Chapter 241 - Part Two: Elder Ross Vs Three Elites

After the heavy collision the dust settles down.

Elder Ross frowned, He didn't expect that Giant Flame Sword to be Powerful.

"He'|He'|He'|"

"Old Man, Looking at your face. I see you didn't expect me to be this powerful." The Peak Elite Warrior sneered facing Elder Ross.

Next second, His eyes flashes with killing intent. As he made his next move.

He raised both his palms to form a sea of flames in the sky. Then he launched the entire sea of flames towards Elder Ross.

Compared to the Giant Flame Sword, the heat emanating from the sea of flames poses a threat to the normal Elite Warriors.

Seeing his leader made a decisive attack on the enemy. The Mid level Warrior also made his move. He is an Earth Elemental Warrior using that power. He attracted several boulders from the ground.

As the boulders moved towards the sky from the ground one by one, The Earth Elemental Warrior then pushed those boulders towards Elder Ross.

Several large and medium size boulders were flying towards Elder Ross.

The other hand, facing the two frontal attacks, Elder Ross didn't get flustered.

"Earth Elemental one uh?" Elder Ross smirked.

"I can only deal with them quickly in close combat." He said to himself.

Facing a wave of flames, He enveloped himself using a silver layer shield using metal elements. If one looks closely towards the shield, from a distance Elder Ross appears to be inside of a Silver Color Ball.

When the sea of flames drowns the ball,

"Bang" A deafening sound resonated in the area.

It's impossible to see what's happening over there with a naked eye. As those flames completely drowned the Silver Ball. And more scorching heat envelops the surrounding area due to the attack.

At the same time, several boulders slammed into the sea of flames towards the Silver Ball. When the boulder comes into contact with a metallic silver ball.

"Boom" "Boom" "Boom"

The sound of constant collision resonated throughout the area.

The other hand, Due to the extreme flame attack the first layer of the shield completely withers into thin air. The first layer turned into ashes facing the full blown attack.

When the second layer comes in contact with flames attack. The impact was reduced a little bit, but at this time Several boulders landed on the shield out of no air.

Everything happening in the shield is completely noticed by Elder Ross. He is constantly maintaining the stability of the shield by pouring metallic energy.

His eyes flicker in instant, as he notices the second layer is working fine under the flame attack. But the impact of earth boulders putting a dent on the shield. Which further reduces the effectiveness of the second layer.

"Damn, I can't delay it any longer. I need to provide support to other places" After making up his mind, He decide to use his offensive artifact.

He took a bow and arrow set from his storage ring. This Silver Weapon set is a high end offensive artifact. It's mostly used by metal attribute warriors.

At this moment, Elder Ross decided to target the Mid level Warrior. He placed the arrow carefully then he poured metallic energy into it. The silver arrow gets sharper and stronger due to its metallic essence.

All he needs is less than a second to launch the attack.

Then Elder Ross aimed at Mid level Warrior's eyes. After locking the target, He immediately pulled the bow string. The arrow launches towards the target at a break-necking speed.

Outside,

Seeing the sea of flames scorching the enemy, the Elite Peak level Warrior smiled viciously. But deep down he knows this attack alone won't be enough to wear him down completely.

He needs to make multiple attacks to drain his energy. Then he can use his trump card to kill him. At this moment, suddenly an old memory flashes before his eyes. Where he and his companions get chased and hunted down by Star Tower Warriors.

Only a few people were able to escape from their pursuit in the end. But unfortunately due to severe injuries some of them passed away later. Except him, the rest of them choose to live their remaining life peacefully.

But he can't do it, his brother died from their endless pursuit and killing. It's the same as the last time, in order to kill a few talented kids. His team took a bounty mission.

Their team is just one of those many teams who had taken the same mission. At that time his team is able to eliminate most of the heads successfully. In the end, they had completed their mission.

He is maddening more as he thinks about the tragic past. They should have returned to their organization after completing the mission. But unfortunately greed took over the hearts of some of his members at that time.

Because of them he was even himself tempted to do more killing. Sadly, like others he too fell to their convincing arguments. Finally, After having brainwashed their team indulge in more excessive killing and ends up getting chased by Star Tower Officials.

He knew the old man before him and also eliminated some of his guys. He felt a sudden burst of anger recalling their tragic moments. He made another violent flame attack. This time he poured a huge amount of fire elemental essence to form a giant flame ball.

He fiercely slammed the Giant Flame Ball towards Elder Ross.

This Giant Flame Ball looks like a mini sun from the ground. All the warriors battling in the ground stopped their fighting for a moment and looked at the sky.

They can feel scorching heat emanating from the giant flame ball.

As the Giant Flame ball dashing towards the Silver shield/ball.

"Hiss!"

The piercing silver arrow was shot towards the Mid level Elite Warrior. It happened in the blink of an eye.

After launching the flame ball, he looks forward to the attack. Just as he looks at it, he senses imminent danger.

He caught a glimpse of an arrow piercing towards the Mid level Elite Warrior beside him. It's an artifact attack launched by Elite Peak State Warrior. It's even hard for him to block it directly.

"puch"

Before the Mid level Elite Warrior could react, the arrow reached him and pierced through it.

The brain matters burst out completely towards the surrounding. As a result, his vitality withers away due to the sudden attack and his huge body falls to the ground. He couldn't have imagined he would meet with a tragic death in the end.

Seeing his other companion gone, His face becomes even more distorted. He already recognized the silver arrow. His expression condensed further. "Just as expected. It's not easy to kill this old thing." He spoke to himself.

Just at this moment,

"Boom"

The Giant Flame Ball comes into contact with the shield. The second layer was completely torn away due to a powerful attack. The flame attack didn't even take a second to reach the third layer.

Elder Ross smiled on the other hand, He slightly rubbed his favorite weapon set. Like old days, he took out the target in one shot. Then he placed the weapon back in his storage ring.

And in the next moment his smile disappears as he notices the impact of the flame ball.

"This pest!" He snorted.

The last layer is also gone in a few minutes. He disappeared from the spot and plans to end the opponent in close combat.

The other hand, the Peak level warrior notices that there is no injury on the opponent's body. He also burst out in full strength to attack him.

"Boom" "Boom"

Both of the opponents fiercely fought against each other. Due to lack of combat experience, He wasn't even able to switch to offense as Elder Ross's punches landed on his body continuously.

At the same time, the numbers of warriors from his side were also in decline. In a few minutes, half of his warriors died. If the situation goes on everyone will be wiped out. But there is no hint of remorse in his heart. He put himself in a tricky situation, he got no time to think about them.

Elder Ross on the other hand covers his palm in a thin metallic layer. In every attack he didn't give the opponent any time to counterattack him. He knew what's happening on the ground. It will be a matter of time before his men clear out the battlefield. So, he can't be behind them.

Next moment, He formed a sharp spike to nail him. As the opponent was so close to defend his attack. Seeing the spike he wasn't able to move away from the spot in time. He only managed to twist his body to protect his heart.

The spike pierced through his shoulder bone, hereby injuring him greatly. Elder Ross didn't give him anymore time to move away. He launches several spikes in close range.

Seeing those spikes dashing towards him, he gritted his teeth in anger. He knew it's impossible to stop all those spikes in close range. Next moment, He made a firm decision.. He drank some kind of forbidden liquid at this moment.
