

Chapter 0063

Chapter 0063

Renea figured that if the lawyer was recommended by someone, she was close to, it would be more reliable.

She had no idea why, but she trusted Richard with all her heart, just like how she trusted Aron.

Perhaps it was because Richard had trusted her unconditionally at the concert then.

Richard: "Why are you calling me Mr. White call me Richard."

Renea: "..."

Without another word, Richard sent Ethan Anderson's phone number to Renea.

Then he called Ethan and told him about Renea's situation. Not only that, he also asked Ethan to contact Renea.

He was afraid that Renea would not ask Ethan for help.

He had finally found himself useful in front of Renea, so he had to grasp it.

Ethan hung up the phone with a smile and looked at Kevin saying, "Richard seems to be very eager when it comes to the girl you like. He even asked me to help her."

"Hmm!" Kevin replied faintly, but his head was lowered as he continued to play with his phone.

He had been filming for two days without touching his mobile phone. If Ethan had not come to him today, he would not have known such a big thing had happened.

“Has everyone become so heartless now? Or is it that all of you have not graduated from primary school? If you don’t know the full picture, don’t randomly make any comments. Regarding the online slander against me, I have turned it over to my lawyer. I didn’t expect that looking up to a talented actor would bring her trouble. What happened to the Internet nowadays?”

There seems to be nothing wrong with a Twitter post that seemed like Kevin was just wanting his emotions, but the photo attached was a close-in photo of Renea at the group performance last time.

Kevin was a famous director in the entertainment circle, and he had the title of the top director. Naturally, many people had followed his Twitter account.

With the words and the picture, people naturally understood who he was speaking for.

When Ethan saw Kevin's Twitter post, a strange look appeared on his face.

Kevin never cared about anything other than himself, hence he couldn’t believe that Kevin was speaking up for a young girl.

What was even more shocking was that Daron, the president of the White industry and the son of the prestigious wealthy family in K city, the White family, has pressed the like button on Kevin's Twitter post.

All of a sudden, the people in the entertainment circle and the business circle all re-posted Aron and Kevin's Twitter posts.

"Damn it!"

Richard swore again. 'Why were there so many men who were pursuing Renea?' he thought.

Leon Morris, who had seen the news, was now beaming with Joy. He then put on a flattering smile and dialed Renea's number.

"Renea, come back for dinner this week. I will ask the nanny to prepare your favorite food."

His attitude was completely different from before.

"I had a lot of classes lately. I still have to go to the art class." Renea, however, coldly refused.

Of course, she knows the purpose of Leon asking her to go home for dinner.

"Well, alright. Next time, when you are free, then. If you need anything, just tell me. Don't let anyone bully you, okay?"

Renea was now like a cash cow and an important bargaining chip for Leon in his career advancement.

He didn't expect that stupid adopted daughter in the eyes of the world would have a connection with the White family and the Kingston family.

The wealthy families were also divided into various ranks, while the White family and Kingston families were at the highest rank, the top of the pyramid.

They were the noblest family in K City. Leon figured that if he could build ties with one of them, it would be the glory of the Morris family.

No wonder his father valued this fake daughter so much. It turned out that he already knew what Renea was capable of.

Not only did Aron publicly admit that he was Renea's friend, but even Kevin had come out to back Renea up. Even Daron from the White family in K City liked the tweet and expressed his support.

Even if Leon did not do anything, the Morris family already got famous in Z City.

The merchants who had been unwilling to cooperate with them before were now looking for an investment one after another.

Leon was struggling with new play investments. solve his big problem.

Seeing that Renea had gained the upper hand and was highly valued by Aron and Kevin, Kailey was so furious that she was about to explode with anger.

'Why?'

'She was just one step away from making Renea suffer.'

But why was Renea so lucky? Not only did she get to know Aaron, but Kevin also had his eyes on her.

Kailey reasoned that there was no way she could allow Renea and Kevin to collaborate. Otherwise, Renea would be even harder to handle after her debut.

Kailey clenched her fists tightly. Her piercingly cold eyes were pulled with bloodlust and killing intent.

"Hello, Miss Morris. I'm Richard's lawyer Ethan Anderson. I have put together a lawsuit on your case. Would you like to take a look?" Ethan said on the phone.

"There is no need. You can send the lawyer's letter to Tia directly. Just send me a digital copy of the lawyer's letter."

There was no need for her to doubt Ethan. If she suspected Ethan, she would not have spoken to Richard from the beginning.

"Okay!"

Ethan sent the digital copy of the lawyer's letter to Renea. As soon as Renea received it, she immediately posted it online and announced a libel suit against Tia online.

With Renea's tough attitude coupled with Aron and Kevin's clarification, the public opinion was one-sided.

"I didn't expect Tia to be so vicious that she used her father's illness to seek sympathy and frame her classmate."

"This woman is good at acting. I almost believe her. Fortunately, I didn't donate money to her. Maybe her father, illness, was made up by her just
