled a few nights when a heavy weight had pressed down on her in her sleep. It should be caused by the kitten, which transformed into a tiger, looming over her and pressing its massive form against her chest.

Nyx couldn't help but squint at the kitten.

Sensing Nyx's gaze on the clump of hair on his forehead, Aurelius seemed to have realized something.

The next moment, a gust of wind rose around them.

Nyx blinked rapidly, watching in disbelief as the kitten in front of her suddenly grew in size and stature—transforming into a majestic white tiger.

Unlike the soft and cuddly kitten, the white tiger stood even taller than Nyx. Beneath its snow-white fur were its iron—strong and perfectly sculpted muscles, harboring unparalleled formidable strength.

For a moment, Nyx could only describe it as the King of Beasts.

This white tiger was worlds apart from those on Earth that she knew. It was the epitome of perfection, ethereal and otherworldly.

Its azure eyes, as piercing as ice and snow, gazed down upon the world with an air of supremacy. Its gaze then fell upon the small female in front of it, locking onto her with a predatory gleam as if she were its prey.

Pinned by its gaze, Nyx was rooted to the spot, her heart pounding wildly. She fixed her eyes on the colossal beast before her.

Their eyes met for what seemed like an eternity. Finally, the white tiger retracted its dominance, lowering its head to gently rub its forehead against Nyx.

The white tiger emitted a deep growl from its throat, causing Nyx's heart to tremble. Yet, upon closer listening, she could detect a deep-seated joy within it.

Nyx couldn't help but reach out and hold its heavy head, patting it.

"Actually, you don't need to please me like this. I will also give you Mental Soothing."

If it hadn't been for her Mental Soothing, the dignified Crown Prince wouldn't have condescended to please her by turning into a cat with a bell and then a tiger for her to pet.

Hearing Nyx casually mention the Mental Soothing, the white tiger was shaken to its core.

Incredulity appeared in its eyes. If it hadn't been for its fur, Nyx would have seen a tiger red from head to toe.

"She... She was willing to...mate with me?" Aurelius wondered.

Aurelius was excited that his rationality went out the window.

Of course, he wanted to mate with her, but it was all happening too fast.

He thought, 'No way! I can't be with her without any official status or recognition. I'd rather give up the Mental Soothing for now, but I must be her official partner.

'Can I be her main consort? If not...it doesn't matter. As long as Nyx dotes on me more, I don't mind being her secondary consort.

Aurelius spun around on the ground, his long tail almost tied in a knot.

Seeing him like this, Nyx thought his intentions had been seen through, so he felt embarrassed.

"Don't be shy, come here. I can give you Mental Soothing now." She beckoned to the white tiger.

Aurelius let out a shocked roar and backed away repeatedly.

He thought, 'No...not now...I haven't been her official partner yet. Also, I can't mate for the first time here. This isn't even my territory, but that lion's. I'm just an intruder.'

Aurelius' fur stood on end at the thought that he would hastily mate for the first time like this.

Nyx, however, didn't give him a chance to refuse and grabbed him.

Aurelius felt as if he was in her grip. He dared not move for fear of hurting his beloved little female, trembling as if she was forcing him.

Closing his eyes, enduring it again and again, he finally gave up struggling. "At least, let me transform back into a human."

Transform back into a human?

Nyx, however, didn't understand what he meant by this, and shook her head in surprise. "There's no need to transform back into a human. It's more convenient to do it directly."

Under the white tiger's shocked gaze, she lowered her eyes to stare at the thick black fog lingering on his body, raised her hand, and gently brushed it.

In the field of vision that only Nyx could see, almost instantly, the black fog seemed to encounter its natural enemy, and a large area of it was silently annihilated.

Her soft hands slid down the white tiger's back, and the originally rampant black fog scattered instantly and was annihilated completely.

Suddenly, the white tiger shuddered, his spirit lifted. He felt indescribable relief throughout his body.

Gradually calming down, Aurelius realized he had misunderstood something. But before he could feel embarrassed, he looked up at Nyx in surprise.

Aurelius wondered, 'What was that? Mental Soothing? But doesn't Mental Soothing require.....mating? Why does it work so well after Nyx only stroked me for a while?'

Without a physical examination, he was certain that the probability of his losing control had astonishingly decreased.

Both Aurelius and Nyx were startled.

This was the first time she had tried to use her mental power after awakening.

21:11 Fri, 14 Feb

Chapter 70

When she dispersed the black fog just now, she deliberately summoned her Soul Form to her palm.

As expected, the effect was remarkable, hundreds of times more efficient than that before her awakening.

However, the black fog...seemed to be devoured and absorbed by her Soul Form.

"That black fog looked evil! Will it do harm to the twig?' she wondered.

Thin sweat trickled down Nyx's forehead from nervousness as she hurriedly checked on her Soul Form, which she had withdrawn into her Sea of Consciousness.

The result was unexpected.
