

Blessed 70

Chapter 70 Maybe It's A Blessing In Disguise

With a helpless look on his face, Trevor turned to look at his sister, who was giving off a sense of oppression.

Technically, it was quite embarrassing.

He felt ashamed because it was true that he was pushed into the water by the girls. If this news was spread out to the world, it would be too embarrassing for him.

In fact, that was the reason Trevor didn't dare to make a sound. He wanted to get out of the water only after they left the place.

Much to his dismay, these people were waiting for him in the lobby and Evie even called him when he didn't want to get out.

Obviously, all the tycoons were stunned!

Did that mean Mr. Sonderson was the one who was soaked in the water?

That meant he was the mysterious new boss of the Willard Villo, the younger brother of the richest woman in York, and the inheritor of the Sonderson family which was omnipotent and benevolent all over the world?

Everyone turned to look at each other blankly as they all started to realize the situation. Then, all of them rushed towards the fountain and helped Trevor get out of the water.

While twisting his wet clothes, Trevor glanced at the tycoons.

All of them lowered their heads as no one of them dared to look at Trevor.

Of course, Evie's face was absolutely gloomy. In a cold voice, she asked, "What the hell is going on here?"

As Evie was asking, Trevor had no choice but to tell her the whole story in detail.

How did Selma hit him with her car and push him into the water...

With a helpless look on his face, Trevor turned to look at his sister, who was giving off a sense of oppression.

Technically, it was quite embarrassing.

He felt ashamed because it was true that he was pushed into the water by the girls. If this news was spread out to the world, it would be too embarrassing for him.

In fact, that was the reason Trevor didn't dare to make a sound. He wanted to get out of the water only after they left the place.

Much to his dismay, these people were waiting for him in the lobby and Evie even called him when he didn't want to get out.

Obviously, all the tycoons were stunned!

Did that mean Mr. Sanderson was the one who was soaked in the water?

That meant he was the mysterious new boss of the Willard Villa, the younger brother of the richest woman in Jork, and the inheritor of the Sanderson family which was omnipotent and benevolent all over the world?

Everyone turned to look at each other blankly as they all started to realize the situation. Then, all of them rushed towards the fountain and helped Trevor get out of the water.

While twisting his wet clothes, Trevor glanced at the tycoons.

All of them lowered their heads as no one of them dared to look at Trevor.

Of course, Evie's face was absolutely gloomy. In a cold voice, she asked, "What the hell is going on here?"

As Evie was asking, Trevor had no choice but to tell her the whole story in detail.

How did Selma hit him with her car and push him into the water...

Turning to look at every big tycoon present, Evie asked indifferently, "So, is this the 'good daughter' that you want me to introduce to my brother?"

Making eye contact with each and every one of the tycoons, she questioned them in a more serious tone.

"Well, Kolton and you guys, how do you plan to deal with this matter?"

Even though her voice wasn't loud, it was filled with deterrence.

All the tycoons here were powerful figures in the whole Jork.

However, at this moment, all of them were covered with sweat. In an instant, they hurriedly bent down and apologized.

"Right... I apologize on behalf of my daughter. I'm so sorry, Mr. Sanderson. My daughter will be at your disposal, Mr. Sanderson."

Truth be told, Kolten and the others were terrified as the thought of their business going bankrupt flashed through their minds.

The only thought running in their minds was, 'It is all over...' It was needless to say that the Sanderson family had an omnipotent power!

The way her father was trembling in fear made Selma and the others scared more than before.

The makeup they were wearing was now ruined because of the tears. Immediately, they knelt on the ground and begged for mercy.

In an instant, the atmosphere of the hotel became very gloomy. Seeing the scene in front of him, Trevor shook his head helplessly.

Originally, he thought that it was not a big deal since he was just soaked in the water.

Turning to look at every big tycoon present, Evie asked indifferently, "So, is this the 'good daughter' that you want me to introduce to my brother?"

Making eye contact with each and every one of the tycoons, she questioned them in a more serious tone.

"Well, Kolton and you guys, how do you plan to deal with this matter?"

Even though her voice wasn't loud, it was filled with deterrence.

All the tycoons here were powerful figures in the whole York.

However, at this moment, all of them were covered with sweat. In an instant, they hurriedly bent down and apologized.

"Right... I apologize on behalf of my daughter. I'm so sorry, Mr. Sanderson. My daughter will be at your disposal, Mr. Sanderson."

Truth be told, Kolten and the others were terrified as the thought of their business going bankrupt flashed through their minds.

The only thought running in their minds was, 'It is all over...' It was needless to say that the Sanderson family had an omnipotent power!

The way her father was trembling in fear made Selma and the others shiver more than before.

The makeup they were wearing was now ruined because of the tears. Immediately, they knelt on the ground and begged for mercy.

In an instant, the atmosphere of the hotel became very gloomy. Seeing the scene in front of him, Trevor shook his head helplessly.

Originally, he thought that it was not a big deal since he was just soaked in the water.

However, a thought flashed through his head when he glanced at his sister's cold face and the people in the hall, who were trembling in fear.

Shaking his head, he thought to himself, 'If I don't find a way to punish them, my sister will definitely punish them severely. When she found out that Grant insulted me in the tennis court, she made her family go bankrupt in a matter of seconds.'

Thinking of his sister's temper, Trevor sighed in his heart and spoke.

"Well...you said they will be at my disposal, so... Sister, there is a hot spring bath in this hotel, right? I'll take them there."

The whole time, he was looking at the girls, who were shivering.

When Evie heard his words, the sternness in her eyes disappeared.

She asked in confusion, "Yes, but why?"

Nonetheless, she called a waiter to show Trevor the way.

The bosses, who were standing in a daze, heaved a sigh of relief after some time.

A few of them exchanged glances with each other and gave their daughters hints by using all kinds of small movements.

What kind of punishment was he going to do?

If only their daughter could hook up with Mr. Sanderson, they would get an opportunity to make their family richer.

Maybe they could get something good out of this unfortunate situation in the near future. When that happened, they would surely have a closer relationship with the Sanderson family which would make them prosperous and powerful.