Chapter 103 - Elemental Zone?

Zack awoke early the next morning.

"Sigh," I sighed. As soon as I had completed the cultivation of lightning energy. I have a strong connection to the element of lightning. Nonetheless, filling half of the Dantian took more than an hour. This is a really poor piece of land.

At the Mountain Liz, I felt at ease. Perhaps it's because the area is densely populated by lightning.

Through the nearby window, Zack gazed at the sky. His eyes gleamed with eagerness. In his heart, he made a commitment. "I'll soon leave this location and travel the world at my leisure."

These are simply trying times. When comparing myself to my classmates. I'm more gifted than they are. However, my teacher's statement makes it plain. It's a desolate landscape.

And he doesn't have high hopes for this region. "So, what he's saying is that there are Seeds in his region who are far stronger than me," I thought in my mind.

I should not rely on the teacher to provide me with materials. I feel obligated to do something. As I was pondering the situation. My thoughts came up with a brilliant notion. "Why don't I inquire about it with Ms. Tracy?" I had a thought in my head.

Ms. Tracy arrived a few hours later, exactly like she had done the day before. I climbed aboard the four-wheeler. She started to drive. She sees Zack is unusually silent on the drive there. He seemed to be thinking about something, she believes. As a result, she chose to wait till he could inquire himself.

As time passed, I made the decision to ask her. But I don't want to be that forthright. I'm going to have to ask her some questions. Which appears to be a common theme. I can't openly inquire about lightning with her.

I shifted my gaze to her a few moments later.

"Ms. Tracy, you discussed unique zones to me yesterday," I said. Hearing it piqued my interest, and I wanted to learn more." "Is that particular zone is the only option for warriors?" I continued. Is there nowhere else for us to go?

I tried to be as honest as possible with my expression. I don't think she'll doubt me.

Listening to Zack's query. She gave a kind smile. So, he appears to be thinking of training zones. As Zack had predicted. She didn't notice anything odd about his question. Any new fighter was curious about the outer world.

She, on the other hand, knew very little. However, when compared to Tier-8 city dwellers. She is a wealthy woman. Her knowledge is far superior to that. Returning to Zack's query. She had heard about it herself.

She have never been to such sites. Her ambition is to improve her performance at the Academy.

So that she can receive a landslide of votes from the Academy's upper echelon. Only then will she be able to enter the SPECIAL ELEMENTAL ZONE. Fire is her element. Her understanding of the fire element, however, is limited. She hopes to go there and make a breakthrough.

Ms. Tracy considered Zack. She, on the other hand, sank into deep thought. She is pondering her predicament. "SIGH," I sighed as I noticed her.

"It appears that everyone has their fair share of problems to deal with," I reflected. With a shake of my head, I expressed my dissatisfaction with the situation. "Ms. Tracy...MS. Tracy..." I whispered softly.

She snapped back to reality when she heard that. She turned to face him and inquired, "Are you asking about other training zones?" I simply nodded in agreement.

She went on to say, "Zone of Elemental Power. It's a unique location for the Warrior. They can cultivate there more quickly. There were numerous valuables in that location as well. People frequently visit the location in quest of herbs and elemental flowers, in order to achieve a breakthrough."

"People can increase their grasp of the element if they stay there long enough," she continued.

My heart starts to race when I hear that. As I had predicted. I'm hoping for a spot for the lightning element. My intuition told me to inquire about the lightning Elemental Zone. With considerable trouble. I managed to keep my cool. "It's only another year." Everything will be OK, then," I reassured myself.

I get dreams about that inheritance test from time to time. It's as though my dreams are constantly reminding me of it. And I had a strong desire to not squander any time.

However, I now have some important information. In my current situation, visiting that location is difficult. But what about the Treasure of Lightning? Apart from the lightning affinity stone, I'm certain. Every element has its own set of treasures.

Zack was ecstatic with it.

"So, what's your element?" Ms. Tracy inquired as she turned to face him.

"Here we go," I thought to myself after hearing that. Sure, there are two ways to have a conversation. I'm not always able to get responses from her. Without responding to her inquiries. So, what should I say? In my head, I wondered.

I came with a lovely lie. The soil nutrients in the Black Forests are abundant. As a result, the Earth elemental in this location is quite high.

I lied to her when I stated, "I'm an earth element user." Hearing that, she nodded. It's not a good idea to tell lies. But after this trip to the Black Forest, I'm not going to see her. So it didn't bother me.

We exchanged a few words. Before she left me off at the same area a few hours later.

I got out of the car and began walking forward. She had warned me about the level 2 queen the day before. So I'm not going near that colony. I chose to continue on the path I had taken the day before.

The route leads to a source of food. I'm not sure what kind of food they're eating. I'm hoping to find more level class Monsters. If I get there, I'm confident that I'll be able to break through in my physical strength. Before I complete my Elemental Cultivation.

I arrived at the location a few hours later. Scouting Ant Monster was not something I expected to see. I felt a small amount of pressure.. I remarked, "It's a Peak Class 1 Monster."
