

BloodLine 25

Chapter 25 - Training

The Girl Maria Frazier had long black hair they were up to the shoulders with a tinge of blue colour on it. I noticed then averted my gaze toward the teacher.

The trainer Ms Key looked at us for a second then said.

"I believe you all know the basics. To become the Warrior, The first step is to have an elemental totem implant in your dantian and proper warrior technique. Once you successfully implant the elemental totem and channel your elemental energy through veins by operating the warrior technique. Then we can say you have successfully entered the level of "TRAINEE APPRENTICE" and started your journey as a warrior".

"Now, the training we provide here is especially for ZERO candidates. Aspiring candidates like you are called ZERO candidates because you guys are on the stage. Where one step further here leads to becoming TRAINEE APPRENTICE".

Hearing that I understand, once you become TRAINEE APPRENTICE as a warrior. If you have the elemental ability you can wield your sword and channel the elemental energy to fight. It will become an easy fight. Imagine a fight between an elemental warrior and a Zero candidate. It's called volunteer death seeking Zack told in his heart.

Ms Key said. "You guys have a good base with proper training, you can master all the basic sword stances. Now let's go to the training room".

As we exited the discussion room to the training room. Behind the trainer, the four ladies who took the lead followed. Marcus Moore and I paced our step a little bit and followed them. Soon we came across the room. the trainer scanned her ID. The door opened one by one we entered the room.

The room is medium-sized. Lots of swords varied in varieties were placed at the corner shelf of the hall. They were original. Below the shelf, lots of wooden swords were placed in an organised manner. The trainer asked us to pick up the wooden sword. I moved towards the shelf since I was close enough to do that.

Yet Marcus Moore brushes past me. And quickly pick up the wooden sword not one but four. He gave me a provocative look.

Then he handed over the wooden swords to the girls. The girls took the sword one by one. I sneered in my heart. Then I pick up mine and walk towards the mentor. the mentor's expression did not change it's like she is used to this.

Ms Key said. " Now, I will teach you about swords. Each sword got different sword stances. With a wooden sword, I will teach common weird stances". Then she started teaching.

The training is unlike anything I have experienced so far. I still remember the solo training I would use to do in the backyard of the orphanage. It's a good thing that Granny park stopped me, without having proper training unlike now. If I continue to do that I must have injured myself.

Training is such a feeling, with every stance of the sword training, I need to balance both my body and sword. I felt a vague idea why we need to do that. To channel body strength from our lower part of the body to the upper part of the body. Ever since I levelled up my basic domain physic to the mid-level, I never felt tired. I want to test my limit of physical strength. Zack told in his heart.

After 4 hours of practical training, everybody started to sweat. the four girls were looked exhausted they sat on the ground. Marcus Moore is a bit ok. I am not surprised seeing this scene he is a walking bull. I seemed alright, but to avoid suspiciousness, I laid on the ground lazily.

Ms Key said. "Your classes for today is over, Every Day you got four hours of practical training and two hours of solo training in your separate practice room. Total of 6 hours. Only by training for 6 hours, you're allowed to go outside". Ms key said sternly. An unseen aura started to press us all down. We uniformly affirmed that we will complete our training.

What kind of aura is that, She emitted no elemental leakage but with her presence alone she pressed us all down. Zack awes in the heart. He was sworn in his heart one day. he will do the same thing in the future less talk more aura. How cool will it be Zack smiled in his heart in thought of that?

Ms key left the classroom leaving all of us alone.

The Marcus Moore thought.

It's good that scary mentor left, I need punching bag to vent my anger. Girls as he thought about them he immersed himself in his fantasy. I will make you mine soon but he is upset over the fact that no one cared about his existence. He looked at Maria Frazier walk towards her.

"Hey guys. I saw you are exhausted I may help you with some practice as a sparring partner". he said to Maria Frazier. Among four girls she quickly gained her stamina but looking at her friends they were in no shape to accompany her. Then she looked towards Zack. She frowned seeing Zack laid on the ground. She thought Zack had a mediocre talent.

She said, " Let us practice for an hour after that I need to do the solo practice". Both of them started sparring.

Zack saw this scene and sneered in his heart. he quickly exited the room to look for an individual training room. Zack after finding a suitable room for training. There was an impulse in my heart to take out my white bone. But I won't do that. Who knows there might be a camera here. it's safe to practice with a wooden sword now. Then he started to practice with a wooden sword for two hours.

Zack did not know that he was right all along. Ms Adeline key from her cabin, observed every moment of the ZERO Candidates. There is a big hologram screen in front of her. She saw Maria Frazier and Marcus Moore were sparring. The other three ladies were taking a little break to gain some stamina. Then she saw Zack practising sword stances she taught earlier.. He was training in the individual training room.