chapter 7 ::

It was saturday and we were all on our way down at the beach. It was me, lily, jake and seth was invited by jake. We all made our way down in my mums car that I was driving as Jakes licence was still not returned from the DMV. We all arrived at 11 o'clock with me in the drivers seat, lily sat next to me and the two boys sat in the back.

'Jake can you get my board out of the back for me please?' I said in a very sweet voice with my puppy dog face on.

'Yeah fine, lily do you want me to get your towel for you??' Jake said as she stared at the floor like a little lost boy.

She nodded her head as jake went to get my surf board and lily's towel out of the boot. We started to walk down to the beach and it was almost 45 degrees which was extraordinary for english weather. When we settled down in our spot, i layed down my towel and stuck my board into the sand.

'Right, I'm going down to catch a wave. Anyone coming with me?' I asked as everyone was settling down on the warm sand.

'No,' They all said in unison. I slipped out of my jean short shorts and my white vest top and revealed myself in a floral bikini and I just saw Seths mouth drop.

'Be careful Seth, if you don't close it you'll end up catching flies,' I said as i walked away with my board in my right arm. I also quickly saw Jake shoot a quick death shot at Seth as he was still looking at me overly :L.

I was just catching a few waves when I heard a familiar voice behind me. It was alex.

'Hey, you alright?' he asked as he swam next to me. He doesn't surf but he had obviously rented a boogie board.

'Did you like stalk me here?' I questioned as i tried to keep my eyes on the waves ahead.

'Now what gives you that idea? I actually started to come boogie boarding a month ago and am still quite crap at it.' he admitted.

'Well the first step is admitting it,' i said resting my arms onto my board as i had been distracted by Alex so i had missed the wave completely.

'Well, believe it or not i did know that you were coming today,' he said calmly. I was shocked, he WAS some sort of stalker.

'What?!?! How did you know that I was here?!?!?! You ARE a complete STALKER!!' I shouted and as we were getting nearer and nearer the shore we were heard by a lot of people included Seth.

He rushed over to see me and he came over and picked me up with my arms around his neck and he spun me round as i squealed. Alex just stood near us staring at us, I could tell that he was jealous.

'I think we need to tell everyone. Or more like show them,' Seth said in my ear. But i could tell that Alex had over heard what he had said.

'Show everyone what?' Alex said looking confused.

'This,' Seth said instantly. Then he turned to me and pressed his lips up to mine. It was a hard kiss but it felt amazing and i kissed him back too. When we separated i looked lovingly into his eyes and he did the same.

'I love you,' He said to me with a grin on his face. Those three little words which i didn't think that i would hear so soon.

'I love you too,' i uttered back and then i kissed him hard again.

I pulled away to see Alex walk away angry and hurt, badly. Then i looked beyond Alex and i saw Jake behind him coming this way with his face looking hotter than the sun.

'You little ...' Jake started to say before he punched Seth before he could defend himself.

Seth fell on his knees clutching his face and then Jake kicked him hard sideways and then stomped off back to our place on the beach. I kneeled down to look at the damages.

I have some explaining to do ...
