

Bloodline 1121

Chapter 1121 Operation Begins

"I and Ria will handle the other side of the area we were designated to," Teemee said as well.

"Glade and I will prevent the Slum dwellers from getting killed before you guys are done with rounding them up," Falco voiced out.

"Be careful because some of them may be in disguise..." Gustav reminded.

"Roger that," Glade stated.

"Aildris will keep an eye out for what anyone may have missed just like Elevora... you two are in charge till we're done with handling the slum dwellers issue," Gustav announced.

Everyone nodded in response.

"E.E," Gustav turned to stare at E.E while calling out to him.

"Let's do this," He added.

E.E's face beamed up with a smile as tears gathered in his eyes.

"Hnm, let's do this," E.E voiced while wiping his eyes.

It was the first time anyone was seeing E.E get so emotional but they could all understand what this meant for him.

"Gotta head to the control room for last minute briefing... see you guys soon," Gustav voiced out before walking away.

Everyone was fired up at this point. They were all ready to get into Aribia city and apprehend Genxodus members.

"We didn't tell him about the competition with the other squad," Falco reminded the rest of the teammates.

"Oopps," Glade exclaimed.

"Well, its not necessary... knowing Gustav, he wouldn't let our squad get restrained," Falco stated.

The others agreed with his exclamation.

The plan now was to protect the slum dwellers by getting every single one of them out of there so they don't get killed by the other MBO officers due to being a bloodline dampening beacon.

So far Gustav had decided to handle most of the movement because he knew he wouldn't be affected by the bloodline dampening effect.

'Leave the ones that make you feel like your bloodline abilities have been reduced to me...' Angy wondered why Gustav would say this.

She had no idea that Gustav knew he would be unaffected, hence his decision.

E.E didn't care about the upper districts since they were the ones that held the power in Aribia city and mostly to blame for the state of the slum dwellers.

They were only concerned about saving the slum dwellers. Gustav didn't count on the fact that he would be able to save everyone of them but he told E.E they would do their best.

--

"Officer Crimson do not forget your squad is in charge of the northern and North East front of the slum areas," Officer Colt stated.

"Understood... however, if our targets transverses beyond we shall not debate hunting them down. We will do our jobs and make sure none gets away," Gustav responded.

"You are not allowed to go beyond your designated area," Officer Colt yelled.

"Understood. Like I said before, if our targets transverse from our area into another, we shall not hesitate in giving chase," Gustav stated once more.

"Officer Crimson you are not allowed to..."

"Commander Colt, had I chosen to follow your every order when we first arrived here, millions would be dead by now," Gustav interrupted with these words.

Officer Colt mouth hung wide open as Gustav's words pricked into him.

"Be grateful I chose to give credit to this operation which prompted me to investigate and figure out their ploy. I could have easily turned the whole thing against you three to make it like you're not properly doing your jobs," Gustav totally ignored the fact that other squad leaders had also gathered here and voiced out lengthily.

"Think twice before trying to set a chain of commands that may restrict my functionality... think twice," Gustav added.

The whole place turned silent as everyone stared at Gustav with a look of intimidation.

Gustav feat at the conventional centre had already spread across the camp and everyone was well aware that he figured out the ploy due to him disobeying orders.

Not only did he figure it out, he was also responsible for preventing it and also figuring out information that would have ruined the operation.

Some of the squad leaders felt the commanders should be praising him instead of trying to restrict him.

"Ahem? cough cough Officer Crimson you make a good point but let's try to be civil in today's operation," Officer Darmark broke the silence after a while.

"It is understandable if unexpected situations leads to you going beyond the designated area," Officer Shuri added.

Both commanders had given their go ahead at this point subtly stating that they wouldn't interfere in Gustav's actions.

"Much appreciated commanders," Gustav nodded.

The commanders went on to mention a couple of things and added some not so new information to the mix.

After a couple of minutes it was finally time for the operation to begin.

#####

The entire Aribia City was suddenly thrown into chaos as MBO officers in the hundreds suddenly appeared within the city.

They placed charges on different spots in the city and blasts began to ring out.

It had already been broadcasted across the city for the civilians to stay indoors after the media called a state of emergency.

This announcement wasn't one that would necessarily affect the slum dwellers as they didn't even have a proper place to stay.

They proceeded to hide out in any place they could frantically so as to avoid getting into trouble.

The civilians were unaware that the MBO and the government didn't really care about their lives here. They were just after putting an end to the Genxodus so they were ready to sacrifice the civilians if need be.

"These charges are set to make the dimensional frequency underground unstable..." Gustav explained to his subordinates as they arrived in their designated area.

Their squad were not given these charges because their designated area had no Genxodus base underneath so they didn't need to use it.

However, Gustav was briefed on every single detail for this operation so he knew.

The charges would have been useful during his endeavour to Capital City but since the location where the nanites were planted was not inhabited by any living creature, it would not have the desired effect.

The charges would make it so the underground area which existed in another dimensional frequency was unstable for living creatures but it couldn't really affect the structural build.

The Genxodus members would have no choice but to crawl out of their holes when the charges were detonated above them.

Booom! Booom! Booom! Booom!

The sound of multiple explosions rocked the city depicting that the operation had officially began.

Sounds of screams reverberated across the vicinity and panic spread like wild fire.

-"We're all gonna die!"

-"Ahhh! I can't breathe,"

-"Cough! Cough! The walls are getting thinner,"

All across the underground bases in Aribia city, Genxodus members scurried back and forth as they were plagued with all sort of inconveniences.

"The MBO is attacking us!"

"Everyone get a protective suit or weapon and get to the surface! We must escape!"

Announcements were ringing across the place as the thousands of the members underground raced towards the various exit points.

-

Within a dark space.

- "We can't stay here either,"

- "No we can't! How did they find us!"

- "We did not see this coming,"

- "This is very bad!"

The vicinity quaked multiple times as rippling tears appeared in mid air.

"Relax leaders... we shall leave here through the emergency exit. We shall come back from this and build back stronger than ever before," The main leader voiced out with an authoritative tone.

- "The MBO must have put preventive measures in place,"

- "We have to make sure we're not caught,"

"We won't be caught... The bloodline dampening initiative should hinder them to an extent. If we play our cards well we can even deal damage while leaving,"

In another part of Aribia City, a silver blur blasted across the city multiple times with intense speed that spread a cloud of dust across everywhere it phased through.

Another brownish blur could also be spotted, speeding through the slum areas of Aribia city.

Both were so fast that the civilians would only see a cloud of dust before noticing they were in a different place.

"What is going on?"

A lot of them wondered after noticing they appeared before a massive purplish swirling vortex.

"Get in," A compelling voice lingered in the air but they were unable to see the figure that owned it.

They found themselves subconsciously moving towards the vortex and entering.

"That's already over a thousand in less than a minute," E.E who stood behind the vortex couldn't help but display a look of admiration.

Gustav and Angy had been speeding back and forth across the slums, bringing slum dwellers for him to spatially transport just like they planned.

He hadn't expected them to be this quick in delivering. It was even crazier that this wasn't their fastest speed. They would cause more ruckus if they were to move at their fastest while carrying people.

Chapter 1122 Bloodline Dampening Beacons

Gustav was currently speeding across? the slums while his right arm enlarged.

[Size Manipulation Has Been Activated]

Swwoosshhhhh~

As his body created afterimages across the slums he would stretch forth his massive arm and grab slum dwellers one after the other.

His right arm became as large as a building in a bit and he had gathered more than fifty slum dwellers in the palm of his hand at once as he dashed back towards E.E's location.

Gustav's right arm was stretched to the sky so it looked like a massive boulder was flying across the slums whenever he sped back and forth due to the size manipulation.

Carrying these many people didn't hinder Gustav's speed due to his physical strength but Angy was not equipped with the same ability so she was not able to carry as many people.

She would take three at a time towards E.E and due to her speed she was moving four times faster than Gustav.

"I feel a restriction in my bloodline within this area," Angy reported as she arrived within a vicinity in the slums.

"Leave there, I'll take care of it," Gustav replied through the comms.

Swwoosshh~

Gustav soon arrived in the area, Angy had just left and proceeded to sweep the elderly and younger ones into his palm.

They were still unaware of what was going on and didn't even get the chance to ask before they found themselves before a violet colored vortex.

Gustav was not in anyway affected by the blood dampening beacons just as he had suspected.

The MBO managed to prevent a full spread of consumable items containing the bloodline dampening seeds but a couple of people were still affected.

It was approximated that about 30% of areas in Aribia City had consumed edibles with the bloodline dampening seeds so the slums would take up at least 20% of that.

There were still sounds of blasts going off in the city and in the next few minutes a bunch of people began to appear all across the city.

Zing~ Zing~ Zing~ Zing~

They were appearing with a flash of white light and they all seemed to be having the same emblem on their outfits.

It was immediately deciphered that these were Genxodus members who had been hiding underground with the different dimensional frequency.

Sounds of battles rang out as fights broke out between the MBO and the Genxodus in different areas.

As these members appeared, some of them were equipped with powerful tech weapons and some made use of the Genxodus mech that gave them strength to battle Mixedbloods.

- "Don't kill them unless absolutely necessary,"

One of the commanders broadcasted this across the general comms channel.

Swwoosshhh~

Gustav was speeding to another location that was deemed to be filled with bloodline dampening beacons once more after Angy reported it.

The moment he arrived in front of the demolished looking structure...

Bang!

A loud crash rang out and he spotted two figures in MBO outfits flying towards him uncontrollably.

Gustav moved out of the way and they both crashed into another desecrated looking building on the left.

A ten feet tall silver colored mech appeared from the direction they were blasted from.

its eyes were glowing with an intense purplish color and its armor looked extremely sturdy.

The MBO officers that had just been blasted away, struggled to stand to their feet as their faces shown confusion while they tried channeling their bloodline.

The Genxodus member controlling the mech began moving towards them and the officers turned to the side.

From the massive entrance to the desecrated building, they could spot around ten people all clad in dirty looking wears, cooped up within.

"It is because of them! Let's kill them," One of the officers realised, their strength had been reduced because of the slum dwellers hiding within the building.

Fwwhiii~

The mech leaped upwards and landed right in front of the hole.

It proceeded to throw out a rocket fisted punch at both officers.

Fwwhwooommm~

The punch packed such a force that it ripped the grounds in the vicinity open as an outburst of flames spread.

Both officers Activated their bloodline energies once more to protect themselves.

"Shit!"

They voiced at the same time as they realised with their halved strength they were unable to get away in time.

Boom!

Upon the explosion of the surroundings, the place was looming even more desecrated than before.

The Genxodus mech operator could see that it had destroyed the MBO officers it was battling since there was not a single soul in front of him.

He was prepared to leave when he noticed figures on a rooftop about three hundred feet ahead.

Gustav had managed to get the three MBO officers out of the way before they could get obliterated by the attack.

"We're alive," Both of them voiced out after noticing they appeared far from the AOC.

"You're welcome," Gustav who stood in their midst, let go of their clothes as he voiced out.

"Huh?" Before they could respond to him, he disappeared amidst an outburst of wind.

Fwwoohmmm~

Gustav suddenly appeared right before the mech with his fist outstretched.

The mech operator had been completely taken by surprise as Gustav's enlarged right fist appeared before its chest.

Gustav's planted his right foot in front of his left strongly as he threw his arm forward with force.

Bang!

A louder crash than before rang out as the mech was sent flying straight into the sky while the ground caved in.

Boom~

A mini crater was instantly formed from the force of Gustav's punch spreading across the vicinity.

Thooommm~

Gustav proceeded to leap into the sky in the next instant before the mech operation had time to gather his thoughts.

Gustav had arrived right above the mech which was spinning in mid air uncontrollably after the punch.

"Eh? Eh?" The mech operator activated the thrusters in a bid to get away but two massive fists coated in milky colored light were already descending towards it.

Bang!

Another loud crash rang out as the operator felt like he was hit by the force of ten moving mountains.

It fell from the air like a dysfunctional aircraft and landed on the hard ground.

Bang!

The ground caved in once more as its impact sent shockwaves across the vicinity.

'He isn't affected by the bloodline dampener...?' These were the Genxodus member last thoughts before he fell unconscious.

Gustav landed right before the battered body of the mech with several broken parts.

He proceeded to plunge his fist into the already weakened covering of the mech and dragged the operator out.

"That's one," Gustav muttered as he turned to the side and noticed another Mech heading towards this area.

"Hey," Gustav was about calling out to one of the officers when he noticed they weren't where he left them.

His perception immediately showed him where they were. He turned to stare at the area where the slum dwellers were copped up.

"No please spare us!"

"Aaghhh!"

The slum dwellers knelt as they begged the men in uniform before them.

One had his arm raised up as an energy blade had formed within his hand.

His eyes showed no mercy as he slashed down at one of the slum dwellers.

Pah!

Before the energy blade could make contact with the woman head, Gustav arrived before the officer and grabbed his hand.

"There's no need for that," Gustav said while lowering his hand.

"Our strength is reduced. We can't battle the Genxodus this way," The officer yelled out.

"Don't worry, I'll take care of it," Gustav said while handing the first Genxodus member he got to the officer.

"Take care of this one and the other one approaching this area," Gustav commanded.

Fwwwwoosshshh~

Gustav didn't wait for a response before his right arm turned very large.

"What are you doing?" The other officer voiced out from the side.

Boom~

A projectile was shot in their direction from the street in the next instant.

The officer Gustav had just stopped, made the energy blade in his hand larger as he sped forward and slashed out.

Twwhiii~

He cleaved the projectile in two halves, causing the explosions to spread in different directions.

"Lescher, let's take care of this," He called out to his teammate, choosing to trust Gustav with handling the bloodline dampening beacons.

Every slum dweller cooped up in the building had climbed up to Gustav's right hand which was the size of a building.

"Hold on..." Gustav instructed before closing his hand up lightly and speeding out of the area.

Fwwwoooshhh~

In the next few moments the officers, felt their strength returning.

"He truly handled it," One of them muttered as he turned around and noticed all of them were gone.

In the part of the slums where E.E was he had closed up the vortex.

There were more than ten thousand people in front of him right now and they seem to understand what was going on.

However, why did E.E close the vortex since he wanted to save them?

Chapter 1123: Sense Of Foreboding

However, why did E.E close the vortex since he wanted to save them?

"Hold on Gus, Angy, don't bring anymore slum dwellers yet," E.E voiced through the comms.

His face turned serious as he moved forward and the crowd began to part ways for him.

After a few seconds, he stopped and turned to stare at the left.

Pah!

E.E snapped his fingers in the next instant and a vortex appeared like a ring above three of slum dwellers on the left.

The slum dwellers had looks of realisation upon seeing E.E's action and were about to turn around and escape when the vortex descended upon them.

All three of them disappeared instantly instantly the crowd to turn wary and confused.

"There are some enemies disguised as slum dwellers amongst you lots... as soon as I get rid of them all, i will transport you all out of here," E.E announced to quell their confusion.

Zing~

A vortex opened up right in front of Gustav and three figures were flung out.

Swoooosshh~

Gustav dashed forward and grabbed all three of them before slamming them heavily into the ground.

They passed out instantly and he proceeded to lift them off the ground beforr dashing in a particular diection.

-"Aildris, I'm bringing three your way," Gustav announced through the comms.

-"Sure, We've rounded up six of them on this part too," Aildris replied.

Anytime, E.E spotted a Genxodus member hiding in the midst of the slum dwellers, he would send them to Gustav.

Aildris was in charge of restraining the Genxodus members caught and keeping them in confines.

Everyone had a GPS indicator on them that showed the rest of the teammates where they are in real time. This made it possible for E.E to easily open up vortexes wherever Gustav was.

The instant Gustav saw a vortex and figures dressed like slum dwellers, he was instantly able to tell that these figures were Genxodus members.

In another part of the slums, a figure clad in MBO outfit could be seen flying above with a purplish aura covering her figure.

"Vera, on your three o clock, two hundred meters away... there's a group of them trying to get away," Elevora disclosed as she flew across the city.

Matilda and Vera were busy handling a group of Genxodus members initially but upon Elevora's message, she began heading in the direction disclosed.

Matilda was left to handle four Genxodus members alone. Fortunately, there was no bloodline dampening beacon around so she wasn't restricted in the slightest.

While Elevora flee across the slums, she spotted two more groups trying to escape.

At this point, everyone was preoccupied with handling one Genxodus member or the other so Elevora had no choice but to swoop down herself.

ReadNovelFull.com

-"Step on it! Let's get out of here and rendezvous with the others back in one of the bases outside this city,"

One of the members yelled out as the hovercar sped through the street.

They were two hovercars speeding across the northeast streets and within each of them, there were four occupants.

With their speed, they would be able to arrive within the outskirts of the city in a couple of minutes.

Ding! Ding! Ding! Ding!

Alarms suddenly began blaring off within both hover cars as the security system sensed an hostile approach.

"What is that?"

"Shit! It is an MBO officer!"

"Activate the weapons system,"

The Genxodus members in the second hover car voiced out frantically.

Elevora who approached from above could see canons phasing out of the hover cars.

Bam! Ting! Ting! Ting!

Projectiles began shooting towards her in the next instant.

sweeeevvv! Fwwoohh~

Elevora gracefully swerved from side to side across the air, dodging the projectiles.

One of them predicted her movement and fired out an explosive.

Elevora found herself heading into the sight of this explosive and flicked her wrist.

fwwwheiiii~

A purplish storm blasted forth from her hand, slamming into the explosive and causing a massive blast in mid air.

Boooooom~

Shockwaves spread across the vicinity blasting the hover cars off the road.

One was blasted straight across the air and slammed into a high rise like building by the side.

Bang!

It completely broke through the walls and found itself on the other side of the building in a manner of seconds.

"Ahhhhhh!"

The members within screamed in terror as the hover car blasted through the walls till it arrived on the other side and began falling to the ground from a height of more than a hundred feet.

ReadNovelFull.com

Fwwhiii!

They suddenly felt an unmovable force make contact with the hover car and they stopped falling.

Elevora had arrived on the other side with speed and grabbed hold of the hovercar.

She gently lifted the entire vehicle with her left hand and flew towards the other side of the building where the other hover car had crashed.

-"Aildris, I have some over here," Elevora reported.

In another part of the city Falco, Ria and Teemee were facing a massive Robot like figure which was over thirty feet tall.

Unlike the usual, this one was way more sturdy and was equipped with more firepower.

Three of them were struggling to deal with it despite not being restricted by any bloodline dampening beacons.

Fwwhiiionnnn~

The earth caved in as Ria stomped on it, causing the massive mech to start sinking into the ground.

Thwwiiihh~

More thrusters suddenly appeared on the upper part of its body, causing it to shoot out of the hole Ria had created.

"Tch!" Ria face squeezed up as he noticed he failed to trap the mech again.

"You insolent low budget creation! Die!" Dark Falco yelled as he leapt from the top of a building by the side.

A massive claw made of darkness phased out of his right arm which he proceeded to swing out.

The mech which was in mid air, reacted in kind and sent out a strike with an energy blade.

Bam!

The moment both forces collided, shockwaves spread across the place, causing them to divide.

The mech landed back on the ground unscathed while Dark Falco eyes burnt with fury upon making contact with the ground.

Teemee who had already anticipated the fall, appeared behind the mech and thrust his palm forward.

Bang!

His hand which was coated in a crimson glow made contact with the left leg of the mech, causing it to stagger forward.

The armor around the left leg area crumbled very quickly and grey spread across it.

- "This one is very troublesome, let's get rid of him first,"

Within the mech where two Genxodus members were controlling its every movement, they decided to get rid of Temee first.

A violet colored ball began to form in the middle of the Mech chest area.

Red electric arcs began swimming across it as the ball of energy began to grow in size.

ReadNovelFull.com

Teemee noticed this and called out to the other two to attack together.

Swwoosshh~

They all sped forward but in the next instant, the massive ball which was now as large as an entire bungalow building shot forward.

Teemee who had already anticipated it was shot at him, activated another ability.

Fwwhiii~

His entire body was suddenly coated in a crimson glow as his speed multiplied.

Swoooosshh~

Teemee easily dashed to the side and leapt towards a tall building, dodging the massive projectile by a thread.

At this same moment, Dark Falco had arrived before the mech again and sent forth a flurry of powerful attacks.

Ria had boulders raining from the sky as well.

Teemee was about to join in on the joint attack when the projectile he dodged earlier, made a u turn in mid air and began headed for him again.

Fwwwheiii~

He managed to dodge it once more but this stopped him from joining the Ria and Falco.

The mech had began fighting back with both of them and didn't look like it was on the losing end.

Bang! Bang!

While Teemee was busy dodging the locked on projectiles repeatedly, the other two seemed to be on equal footing with this mech.

"Only a few more left," Gustav voiced through the communication channel.

"We will be joining you guys in a few," Angy added.

It had almost been thirty minutes since the operation officially started and the slum dwellers had almost be completely transported to a safe place.

The blasts hadn't stopped and didn't seem like they would be stopping anytime soon. Gustav hadn't gotten into the main objective of today's operation but once he was done with saving the slum dwellers, he would get to it.

Swooosshh~

While Gustav dashed towards another location in the slums, he suddenly felt a sense of foreboding.

"Hmm?" He seemed to have noticed something before everyone else did.

He paused and leapt to the top of a building.

Thooommm~

In the next instant...

Zzzhii~ Zzhiii~ Zzhhii~ Zzhhii~

ReadNovelFull.com

Green pillars of light suddenly began to shoot down from the sky above.

Chapter 1124: Bloodline Dampening Seed Enhancer

Zzzhii~ Zzhiii~ Zzhhii~ Zzhhii~

Green pillars of light suddenly began to shoot down from the sky above.

This sudden occurrence took the MBO officers by surprise as they stared at the directions these massive green pillars of light descended upon.

"What are those?"

This question rang in the mind of everyone.

In the next few seconds, screams began to ring out in different corners of Aribia city.

Within a household in the upper district, the family members spotted roots growing out of their bodies.

Their eyes widened in horror as these roots grew out aggressively, borrowing out of different parts of their skins and even out of their mouths as well.

Pop! Pop! Pop!

The sounds of organs and body parts blasting to pieces rang out across different parts of Aribia city as a similar scene played out there as well.

- "Something's happening," Angy voiced through the comms.

- "I can see roots growing out of people's body," Elevora stated as well.

- "The civilians are affected," Aildris stated.

- "Guys... it's bad here... everyone is affected," E.E announced with a tone of horror.

"Could it be..." Gustav muttered.

- "Could it be what?" Aildris questioned.

"The light affects everyone that has consumed the blood dampening seed... it is taking effect right now and I think the result will be..." Gustav began disclosing.

- "The result will be?" Everyone was waiting for Gustav's answer.

"The amplification of bloodline dampening..." Everyone eyes widened as Gustav revealed this.

"E.E get every single Slum Dweller out of there right now! So long as they're not in range of the light, they shouldn't be affected," Gustav instructed.

E.E immediately got to work on creating a massive vortex to teleport the slum dwellers in front of him away.

Every single Slum Dweller currently in front of him had roots growing out of their bodies so it was safe to say they were all truly Slum dwellers.

None of the Genxodus members would have consumed the seeds upon knowing this is how they would end up.

Fhiiiiiiwwhhhhh~

A massive vortex which was as wide as an entire street was finally conjured.

E.E swept the vortex forward and it proceededd to consume all ten thousand slum dwellers in front of him in nearly an instant.

ReadNovelFull.com

They were all quickly teleported away.

[Combination Has Been Activated]

Gustav speed trippled as he sped across the slums with intensity and arrived back in the same area as E.E in a couple of moments.

Swwhiii~

He threw all the slum dwellers in his grasp towards the massive vortex E.E had just conjured, which was still sweeping forward.

Angy arrived at the same moment too with a couple of people who had roots growing out of their bodies.

She quickly placed them on the same path with the vortex before storming off.

-"That's everyone," Angy reported.

"Good, now we can focus on other things," Gustav replied through the comms.

The screams all across the city had increased as the roots phasing out of the bodies of the civilians grew larger and caused some of the bodies to explode.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

The roots that had grown out massively, shot out from windows and some broke through the walls.

The ones with closer proximity began to actively seek each other out and connect to themselves.

"We have to take care of this," Gustav voiced out to E.E.

"What should we do?" E.E questioned.

Gustav looked up at the sky where the pillars of light were shooting from.

[God Eyes Has Been Activated]

Gustav's sight phased through the thick layers of clouds and past the stratosphere.

His sight soon arrived at space and he spotted the satellites responsible for the current occurrence.

"There are four of them... Get rid of them," Gustav instructed E.E.

"Can you do that?" He questioned.

"Sure..." E.E nodded before raising both his arms.

"Good, I and Angy will do what we can from down here," Gustav responded before gesturing at Angy.

Swwwoosshhh~

Both of them stormed off in the next instant, blasting dangerous winds across the slums as they left afterimages in their wake.

E.E's eyes turned bloodshot as the violet glow that coated his finger tips turned to red.

Deep in space, a collapsing red vortex appeared beside a satellite which was shooting down green beams towards the earth.

ReadNovelFull.com

The vortex was not even one quarter the satellite but the instant it appeared to devour and suck everything in its vicinity towards it.

A barrier appeared around the satellite as a security measure but this still wasn't enough to stop the collapsing vortex.

It sucked the barrier along with the satellite into it in a couple of seconds and closed up.

It reappeared once more beside another one in a few moments.

- "We are calling for space check to take care of the issue," Gustav could hear one of the commanders voice through the comms.

"There will be no need for that, commander. My subordinate is taking care of it," Gustav voiced through the comms.

- "Which squad leader is this?" Commander Darmark questioned from the other side.

"Gustav Crimson," Gustav replied.

"Oh? What do you mean by taking care of it?" Just as commander Darmark questioned some beams of light from the sky began to thin out.

- "They are disappearing," One of the other squad leaders reported.

"There's your answer," Gustav stated.

"I and another one of my subordinates is headed for the upper district, I hope we're permitted," Gustav added.

- "That is beyond your designated area officer Crimson," Commander Colt voiced out.

"The situation is about to be dire... switching off comms to focus on the mission at hand,"

- "Officer Crimson! Officer Crimson don't you..."

Gustav totally ignored all of Commander Colt yells as he arrived before one of the houses in the upper district.

Bang! Bang!

Massive roots shot through the walls and headed for Angy and Gustav.

[Atomic Disintegration Has Been Activated]

Swing~ Swing~

Gustav swung his palm forward and the roots were immediately cleaved into multiple pieces.

It looked like he only moved his arm once but in actuality, he swung a couple of times. He was just so quick, it looked like it was once.

"Go look for the ones that haven't fully turned, I'll take care of this," Gustav leapt through the hole created on the wall after giving Angy the instruction.

Upon getting into the house, the sight that greeted Gustav wasn't a pretty one.

"Ghaarrkkk~ P-lease K... ki-ll me..."

The person who said this, did so with great difficulty. She was in a kneeling position, with giant roots protruding from his back, chest, thighs arms and even both her eyes.

She had was bleeding profusely and already lost a part of his skull yet she was still alive.

ReadNovelFull.com

Body parts with roots protruding from them, were scattered across the floor with blood splattered on the walls. It would seem, these were the body parts of her family members.

The massive roots were everywhere and they began headed for him, upon sensing his arrival.

Swwhii~ Swhiii~

Multiple of them shot forward at him from every direction.

Gustav reached out and grabbed the first one that arrived before him.

"Intertwining Disintegration..." Gustav mummured as his palm glowed a milky color.

In the next instant, the glow on his palm spread to the vine he made contact with and then spread to the other vines shooting towards him.

zzzhiiinnnn~

The glow grew intensity, becoming blindingly bright and in the next moment, they all disintegrated into light particles.

"Rest in peace," Gustav mumbled.

As the area returned to its usual look, all of the vines along with the body parts and even the half dead girl, were all gone.

Gustav sped out of the house and moved towards the next one where he could sense a similar situation.

("There are at least a hundred thousand more experiencing the same issue... Do you intend to do this everywhere?") The system questioned internally.

'No... however, I will try to reduce the effect as much as I can,' Gustav replied.

At the same moment, Angy was getting chased by vines that kept shooting out of different houses.

It seemed like there were barely anyone left who had consumed the bloodline dampening seedd and wasn't yet completely affected.

#####

-"They have gotten rid of the sattelite,"

Within an underground, dimly lit space, a person reported.

- "It doesn't matter... the bloodline dampening seeds will take effect in a few,"

"Those idiots think they have prevented something but they have no idea, it is about to get worse," The Genxodus leader stated with delight.

- "When are we leaving here?"

"We have to wait till the whole commotion is over but we must make sure the MBO suffers a great loss from this,"

#####

Gustav who kept moving from house to house and getting rid of every single living creature within suddenly sensed something again.

Shhhsshshh~

His feet slid across the ground as he suddenly paused.

- "Guys..." Just as he voiced out through the comms, houses in the upper district began to glow up.

Zhiin~ Zhiinn~ Zzhiinn~

Chapter 1125: Falco Gets Taken

- "Guys..." Just as he voiced out through the comms, houses in the upper district began to glow up.

Zhiin~ Zhiinn~ Zzhiinn~

The roots growing out of the people who had consumed the bloodline dampenings seed, were glowing up.

They began experiencing intense growth spurt unlike earlier where it wasn't too intense.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Hundreds of houses in Aribia city were blasted to smithereens as the roots extended from their initial ranges to far beyond.

Some of the officers who were battling against the Genxodus mechs suddenly found themselves surrounded by gigantic roots that had lengthened to the point where they had reached the sky.

"Wave of encapsulment!"

"Flames of annihilation!"

"Draconic thunderbolt!"

The officers quickly activated powerful abilities.

Some activated abilities to protect themselves from the roots while others did so to blast the roots to smithereens.

Unfortunately, the roots had now become impervious to all attacks.

"Kyaaahhh!"

"Arrrghhhhh!"

The yells of the MBO officers soon reverberated across the entire city as they were restrained and completely entrapped by the roots.

The ones who had activated abilities that created barriers around them and their fellow comrades, managed to save themselves from getting restrained.

However, all they could see beyond the barrier was an endless cover of roots. Everywhere had almost turned completely dark in a couple of seconds.

"What in the world is this?" One of them voiced out.

The ones within the protective barriers began to notice some changes to their bodies after sometime. Meanwhile, the screams of officers could still be heard.

-"Get to the far corners of the slums, right now!" Gustav voiced through the comms to the rest of his teammates.

Aildris, Temee, Ria, Falco, Vera, Elevora and Glade were in the same area currently which happened to be in the northern part of the slums.

The northern part of the slums happened to be very close to the upper district, hence Gustav's warning.

They could already see the towering sea of roots heading in their direction from the upper district area so they didn't need to be told twice.

"Let's go, Let's go," Aildris yelled to Elevora and the girls who were closer to his position.

He turned around and began speeding away.

Teemee, Ria and Falco who were closer to each other began their movement as well...

However, just as Falco turned around, a mech which was about a hundred feet away suddenly leapt in their direction.

Bang!

He landed directly behind Falco and reached out to hit him.

Dark tattoos appeared around Falco's face as he turned around to throw a punch at the same instant.

Boom!

Upon collision, a loud blast rang out and the ground caved.

Both figures were unscathed, however, a metallic entrapment which was the size of a wrist phased out of the mech fist.

It had already wrapped around Falco's fist and wrist before he noticed it.

Teemee and Ria turned around with speed and were ready to battle when the thrusters on the mechs body activated.

Vrrrhuuuuuhhhhhmm~

The mech lifted up into the sky with intense speed and, flew in the direction of the incoming sea of roots.

"Falco!" Temmee yelled and instantly activated an ability.

Ria did so as well, hurling pillars of earth in their direction but to no avail.

A red spear was conjured In Teemee's hand as he sped forward and flung it with intensity.

Fwwhwiiii!

Wind blasted across the place as the spear shot forward with piercing intensity.

The mech only noticed the spear when it was a couple of feet away and even with that, it was already late to do anything.

As it turned in mid flight...

Bang!

It made contact with the chest of the mech and tore right through and went out the back...

ReadNovelFull.com

"Khuurrrrh!"

The mech operator vomitted blood as he spotted a hole in the place where his chest was.

Fwwhiiii~

Both Falco and the Mech who had already crossed a distance of more than a thousand feet, fell towards the sea of roots below.

"Falco!" Ria shouted out this time with a look of disbelief.

-"Are you guys still there? Get out of there right now!" Gustav yelled through the comms after noticing their location still showed they hadn't left.

-"Falco... Falco was taken and he fell into the area with those weird roots," Teemee reported back.

-"What?" Everyone voiced out at the same time.

"We need to help him," Teemee yelled out.

-"Negative, leave there immediately the roots will be beyond dangerous. None of you will survive if you get caught in it," Gustav voiced through the comms.

"He just fell in, we might still be able to save him if we act now!" Teemee sounded unwavering.

- "You will just be sending yourself to the jaws of death. You have no idea what you're up against or how to protect yourself against it! Leave there immediately!" Gustav stated once more.

"You might be able to leave people to death when the situation warrants but I am not you, Gustav I will..."

Bang!

A crashing sound was transmitted through the comms.

"I knocked him unconscious... I will take him out of this area," Ria voiced through the comms with a regretful tone.

- "Good job Ria..." Gustav couldn't deny that this was the last thing he expected Ria to do but he was grateful.

Ria who had knocked Teemee out could see that the roots were only a couple of feet away and they had completely devoured the houses ahead.

He quickly picked Teemee up and surrounded himself in a ball of earth which turned around and drove them away from the incoming sea of roots with speed.

Gustav couldn't say he didn't expect Teemee to act this way. Teemee was always more on the logical side like Aildris but Gustav knew that deep within he was a big softie.

If it was someone else, he wouldn't act this way but since he considered everyone in the team to be family, he was willing to give up his life if it meant protecting them.

Only Gustav initially knew this side of Teemee existed but now everyone did.

- "I will handle Falco's situation myself. Make sure Teemee doesn't try anything when he comes to," Gustav voiced through the comms.

- "Where are you?" Aildris questioned.

ReadNovelFull.com

"In the air," Gustav replied as he looked down upon Aribia City from above.

Massive bat like wings were sprouting from his back and a female figure was in the clutches of his left arm.

"I will regroup with you guys soon and tell you the next plan," Gustav added.

Angy looked down at the city as well. All that could be seen were the roots and vines that had covered the entire upper district up.

parts of the slums were not spared either but it didn't reach too deep into the slums.

"If we had not gotten all the slum dwellers out of here, the whole city would be covered up by these roots," Angy realised what was happening.

"More would have died..." Gustav added.

"Those fools should have let me siphon more of their memories..." Gustav sparked.

He had uncovered the info related to the bloodline dampening seed and the conventional centre ploy amongst others by siphoning the memory of the two high ranked Genxodus members.

Since he left the two to E.E and asked him to get them to the temporary base, the commanders took custody of both members.

After his return, they stopped Gustav from siphoning more of their memories when they found out both members would meet their end.

They wanted to take them both alive no matter what. Gustav only hoped there was no crucial information left that might hinder them but unfortunately his hopes were dashed with this.

They were unaware that the Genxodus could enhance the state of the bloodline dampening seeds with even more features.

"It's sucking out the life energy of every Mixedblood trapped within and it actively spreads to find more mixedblood... so long as it senses on in range, it tries to trap them," Gustav analysed.

"So it could still spread beyond this?" Angy questioned.

"Yes... but as long as certain conditions are not met, it won't," Gustav replied.

"The Genxodus members are safe since they don't have bloodlines... this means they can escape," Angy said with a look of worry.

"That's what they think... unfortunately for them... I won't let that happen," Gustav voiced with a tone of confidence.

"What will you do? What about Teemee?" Angy questioned.

"He is fine... I will go and get him once I get you to the ground," Gustav responded.

"Angy... I'm throwing you. Wait for my return with the others," Gustav added as he lifted Angy and positioned her in a weird way.

Fwwwheiiii~

He flung Angy in a particular direction, causing her body to part the clouds as she sped across the air like a projectile.

"Now to take care of the first situation," Gustav's face turned serious as he stated.

ReadNovelFull.com

Fwhip~

His wings phased into his back in the next instant.

Chapter 1126 Turning Aribia City Into A Personal Slaughter House

Fwhip~

His wings phased into his back in the next instant.

Fwwhiiii~

Gustav began to fall towards the sea of roots below in a vertical format.

As he closed the proximity between himself and the vines which were towering tall into the sky, they began to react.

Thhiii~ Thii~ Thii~

Roots began to shoot upwards in his direction, in a bid to catch him in their snares.

Gustav wrapped his arms around himself and began to spin very quickly as he dropped from from the air.

This made his speed of descent increase and also caused the roots that shot towards him to miss.

Bang!

In a couple of seconds, he landed on the ground. He had managed to slither into the gaps of these roots and land on solid ground.

However, the moment he did, the roots around him reacted intensely and surrounded his figure to entrap him.

"Cognitive Concealment..." Gustav whispered.

His presence instantly disappeared the instant he voiced that out.

Fwwhiii~

The roots paused in the next moment. Everyone of them that reacted, waved slowly in the air in confusion. After a while they returned to their previous state and Gustav was left.

'Those idiots that thought they could escape...' Gustav's perception spread out and covered the entire city in nearly an instant.

He could sense the MBO officers who were still struggling to stay alive but were already on their last breathes.

He could also sense the pile of mixedbloods corpses trapped in different parts of the roots covering the entire city. They belonged to both people of the city as well as MBO officers.

("Only a few humans and a couple of mixedbloods in the upper district are still alive but not for long,")
The system voiced.

'The oxygen has turned sparse because of the roots so even though the humans life-force aren't getting sapped because they have no bloodline... they will eventually die from lack of oxygen...' Gustav analysed.

("The Genxodus don't seem to care about killing even the ones they claim to be making the world better for... as long as they get rid of the MBO and Mixedbloods,") The system added.

'Might as well end them now...' Gustav could sense even the ones that were currently trying to leave the city.

The Genxodus members were not in anyway trapped by the roots. Some of them even toyed with some of the nearly dead MBO officers since they were trapped.

They laughed at their state and poked them repeatedly.

[Partial Kilapisole Transformation Has Been Activated]

Gustav opened his eyes at this point as his entire body turned greenish and he bloated.

Multiple hands phased out of his body and he clasped his palms together.

Pah!

Ghrrrrhhh! GBBGGGGBBBHHHH!

The ground began quaking intensely in the next instant.

Everyone within the city and even in the slums could feel the intense vibrations. This had them wondering exactly what was going on.

However in the next instant, everyone's jaws dropped to the ground.

A spiky wall that looked like it was made of icy diamonds was growing out of the ground.

It surrounded the entire upper district, putting Aribia city in a kind of cage.

It looked so thick and sturdy as it grew out ground and reached into the sky. In a couple of seconds it reached a height of five thousand feet and began to curve.

The top of all sides curved in as they kept growing out till, the upper district of Aribia city was completely covered up.

Now it truly looked as though the city had been placed in a cage. The Icicle like walls were so deeply bonded and thick that, only a few rays of sunlight was let through the covering.

All the Genxodus members that were close to arriving at the edge of the upper district were dumbfounded as they found themselves trapped in place.

"Guys... make sure you take care of the ones that already got out and every single one of them in the slums," The instant Gustav voiced this command through the comms, the others understood that the covering was his doing.

-"Understood," They all answered as they got to work.

Gustav wasn't bothered about the MBO officers that were still alive but were at the jaws of death already.

He knew if he wasted another second before acting, lots of Genxodus members would escape.

It was either he saved them or he got rid of the Genxodus members. He chose the latter.

"None of you will be leaving... alive," Gustav mumbled.

("You might want to leave some alive for questioning purposes though,") The system reminded.

"Tch! These bastards sent assassins after me over and over and over again after thrashing my house when they tried to abduct me... I don't plan to leave any of them alive," Gustav responded.

("Still... leave some alive... maybe you should keep your killing intent for the leaders,") The system stated.

Gustav began to move at this point, avoiding the roots which were everywhere.

Making use of his Cognitive Concealment had stopped the roots from sensing his existence which was why they had stopped earlier. Since the roots lacked visual senses, it would be impossible for them to spot Gustav.

Gustav wasn't affected by the bloodline dampening effect they had spread across the city which was why he could use his abilities as he pleased.

However, despite the fact that Gustav was unaffected by the bloodline dampening effect, the roots would have still tried to siphon his life-force assuming his presence wasn't hidden.

This was something the Genxodus had put in place despite not knowing of the MBO plans. This proved they were truly calculative and smart in their methods.

Unfortunately for them, someone like Gustav existed. This practically tipped the balance each time since Gustav existence couldn't be measures with common sense like other mixedbloods.

"Hey! What is this? I have tried every artillery but it barely made a difference?" One of the mech operators voiced out.

In a particular part of the upper district, around twenty Genxodus members were clustered together.

They were trying to leave but finding it difficult to cause any form of damage to the wall cage that had just appeared all over the city.

"Let's trying doing it together," One of the Genxodus members who was also operating a mech voiced out.

-"The others without good weapons should move to the side,"

-"There is barely any space here! Where are we supposed to move to?"

They argued back and forth until a loud voice interrupted.

"Let me help,"

They all turned around when they heard this.

"Who is that?" Since they didn't recognise the voice neither did they sense or hear the approach, one of them asked.

"Your friendly neighbourhood spiderma... meh y'all wouldn't get it," The voice responded.

Step! Step! Step!

A person covered in a milky glow, appeared from within some of the roots, which disintegrated upon making contact with his body.

[Atomic Armour Has Been Deactivated]

Their eyes widened as they saw the original look of this person.

-"Gu... Gu... Gus-tav Crimson!?"

- "What is he doing here?"

- "How is he unaffected?"

The Genxodus members voiced out one after the other with expressions of wariness.

"Do not concern yourselves with these questions... After all..." Gustav smirked as he spoke.

"There is no point in answering the dead," Gustav added before speeding forward.

Swwoosshh~

Not a single one of them was able to react in time before Gustav arrived before the first mech.

[Atomic Disintegration Has Been Activated]

[Palm Strike Has Been Activated]

Gustav activated two skills at once, and thrust his right palm forward.

A milky glow coated his entire arm as his palm thrust forward with intensity.

Bang!

His palm tore through the chest of the mech upon collision and kept thrusting forward till it penetrated the chest of the operator.

The eyes of the Genxodus members widened even more as they witnessed an organ flying out of the back of the operator.

Plop!

The Genxodus member heart slammed into the wall ahead and got poked by one of the iro silk.

Everything had happened so fast, the members equipped with weapons and mech were unable to react in time.

"Jackson!" A female Genxodus member yelled out with an horrified look.

"Kill him!"

The Genxodus members yelled out as they activated their weapon systems and sent forth all sorts of attacks in Gustav's direction.

"I'm afraid that won't be possible," Gustav muttered as his eyes glowed a menacing Crimson color.

Swwihh~ Swhiii~

Gustav spotted all the projectiles headed for him and swerved speedily across the place. He dodged them with ease and leapt upwards.

Boom~ Boom~

Explosive energy blasts were shot at him in mid air and he proceeded to punch through them.

Fwwhooooomm~

A wave of wind blasted from the force of Gustav's punch spread across the place, clearing the air instantly.

Bang!

Gustav landed on another mech and instantly ripped it in half.

The operator fell out and Gustav stomped on his head, blasted it to pieces and giving the ground a new painting.

Chapter 1127 Slaughter Tribute

The operator fell out and Gustav stomped on his head, blasting it to pieces and giving the ground a new painting.

The Genxodus members were even more horrified after witnessing Gustav's brutality. They had heard stories of how cold and callous he was to his enemies.

Witnessing his actions now, they had no more doubts.

-"Contact the higher ups or we're all gonna die here!"

One of the Genxodus members yelled out while engaging Gustav.

Fwwwiiiiisshh~

Gustav conjured two atomic blades in his hands and swung them sideways.

Slash! Slash!

Two milky colored arcs cut across the air with intensity and cleaved two mechs in half.

Both operators were instantly sent to the afterlife after getting dissected.

Gustav dashed across the place and leapt upwards to a mech that was up to thirty feet tall before burrowing his fist into the chest area of the mech.

The mech was immensely sturdy and he already calculated this before hand, so he made use of the double effect ability.

The last five mechs suddenly took up an unknown battle formation the instant Gustav performed that action.

Zzhiiiiihhhrrrrhh! ZZHHHIIRRRHHH!

A ball of energy had been charging up within the chest area of the mech, which they finally revealed.

"Fire!"

One of them yelled out as they each released this ball of energy which was reddish in color.

Gustav wanted to pull his arm out of the hole he created within the thirty feet tall mech in a bid to evade all five but soon realised he was trapped.

Thissh! Thisssh! Thiisshh!

The three mech operators within ejected and thrusters appeared around them which boosted their speed as they headed further away.

The mech operators leapt backwards upon releasing this attack as well.

Thrrrriihhh~ Thrriihhh~ Thrrriihhh~ Thhrrriihhh~ Thhrrriihhh~

Strings of light suddenly shot forth from these energy balls at light speed and stuck to Gustav's body.

He was unable to react on time due to how quickly they arrived before him.

In the next instant energy ripples were released from these energy balls and then...

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

Blasts rang out, setting forth waves of destruction in every direction.

The houses covered up by the roots in the vicinity were all blasted to kingdom come as the ripple of waves, destroyed everything in its path.

The force was enough to create a massive crater in the ground due to the destructiveness. The walls set up ahead even quaked a bit as shockwaves were sent flying across the place.

The houses in this area with people who were still alive initially, had all been blasted to nothingness as well.

A massive cloud of dust spread across the upper district as a quarter of it had been destroyed from this blast.

The other Genxodus members had activated protective devices to shield them from the waves of this gargantuan attack so they were okay.

As the dust cleared, a twenty thousand feet wide crater was left in place with lots of the roots in the vicinity blasted away.

It was more than a thousand feet deep and cracks were at every corner.

"That should have gotten him," Some of them moved towards the ledge as they voiced out.

Some of them were directly in the crater since they didn't get far enough but they were unscathed due to the energy field they used since all of them knew of the attack before hand.

The mech operators moved forward as well, to check the crater.

- "I don't see him,"

- "He must have been reduced to ashes,"

- "The walls are still standing though,"

- "What the hell? Even with such a blast, they didn't crumble?"

The Genxodus members discussed amongst themselves with looks of relief and disbelief at the same time.

"We need to find a way..."

In the midst of discussing, a small rumble drew their attention. Followed by the movement of a large piece of earth in the middle of the crater.

-"Huh?"

-"What is happening?"

They questioned amongst each other.

Bang!

A piece of earth moved to the side and a person was revealed underneath.

Gasp~

-"It can't be,"

-"He is still alive?"

Their eyes widened and their jaws nearly dropped to the ground as they spotted Gustav in the middle of this gigantic crater.

Clunk~ Clunk~ Clunk~ Clunk~

Pieces of Icicle like crystals fell from his body as he slowly stood to his feet with a dark face.

The Genxodus members noticed that the Icicle like crystals bore a resemblance to the walls that had been erected around the upper district.

'Could he be the one responsible for this cage?' They were coming to this awe striking realisation at the moment.

Blood trickled down Gustav's face and the upper part of his MBO uniform had been completely obliterated, displaying his magnificent looking body.

He had a few more bloodied area on his upper body but he didn't seem to be in pain.

'That should have wiped out no less than five hundred houses... they truly don't care about the deaths of others as long as they achieve their goal,' Gustav thought as he looked upwards.

"We're nearly out of core energy, run!" One of the Genxodus members operating a mech yelled out.

"Kyaaahhh!"

"Run!"

The Genxodus members turned around to flee.

"Now I feel more affirmed with leaving none of you alive," Gustav muttered as wings sprouted out of his back.

Fhooooopppp~

His figure blurred and he instantly arrived at the top of the crater.

The Genxodus member he arrived before still had his mouth open in fear and shock. What he noticed next was his sight elevating while the rest of his body was still on the ground.

"If you wanna leave... leave your life behind," Gustav voiced out while holding onto the decapitated head of the Genxodus member.

He had yanked the head of the Genxodus member off his body so quickly that blood only started flowing out when he was already more than a hundred feet away from the decapitated body.

"Kyaahhh!"

The members kept screaming out in terror as Gustav sped across the air.

Gustav decapitated another Genxodus member and held both heads in his hands.

He suddenly arched his arm backwards with both heads in his grasp in a throwing format.

Fwwwiiiiii!

The heads caught fire and began blazing intensely like two fiery balls.

He swung forward with in the next instant, throwing both heads out.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

"One, two, three, four, five..."

Gustav counted as the flaming heads slammed into one Genxodus member after the other.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

Upon collision the heads would burrow into the body of a member and come out the other side, leaving a head size hole in their body.

Both heads brought down more than twelve Genxodus members before losing momentum.

"Not bad," Gustav smirked as he stared at the chaos from above.

The rest that were still alive were frantically fleeing for their lives while screaming with terrified expressions.

They had been completely shaken by everything they had just witnessed and could only hope they would get out of this alive.

Fwwhooomm~

Gustav sped across the air once more and arrived before a Genxodus member.

Swwhiii~

With a swing of his palm, the Genxodus member instantly lost an arm.

"Please spare me! Please!"

She kept pleading while dragging herself on the ground while blood oozed out of her empty shoulder.

"How hypocritical. You lots just killed tens of thousands and you're pleading to be spared?" Gustav clicked his tongue as he squatted in front of her.

"Please! It's the higher ups! We can't disobey them!" She kept pleading while trying to drag herself further away.

Grab!

Gustav grabbed one of her leg and pulled her back to his position.

"To think you can even fool me is yet another reason to punish you," Gustav stated before swinging his palm forward.

Splllurrrtt~

Blood splattered across the place as the Genxodus member lost her left leg.

"Kiarrrrghghhhh!" Her face turned completely pale as she screamed in pain with snot flowing out of her nose.

"Oh you think I don't know you? Haha weren't you the one who led an operation that caused the death of around five thousand mixedbloods," Gustav voiced slowly.

Her face shown a look of confusion and disbelief.

"You're probably wondering how I know that... It's a secret," Gustav stated before ripping another limb.

Swwooosshhh~

Gustav left the poor Genxodus member to die in her pool of blood as he chased down the rest.

He left a trail of blood and incomplete body parts in his wake. Hunting down the Genxodus members in this cage he had created, seemed like a sport to him.

He didn't spare anyone he spotted and slaughtered wantonly. He would give chase, leave them frightened before slaughtering a whole bunch of them.

The cage was becoming too small for them despite how large it was. There was no where they could escape to that the grim reaper in form of Gustav wouldn't find them.

All the MBO officers who were unable to escape from the upper district before the roots covered everywhere were already long dead.

Gustav decided to pay them a tribute by sending the souls of these Genxodus members to join them in the afterlife.

About an hour later, Gustav landed in the middle of the upper district with a body soaked in blood.

"Yosh... Twelve thousand six hundred and thirty two Genxodus members erased from the face of the earth," Gustav stated since he had kept count since the beginning.

"Only one left," A sinister smile appeared on his face as he turned towards the left.

"Ekkk!" A small masculine voice rang out from the side and the sounds of footsteps were heard next.

Fwooosshh~

Gustav body blurred once more and he arrived a couple of feet away.

Bump!

Something or rather someone bumped into him but the person was invisible.

The person quickly turned around to run while still invisible.

Grab!

Gustav grabbed hold of the person's neck from behind and lifted them up.

"Don't delude yourself, i saw you from the start... I just chose to leave you for last," Gustav voiced while tightening his grip on the neck of the invisible Genxodus member.

Thriiihhh~

A glitch like projection appeared around where Gustav was gripping and the person turned visible.

It was a man with buzz cut and a green mechanical looking armor surrounding his body.

"Ghhrruukll!" The Genxodus member body thrashed in mid air as he struggled to breath.

"Not to worry, if I wanted to kill you, I would have done that already," Gustav voiced out as he slowly loosened his grip.

"I will give you the chance to live but if you mess it up, I promise to kill you in the most painstakingly and gruesome way you couldn't possibly imagine," Gustav added while slowly letting go of the Genxodus member.

The member fell to the ground and coughed a couple of times before looking up with an expression of hope.

"I know the leaders of the Genxodus are here but for some reason they have managed to evade this whole thing unlike the rest of you that were actually affected... they are supposed to be affected as well but I believe they may have some countermeasures..." Gustav paused as he got to this point.

"Let me not bore you with my lengthy assumptions... Tell me where the leaders are," Gustav demanded.

#####

- "They have all been slaughtered!"

- "How could this have happened?"

- "Gustav Crimson again! How does he always manage this!"

- "No one can get into the city or leave, are we even safe here?"

"Leaders, I need you all to stop panicking,"

Within the dimly lit space, the main leader voiced out.

"We might not be able to leave but we are indeed safe here. Their vices will never be able to reach us because they have no idea where exactly we are..."

"Calm down... the moment they deactivated the spatial disruptor, we will be able to leave here through the emergency exit,"

The main leader stated with a calming tone.

Chapter 1128 Main Leader Betrayal

"Calm down... the moment they deactivated the spatial disruptor, we will be able to leave here through the emergency exit,"

The main leader stated with a calming tone.

An holographic display of the cage surrounding Aribia City upper district was playing out before them. By the side it showed distorted footage of the bodies scattered across the city.

They had partially witnessed Gustav's slaughter spree which had incited the panic they felt. Seeing how brutal he had acted, they didn't want to get caught by any means.

#####

Within an unknown medieval city, icy stones fell from the skies above as the whole city seemed to be severely lowered in temperature.

The icy stones which were of different sizes, blasted to pieces when they reached a certain height due to a dome covering the entire medieval city.

In the outskirts of this city, some of these falling ice stones were as large as buildings and they fell unhindered to the ground.

A normal person wouldn't last outside the city since they would be crushed to pieces by the falling ice stones. Hail storms were a usual sight in this unknown location and the climate was usually on the extreme winter side.

A 5'10 tall teenage boy with curly black hair, strolled through the medieval city streets with a slightly bewildered expression.

He was clad in silky and ragged looking brown attire.

A lot of the houses around here were made with ice stones and the temperature was really at a freezing point yet the people of the city didn't seem bothered by it.

It looked like they thrived in coldness.

The teenage boy with curly black hair, stared at a particular part of this city which had a floating cone shaped building in the heart of the city.

He was closing in on that area already and the people around greeted him with respectful expressions upon sighting him.

After a few more minutes, he finally arrived in the vicinity of the floating cone like structure.

A seven foot tall gallant figure in silver and golden armor suddenly appeared before him. This figure sported a long blue hair and was equipped with a massive six foot long sword.

She stood right in front of Endric, blocking his path. By her side were two guards with straight looking expressions both equipped with weapons.

"Tarmac... are you going against your word now?" Endric voiced out while raising his head slightly to meet her gaze.

"Eric, you have accomplished the final task required so I can no longer deny you access," Tarmac responded.

"It's Endri... aish, never mind..." Endric gave up trying to correct her.

"There is one thing you need to know before you get into the LIBRARY OF SHADOWS..." The Tarmac resumed speaking.

"What is that?" Endric questioned.

"Do not under any circumstance go for the book with a triple golden starred cover. It is forbidden and you will immediately be pulled out of the Library of shadows," The Tarmac revealed.

"Your life will be spared if you did not see the contents after getting pulled out of the library but if you so much as manage to take a glimpse of the contents no matter how little, YOU SHALL BE SENTENCED TO DEATH!" She added.

Endric gulped down a throat full of saliva after hearing this.

"Understood," He replied.

She stared at Endric briefly with a suspicious look before finally moving aside.

"Stand underneath..." She instructed while gesturing at the space underneath the floating cone structure.

Endric did as instructed, moving to the designated spot.

The Tarmac collected a dagger from one of the guards beside her and pulled off her left glove.

An unknown tattoo like marking could be seen in the middle of her palm. She then proceeded to stab the middle of the palm where the tattoo was inscribed.

Zzhhiinnn~

Blood oozed out and the tattoo changed from white to red before glowing up brightly.

Endric who was standing under the floating cone structure, felt a pull from above and raised his head.

Fwwhiiiiinn~

In the next instant, he suddenly disappeared.

"Sir Tarmac, are you sure we can trust him?" One of the guards questioned.

"It doesn't matter. He poses no threat to us and I will instantly end his life if he chooses to disregard the warnings," The Tarmac replied.

"But... it seems as though you are really fond of him, sir," The other guard said with a tone of disbelief and respect.

"My city comes first... anyone who tries to threaten my city regardless of who they may be... I will cut them down," The Tarmac's beautiful face twitched a little before she put her gloves back.

She walked away afterwards leaving the guards with surprised expressions. They knew how the Tarmac had gotten close to Endric in the last one year since he was permitted access into the city.

"She must be bluffing,"

"The Tarmac never bluffs,"

Both guards exchanged a brief dialogue before following after her.

#####

-Aribia City (Upper District)

"Yeah I need you to level this part of the city... can you do it?" Gustav asked through the comms.

-"Level a part of the city? How much range?" Ria questioned through the comms.

"A small area... I need you to level it to around one thousand five hundred feet deep," Gustav replied.

-"Why do I feel like you can easily take care of this, rival!" Ria yelled.

"If I decided to take care of it myself, the entire city will be blasted off the map but you have more control over the earth so you're best for the job," Gustav explained.

- "Ugh..." If Gustav was around Ria, he would have seen the blank expression on his face.

'I need to get stronger so I can flex like this too,' This was the thought running through Ria's mind.

"Ria, can you do it?" Gustav asked once more.

- "Okayyy... so long as I am not too far from the area," He responded.

"Good, I won't be letting you get into the cage because the roots will take effect on you and also try to ensnare you too," Gustav voiced out.

"Let's do it!" Ria became fired up.

-

Minutes later Gustav was in the air once more. He stared at the city from above as he gave a set of instructions.

"I've gotten the humans who live in the houses in that area out of there... you can go ahead," Gustav voiced through the comms.

After a few more seconds a rumble reverberated across the upper district.

In a part of the upper district, the ground suddenly began to cave in.

Krrrryyychhh~ Ghbbbllll~

Cracks spread across a wide area as the ground collapsed in and continued to spread for a radius of a thousand feet.

All of the building structures in that area as well as the roots all caved in as well. They crumbled as they fell into the large hole.

About a minute later what was left in that area was a hole more than one thousand five hundred feet deep.

Gustav stared at it from above with a satisfied expression before swooping downwards.

Fwwhooooo~ Bang!

He landed at the bottom of the hole in a few moments which was filled with all sorts of rubble.

It was completely dark at the bottom but Gustav was unaffected by such a situation.

He tapped his wrist area and a holographic display showing a couple of things appeared.

Zing~

In the next instant, a palm sized device appeared in his grasp.

A smirk appeared on Gustav's face as he slowly took a squatting position with this device in his grasp.

###

-A minute earlier

-"What is going on!?"

-"Is this what I think it is?"

- "The ground just sank in and now the area we're situated is now exposed,"

"There is no need for panic leaders, we still exist in another dimensional frequency. We are safe here,"

The main leader kept assuring the other leaders as they watched footage of happenings above surface level.

The space was still dimly lit but there was tension in the air despite the unclear faces of the Genxodus leaders.

- "He just landed at the bottom of the hole..."

- "What is... He is definitely up something,"

Tension rose as they stared at Gustav's actions.

- "If we're truly safe here then... what is he doing with that?"

One of the leaders questioned as they spotted a device in Gustav's grasp.

- "Isn't that...?"

- "That is the same charge used to affect the other dimensional frequencies earlier,"

- "We are doomed!"

The leaders jumped to their feet as they noticed Gustav placing the device on the ground and activating it.

"Relax leaders, relax!" The main leader also stood to his feet as he voiced out.

"We stiill have contingency plans," He voiced out while slowly stepping backwards.

Upon arriving at the wall, he tapped a part of its surface.

zzhiinnn~

A small space shidted open in the wall and he stepped in with his back.

"I meant, I still have contingency plans," A sinister smile appeared on the main leader's face he voiced out.

-"Leader... you..."

Although their faces couldn't be seen properly, there was no doubt that the other leaders had expressions of betrayal on their faces at the moment.

Chapter 1129 Forcing The Leaders Out

Boooooom!

At this same instant, a charge was set off on the surface. Gustav had activated the device.

"Sorry my fellow leaders but this place only allows one person. I have enough oxygen and food here to last me for days till the effect of the charge wears off... then I can escape," The leader voiced out as he noticed the other leaders began to choke.

-"Koorrrhh! Korrhh!"

-"H-ow cou-ld you...?"

The rest of the leaders coughed intensely as they voiced out with tones of regret.

"I shall rebuild the Genxodus... since we still have lots of bases scattered across the world, bouncing back from this incident won't be an issue," The main leader voiced out from the secluded space.

"Too bad the rest of you won't be here to witness it," He clicked his tongue with a tone of disappointment.

"If you four are truly loyal to the Genxodus you should kill yourselves or stay here till you die instead of getting caught by Gustav Crimson," The main leader added.

-

Above the surface, Gustav stood in place waiting after the charge had been set off.

"Any minute now," Gustav muttered with a smile as he waited.

("They won't be able to get away with any spatial help since the disruptor is active,") The system announced.

"So they have no choice but to exit the other frequency from the vicinity... looks like I have nothing to worry about," Gustav replied with a look of understanding.

After a couple of minutes, a circular beam of light appeared on the ground several feet away.

Zing~

Two figures clad in whitish cloak appeared within the circular beam an instant later.

Zing~

Before Gustav could check them out, another circular beam appeared a couple of feet behind.

The moment Gustav turned around to check out the second beam, the figures that had just appeared stormed off.

Fwwwhoommm~ Fwwwhhoomm~

Both of them had instantly tapped on the chest area of the cloak which in turn caused their entire figure to be covered in a suit.

This was activated the instant they arrived on the surface. The suit gave them increased movement speed and agility which they were currently using to try to get away.

Fwwhiii! Fwwwhiii

With a single leap, both figures had crossed up to five hundred feet and they headed in separate directions.

Just as Gustav was about to go after them, the ones that had just arrived as well, performed the same action.

Fwwhiii~ Fwwwhiii~

All four of them had fled in separate directions while clad in the suit that enhanced their physical capabilities.

They all headed, north, south, east and west respectively, arriving at the top of the hole in only a few moments.

"They must have planned this before leaving the other dimensional frequency.... thinking it would work against me..." Gustav muttered as he made a 360° turn to check out the runners.

Blink!

Gustav's eyes suddenly turned dark pink with a mixture of gold.

"Cosmic Superiority... Parallel Domain," Gustav whispered.

Vhhhiiiiiiwww~

An outburst of golden and pink energy was sent forth from his figure.

The runners instantly felt a wave of unprecedented and unfathomable energy sweep across the vicinity.

Gustav had controlled the wave of his Parallel Domain, limiting it to only a small range. Had he let it run wild, the entire city as well as the neighboring ones would be affected.

This was something he didn't want since his friends were also within the city.

This power was a combination of Yarki and another ability he unlocked after becoming a parallel being.

All figures that were escaping initially, paused as they figured out they had lost control of their body functions.

Their figures were lifted into the air and they found their bodies floating back to the same place they fled from.

No matter how much they tried, they couldn't even move a finger, much less let out a scream.

They were completely incapacitated by this strange and unknown goldy power. Only their thoughts were their own but their bodies at this point didn't even belong to them anymore.

- 'Is this the power of Gustav Crimson?'

- 'Just as suspected, he is indeed a dangerous man,'

The leaders thoughts ran wild as they arrived before Gustav.

"Did you lots thing you could actually escape from me like that?" A smirk appeared on Gustav's face as he voiced out.

"Think again," Gustav said while moving towards the first one.

Thisssh~

He deactivated his suit and the face that appeared before him was a blue colored one with horn on the forehead.

Gustav moved to the next one and deactivated the suit as well. This time it was a female face. She looked pretty human but had a pointy ear with unknown markings behind them.

The last two Gustav deactivated had similar looks, making Gustav believe they were relatives. Two of them had the same type of horn on their faces.

'All slarkovs... I thought as much,' Gustav said internally after uncovering their identities.

There was not a single human amongst these Genxodus leaders.

"Now that I have you all in the palm of my hand, tell me why I shouldn't slaughter you one after the other," Gustav stated.

They were silent for a bit before Gustav realised something.

"Oh," He snapped his fingers after exclaiming.

"You can speak now," He said while conjuring a chair out of iro silk.

He proceeded to sit with his legs crossed as the floating figures in front of him drew a little closer.

- "You can't kill us Gustav Crimson!"

- "We are valuable to the MBO,"

"Oh is that so?" A snack appeared in Gustav's hand and he began chewing away as he listened to them speak.

- "You are a slave to the MBO, you must keep the leaders alive for questioning,"

One of them voiced out once more.

"Am I now?" Gustav gobbled down another mouthful of snack before nonchalantly staring at the fourth leader who had just spoken.

Fwwwheii~ Bang!

A popping sound rang out in the next instant, causing the leaders' eyes to widen in shock and fright.

"Hmm, I guess you can't answer my question... afterall you're missing a head," Gustav muttered as he stared at the fourth floating leader who now had a headless corpse.

"Kyaaarrhhh!"

"Aahhhh!"

"Nooooo!"

The three leaders yelled out as they watched blood squirt out of the fourth leader's headless corpse like a fountain.

Gustav watched the blood flow with an unbothered expression before snapping his fingers.

pah!

The headless corpse fell to the ground and was soon covered in a pool of its own blood.

Chomp~

Gustav resumed gnawing on the snack bar in his hand while watching the frightened reactions of the other leaders.

"I wonder if anyone else thinks I'm a slave of the MBO," Gustav voiced out while swallowing another mouthful of snack.

Despite the stench of blood in the vicinity, he was not bothered in the slightest.

-"Please spare us,"

The leaders began pleading for their lives.

"Nah... One or maybe all of you will still die by my hands," Gustav replied without an iota of mercy in the tone of his voice.

-"Please, please we will tell you everything you want to know,"

-"Please spare me, i will for sure cooperate,"

"Hmm, well it depends on if you give me enough valuable information... then I can let the rest of you live... if not, I'll just kill all three of you and tell the MBO there was no way to save you lots," After saying this, Gustav drank a bottle full of water.

-"There is still one more,"

"Hmm?" Gustav's face beamed with a look of interest upon hearing the female leader say this.

"Tell me more," The bottle in Gustav's grasp disintegrated into light particles as he stared at the Slarkov woman with interest.

#####

"Contact them again,"

In the control room on the outskirts of Aribia City, commander Darmark voiced out.

-"Commanders?"

"Officer Aildris, Can you give us a status update?" Commander Darmark questioned.

- "All Genxodus members outside the upper district have been successfully rounded up. Total number is two thousand, seven hundred and thirty four," Aildris responded from the other side.

"Good job, any word from officer Crimson?"

- "None yet,"

"We have tried contacting him over and over but to no avail. Our satellites are running blind after the cover up so we have no idea what is going on," Commander Shuri voiced out this time.

- "Not to worry commanders. Officer Crimson will update us himself after he has achieved his objective," Aildris replied.

"Such insubordination! He chose to disallow any communication with the higher ups to pursue his own agenda! Officer Crimson must be..." Officer Colt began voicing out when Aildris interrupted.

- "Officer Crimson did that to avoid unnecessary distraction which would lead to further mishap of the mission. He will reach out to us once the objective is complete," Aildris stated.

"This is no..."

"Commander Colt calm down," Commander Darmark shut him down before he could say anything this time.

"On the bright side the Genxodus members are trapped within the barricade of those spiky walls..."
Commander Shuri added.

Chapter 1130 Sovereign Of Darkness

"We have asked for reinforcements so we will have more officers surrounding the walls soon to make sure no Genxodus member manages to escape," Commander Darmark gave this final head up before disconnecting.

Within the upper district, a wave of darkness could be seen surrounding a particular vicinity.

This wave of darkness was like a never dying flame of pitch darkness that prevented anything or anyone from coming close.

All the roots in this area had completely given this wave of pitch darkness quite the distance despite sensing that there was a mixedblood within.

They couldn't go near it. There was nothing but empty space in this area, besides the darkness which was in a stationary state.

'Where am I?'

'What is this?'

A presence within the domain of darkness kept questioning.

It was like this presence both existed and didn't exist at the same time.

'Your body went into survival mode... causing this,' A voice answered the presence.

'Huh? Dark is that you?'

-'Of course you pig! I mean... my king...'

'What do you mean by king? Tell me what exactly this is and how I get out of it?'

-'You are the... I can't say yet but you are already transitioning so you will figure it out soon enough,'

'What do you even mean by that?'

-'Lowlife... i mean king... You're are the one who did this so only you can get out of it,'

'I don't even know what this is? How will I even figure out what to do,'

-'You will have to cos nobody... hold on... only he might be able to help...'

'He? He who?'

Fwwhooommm~

A loud whooshing sound rang out and what was heard next was a familiar voice calling out a name.

"Falco..."

"You really have a lot of explaining to do," He heard the familiar voice once more.

Outside the area of darkness, Gustav stood in place. He happened to be inspecting the vicinity.

"Well at least, whatever this is, protected you," Gustav muttered as he looked around.

His eyes were glowing a myriad of colors which depicted that God Eyes were activated.

All of the roots in the vicinity did not dare close in on this area and the darkness had eroded the place it dwelled upon.

Gustav stretched one hand forward and could already feel the erosion and negativity the darkness embodied.

"That's powerful... under normal circumstances, i won't be able to come near this," Gustav said as he lowered his arm.

("The darkness is super concentrated... it is a domain of its own. If anyone goes in, they are never coming back,") The system chimed in.

"From what I can see, it has different effects... none good," Gustav deactivated God Eyes at this point.

"Atomic Disintegration alone won't do the job... since it also has effects that go beyond physicality," After determining a bunch of things, Gustav finally activated an ability.

[Ultimate Combination Has Been Activated]

Gustav's body morphed as he increased in size and muscular structure. His skin turned whitish as a single ram horn grew out of his forehead. He reached a height of nine feet as a halo appeared around his head as well as a tail and some crimson markings.

Zzzghoouuusshhh~

A wave of energy blew across the vicinity, causing the city to begin rumbling once more as Gustav activated this ability.

Ultimate Combination had become extremely powerful since Gustav had also increased in strength.

'This should do it,' Gustav thought.

Not only could he feel the immense increase in strength, ultimate combination also embodied a lot of abilities without issues.

The glow surrounding him increased as he began taking steps forward.

The darkness in his path, increased in size and tried to consume his figure but in this state, Gustav was just too powerful for it to truly have effect on him.

Besides the darkness trying to erode him from the inside out, he could also sense negativity as thoughts began to appear in his mind.

However, Gustav was able to bear it and pushed forward into the darkness, emitting light from his figure.

Gustav couldn't imagine how terrible it would have been had he tried infiltrating the darkness without activating ultimate combination.

A couple of seconds later, he arrived before an unconscious body floating a couple of feet above the ground.

"Falco..." Gustav muttered as he stared at the tattoos that had covered his entire body.

Besides that, a crown made of total darkness was floating just a few inches away from Falco's head.

This dark crown was only half constructed, and seemed to still be forming. This left Gustav with a slightly confused expression as he inspected Falco and the half constructed dark crown for a bit.

"Wake up, we gotta go," Gustav voiced out while moving closer to Falco's floating body.

There was no response. Falco remained unconscious.

- "He won't wake till you get him out of the darkness... if he remains here, he will transition completely,"

A voice rang out from Falco figure, yet he remained unconscious.

"Dark Falco? Is that you?" Gustav questioned.

- "What does it matter loser! Tch!" The voice responded.

"Transition completely? What do you mean by that?" Gustav questioned, ignoring Dark Falco's insult.

- "He will become the Sovereign Of Darkness untimely and his adventure with you lowlives will come to an end,"

"Sovereign Of Darkness? What is that?" Gustav questioned once more.

- "If I were to start explaining everything to you, we will be here forever and he will transition you fool! Get him out!" Dark Falco yelled back with a tone of anguish.

"Alright," Gustav went on to grab Falco's body.

Tssshhh!

Dark matter instantly spread from Falco to Gustav's hand upon making contact.

"What the...?" Gustav let go upon feeling intense pain.

The darkness that had covered his palm and his entire wrist upon the initial contact, slowly rescinded.

-"I may have forgotten to mention that getting him out of here won't be easy," Dark Falco stated.

"I'll be damned..." Gustav couldn't believe that even with Ultimate Combination activated, Falco power still affected him this much.

Gustav braced himself this time as he reached out to grab Falco once more.

Tssshhhhh~

The dark matter began spreading again. Gustav quickly turned around and charged forward.

Swwoosshhh~

The dark matter spread faster as he sped out of the range of the darkness.

Fortunately, it only took about two seconds for Gustav to get out of the range with Falco.

However, these two seconds were enough for him to be nearly consumed by darkness completely.

Gustav breathed in and out heavily as dark thoughts plagued his mind and his innards were being eroded.

- 'You will not succeed, '

- 'You are still trash, '

- 'The earth will be destroyed along with everyone you love, '

- 'You will fail miss Aimee and everyone else, '

"Fuu!"

"Fuuu!"

Gustav breathed in and out heavily as the thoughts began to subside and the darkness that covered nearly his entire body began to rescind.

Damage had been done to his internal organs but his regeneration was working to restore that from the moment he got out of the vicinity of darkness.

"You definitely have a lot to explain," Gustav voiced out as he deactivated Ultimate Combination.

Ssshhhhshshh~

Gas was released from his body as he reverted to his original look.

Falco's tattoo were rescinding as well and the crown of darkness began fading away. Gustav could tell that he would soon regain consciousness.

"Dark Falco," Gustav tried calling out to Dark Falco multiple times but there was no answer.

He wanted to question him on what Dark Falco mentioned earlier but it looked like Dark Falco was ignoring him.

"Officer Crimson, you finally contacted us," Commander Darmark voiced through the comms.

- "Commanders, the operation has come to a finish. Prepare to evacuate the civilians survivors," Gustav voiced from the other side.

"The Genxodus members have been rounded up?" The commanders all voiced out at the same time with expressions of disbelief.

- "Huh... No," Gustav replied.

"Then what do you mean by the operation has ended?" Commander Colt yelled out.

- "Everyone is dead,"

"What!?"

- "Well, not everyone but I'm sure you already know that these roots were after Mixedbloods right?"

The commanders; "..."

- "So yeah, all mixedbloods are dead now, including MBO officers that were trapped here and civilians. The human civilians are still alive though," Gustav reported.

"How could this be?" Commander Shuri voiced with a devastated tone.

Thousands of MBO officers had lost their lives due to this endeavour.

"What about the Genxodus members?" Officer Colt questioned.

- "Twelve thousand six hundred and thirty two Genxodus members... I slaughtered..."

Gustav revelation caused all commanders to open their mouths wide with crazy expressions.

- "On the bright side, I caught four... three of their leaders and left one member alive. You can question those,"

"Officer Crimson..."

- "I'm lowering the walls now,"

The communication was disconnected after this. The commanders looks of shock had not faded even after a couple of seconds had passed by.

"Send word to the reinforcements surrounding the upper district... tell them to bring back the captured member and leaders and also escort Officer Crimson back to this base,"