

ANCIENT TEARS BLOODLINE

Chapter 19 - Sir Lowell McClain

Three of them had a long conversation in the garden, At night after having dinner they went to bed. In his bedroom, Zack took out his wooden case and placed it on the bed. The room is not so big but it's quite nice to have a small bed, table and chair for reading doing your work.

On the table, there is a set of VR helmets and medium-size closets. On the outside, it looks like 18th-century tradition but actually, everything here is brand-new items integrated with A. I according to a person's taste one can customize their own home.

Looking at the VR helmet on the table. A look of intrigue appeared in his eyes. He wants to try it out but he doesn't have access. Uncle James said to me that he can only give access to me if I am admitted into the B grade institution. At first, I was confused.

Regarding my Special element, I was confident that it won't be a problem for me to pass the qualification test, yet regarding A and B grading institutions they were stuffed with huge resources. At first, I was nobody got a D grade quota. Now with Special element, I am sure they got me a seat in a C grade institution.

Yet, When it comes to A and B grade institutions. I'm not scared once I got a successful lightning totem implantation. There is no problem for me to compete. He took out his white bone sword try out some fancy move with it. After swinging and try out few tricks with it. He his entire being covered with sweats. He then went to a shower had a quick bath, Later he jumped on the bed slept peacefully.

Meanwhile in Mr James room.

He tapped on his watch on the screen a name is displayed as Dean Marks his Superior. Soon the Call was received. A huge projection of Dean Marks was Shown. He wore a black tuxedo with a white shirt and black tie. He said.

"Knight Lockwood, It's already been discussed that your Junior only got permitted to have a D grade quota in that wretched academy. Your credits are not enough. I hope this call won't be futile. Do not try to convince me further". He said angrily.

Looks like he got a bad day today He directed his anger at Mr James.

Mr James knitted his eyebrow.

"Sir Mark, I got important news you will be happy to hear that". Mr James said immediately.

The anger dissipated on his face immediately, He changed his way of tone and asked.

"Mr James What is it? Then soon Mr James informed everything regarding Zack and demanded a Special element totem for him".

Hearing that Dean Mark's face changed immediately. A look of disbelief dawned on his face soon it turned into ecstasy.

" Haha Mr James you saved my life he said frantically".

"What?"Mr James replied. He immediately changed the topic and said

"No, What I mean glad that you informed us sooner. I will call you tomorrow regarding the totem and everything". Then they talked few minutes and turned off the call.

After turning down his call. Mr Dean Marks was overjoyed. Glad that he told me as soon as possible. Lately, his mission was downhill, His completion rates plummeted. With this news, I can ease the anger of Sir Lowell McClain. Soon he informed everything about Zack to his Superior McClain.

Hearing that Mr Lowell said to himself to think that Special element user appeared in that outskirts zone with no resources. They applied for that little academy with his quota. It Looks like that kid and I were fated. He may turn out helpful to that plan He needs to sign a contract first with me, Recently I have been to ruin, I got the lightning Scripture but most of them were burned only 10% were visible. As he taps on the table by thinking and looks towards the outside window.

Unlike Outpost 1012, the area Mr Lowell resided is gigantic, the city is filled with huge skyscrapers above the sky there is a dome-shaped field that is covered the entire city as protection. Every household, shop and mall was filled with powerful auras exhibited by the people.

It entirely looks in contrast to outpost 1012. Not a single being is weak here. If people of outpost 1012 will present here they have crushed to death with aura alone.

Then he said to himself this entire scripture is useless anyway we have deciphered all of the 10% rest were burnt, it's best to give that kid as goodwill. He will believe in us further. Then. he called Mr Dean Mark and told everything.

This sly fox won't change his habit as Mr Lowell knitted his eyebrows thinking about Mr Dean Marks behaviour. He had a quite suspicious of him for a long time.

His mission completion rate was a failure. Most of the important missions were turned out to be disastrous. He thought it's a good thing I did not tell him about scripture. I told him to hand over the sealed package to that kid when he signed his contract. It's can be opened by anyone except that Zack kid. It is a Package of A. I container marked with Zack's Biometric information.

Only he can open the package. It's best to send the encrypted messages to that kid's Guardian regarding Mr Dean Marks. It's best to send an important message to me directly. Once the kid signs the contract he will be entrusted to me. Mr Lowell said to himself.

Soon he sent an encrypted message to Mr James.

Meanwhile, Mr James reading a book in his room. Soon his watch pinged him. He opens the inbox of the message it turns out to be an encrypted code. His face changed drastically seeing that he soon turned his face and walked towards the door and window, As he checked everything was closed tightly and no one is around here. He then tapped in his table lights were dimmed out.. A secret underground passage was opened beneath the table.
