Chapter 155: Tang Ziyi slowly unveils

Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning nodded to express their agreement with Tang Ziyi's idea. Two Aegis vehicles quickly departed the station afterward and the destination was to the hospital where injured officers were under treatment.

Sitting inside the armored truck, Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning looked around in relish. They sat behind Tang Ziyi's seat and were the closest to the consoles.

Sophisticated buttons and sounds coming out of the vehicle system blinded their eyes. They became a new group of villagers visiting the city area for the first time.

As soon as the vehicles left the station, Tang Ziyi saw the stylish seat and architecture inside had intrigued two new visitors and began to explain thoroughly.

Specifications and the vehicle's function popped the eyes out of Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning. They knew the vehicles were too big for SWAT but to hear that it could excel well in military usages, astounded should be an understatement.

The modern ingenuity of combining AI technology with vehicle automated system plus 360 awareness, impressed their eyes.

It wasn't something new but to modify the vehicles to an upgraded technology was also an eye-opener.

Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning listened to Tang Ziyi's narration, patiently and asked what they didn't understand straightaway. Tang Ziyi didn't mind their inquisitive behaviors.

The rest of the girls inside Tang Ziyi's Aegis also participated in listening for more details, because what Tang Ziyi was speaking supplemented the details they learned not long ago.

Su Ruomei, Jiang Yu, and the girls in the vehicle following Tang Ziyi's didn't have the opportunity. Not that it mattered to them since there were manuals, loaded in the trucks.

Tang Ziyi didn't know whether her clarification was understood by the two new visitors but seeing them nodded and eyes twinkling in appreciation, she felt satisfied as someone who took part in Aegis production.

Perhaps Yang Qingyue didn't know much about armored vehicles but Cai Ning realized she had never seen Aegis before and decided to inquire the reason.

"The data looks promising, but how come I have never known about Aegis?" Cai Ning's words also caused Yang Qingyue a moment of stupor and she nodded her head, her eyes eager for explanation.

Tang Ziyi smiled inwardly as the fish had taken the bait. Her expression hidden under the special attire. Frankly, Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning had high desires to unveil who were behind the masks, particularly Tang Ziyi.

"Of course, you haven't because we produce it ourselves." Her calm words echoed like thunder in the ears of Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning, clattering their minds to scary thoughts.

"Can you say that again?" Cai Ning thought she heard wrong. Tang Ziyi sighed and repeated.

The two police officials exchanged glances, their eyes communicating in silence. They even wondered whether they cooperated with the wolves after driving out the tiger.

"Okay, stop gesturing in front of us. Don't make extreme judgments until you have deeper contact with us, please." Tang Ziyi interrupted their thoughts. As someone older and experienced in judging people, she knew what their concerns were.

Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning expressed apologies, which Tang Ziyi and the rest of the girls accepted calmly and comforted the two policewomen.

"How do you girls do it? It's not easy to gather materials to produce this beast, without attracting attention." Cai Ning changed the topic.

"We have our own connections and a strategic level scientist. You'll know soon when we cooperate." Tang Ziyi replied and chuckled after hearing Athena's giggles from her spectacles after being praised.

Tang Ziyi's succinct answer didn't add any information and Cai Ning knew she wasn't going to obtain more.

"Can I buy these for my station? I mean you know my station's current situation—I might need a new SWAT team afterward. Not to mention my cars are all scrapped in the ambushes." Yang Qingyue sighed as she sometimes regretted her impulsive decision.

"Well, I'm not sure because we didn't intend to sell it but you can discuss this issue with our boss." Tang Ziyi guessed Ling Qingyue's aim but she avoided taking any oversteps.

Tang Ziyi: "As for your cars, you don't need to worry at all. Boss Ling, in fact, bought many vehicles to donate to your station once you take the chief post."

Yang Qingyue was astonished and glad at the same time. Her worries had now been solved without any effort. "How many?"

After she asked, she heard fierce discussion from behind. "So, that's why President Ling bought so many cars back then."

"I thought it was one for each of us."

"Keep dreaming. I think she supplied us sufficient transportation mode unlike other bosses."

Yang Qingyue was dumbfounded. Their words proved Ling Qingyu wasn't a bad leader; she considered more for her subordinates. That sounded reassuring to Yang Qingyue.

"Girls, don't worry, there'll be a car for every individual." Tang Ziyi rolled her eyes as she said. Cheers erupted as they discussed their future in excitement. "Miss Yang, I think it's around 50?"

Tang Ziyi was unsure but her expression attracted wide eyes from Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning. The sheer number of cars Tang Ziyi said was already very helpful and hearing Tang Ziyi meant there could be more.

In fact, being able to produce armored vehicles by oneself already suggested self-production in the automobile industry wasn't a problem. Tang Ziyi's words telling others everyone could own a car weren't false.

Yang Qingyue: "When will I see them?"

Tang Ziyi: "You'll see them when you meet with President Ling. Don't worry you'll be satisfied with our cooperation terms."

Yang Qingyue directed away and asked: "Do we need to modify the cars ourselves?"

Tang Ziyi replied, "Nope, I have completed everything. Bulletproof doors and glass. Some minor engine upgrades. It's everything the same as done in Country A."

Yang Qingyue was relieved hearing the cars were already modified, to the level comparable to Country A.

As everyone knew, in terms of police fleet, Country A had huge love for vehicle modification and ranked first in the world. Even their vehicles were made differently from the civilian models sold out to the public.

Of course, only Country A had such love that the police vehicles came exclusively from the same manufacturing brand—a stronger chassis and frame.

"Don't tell me since you have these machines, the guns and kits are all produced by yourselves." Yang Qingyue meant as a joke but after hearing silence she exclaimed in disbelief. "Don't tell me my joke is the truth."

"I'm afraid so." Tang Ziyi shrugged.

Yang Qingyue went speechless. According to Tang Ziyi's display, it appeared they were very self-sufficient. Ling Qingyu had also strengthened the military aspect. What could stop this talented woman now?

In business, she was superb and now her subordinates seemed impossible to be soft persimmons. Together, they transformed into an unstoppable team. All that she lacked was a connection with the officials.

Yang Qingyue pointed out after a pause. "Speaking of your weapons and equipment, you have to know, none of our SWAT wear ballistic visor on the helmet. How am I going to explain your group?"

"It's your responsibility. I know you have methods. Not to mention, your friend isn't simple." Tang Ziyi replied nonchalantly, trusting Yang Qingyue and Cai Ning would complete the task. "You can even create another specialized department to tackle more violent cases but it hasn't begun its formation yet but the situation calls. Anyway, I doubt you have any problems."

Tang Ziyi was convinced, that her example might work.

The two policewomen gave each other helpless eyes, hearing Tang Ziyi's description. Cai Ning spoke, scrutinizing Tang Ziyi's subordinates. "You, girls, aren't simple too."

"Of course, they aren't. They were discharged from the military and serve as Ling Qingyu's security guards." Tang Ziyi answered Cai Ning's doubt.

Yang Qingyue muttered: "As expected. So, you are all veterans."

The girls behind shook their heads as they answered. "It's better to call us ex-military than veterans. Apart from some more training and longer service years, we're no different from the recruit."

Cai Ning replied: "Please stop being modest. No simple recruit could solve our previous firefights. You're all very capable in our eyes."

Yang Qingyue also supported from the sidelines. After a while, their interest was drawn toward Tang Ziyi, who could feel the gaze behind her back.

"Only if Miss Cai talks about her identity, I'll say." Tang Ziyi said. The girls were also intrigued by Tang Ziyi's identity, even though their Sister Su acknowledged Tang Ziyi as their instructor. Her background remained unclear.
