

She Got A Better Man 191-200

Therefore, Elvira sent the video of Amber sleeping with another man to Karen and made herself happy.

She thought that the effect would be good.

Elvira received a call from an unknown number. It was Sandy Miles. She said that Rowena had been in a car accident and her leg was broken. She was in the hospital, and she asked her to come over. "I'm quite busy right now. I'm not free," Elvira replied.

"Elvira, she's your mother. Even if she marries into our family now, our family is not related to her by blood. Are you sure you don't care about her?" Sandy asked with a sneer.

"You also said that she married into your family. She treats you as her biological daughter now. It's enough that she has you to take care of her." Elvira did not want to talk to her anymore and hung up.

Not long after, her phone rang again. That time, it was from an unknown number. Elvira picked it up. It was Rowena herself.

"Elvira, my leg is broken and my ribs are fractured. Can you come and see me? Elvira, Mommy knows my mistake. I don't know who's sincere about this. I just got into trouble and can't do anything. Sandy doesn't care about me anymore. Now, she doesn't even want the nurse to come and take care of me. Elvira, Mommy apologizes to you. Can you come to the hospital and help me with the procedures?" Rowena cried miserably.

Elvira remained silent.

She took the phone away and looked at it. She frowned slightly. Was this real or fake? Had she really fallen out with Sandy?' Rowena continued to act pitifully. Elvira said, "Alright, I'll be there in a while. Wait for me."

Elvira took her bag and left the company after giving instructions to her secretary. When she walked to the elevator, she saw that Carmen was also waiting. She took the initiative to greet her. "Carmen, where are you going?"

Carmen lowered her head and said, "I'm taking leave to go to the hospital."

"That's great. I'm going to the hospital too. Let's go together."

The elevator arrived. Elvira walked in first. Carmen followed her in. She thanked Elvira. "Thank you."

"Carmen, you don't have to be so polite with me." Elvira took the initiative to press the button.

Carmen still had her head lowered, as if her inferiority complex had invaded her bones and made her unable to raise her head. Only she and Elvira were in the elevator. She seemed to have mustered up the courage to look up at Elvira. Elvira thought that she was going to say something, and Carmen said, "You and Zach are very compatible."

Elvira was a little surprised. She did not expect Carmen to tell her that matter. She smiled. Thank you."

"You're welcome. I'm serious. They're very compatible," Carmen repeated softly.

Elvira looked at the slightly old woman in front of her and felt a little emotional. In the beginning, she thought that Carmen was a green coffee. When she came back, she would definitely snatch Zach away. However, she did not have that intention. When she saw Zach, she even hid as if she had seen a ghost and did not want to see him.

On the other hand, none of the people from the Miller family were good people. They had caused Carmen to suffer so much. Not only did her body collapse, but her child had also left.

When they arrived at the hospital, the two of them separated, Carmen went for an infusion while Elvira went to Rowena's room.

After Elvira entered, Rowena was only lying on the bed alone in the room. One of her legs was in a cast, and she was leaning against the bed with a painful expression.

"Elvira, you're finally here. I'm really feeling terrible. Come and talk to me." Rowena's eyes lit up when she saw Elvira.

Elvira looked around the ward and said with a smile, "Your stepdaughter is really not around. She broke up because of this small car accident? Is that true?"

To be honest, it was a little ridiculous to fall out over such a minor car accident. Only Rowena would dare to lie like that.

"Elvira, how could Mommy lie to you? I finally saw clearly that it's useless no matter how much I pour out my heart and soul for someone who's not related by blood. When I subconsciously pulled Sandy to block the car accident today, causing her to hit her head, she grabbed me and scolded me. She scolded me for wanting to kill her and disfigure her. I am so heartbroken. I'm so good to her, but she scolded me over such a small matter. I'm really..." Rowena cried as she spoke.

Meanwhile, Elvira kept listening, and she quietly watched her mother's performance.

Elvira did not know if Rowena's words were true or not. Regardless, she only wanted to watch the show and did not want to get involved in the matter between her biological mother and her stepdaughter. "Even if you fell out with Sandy, your new husband should treat you very well. He shouldn't even have a servant, right?" Elvira asked.

"He's gone overseas. I can't contact him at all. If I could, Sandy wouldn't dare to do this to me," Rowena said helplessly.

"Is that so? Then why did you call me here? Your cast has been applied and you're staying in the hospital. If there's nothing else, I'm leaving," Elvira asked with a smile.

Rowena looked at her daughter, who could still smile like a flower in front of her mother, who was so badly injured. She had a little heart attack.

"I'm too bored by myself. I don't have any friends in the country. Just talk to me. It'll be noon soon. Help me buy a meal. Otherwise, I won't even be able to eat." Rowena looked at Elvira pitifully.

Elvira almost laughed out loud. Rowena's acting skills were really good. She was pretty good at pretending.

"I hire a caregiver to take care of you 24 hours a day No matter what, You are my biological mother. I'll pay for it. Don't worry," Elvira said as she got up to look for the caregiver.

"Even a nurse can't chat with me. Besides, how can a nurse be as considerate as my daughter? Elvira, you really don't want to care about me." Rowena continued to look at her aggrievedly. "I'm not free, I..."

"What can happen to an unemployed person like you? How about this? I'll hire you as my nurse, and I'll pay you three times your salary. How about that?" Rowena interrupted before Elvira could finish her sentence The slight in her words made Elvira feel ridiculous. "Ms. Smart, my husband is Zach Gilbert! Do you think I'm short of money? The cards my husband gave me are all given without a limit How can I like the three fruits and two dates you gave me? What are you thinking?" Elvira did not want to explain to her that she had a company. She could think whatever she wanted.

Rowena did not even know what her biological daughter was doing, yet she still dared to put on an act in front of her to gain sympathy.

"Elvira, didn't I tell you that if you're not capable, men will run away sooner or later! You can't control Zach. If she really doesn't want you anymore, you won't even have a place to cry! You should take the opportunity to earn more money. It's only a matter of time before you're kicked out of Gilbert family. Rowena was certain. She looked like she was lecturing her for her own good.

She Got A Better Man

"Alright, I'll listen to you and earn more money. I'll get my husband to earn more money now. You should have no objections, right?" Elvira stood up and was about to leave.

"Wait a minute. It's already noon. You should at least buy me some food before you leave. Do you want your mother to starve to death?" Rowena quickly called out to her. When she saw Elvira's sloppy expression, she felt angry. She wondered what kind of dogshit luck she had to be able to marry Zach Gilbert.

At that point, Rowena became even angrier. 'Why couldn't she learn from Sandy? Sandy was beautiful and motivated. She had been studying overseas. She was obedient, beautiful, and motivated. She looked like she didn't want to improve and only knew how to live off a woman.

Elvira was not in a hurry to leave. She took out her phone and ordered takeout. She wanted to see what Rowena was up to.

Elvira's phone rang. It was Zach. He was probably looking for her to have lunch with him. She picked it up. "Hello, hubby. I'm sorry I can't have lunch with you at noon. I'm here at the hospital."

"I'm fine. If there's anything, I'll definitely report it to you first. It's Ms. Rowena Smart, who was injured in a car accident. I'm here to take a look." When Elvira spoke to Zach, her voice was exceptionally gentle-completely different from how she usually spoke. Rowena felt a little disdainful. Wasn't Elvira just serving others with her looks, her voice was so gentle that it was sickening. It seemed that Zach would fall for that. She had to remember it.

"You don't have to come over. I'll go back after dinner..."

Before Elvira could finish speaking, Rowena suddenly reached out and snatched her phone away. Elvira looked at her unhappily with a sharp gaze. Rowena raised her hand to block her hand, which was about to snatch the phone back, and quickly said, "Zach, why don't you come for a meal? I haven't seen you in a long time. Take some of Elvira's favorite food. How can she be used to the hospital's food?"

Rowena hung up after saying that. She threw her phone aside and said, "We're just here for a meal. What are you afraid of? Are you afraid that Zach will be kidnapped?"

"That's right. I have no money, no ability, and no background. Of course, it's easy for my rich husband to run away. Is there a problem with keeping a close eye on him?" Elvira sneered. She took her phone back and looked at Rowena with disappointment in her eyes. Rowena seemed happy when she heard Elvira admit that he was not good enough for Zach. Her laughter was like a silver bell. "It's good that you know! But it's useless to keep a close eye on such things. If a man wants to dump you, he will dump you no matter what!" This laughter was really magical.

As expected of Rowena. She never disappointed her.

Elvira could not be bothered with her anymore. She found a place far away from her and sat down. The takeaway she ordered arrived with Zach, who was carrying a lot of food.

Elvira still found a caregiver for Rowena. She sat on the sofa with Zach and ate with coffee. She asked the caregiver to give Rowena the takeaway.

Rowena hoped that Elvira would come and get food for her. Elvira said calmly, "You can eat it once you open it. Hubby, eat some meat."

"You should eat more, too." Zach attentively took care of Elvira as he was eating. Now, he only took care of Elvira during 10:00 Mon, Dec 9 GO.

Rowena sat on the hospital bed and ate. She watched Zach serve Elvira as if he was feeding a child. She felt very stifled.

Now, it seemed that Zach's feelings for Elvira had not faded. It would still be a little difficult for Sandy to rise to the top.

Rowena had another bold new idea. Perhaps she and Sandy were working in the wrong direction. It would be more difficult for Sandy to rise to the top when the two of them were stuck together. It would be better to make Zach hate Elvira. There was a grain of rice at the corner of Elvira's mouth. Zach raised his hand and gently wiped it away for her. He could not help but kiss her lips again.

Rowena could not bear to watch. "The two of them had been married for a long time, right? Was there a need to be so clingy?"

Seeing that, Elvira also kissed him. The more Rowena did not want to see her, the more he had to see it.

When Zach and Elvira left the hospital, Carmen also came out after getting an IV drip. Elvira asked her to go back to the company with them. Carmen waved her hand gently to indicate that she could not. She went to the door to take a taxi. "She was still willing to take the car with me when we arrived. She probably saw that you were here and didn't want to go back together." Elvira looked at Zach in amusement.

Zach did not mind and said, "Let's go back to the company."

"Okay."

After the two of them got into the car, Elvira lay on Zach's lap to rest. Zach touched her short hair. He missed her long hair, which was very thick and good. It was comfortable to touch.

He thought about the arsonist again, and his eyes flashed with a fierce anger.

"What do you think my mother is up to now?" Elvira turned around and asked.

"I don't know. You'd better stay away from her," Zach reminded her.

When Elvira heard his words, her eyes darkened. "I know in my heart that she's pretending, but I just want to see how ridiculous this person so that I can completely give up on her."

Zach caressed her hair with heartache. He lowered his head and kissed the strands of hair on her cheek to comfort her. "You still have me, Mom, Grandma, and Alice. We're all your family."

Elvira was so touched that she hugged his neck and kissed his lips. She closed her eyes to cover her reddened eyes. She also felt that she was doing something stupid. She knew that she would be hurt even more, but she still wanted to try and see how much more hurt she could be.

Sometimes, she even envied Marsh. Rowena had left him after giving birth to him. Marsh did not have any feelings for her, and Rowena did not care if he treated her well or badly.

However, she could not. Rowena had been her mother for ten years. Even if she was not a very qualified mother, Willis's family had lived a rich life back then. She was willing to spend money on his daughter. Children naturally thought that their mother was good. In the following days, Rowena called Elvira to accompany her to the hospital. She called 10 times, and Elvira went and took a look once. She did not ask Zach Gilbert to go again.

Other than saying some strange things, Rowena had never done anything wrong. Elvira's vigilance also relaxed a little.

Judy's movie had already started filming in full swing. From the beginning of the casting, her movie had been working hard to promote it. It could be said to be unprecedentedly popular.

Not only were the male and female leads of her drama top-notch, but even the supporting roles were all A-listers. The small supporting roles were all veteran actors. It could be said that they had attracted enough attention and had almost become a huge hit on the Internet.

On the other hand, Elvira was much more low-key. After the production team was formed, they also registered on the official social media account and posted a message confirming the male and female leads. However, there was not much of a splash. There were dozens of comments, but most of them were bad reviews, most of them scolding the male and female leads.

Elvira did not care about that at all. She was call dealing with ree other company matters and only diverted some of her energy to the production tram.

Judy had put all her energy into her new drama. Every day, she would bring her actors to show off. She would hang on to trending topics. Her popularity was unprecedented.

No matter how enthusiastic Judy's drama was, Elvira was still cal end, he could not help but ask, "Should we increase the funding afraid the audience rate will not be high when it's released'

When Cole came to report to her, he hesitated. In the promote it? Our drama is not popular at all now. I'm

No need. Someone will promote it for us. How are Morris and Cheryl doing recently?" Elvira said nonchalantly.

"The two of them are not in a good state. They must have been influenced by the internet. When they were reading the script, they were little distracted and did not seem to have any confidence," Cole answered truthfully

"I understand. I'll talk to them." Elvira did not care about anything else. She only cared about their acting skills.

In the afternoon, Elvira asked Morris and Cheryl out for dinner

Zach also wanted to have dinner with his wife. Elvira brought him along to the appointment. Elvira arranged to have dinner at a restaurant with good privacy. She was worried that it would be more troublesome if Morris and Cheryl's fans were recognized now.

Morris and Cheryl were the first to arrive. The two of them had already met. After all, they were acting as the male and female leads. They would have to work together for a while in the future. Their expressions were the same now. They looked like they had nothing to live for.

Elvira brought Zach in. The two of them quickly stood up and greeted him. Elvira Willis gestured for the two of them to be at ease as usual.

Cheryl had already met Zach, so she took the initiative to greet him. Morris had never seen Zach before, so Elvira introduced her again. Morris was a little surprised. He did not expect Elvira to be the wife of the CEO of Gilbert Group.

After the four of them sat down, Elvira asked the waiter to bring the dishes over. The dishes were served very quickly. The few of them ate and chatted. Elvira asked Morris and Cheryl about their understanding of the script.

The two of them spoke weakly.

Elvira did not interrupt the two of them and listened attentively. Zach acted as her babysitter and took care of her eating. He did not participate in their conversation the entire time.

"Do the two of you think that this drama will definitely fail?" Elvira asked after eating the shrimp that Zach fed her.

Cheryl lowered her head and did not speak. Morris nodded.

"The two of us are outdated actors now. Not many people know us. There are even more people insulting us online now. Moreover, the two of us have not acted for a long time and our acting skills are rusty. Perhaps..." Morris could not continue. No matter how he thought about it, he felt that it was a dead end. He actually thought that he could make a comeback by seizing that opportunity. Now, it seemed that he was really too naive.

"What about you? Do you think so?" Elvira looked at Cheryl.

Cheryl raised her head and looked at her. She nodded as well. Looking at the comments online that were scolding her, she was really quite frustrated. Now, she could not calm down at all. She was very impetuous every day.

"Let me ask you, do you two have any other way out other than trying your best to act in this movie?" Elvira looked at the two of them and questioned.

Zach silently placed the peeled prawns on his wife's plate and continued to peel the next one.

Elvira's question stunned the two of them. They both looked at her.

"If it wasn't for me looking for you, how long would you have lasted? No matter how miserable you were in the future, would you still be in the same situation as before?" Elvira continued to question.

Cheryl thought about how she had almost committed suicide previously. Morris also thought about Vivian's situation. If Elvira had not found him, he might have rotted to death in the rented house.

"So, what do you guys have to worry about? Even if the movie really fails in the future, will your situation be worse than before? Do you have any other way out?" After Elvira asked, she opened her mouth and ate the prawn that Zach had sent over.

Now, the two of them had almost formed a tacit understanding. They could sense what the other party wanted to do.

There were two strange atmospheres in the private room.

On Morris and Cheryl's side, the atmosphere was gloomy. On Zach and Elvira's side, there was a warm and tacit understanding. Other than fighting to the death, what other choice do you have?" Elvira could not help but add.

When Morris and Cheryl heard Elvira's words, it was as if they were enlightened. The two of them looked at each other. 'That's right, what was there for us to worry about? We were people who had been forced to a dead end and had nothing left. We had nothing to lose. What was there to be afraid of?'

Cheryl suddenly burst out laughing. The expression on her face changed from gloomy to sunny. She picked up her chopsticks and picked up a piece of meat to eat. "I'm really out of my mind. To be honest, when I was forced to go to the company for the last time, I thought that I wouldn't be able to escape, so I jumped down from the building. Even if I die, I'll disgust those scumbags! I'm not even afraid of death. Why am I being pretentious now?"

The moment she got over it, her mood improved. Even the food in front of her became fragrant, unlike before when she really could not eat anything, and the meat did not taste good. She almost felt depressed again because of that stupid thing or the Internet.

"Ms. Willis, you're right. I've already been forced into a dead end. I've long lost everything. Even my life is in someone else's hands. I actually started to cry because of a few words online. From now on, I won't think about anything else. The only thing I want to think about is how to act in this drama. No one can affect me anymore." Morris picked up the wine glass in front of him firmly.

"It's good that you think that way. Also, look at me. Do I look like the kind of person who would fight a battle without confidence? You guys don't trust me too much. Since I said I would make you popular, I will definitely do it!" Elvira also raised the wine cup in front of her. Cheryl quickly picked it up and promised, "I will do anything in the future. I'll will think about how to act well every day." Zach also gave him a face and picked up the glass of water in front of him.

"Furthermore, my husband is the CEO of Gilbert Group. I just don't want to borrow my husband's power. If I were to borrow my husband's power, my enemies would have long been crushed like ants. We still have to rely on ourselves!" Elvira knocked his cup against Zach's.

Zach looked at her helplessly and dotingly with a smile. What a naughty little thing.

Cheryl and Morris felt the same way. They also felt that they had been foolish previously and had gone overboard. They were really muddle-headed.

After thinking it through, the two of them felt that the world was beautiful. They began to eat heartily.

The sound of an argument came from the private room next door. When Elvira heard the familiar voice, he looked at Zach.

She Got A Better Man

"You two eat too slow. Be careful when you go back. We still have something to do, so we won't be accompanying you two for now." Elvira pulled Zach and stood up to walk out. "Miss Willis, remember to settle the bill. I'm poor now," Cheryl raised her head and said innocently.

Elvira rolled her eyes at her. Cheryl laughed heartlessly.

Elvira pulled Zach to the private room next door and gently knocked on the door. Other than the two quarrels just now, the room was quiet again. They did not know what was going on. Zach did not wait for the person inside to speak and pushed the door open.

Elvira followed him in. The first thing she saw was two people sitting in a private room. One was her biological mother-in-law, who was crossing her arms and glaring at the man in front of her. She looked at the man again. He was tall and arousing. His facial features had the three-dimensional shape of a Westerner and the aesthetic of an Oriental. In short, the combination of these two beauties shocked even those who were used to seeing handsome men. So handsome!

He was nearly two meters tall, but he was not as thin as a bamboo pole. His figure was well-trained. His hair was chestnut brown, and his facial features were deep and exquisite. That person really looked like a noble from the ancient palace, full of nobility. "Mom, are you having dinner here with your friends? We heard you talking in the private room next door, so we came over," Elvira explained.

"Who is he?" Zach was not polite at all. He looked sharply at the man opposite his mother, his eyes filled with vigilance and hostility.

Skylar was a little surprised when she saw the two of them enter. Then, as if she had seen her family, she stood up and walked over to complain. "Elvira, you're finally here. Otherwise, I would have been bullied to death by this little brat!"

Upon hearing this, Zach's expression changed drastically. He almost rushed over to beat up that foreigner. Elvira quickly pulled him back and told him not to be rash.

"Mom, tell me clearly. Who is this person?" Elvira could not tell that his mother actually knew that person. In other words, Zach was blinded by his mother's words.

The man drank the coffee calmly. His expression did not change at all. He even leisurely ate the dishes. His look was annoying. 'Didn't he see that the fire here was about to burn?'

"He's Louver. He's here to give me ointment. He actually wants to increase my price again. I was very angry, so I quarreled with him." Skylar glared at the man who was actually eating. She was so angry with him just now that she stomped her feet. He actually acted as if nothing had happened.

"Mr. Louver, integrity is the most basic principle of a person. Regarding the ointment that you developed, you have already increased the price twice. Now that it's time for the transaction, you have increased the price again. Isn't that going against your integrity?" Elvira comforted Skylar and questioned Rover.

Zach also looked displeased. It was obvious that he had many opinions about that man. After all, that person had made his mother angry.

When Louver heard Elvira's words, he put down his fork and explained to her helplessly, "I didn't raise the price. It was Ms. Gilbert who wronged me"

Elvira did not expect Louver's English to be relatively standard.

Elvira and Zach looked at Skylar. Then, Skylar instantly exploded. "Oh my god, why did this kid become so bad after not Chapter 191 seeing me for a few years? Just now, he clearly asked for an exorbitant price of 200 thousand dollars. Now, he actually refused to admit it."

"Nonsense. I didn't expect you to be so immoral. If I had known earlier, I wouldn't have saved you! I already said 200 thousand dollars, but you just raised the price by 6 million dollars. How can I not be angry?" Skylar angrily repeated what had just happened. Louver looked at Elvira and Zach helplessly and explained, "I said ointment and I'll take 200 thousand dollars. She didn't even hear me finish before she exploded. 200 thousand dollars is the cost price. I did not make any money."

"You're talking nonsense. You just said..." Skylar suddenly stopped talking.

"I just said 200 thousand dollars. I was just joking when I said 6 millions dollars. After I said 200 thousand dollars, you exploded. You didn't listen to what I said and scolded me." Louver said aggrievedly, "Besides, in order to rush over early. I've been rushing to the plane. The plane meal was too disgusting. I couldn't eat. I was really hungry. You still didn't let me eat. I could only eat a few mouthfuls while you were talking. I was too hungry."

Looking at Skylar's expression, Elvira knew that it was a misunderstanding. She smiled and said, "Since it's a misunderstanding, don't be angry. Since we've met, let's have a meal together. Waiter, add a few more dishes."

Under Elvira's instructions, the three of them sat down. Louver took out the ointment, which had five tubes in total. He said, "The ingredients of this medicine are all natural. Don't worry about using them. If it's not enough, ask me for more. Ms. Gilbert saved my life. Tell me if you need any medicine in the future. I'll send it to you immediately. Ms. Gilbert's family is" my family!"

Elvira smiled and thanked him.

Louver's stomach suddenly growled. He immediately looked at Skylar.

"Everyone is hungry. Let's hurry up and eat." Elvira led everyone to eat.

Skylar did not really get angry with Louver, even though he often angered her on purpose. She was only angry at him for three minutes. She knew that he was hungry, so she kept putting food in his bowl for him to eat.

After dinner, Louver was going back to the hotel. Skylar said she was going back to the old mansion to accompany Alice, Zach, and Elvira.

On the way home, Zach was unusually silent. Elvira knew what he was thinking and did not disturb him. When they reached home, Zach hugged Elvira and asked, "Does that Louver like my mother?"

Elvira could not help but laugh out loud. She thought that he would not ask. "I think so."

It was just that Skylar probably did not think in that direction and did not notice.

It was apparent that Louver liked Skylar. He liked to tease her and make her bristle, and that was definitely what he wanted.

The way he looked at Skylar was also different. There was always joy in his eyes.

"Bastard! A toad lusting after a swan's flesh! I'll get him out of Jersten right now!" Zach was immediately enraged when he received an affirmative answer. "How dare he covet my mother? He really did not want to live anymore." Elvira quickly stopped him. "Don't do anything rash. Mommy is single now, and Louver seems to be single too. He has the right to pursue Mommy."

"How old is he? What right does he have?" Zach was furious. He could not accept a man who was only a few years older than him, coveting his mother.

"Zach, calm down. This is Mom's own emotional matter. Don't interfere. I don't think

"I know you're right, but I feel this is outrageous. That asshole wants to be my father!" Zach huffed.

Elvira laughed. "Your father is also my father-in-law, right? Anyway, you don't have to worry about that. Your mom can handle it herself."

She kissed his lips as a comfort, which really worked, and he calmed down with satisfaction.

"Let me put some ointment on you. Louver said this would speed the healing of the wound."

"Alright." Elvira nodded and hugged his neck as he carried her back to the bedroom.

Alone on the bed, Elvira had taken off all her clothes except for her panties, waiting for him to apply the medicine to her body.

Dumbfounded by this horny scene, Zach froze and breathed heavily. He had always been unable to resist her, let alone when she was so exposed. He almost couldn't control himself. There was an urge roaring in his mind, pushing him to kiss her all over so that she would moan under his body.

Zach closed his eyes to stop his thoughts from running wild. He slowly sat down and began to apply medicine to the wound on her waist.

Not only did this injury not damage the beauty of her body, but it also gave her a special temptation. Every touch was an extreme test for him.

Zach felt like he had gone control himself.

mad. He had done it with her countless times, but every time he faced her, he still couldn't

His fingertips were skating on the smooth skin of her waist. Under his soft touch, the wound got itchy and Elvira could not help but moan softly, which completely destroyed Zach's rationality. Like the gate was bombed and the flood of desire gushed out and flowed in the spillway, he completely lost control and flipped over to press her down.

Elvira was stunned, but the man's lips had already rushed down desperately. Soon, romantic sounds lingered in the room.

Louver's ointment was surprisingly effective. The wounds on Elvira's body were disappearing, so she recommended it to Cole.

A few days later, she wanted to check his injuries, who hurriedly refused. "Almost healed. There's no need to check."

"Take off your clothes and let me have a look!" Elvira insisted.

During the fire, Cole used his body to protect her against the flames so he was severely burned.

"There's really no need for that. I'm a man. It's not a big deal for me." Cole did not move.

Hearing this, Elvira knew that he didn't use the ointment at all. She jumped up madly and got up to take off his clothes. Cole was shocked and waved his hands. "I'll do it myself."

Only then did Elvira stop. Helplessly, Cole had no choice but to unbutton his shirt. The fire left conspicuous wounds on his back and made terrifying scene.

Elvira frowned fiercely. She wanted to blame him for not using the ointment, but she held it back considering his stubborn personality. Shaking her head slightly, she walked to the drawer and took out a tube of ointment. "I'll apply the medicine for you. Once a day! Come over to me every morning!"

"I'll handle it myself." Cole found it inappropriate. Elvira was already married, so he did not want to cause any rumors.

"How are you going to deal with it? You don't even have a girlfriend. Cole, go ahead, find a girl, and fall in love. There are many cute girls in this world." Elvira went to wash her hands as she prepared to apply ointment on him.

Upon hearing this, Cole said, "I'm getting married in my life."

"You're not getting married? Why? I mean, what if you meet the right one? You still have to get married, right?" Elvira was carefully applying ointment on him.

"I don't want to," Cole said firmly.

Elvira sighed and didn't bother to persuade him anymore. 'Forget it. Maybe he will change his mind when he meets a good girl.'

All of a sudden, the office door was suddenly pushed open. Elvira and Cole looked over at the same time.

It was Skylar walking in from outside. When she saw this scene, her eyes widened in shock. Then, she covered her eyes and said, "I'm sorry, I didn't see anything! I forgot to knock. I'm so sorry." As she spoke, her fingers opened a crevice, revealing her curious eye. "Oh, Skylar, take a seat. I applying the ointment for him. It'll be done soon." Elvira pulled Cole's arm and continued. This single time ran out of half of the tube. Elvira realized that she had been so inconsiderate before that she didn't provide adequate medicine to him. Given Cole's injuries, she still had to buy more from Louver.

Skylar sat on the sofa obediently as she watched Elvira carefully apply medicine to a man.

When it was done, Cole immediately put on his clothes and left the office with a blushed face.

"Are you here for lunch?" Elvira looked at the time. It was almost noon.

"Oh, right, I was so pissed off by Louver that I forgot to knock on the door. You don't mind, do you?" Skylar looked at her nervously.

"No, let's have lunch together later."

"Who was that young man just now? He was quite handsome," Skylar asked curiously.

"I... always treat him as my younger brother. The last time there was a fire, he risked his life to save me," Elvira explained. She did not want her mother-in-law to misunderstand her private life.

"I'm not interrogating you. I'm just reminding you not to let your husband see this scene. Any man would be jealous. You have to do it secretly," Skylar lowered her voice.

Elvira almost burst into laughter. "What? Seriously? You don't mind that I put medicine on another man? Are you really my mother-in-law?"

Ever since Karen saw the video of Amber sleeping with another man, she completely despised her no matter how Amber tried to please her.

Amber's decent and rich life was about to come to an end. Now, she was ordered by Karen to do all kinds of errands, no different from a maid. She was not even allowed to eat at the table.

At the start, Judy even tried to plead for mercy for her mother. But Karen was too disgusted at her daughter-in-law and determined not to be tolerant, so there was nothing she could do. As her daughter, Judy reminded Amber to endure until the Willis family was completely under her control and they would call the shots.

Amber believed that this was the light at the end of the tunnel. When she was doing the chores, she had been cursing Karen.

Chapter 195-

She couldn't wait to see her die right now.

Her daughter hadn't gained a foothold in the company, so to consolidate her position, it was also very important to get rid of Elvira. Then she planned to call Jayden again and ask him to remove Elvira this time.

Amber stubbornly believed that as long as Elvira died, her daughter's life would welcome a turn. Thinking of this, she regretted being too arrogant in the past and letting Elvira and Marsh off. Why didn't I kill them when they were young? I was so stupid! How is it possible that nobody would find my secret?

Now that Karen had completely detested her, one day she would probably suspect Judy's parentage. Feeling increasingly panicked, Amber saw that there was no one around and went upstairs to make the call.

Jayden was surprisingly patient and bearable. It had been more than half a month and Zach had long withdrawn the investigation personnel, but he still chose to hide and live on the sustenance he had stored adequately in advance.

He was not surprised to receive a call from Amber. Nobody knew better than him that Amber was extremely selfish and never considered other people's benefits. The only comfort was that she truly cared about their daughter, and that was enough for him. "What's going on?" Jayden asked coldly, holding a can of beer.

"What do you plan to do next? We can't delay any longer. As long as Elvira is still alive, our daughter will lose everything she has now." Amber couldn't endure such a miserable life anymore. She wished she could get rid of Elvira tomorrow.

"What's the hurry? I need time to perfect the plan. Once I fail again, I won't have another chance," Jayden said coldly.

How could Amber not be anxious? But hearing this, she tried to be patient and not to push him too hard. After all, they couldn't afford a failure this time.

After hanging up the phone, she was about to go out when there was a loud knock on the door outside. The maid's loud voice came, "Mrs. Amber Willis, hurry up. Come to the kitchen and prepare the luxurious collagen broth! If Mrs. Karen Willis can't get it the second she comes back, it will be your fault!"

Amber closed her eyes and took a deep breath in fury. There were so many servants in the family, but just to torture her, that old woman pushed endless backbreaking and annoying stuff to her.

She came out of the washroom and slammed the door heavily. "Can't I just use the bathroom? Am I forbidden to do that? Don't rush me!"

"This is the order from Mrs. Karen Willis. There's a toilet downstairs. Not to waste time, you're suggested to use the toilet downstairs in the future," the maid said stiffly.

Amber stared at her angrily and sneered. "What's wrong with you? You've been working here for decades. I think you should be wise. Don't let me tell you who will be in charge of this family, right? So, trust me, you don't want to offend me. That's stupid for your future." "I'll tell this to Mrs. Karen Willis word for word. As for what will happen in the future, who knows? In two years, I'll retire and go home. Mrs. Amber Willis, you should hurriedly go down and finish your chores." The maid's face was stern and stubborn. She was only loyal to Karen.

Amber was infuriated by her arrogant attitude. even a servant dared to trample her now. But there was nothing she could do to resist. After all, Karen had that video and probably let Vincent divorce her.

No matter how indignant she was, she had no choice but to go to the kitchen and cook the luxurious collagen broth for that old woman she wished she couldn't wait to kill. 'I can't do this anymore!'

Rowena used the excuse that she was going to be discharged and asked Elvira to pick her up. When she arrived at the hospital, the caregiver had already packed Rowena's things. Then she asked the bodyguards to push Rowena downstairs. 10:01 Mon, Dec Y

In the car, Elvira asked Rowena where to go. She said that Sandy wouldn't allow her to go home now, so she could only stay in a hotel and wait for Marcus to return.

When she got out of the car, feeling uncomfortable when pushed by a bodyguard, Rowena immediately waved her hand. "Elvira, you push me. I'm not used to being so close to the stranger." Elvira glanced at the bodyguards and said, "Let me do it."

Then the bodyguards let go and followed behind. Zach had instructed them to protect Elvira closely, but not as far away as before or it would be too late to move once there was an emergency. When Rowena saw that the bodyguard was following them, she complained, "Why do you always have bodyguards alone? People will rob you? Let him stay away. I feel terrible."

"They're just following us outside. They won't enter the room, and you won't see them," Elvira replied.

Rowena rolled her eyes. Anyway, Elvira would not listen to her now. But it was acceptable that these strange men wouldn't follow into the room. Reaching the door, the bodyguards all waited outside. Elvira pushed Rowena in. It was a luxurious suite with two bedrooms and a living room.

"Put my luggage in the inside bedroom," Rowena commanded Elvira.

Elvira obediently took her luggage and glasses of water on the table and said, picked up one of the glasses and gulped.

nt into that bedroom. When she came out, Rowena had already poured two must be tired now. Have some water. I'm dying of thirst anyway." Then she Elvira walked over to drink half the glass. Then she walked around to look up and down at this room. After a while, she put down the glass. "Then I'll leave first. If you need anything, call the service yourself." Rowena hurriedly reached her hand and called out, "Sit down. It's been a long time since we've had a heart-to-heart conversation. Elvira, I really want to repair our relationship."

Elvira frowned at her as if trying to tell whether it was a lie. She sat down and said, "Alright, go ahead."

"Elvira, you have to believe me. No matter what I do, it's for your good! You won't end up well with Zach. You should leave him as soon as possible to cut your losses. Trust me," Rowena advised her earnestly. Elvira suddenly felt dizzy. She raised her hand to her forehead. "My head is dizzy. What did you let me drink?"

"What? Elvira, what's wrong? I didn't give you anything! Elvira."

Elvira collapsed on the sofa unconscious. Rowena called out to Elvira again and pushed her. When she was completely motionless, she shouted, "Come out."

Two men came out of the other bedroom. Rowena ordered, "Take off her clothes and also yours. Then take some photos and videos. Remember, you can't do it for real! Understand?"

She Got A Better Man

"Got it. We have been paid, so we'll do whatever you say." The man smiled and walked toward Elvira.

Rowena pushed the wheelchair back. One of the men went to carry Elvira from the sofa to the bedroom, and their eyes were shining with amazement. Since this beautiful woman had fainted, nobody could guarantee whether they would do anything to her later in the bedroom.

Suddenly, there was a scream. A man's head was smashed by the ashtray. Blood flowed down his forehead, and he cried out in pain.

His scream shocked Rowena and the other man, who rushed over to support his partner. He looked at the woman tightly holding the ashtray and shouted, "How could you hurt him?" Rowena was also shocked and in disbelief. 'You didn't faint. How is this possible? You have drunk the water, right? It was drugged and should let you sleep for at least one whole night-

She was well-prepared. Even if Zach came, she would say that Elvira had fallen asleep and would stay here tonight before he left helplessly.

"Are you surprised that I'm fine? You're really a bunch of awful actors. Do you still think that I'm that naive girl under your control? I feel disgusted to have a mother like you!" Elvira looked at Rowena with disdain and the last little bit of kinship was about to die down. She had always known that Rowena was acting, so she just cooperated until the end. Now that she had realized the truth, her heart was crushed and she couldn't be more disappointed in this woman, who treated her stepdaughter as her biological girl and even found two men to ruin her reputation in such a despicable way.

She couldn't believe there was such an outrageous mother in this world who asked to take off her own daughter's clothes and let two naked men stay alone with her. 'Did she really not understand men and not know what would happen to her daughter? No, it was because she just didn't care about me at all.

And for what? Of course, to please her stepdaughter. To let Zach abandon her biological daughter so that her stepdaughter would take over.

Elvira was already used to her favoritism. Even now, her heart was still bleeding, but this was the last time.

Rowena quibbled eloquently, "I'm doing this for you! You have no money, no power, and no background. How could Zach love you forever? I'm just creating an opportunity for Sandy now. She deserves Zach, and they will be a perfect match! Only such a couple can last. When Sandy has a good life, she will naturally be willing to take care of you."

"Rowena, let me ask you again. If it was Sandy, would you hand her over to two strange men?" Elvira raised the ashtray in her hand and questioned.

"Impossible! How can that be? How could I let get touched by two strange men?" Rowena felt suffocated just thinking about

1. it.

"Then why me?" Elvira found this mad woman completely lunatic.

"Because you're no longer a virgin! You have already been touched by a man. What's wrong with that?" Rowena said nonchalantly.

Elvira closed her eyes in despair. Now all her questions and justifiable defenses all became self-humiliation before this ridiculous woman.

"Get her, and I'll get you paid double!" Although her trick had been exposed, thinking of how sad Sandy would be, Rowena made up her mind to destroy Elvira's image right now.
Chapter 197

The two men had been waiting for this order all the time. When they heard it, they immediately rushed over. Elvira smashed the ashtray on the uninjured man's head and kicked him out.

80%

Rowena did not expect Elvira to be so hard to deal with. She was too careless to find two ordinary men, who were no match for Elvira at all, and got knocked out on the ground so easily. At this moment, the bodyguards outside heard the commotion and rushed in. "Break these two men's limbs and throw them into the police station!" Elvira ordered harshly.

The bodyguards's eyes were cold. They broke the arms and legs of the two men right in front of Rowena. Elvira was sitting on the sofa expressionlessly as if the heart-wrenching screams had nothing to do with her.

Shocked by how vicious her daughter had been now, Rowena pointed at Elvira and questioned, "Elvira, how could you be so cruel? You can't break their arms and legs!"

"I'm cruel? Then what about you? I'm just crippling the people who attempted to hurt me. And you? You hired two men to hurt your daughter!" Elvira sneered and threw the ashtray at Rowena's feet.

Rowena was so frightened that her heart almost stopped beating. She met Elvira's cold expression and opened her mouth, but she couldn't make a sound.

"Rowena, today, I sever ties with you and you're not my mother anymore. From now on, you have nothing to do with me. I will get my lawyer to send the paper and you'd better sign it. Or, just based on what have done, you will spend the rest of your life in prison. I'm not joking. I mean every word that I say. It's a shame to have a mother like you!"

Rowena was shocked to silence. Her mind went blank, and only her daughter's disdainful gaze was lingering in her mind.

The bodyguards pulled the unconscious men out. When Elvira went out, she saw Sandy running over. Shocked by this scene, she covered her mouth in disbelief. Elvira's sharp gaze swept over her as if she was looking at trash and left indifferently.

Sandy was here to check the results. She thought that nothing would go wrong today. As long as Elvira was tainted, Zach would definitely dump her. Then, she would be able to replace Elvira when he was down.

'What happened? Why is Elvira unharmed?' She immediately rushed in and saw Rowena sitting in a wheelchair with a dejected expression.

"Mom, what's going on? Did it... fail?" Sandy looked at Rowena nervously and asked. But there was still a glimmer of hope in her heart that this was not true.

"How dare she? She wants to cut ties with me! I gave birth to her How could she do that? It's just a few photos. Is there a need to be so mad? I'm doing this for her good. She doesn't deserve Zach. Anyway, Zach will hate her and she will cry in despair! She's ingrate!" Rowena stood up angrily and walked around with her legs in cast.

She Got A Better Man

Sandy was annoyed that Rowena kept walking around in a panic So it failed. What's wrong with you? How could you be so stupid and useless? You couldn't even finish such an easy thing

"Alright, can you just stop walking? Hurry up and think of something!" Sandy said impatiently and crossed her arms on the sofa.

Rowena walked over and sat down to comfort her, "Sandy, don't be anxious. There will be a next time. She's my daughter. She wouldn't really avoid me, right?"

"Do you think Elvira is a fool? Since you failed this time, how could you have another chance? What happened just now? Tell me." Sandy looked at this stupid woman in disdain. If not for Rowena's value, she would have dumped her a long time ago.

Then Rowena recounted what had just happened. Sandy realized that they had no chance to lie to Elvira anymore. After all, even the car accident was unable to make it.

"It's all your fault. It's your fault for not treating her well before. Now she doesn't believe you at all. If you had treated her better in the past, you would have succeeded today," Sandy complained in a huff.

"But who knew that she would be suddenly so smart now? In the past, she was just a silly girl and would do whatever I said." Rowena was confused.

Sandy rolled her eyes. 'Of course, she was just a kid so she naturally followed your words. But now? You think her age is frozen?' She didn't bother to waste time here anymore. Just looking at Rowena made her feel disgusted and frustrated. So she made an excuse and left, leaving Rowena sitting there sulking.

Rowena did not believe that Elvira would really dare to cut ties with her. 'I'm still your mother! One day, you will have to come back and beg me!'

Elvira went downstairs and asked the bodyguards to deal with the two wretched men before she took a car and went straight to the company. When she arrived, she took the elevator to Zach's floor.

The secretary told her that Zach was in a meeting. Her rationality told her that she shouldn't disturb his work, but she was too sad now, so she still took out her phone and sent him a message: [Honey, I want to see you.]

Just seconds after the message, the office door was forcefully pushed open. Zach hurriedly rushed out from inside before Elvira had the time to send him a message saying that she just wanted to eat together later. When she saw him, complex feelings instantly surged into her heart. She couldn't care less and quickly walked towards him. All she wanted to do now was to hug him tightly.

Zach's heart hurt as he caught the slight tears in her eyes. He walked over and carried her to his office.

Wherever they passed, everyone automatically lowered their heads, not daring to steal a glance.

Back in the office, Zach sat on the sofa with Elvira on his lap. He asked worriedly, "What happened?"

Hearing his question filled with concern, Elvira almost burst into tears, but she hadn't had such an intense feeling before she saw him.

Then she recounted what Rowena had just done.

When the story was over, Zach's face ran cold as if the air in the office reached the freezing point. He clenched his fists tighter and his joints were cracking with an urge burning inside to kill Rowena now. Mon, De Elvira hugged him tightly. She kissed his lips and comforted him. "Don't be mad. Look at me, I'm fine, right? I'm already going to cut ties with her. I'll need your lawyer to draft a paper for me and get the bodyguards to deliver it. If she doesn't sign it, she will go to jail!" Elvira was extremely disappointed in Rowena. She did not want to have anything to do with such a cold-blooded woman anymore.

Zach's expression finally eased up a little. He immediately took out his phone and ordered the lawyer and bodyguards to settle this matter efficiently today. Otherwise, they could all get fired.

When Rowena received the agreement to sever ties with her daughter, she shook her head repeatedly in disbelief. 'I'm your mother! How dare you!'

Rowena tore the agreement and said angrily, "I won't sign it. I'll always be her biological mother. If she wants to cut ties with me, there's no way!"

"If that's the case, then wait to go to jail. Given what you did today and the confessions of those two men, I can let you stay in jail for at least ten years!" The lawyer threatened expressionlessly "Never mind. I don't believe that Elvira would send her biological mother to jail!" Rowena was not giving in.

"Then send her to the police station. I'll send the evidence over later." Not to waste time, after instructing the bodyguards, the lawyer turned around and left.

The bodyguards immediately came over to catch Rowena. Only then did Rowena know that they were serious.

"Wait a minute, I'll sign it!" She did not want to go to jail. She didn't want to end up with her everything gone.

She was starting to hate Elvira for being so serious severing ties with her. 'You didn't lose anything, but Sandy is resentful of me now. Why can't you stop? How could you be so cruel!'

The lawyer stared at Rowena signed three papers and even asked her to put her fingerprint on them. Then he reported it to Zach. After confirming that this was over, he left with the bodyguards.

Rowena was mad and in tears. 'It's not fair! I didn't do anything wrong. I was doing this for Elvira's good, but she doesn't appreciate my kindness at all! Now even my Sandy is mad at me. How does it become like this?'

Zach put down all his work to spend more time with Elvira. He tried all kinds of ways to make her happy because he could relate to the pain of being stabbed in the back by the family too well.

He took her to her favorite restaurant, and when they got home, he thoughtfully bathed her, dried her hair, and coaxed her to bed.

Enjoying the considerate service of her husband, Elvira's mood was completely lightened up. There was even a smile on her lips as she tugged at the corner of his shirt and asked, "Are you willing to do anything for me?" "Of course, as long as you're happy," Zach said without hesitation

"Then I want to hear bedtime stories. Could you?" Elvira hugged him and nuzzled his back.

Zach's body stiffened. He had never told a bedtime story before, but since his wife wanted to hear it, he was willing to do anything, let alone just tell bedtime stories. "What do you want to hear?"

"Snow White, Little Red Riding Hood, and Thumbelina," Elvira said with a smile.

But Zach had no idea about these things. However, seeing that her mood had already recovered, he wanted to cheer her up even more.

"Lie down. I need to search on my phone." Zach turned around and kissed her.

Elvira immediately nodded. Her husband's voice was comparable to a voice actor's, which was extremely pleasant to her ears. Then she lay down happily and waited agog for her husband's story...

Zach made a comfortable posture and found some fairy tales on his phone. As he half-leaned on the bed, she immediately leaned over and hugged his waist, rubbing her face against his waist and looking up at him, indicating that he could begin. Zach reached out and touched her soft hair. Then, his magnetic and deep voice sounded, "There was a little girl in the past. Her name was..."

After he finished the first story, the woman in his arms was already asleep. He put down the phone, turned off the light, and lay down carefully. Elvira moved slightly and hugged him tighter. Zach enveloped her in his arms and kissed her forehead gently. Thinking of what Rowena had done today, his face darkened. Ever since he had Elvira, he had become much more soft-hearted, which perhaps made those assholes misunderstand that he was vulnerable. He thought, 'It's time to give the Miles family a lesson. In three days, half of the partners of Liam's company had terminated their cooperation and some of them would rather pay a penalty. The Miles family's business suffered heavy losses. No matter how stupid he was, Liam couldn't be unaware that someone was deliberately messing with him behind. He must have offended some big shot.

When he went to ask his old partners why, those people all kept their mouths shut and refused to leak a reason. In the end, a business partner who had worked with him for years hinted that it was related to his family.

Liam felt a blow as if he had been hit by a bolt from the blue. Realizing what was going on, he felt light-headed and weak all over. He had clearly warned Rowena and Sandy not to act recklessly, but they still listened to no persuasion and made stupid big mistakes. It had only been three days, but so many partners had already terminated their cooperation. Things would probably be even more horrible soon. The career he had worked hard for his entire life was about to be ruined. At the thought of this, Liam felt a dull pain in his chest. Then he angrily told the driver to go home immediately.

Rowena and Sandy were both at home now. Rowena had been dizzy and uncomfortable for the past few days. Sandy was in a bad mood because their plan failed this time. She couldn't find the hope of being with Zach, so she confined herself at home all day long. When Liam came back, he asked the servants to call out Rowena and Sandy, who were still wearing their pajamas listlessly, confused that Liam suddenly returned. Sandy asked, "Dad, aren't you busy? Why do you have time to come home during the day?" As a workaholic, Liam almost spent one-third of the year on business trips and two-thirds of the time on work. The night was the only chance for him to see his family. Rowena had always been the one to deal with the family matters and made him satisfied. "Liam, you look pale. Are you feeling unwell?" Rowena asked worriedly.

"What did you do? We have become the enemy of everyone. The company is about to go bankrupt!" Liam angrily slapped the table with a grumpy expression.

Rowena frowned and asked, "Liam, tell me. What happened? Bankrupt? What happened? You've been working so hard."

"Did the two of you offend Zach Gilbert?" Liam asked with a dark expression. Only the Gilbert Group had the ability to get him deprived of all his partners.

They both felt panicked and unnatural. Rowena denied it. "No, we didn't offend him. I just... I just want my daughter to leave him."

"Dad, we can't even see Zach! How could we offend him? Sandy felt very resentful that there was no hope for her to be Zach anymore.

"You're just foolish! Zach and Elvira are a couple, and you guys are bent on breaking them up. Stop messing around. Now that the company is collapsing, your good life is about to end. Are you satisfied now? Liam was furious that the two stupid women were unaware of their mistakes and even shamelessly looked so self-righteous.

"Liam, calm down. What's going on? Tell me. What does it have to do with the company? Rowena asked in confusion

"Why don't you just understand? It's your good daughter who incited Zach to deal with us. Our family is going to be ruined" Sandy already understood what was going on. But instead of reflecting on herself, she pushed the blame on Rowena as the one who got the family implicated. "Is that so, Liam? Did Elvira really do that?" Rowena seemed to be in disbelief.

"Which one of you can tell me now what exactly did you do to offend Zach?" Liam only felt a headache coming on. Until now, these two idiots had yet to realize how serious the situation was.

"Dad, don't blame Mom. She did that for me. She just wanted to fulfill my wish." Sandy suddenly stood up and spoke for Rowena.

Touched by her girl's protection, Rowena waved her hands. "No, Liam, it's not Sandy's fault. It was all my idea. I was the one who tricked Elvira. I did it."

"So what's going on? Say it!" Liam was extremely frustrated. Even now, those two idiots were still beating around the bush. Seeing that Rowena had shouldered responsibility, Sandy sat down on the sofa and stopped talking. Anyway, it had nothing to do with her anymore. Rowena told Liam everything she had done and even added, "My plan didn't succeed. Those two men were crippled and thrown into the police station. Elvira didn't lose anything! How could she complain and let Zach deal with you?"

Liam was so shocked by her words into silence. "You... think that Elvira shouldn't be angry just because you didn't make it? So Zach shouldn't take revenge on you, right?"

"Of course. I'm her biological mother. And I didn't even hurt her this time. How could she do that?" Rowena blinked her innocent eyes in confusion.

Liam felt a wave of dizziness. Back then, he felt lucky that he found a stupid and obedient woman who had abandoned her two children and treated his kid as her own. Only now did he realize that Rowena was just purely abnormal. His stupid decision started to backlash.

She Got A Better Man

"So, you know that you're her biological mother. How could you do such a thing to your biological daughter? If it happens, have you ever thought about how much damage it would do to her?" Liam questioned helplessly.

"I just let her hug a strange man and take some photos. What harm can it do? She's making a mountain out of a molehill. I'll call her now and warn her not to blame me for being heartless if she messes around again." Rowena immediately took out her phone and wanted to call Elvira.

Recently, Elvira released her from the blocking list, and the call could go through. But when she called, it said the line was busy. Elvira called again, but the result was still the same. She felt strange because the call could still go through previously. "After what you've done, you still expect her to answer your call? You're ridiculous." Liam did not want to talk nonsense with Rowena anymore.

Now, he finally understood that there were rules in this world. If a person did not follow the rules, like how Rowena loved her stepdaughter more than her biological daughter, she would suffer a backlash.

He wanted to see Elvira personally and apologize to her. But the moment he stood up, his vision went dark, and he fainted.

Rowena and Sandy were shocked. They rushed over to support Liam and called for the servant and driver to send Liam to the hospital.

Liam was so angry that he fainted. The doctor said that he had a premonition of cerebral hemorrhage. He could not be agitated again, or he would not be so lucky next time.

When Rowena was waiting for Liam to wake up, she fainted because she was too anxious. Sandy didn't even look at Rowena when they carried her away. Her cold expression made it seem like Rowena was just a stranger to her.

She only cared about Liam, her family after all. Only an idiot like Rowena would prioritize a stranger over someone so close. When Rowena returned, she was holding a list in her hand. Her face was filled with surprise and disbelief. When Liam saw her enter, his expression did not look too good. However, he still asked dutifully, "How are you? What did the doctor say?"

Sandy also looked at her calmly, waiting for her to announce the results.

"Liam, Sandy, I... I'm pregnant. It's been almost three months." Rowena announced this result happily.

When Liam heard this, he almost spat out the water his daughter fed him. He looked stunned, while Sandy frowned. 'Pregnant?' Her gaze swept across Rowena's belly, and a trace of disgust flashed across her eyes. "You? Pregnant? You're 50 this year. If you're pregnant, Would it be safe for the child to be born?" Liam had never planned to have another child.

He felt it was enough for him to have two children. Moreover, he was no longer young and did not have the desire to raise another child.

"The doctor said that the child is very healthy. As long as I'm careful, it will be fine. Liam, we finally have our child. I'm so happy." Rowena's excitement was obvious. She rushed over excitedly and hugged the half-lying Liam. Liam originally wanted to discuss aborting this child with her. He did not want to have another child, but when he saw how excited she was, he could not bear to.

'After all, this woman is quite good to me and treats my children as her own. If she's willing to have a child, so be it,' Liam thought.

He helplessly raised his hand and touched Rowena's head. He did not mention aborting the child again.

Sandy got pushed away. Her eyes were full of unconcealable anger and disdain. But it quickly disappeared. She turned around and put the bowl aside.

Elvira was not surprised to receive a call from Liam. 'This man is more reasonable than the women of the Miles family; she thought.

She picked up the phone. "Hello, Mr. Miles. What can I do for you?"

Since she had cut ties with Rowena, she felt instead of calling him by his name, it was more appropriate for her to call him Mr. Miles.

Liam was also stunned by how she addressed him. He said, "Elvira, I already know what your mother did. I want to bring her and Sandy to apologize to you. When is it convenient for you?"

"Rowena and I have already severed our mother-daughter relationship. From now on, I no longer have anything to do with her, let alone the Miles family. There's no need for us to meet in the future. If there's nothing else, I'm hanging up." Elvira made things clear. When Liam heard her words, he felt his blood boil again. 'Cut ties? Why didn't Rowena tell me?'

"Elvira your mother has gone too far this time. Because of this, I'm so angry that I ended up in the hospital now. I feel very sorry. I also hope you can give us a chance to apologize. I'll discipline your mother in the future and not let her do such a ridiculous thing again," Liam said quickly.

Elvira hesitated and asked, "Is there something you haven't told me? If not, I don't want to waste time with you."

Liam looked ashamed. He could only tell her that Zach banned his company.

"Elvira, I know that we've let you down this time. I'm willing to bring the two of them to apologize to you. The company is my life's work. Please, please let me go. I'm so sorry..." Liam could not continue. His voice was a little choked.

Elvira frowned when she heard his words. She thought about it and said, "There's no need to apologize. I hope the Miles family will not appear in front of me again. Even if we happen to meet, you can pretend you don't know me. If you can do it I'll tell Zach about your company."

"Elvira, this..." Liam felt his heart turn cold. He could feel that Elvira was angry this time.

"If you can't do it, I won't interfere with what my husband wants to do." Elvira's tone was so cold that it seemed to have frozen. Just hearing it made one feel cold.

"I promise you, I'll keep them under check. Elvira, thank you." Liam sighed helplessly. He knew there was no turning back now that things had already come to this.

He only hoped that Rowena and Sandy would not be foolish enough to provoke Elvira and Zach again.

After Liam ended the call with Elvira, he sternly warned Rowena and Sandy not to look for Elvira again, let alone find trouble with her. If anyone disobeyed him, they would be chased out of the Miles family. He meant what he said.

Rowena and Sandy were still a little afraid of Liam. They knew he was a little rigid and could do whatever he said, so they could only agree.

Only then did Liam feel more at ease.

When Elvira had lunch with Zach, she told him about the Miles family and asked him to let them off for the time being.

price. Mon,

"Just leave the Miles family 20% of the original business." Elvira naturally wouldn't let bygones be bygones. She wouldn't allow the Miles family to plot against her and live a good life as if nothing had happened. The Miles family had to pay the
