Chapter 24 - Hansen Sword Training Centre

Zack came toward the receptionist desk and asked the receptionist lady.

"Excuse me," said Zack.

The lady in the black tuxedo tilted her head and saw him. Zack asked about the registration fees. The lady responded by saying.

"Hi", I am the receptionist in charge of the front desk. My name is Kristy Holmes.

Sir Arthur Emerson already informed me about you. She logged in on the screen, reading the information about Zack and said.

"Your name is Zack Lockwood. The course for Sword Training is already been registered. You only need to pay for fees using the credit points. Zack used his Sci-fi watch to pay 8,000 credit points for the course. The course description and the information were sent to his ID. He had only 1500+ something credit points as the remaining balance".

Zack then toured around the building. The building is U shaped. In the centre, there is a battle arena on the ground. As Zack walk past several rooms. He saw there were several training rooms for individual practice. Zack then stayed in the temporary room. Waiting for classes to be started.

He had been given a specific ID as a Sword training student. To enter the facility whenever needed. Each Training room is locked only to be opened by students and teachers.

"Ding" a sound rang.

Zack got a message stated his classes will be started in 10 minutes in room 206. Zack got up took his backpack went for room 206. soon he arrived in front of the room. seeing the label 206 on the door. Zack showed his specific ID in the Sci-fi watch on the scanner which is latched to the door. The ID quickly got scanned and the door was automatically opened. Zack went inside.

Zach was surprised that he got here earlier ahead of time. but the sword trainer is already present in the class, seeing that he quickly said.

"Hello", My name is Zack.

The sword trainer is a female. She is taller had a strong body filled with absolute strength. She had numerous scars on her hands. There is also a scar on her forehead with a normal face. Zack is awed by it. she is a strong warrior. She got small eyes with short black hair wearing a warriors suit. That's why he can recognise she is a mentor. He thought.

"You got here in time".. My name is Adeline key,

I am your sword trainer for the next two years. She told.

"Okay, Ms Key". Zack replied.

You can take your seat as she pointed upwards. Zack quickly went over the last bench. As he took his seat. He thought looks like I am the first. Both of them waited for a minute before a gigantic figure entered the classroom.

Zack saw, The boy is a hunk. A walking talking bull he laughed himself. by looking at his clothing he affirmed his thoughts. Sure rich kid. Seems like he is local.

Ever since my brain was activated, I am not behaving like a typical 10 years old. Granny park said kids my age usually complain a lot. They understand a little. Always playful. Only after 12 or 14 years old do they behave like somewhat mature. I am ahead of time looking at my peers.

That hunk kid introduced himself as Marcus Moore. He is a young master of a merchant family named Moore. it's a local tyrant in the red stone city. Uncle James advised me to act as low key before joining the Academy.

it's common to get assassinated before joining. Zack quickly cleared his thoughts.

After a talk with the trainer, the Moore kid took his seat on the first bench. He never acknowledges Zack's existence. Seeing this Zack smirked a sure self-entitled brat. Zack thought. Soon four more figures came they all are females. Zack knitted his eyebrows he felt an elemental aura. One of the females is an elemental warrior.

Zack's heart starts to beat faster. He quickly checks his aura. He said to himself Try not to leak a bit. He earlier concealed his aura. He doesn't want the sword trainer or anyone else to know about him. besides Uncle James and Granny park.

Uncle James sternly warned him at the night of manifestation. They had a long chat about the people. They can kill kids for an academic quota. Zack felt huge pressure then onwards. He firmly decided to act low key no matter what. Act according to the situation.

The four females introduced themselves. Among them, two were twins named Joann Allen and Leona Allen. Both were looking the same no elemental aura around them. They had long black hair with a cute face not beautiful enough to fawn over them. They had pale skin. It's difficult to imagine how they are going to train. Zack thought.

The girl next to the twins introduced herself as Candace Wilkerson. She had short brown hair with an average-looking face. But I am more interested in the last one. I felt an elemental aura around her. She introduced herself as Maria Frazier. By hearing the last name the sword trainer's face changed a little but it quickly turned normal. But Zack noticed it. He thought. The kid from the Frazier family is sure there is no shortage of crouching tigers and hidden dragons.

The hunk kid got up and went to the girls. he wants to introduce himself to the girls. But the girls didn't even battle an eye. They got seated on the left side column. The seats were arranged in two columns each having five rows. Zack and the Hunk kid got seated on the right side of the column. The girls were seated in the first row of the left column.

Zack laughed himself, poor kid. The girls did not even introduce their background. They said only their name. if you observe you will notice. They thought mentioning their family name is enough. No need to introduce further.

Looks like that Marcus kid is not intellectual.
