Chapter 29 - Understanding The Truth

Next Day

Zack woke up early. I made a comprehensive plan for myself. To-do list, Which has everything I needed to do before my sleep. I uploaded the schedule on my Holowatch which will ping me whenever a new task is required to do. He did some stretching and went for a bath. After a good shower. Zack begins to meditate.

Yesterday, Uncle James reminded me that I'm a Vase filled with overflowing water. To avoid a crack in the vase I need to strengthen my base. In every Ascension to Ranking warrior, I need to take care of my base. Only by having a strong base. I can control the immense power without any backlash. Even if any misfortune occurs with a strong base I can recover with time. Zack said to himself.

I feel my soul strength is a little below mid-level of the APPRENTICE WARRIOR. I need to test my limit. There is only one way to do it by attacking monsters and defeating them. You can gauge your strength and also the monster's strength. But the likelihood of that happening is minimal.

The Warrior Education System here in the outpost is strict and filled with rules and regulations. Without having proper knowledge of everything you are not allowed to enter the mission.

I need to wait for the Academy. Zack sighed internally. Imagine you got a cake in front of you but you are not allowed to eat immediately. You have to wait for the time. It felt daunting but I have no choice. Zack said to himself. After some quick reflection, Zack spends time meditating.

Sometimes later.

After having a good breakfast. Granny park gave a Zack Green hexagon pendant. It looks Antique yet it did not have any scratches.

She said. "Zack this pendant was used by me in the early days of being a Special Trainee; It can conceal your realm up to Trainee Warrior. So safely guard it. It not only helps you from being discovered by humans but also monsters".

"Thanks, Granny". said Zack and wore the pendant around his neck. After some conversation with Granny. He left for Sword Training Centre. Uncle James went for the mission but he already sent me credit points for travel expenses. Zack boarded the train he bought his ticket using Holowatch.

I planned on buying a special travel card for one year. Instead of booking tickets daily. but I felt it too early to do that. It is my second day at the academy so there is no point in being hasty. Zack booked his favourite seat at the left side of the window corner. He sat in the window seat and had a glance of the outside view. Then he closed his eye as he immersed himself in his thoughts.

After one hour of travelling. Zack booked the Hover Cab to Hansen training centre. I need to spend an extra hour in training. And also stay away from that Maria Frazier. Soon a Huge U Shaped building came into view. It's the Hansen Sword Training centre. After paying for the cab Zack entered the building. He greeted the receptionist and went directly towards the Sword training room. Where Ms Adeline taught yesterday.

Zack touched his pendant, Thanks to granny. it's already been bonded with my blood. Otherwise, it's hard to escape from Ms Adeline keen sense. He let go of his hands from the pendant. As he reached the room he used his special card for scanning his ID and entered the room.

He was surprised from being perceived by a lot of gazes. But he recovered quickly. All his classmates were present here in the classroom. Zack sighed in his heart. it's the perk of being a local. You can arrive here whenever you want. I am the only guy here who travels from a neighbouring city.

Marcus Moore had a Smirk on his face seeing his face. Zack thought why that bull had a gloating expression. He must be waiting for something. looks like not only do I have to learn to fight.

I need to have some scheming skills. But this kind of mental ability is something I was born with. I felt no pressure dealing with these people it's like a game. You anticipate what they are going to do and you develop some contingency plan to deal with it

This bull with a small brain must have felt I am weak. Judging by yesterday's training. He can only propose to do some sparring training with me. Why? because he wants to impress these girls. By stepping upon me. So it's easy to guess people's intentions, Especially like him who use lower pants to think.

Zack smirked internally but had a normal look outside without any facial expression. At the same time, he also found two girls still looking at him. He shifted his gaze toward them casually. He found Maria Frazier looking at him. As both of their gazes met. Maria Frazier averted her gaze from him quickly.

A surprise glint appeared in Zack's eyes. Sure She is an Apprentice Warrior. This time I felt a strong aura around her now. Maybe it's due to an increase in soul strength. But Zack thought of something. it's not only due to my soul but seems my perception range increased a little bit. It's a combined effect and with the pendant, no one here will doubt me.

luckily, no one found out yesterday. I isolated myself in the solo chamber. Otherwise, it's impossible to escape from Ms Adeline key's sense. But how come that girl Marian Frazier escaped from Ms Key's sense. Zack's face turned serious as he realized important news.

The Mentor must have known Marian Frazier being Apprentice Warrior but still, she did not say anything. She is big fish. Soon Zack laughed internally as he saw Marcus Moore looking at girls without even blinking.

The poor bull you want to hit an iron plate. I can't imagine your ending. Zack smirked internally there is another girl who seems more dangerous than Maria Frazier.. This Candace Wilkerson still looking at me.
