

Beautiful 112

Chapter 112: Must enjoy refreshment after exhaustion

Tang Ziyi's repair and modification took place in an incognito area. To hide the secrets, Ling Qingyu didn't know until Tang Ziyi confessed her location when Ling Qingyu complained and couldn't find her.

Tang Ziyi sought help from Athena and discovered the manor's underground parking lot had a tunnel connected to an underground realm.

She drove the Bentley to the modification spots as soon as she returned from yesterday's brawling with the gangster.

Every equipment was manufactured solely by Athena through the nano-printing machine and was available as per requested by Tang Ziyi.

Of course, the modifications weren't only for her Bentley, other vehicles were included too.

The Mercedes and BMW would have their turn later after priorities were finished.

For now, the priority was to guarantee Ling Qingyu's safety. Under her orders, Athena knew Ling Qingyu's plan to help the police. mp-y,r.

Ling Qingyu would donate dozens of vehicles to the city police departments where Yang Qingyue was responsible or served as a superintendent.

Only through Yang Qingyue's hand, could Ling Qingyu assure herself, her money wouldn't be wasted.

That was also the reason why she bought so many from Jaguar and Volvo manufacturers.

Jaguar Sedan served as a police patrol car. Its horsepower and strong frame showed its edge for the policing function.

It could even pursue high-speed chase without any sweat. As for the wagon from Volvo brand, Ling Qingyu prepared them for K9 units or other purposes such as Crime Scene Investigation...etc.

At last, the 10 Volvo SUVs served the special police unit including firearm teams. The modifications for Ling Qingyu's donation included paint, additional layers to bulletproof the doors, and some essential police devices—sirens, lights, computer systems, and LED screens.

Athena was also told to create new software, fitting the requirements of police in their tasks, along with appropriate hardware.

Ling Qingyu's preparation already facilitated Yang Qingyu's policing works. She hoped the new police chief would be satisfied with her contribution to the peace of the society.

Why the new police chief? Because according to her plans and calculations, Yang Qingyue would soon take over the position and only then would Ling Qingyu fully support the ambitious policewoman.

For now, Ling Qingyu waited patiently for the good news from her.

As for the remaining Range Rovers, Ling Qingyu set them aside for her personal guards, and in preparation for the new SWAT team, which might be formed after Tang Ziyi's training.

Actually, as soon as Ling Qingyu told the plans, Tang Ziyi began training every guard available.

Su Ruomei also invited other female soldiers recently and they should arrive in groups after a couple of days.

By then, Ling Qingyu might have already designed and manufactured a brand-new armor vehicle, suited for the task.

Of course, the process required reverse engineering, and Ling Qingyu gave permission for Athena to proceed under Tang Ziyi's complicated eyes.

For Tang Ziyi, it was shameful to copy and test others' data. But Ling Qingyu's words shut her up—they could simply hack the information from other archived laboratories.

Ling Qingyu's manor.

As soon as she arrived home, Ling Qingyu dashed for a bath. Today, too many things happened—Ling Qingyu craved a warm swim inside the bathtub.

Along the way, Ling Qingyu listened to Lin Xiao's report.

"Mistress, how's the meal today? Do you wish for us to provide you daily?" Lin Xiao asked.

"Of course, how can I eat outside after your chef fed me into addiction and it was delicious? Add another person serving next time."

Lin Xiao smiled at Ling Qingyu's reply. "Our chefs will soon be jumping around after hearing Mistress's praise."

"Anything else."

"Well, tomorrow should be time to pay for the electricity bill, though we only lived for a short amount of time."

"I see, You can show me the receipt and I'll transfer the amount." Ling Qingyu rubbed her chin.

That was also the reason why she refused Athena to provide electricity for the housing appliances through solar power to avoid attracting attention.

Even though the details were mostly overlooked, some clear-minded people could exploit the data, or Ling Qingyu left the handle for others to utilize.

Of course, Ling Qingyu asked Athena to mitigate the cost gradually in the future and there wouldn't be any proofs remaining.

"Yes, Mistress. Only about Madam Amorette...What should I bear in mind and any handicap to consider?" Lin Xiao asked cautiously, fearing her words might ruin the good impression she had sold in the first place.

Ling Qingyu's face turned dark but she didn't roll the emotion toward her innocent butler.

Lin Xiao inquiring her about her mother relieved Ling Qingyu's worries and increased her favorability.

Her expression frightened Lin Xiao, even if she knew her mistress wasn't an unreasonable person. No one was sure of the deep personality until one stayed with another for a long time.

Lin Xiao feared losing this comfortable job and hurting her reputation. She tried everything to perfection despite her fresh experience.

Ling Qingyu caressed Lin Xiao's shoulder and rubbed her hair soothingly. "I'm grateful for your worries. Watch her from the side to protect against any dangers. When she returns to normal, you can stay at a distance and take care of her. But please don't leave her alone, even if she asked you to."

"I'll keep that in mind, Mistress." Lin Xiao nodded meekly and exhaled her congested breath.

"Anything else?"

"Not for now." Lin Xiao shook her head.

"Good. You can notify me through your device if there's anything urgent. I'm a bit tired today. Prepare me for a good spa and massage session."

"Yes, Mistress." Lin Xiao ran off to arrange her request.

Ling Qingyu also found that modern technology and medical research were powerless over her mother.

She remembered she had the help of the system and decided to ask later when she stayed alone.

Entering a massage room, where everything was ready after she told Lin Xiao, Ling Qingyu smiled at the masseuses and greeted them.

There wasn't any air of pretense and Ling Qingyu's presence didn't bring too much pressure as before.

After several interactions, everyone understood Ling Qingyu's likes and dislikes. Many servants inside the manor were happy with their mistress.

Ling Qingyu didn't care about their thought as long as her conscience wasn't broken. Treating everyone as a human being was the easiest thing to do but was hardly found in society.

Today, sitting in a single position for a long time must have stressed her limbs because Ling Qingyu started to feel unwell in her muscles.

Fortunately, her manor hired full-time massage professionals. Despite the huge expense, Ling Qingyu could only shout 'very cool and comfortable' in her mind.

Enjoying the soft tentacles brushing on her skin, Ling Qingyu merely murmured and moaned in delight.

Well, not tentacles! She meant gentle grips. Yes, she never delved in the wrong direction. It must be a certain one affecting her thoughts.

After a while, Ling Qingyu arrived at the dinner hall, regaining her energy. Dinner was ready and soon Denise and Amorette also came.

Tang Ziyi, Xiao Yue, Su Ruomei, Jiang Yu, and others sat down on the respectable seats. Su Ruomei and Jiang Yu left a bit later than Ling Qingyu's departure.

It was Ling Qingyu's idea to gather everyone around to eat. Given a huge space, it would be a waste and lonely.

When the important events came by, there would be another arrangement. Lin Xiao would complete the task without her reminder.

Of course, she also invited the staff but they refused on the ground that their roles were needed.