Chapter 226 The Mean Nurse

Hearing his words, another little girl in the orphanage broke free from Jada's hold. Then, she stood in front of the man angrily and shouted, "Bad guy, I won't allow you to badmouth Luisa!"

The little girl's retort made Kellan so angry that he raised his hand to slap her.

However, before he could do anything, he was stopped!

At that time, Trevor couldn't control his anger anymore as the guy not only insulted the children in the orphanage, but also slandered Luisa.

Grasping Kellan's wrist firmly, he shouted angrily, "You bastard! How dare you raise your hand to a child?"

Kellan glanced at Trevor with disdain and said, "You are also with them, aren't you? No wonder you look like a poor loser. All of you are just beggars! Let me warn you something. Don't even try to cheat my money!"

Since Kellan was so rude and unreasonable, Trevor got very angry.

At that time, Trevor raised his other hand and opened his mouth to say something.

In fact, as he had just made several phone calls to Luisa, his phone was still in his hand.

However, Kellan misunderstood when he saw the scene in front of him.

"You asshole, are you trying to call the police? Give me the phone!"

While talking, Kellan grabbed Trevor's collar and tried to snatch away his phone.

Of course, Trevor couldn't let that happen. Therefore, he broke free from his grip immediately.

Subconsciously, he held the phone tightly and hit Kellan's back hard two times.

Among the onlookers, some people rushed towards them and pulled them apart when they saw them fighting.

A middle-aged man spoke his opinion which aroused everyone's anger.

"Damn it! How does this kind of person become a manager? The orphans came here to raise funds and they didn't ask for his money. How could he call them beggars?"

"You are right. The manager is the one who did wrong. He even tried to slap a child! He is not a man!"

When Kellan heard the people criticizing him, he got scared and ran back to the shop quickly.

Nonetheless, before he ran, he didn't forget to threaten Trevor. "Don't try to run away. I'll ask someone to kill you!"

Without saying anything, Trevor just stared at him coldly. Kellan really pissed him off.

After staring at him for a while, Trevor decided to settle with him later.

Now, the only thing that concerned him was Dilan's injury.

Bending down to his level, he asked, "How are you feeling now? Does it hurt?"

Even though his face had turned a little pale, Dilan acted tough and said, "No, it doesn't hurt."

However, his expression proved him wrong.

After all, tears welled up in Dilan's eyes and he looked as if he was in pain.

Seeing the kid, Trevor felt sorry for him.

Why did a sensible kid like him have to suffer these kind of hardships?

In an instant, Trevor picked up little Dilan in his arms and said to the others, "Jada, please take the other children back. Luisa and I will take Dilan to the hospital."

After saying that, Trevor went straight to the parking lot.

It was very close to the city hospital, and he drove at full speed to get there as fast as possible.

A few minutes later, they arrived at the hospital.

With Dilan still in his arms, Trevor rushed into the emergency room.

At the front desk, a nurse was sitting while swiping her phone absentmindedly.

In a hurry, Trevor went to the desk and said anxiously, "Hello nurse, the child is injured. Can you please arrange treatment for us as soon as possible?"

However, the nurse continued to swipe her phone indifferently. Then, she raised her eyebrows and said casually, "Go to the registration to queue up and make an appointment with the doctors of the Orthopedics Department."

In her eyes, a poor man like Trevor wasn't worth being treated seriously.

When Luisa saw that Dilan became weaker than before and cold sweat started to form on his forehead, she begged, "Nurse, please look at this child. He is feeling so unwell right now. Please help us arrange emergency treatment now."

No matter how Luisa begged, the nurse didn't move at all.

She said indifferently, "The emergency treatment needs more money."
