

The Bloodline System

Chapter 46: Invitation

'Looks like they finally grew some balls,' Gustav turned around and started walking towards the door.

'Time to collect more compensations,' A wide grin could be seen on Gustav's face as he got to the door of the dojo and slid it to the side.

Immediately Gustav slid open the wooden doors what appeared in his line of sight were two boys and girls. They looked to be teenagers like him and he could recognize two of their faces. Two of the boys were among the students that watched the fight between him and Aurora, along with Masuba. The other two girls were unknown to him.

The four of them immediately stopped arguing after seeing Gustav appear.

"Is that him?" The girl on the right sporting black and purple hair questioned one of the boys.

"Yes, he's the one," One of the boys who had a chubby look answered.

"What? He looks so tiny and weak!" The second girl who sported brown hair spoke with a look of ridicule.

The two boys' faces paled as they heard that.

"I thought it was going to be someone more intimidating," The girl with black and purple hair spoke again.

"He looks like a pretty boy, how could Masuba lose to this feathered-looking person," The other girl sporting brown hair spoke again.

The both of them spoke like Gustav wasn't standing in front of them.

The faces of the boys paled again upon hearing the conversation of the girls.

They stared in Gustav's direction with a frightful look. Surprisingly Gustav didn't even look bothered. He just stared at the girls like they were some clowns performing a circus act.

"He's right here, you know?" The chubby boy couldn't bear it anymore and finally spoke since he was afraid of Gustav misunderstanding the situation. He didn't want Gustav to think he was also among those insulting him.

"What's this? You're scared of him?" The female sporting brown hair questioned with a look of disgust.

"If you don't have anything tangible to say I will return to my training, I have better things to spend my time on than wasting it on watching a circus act play out in front of me! You two should get your circus monkeys out of here," Gustav said to the two boys and turned around to enter the dojo once again.

"Hiss, did he just call us...? How dare this...?" The female on brown got mad immediately and wanted to approach Gustav but the other girl dragged her back.

"Remember the rules?" The girl sporting purple and black hair questioned with a reminding tone.

When the girl on brown heard that she calmed down. One of the rules forbids fighting within the premises of the dojo. Fighting was only allowed through duels and failure to comply would result in a permanent ban.

"Don't worry senior Yuhiko will take care of him for us," The girl sporting purple hair whispered in the ears of the other girl as she smiled.

Gustav's ears caught what they said even though he was already about to close the door. Perception had increased his five senses so he would hear even the tiniest of whispers so long as they were within the range of detection.

"Please wait," The boys were the first to call out to Gustav before he could close the doors.

"What is it?" Gustav asked while turning his head to the side.

"Masuba would like to invite you to watch his duel with Yuhiko on the second floor," The chubby boy answered.

"Yuhiko would also like to invite you to watch the duel," The girl sporting purple and black hair spoke.

"Is that why you all are here?" Gustav asked.

"Yes," The group of four nodded.

"Not interested," Gustav turned around after answering.

"What?" The two girls were surprised that Gustav would turn them down even after hearing the name of the person who was inviting him. No one in the dojo could claim, they hadn't heard of the most beautiful and powerful girl in the dojo.

The boys weren't surprised as they were already used to this cold attitude since Gustav had turned down their friendship several times.

"Please senior Gustav, Masuba is willing to do anything for you to attend," The other boy wearing a pair of glasses spoke.

"Oh," Gustav looked interested after hearing that, "Is that so?" he came out of the dojo again as he questioned.

The boys nodded in affirmation.

"That's good, but before I can decide to come with you these rude girls must apologize," Gustav demanded.

"What? I'm not apologizing to this..." Before the girl with brown hair could even complete her statement Gustav interrupted her.

"Alright we're done here," Gustav turned around once again to head in.

"Ah, please wait," The boys called out to him but he didn't answer. He went in and slammed the door shut.

It was after he went in, that the brown head girl realized her blunder.

"You know senior Yuhiko will take it out on you when she hears the reason for us failing to bring him with us," The girl on purple and black hair said with a sigh.

Even the boys were sulking because they knew Masuba was likely to punish them if they failed.

The girl on brown had a look of fright before speaking, "Let's call him out so we can apologize... I don't think we have any other choice right now,"

They started knocking on the doors after that.

After a few seconds, Gustav came to answer them again. This time a look of annoyance could be seen on his face as he demanded for the girls to apologize on their knees this time.

"How could you...?" The girl sporting brown hair was about to speak again when Gustav interrupted.

"I'm going back in then," He turned around to leave once again but this time the girl sporting purple hair quickly reacted by kneeling and dragging the one with brown hair down with her as they begged for forgiveness even though looks of unwillingness were written all over their faces.

Gustav was smiling inwardly after seeing this but his outward expression was still the same.

On the second to the last floor, a small stage that was similar to the one Gustav and Aurora had their first duel was placed in the northwest corner of this floor.

A group of young boys and girls could be seen gathered around this stage. There were about twenty of them and they seemed to be waiting for something or in this case someone.

Two of these people were Masuba and Yukiho.

Masuba was on the left side of the stage while Yuhiko was on the right.

The same inspectors that played as referees for Gustav's and Aurora's fight were also present and they were all waiting for the same person before the duel commenced.

Yukiho had a look of annoyance on her face, 'What's taking so long, I can't stand this idiot staring at me in this kind of way! I want to stomp on his face as quickly as I can!' she thought in her mind as she stared at Masuba who was also exchanging glances with her. Masuba was staring at Yuhiko with a longing gaze. He stared at her like she was a holy being, a deity that wasn't supposed to exist on the earth, and truly Yuhiko looked the part. She was unrealistically beautiful.

'Just look at this idiot, he practically has drool leaking out the side of his mouth.... no different from how that guy used to look at me, hmph!' An image came to her head but she looked quite disturbed as another image interloped with the one she first pictured.

'Just what was...?' She didn't get to complete her thought when loud voices were heard in the vicinity.

- "Is that him?"

- "How could Masuba have lost to him?"

Everyone turned around to stare at the group of five who had just arrived.

The person in the middle was who they were referring to.

Yuhiko stared at the group approaching with a look of shock visible on her face.

"That's...? How could he be the one?"

Chapter 47: The Power Of Creation

Yuhiko stared at the group approaching with a look of shock visible on her face.

"That's...? How could he be the one?" Yuhiko stared at the blonde boy in the middle approaching with an unbothered expression.

Another surprising issue for her was Gustav was staring in her direction but there was no look of adoration and worship visible like before whenever he saw her.

In fact, there was no expression. She couldn't read his thoughts through his expression. Whether he was happy or sad to see her, excited or angry, there was no reaction whatsoever. He was staring at her as if he had never seen her before which made her feel dumbfounded.

"Hey Gustav, over here," Masuba waved at Gustav as he called out.

This confirmed Gustav's identity which Yuhiko was questioning in her heart earlier.

Gustav walked over to the left side, ignoring the glares and words of the crowd.

"My compensation for attending your duel is twenty thousand," Gustav immediately voiced out once he got to Masuba's side.

Masuba had a wry smile on his face as he heard that, "Erm... alright," He nodded after answering.

"And for every two minutes I spend here, the amount increases by five thousand," Gustav added.

Masuba eyes nearly bugged out of their sockets but after a second he nodded in defeat.

'I hope you take your time when battling her, although I doubt that will happen,' Gustav said internally.

"Is that the person you lost to, Masuba?" A female who was standing beside Yuhiko questioned with a look of disgust.

"Yes, this is Gustav," Masuba acted as a bridge to introduce Gustav to both Yuhiko and the girl beside her. He had no idea that they already knew Gustav

"Hahahaha! This is truly funny, you lost to trash and you believe you can win Yuhiko? You must be dreaming!" The female besides Yuhiko who was sporting chestnut-colored hair stared at Gustav like he was a fraud.

Gustav returned the stare with a look of unconcern.

"He's just a useless bum who only knows how to take bloodline Enhancement drugs... how is he even here in the first place?" She voiced out again. The question she asked was also what Yuhiko was wondering, 'How is he here? How is he able to gain access to the last floor?'

Masuba was dumbfounded by the statement the girl made, he turned to stare at Gustav before looking back at the girls.

-"Bloodline enhancement drugs? That makes sense,"

-"There's no other way I can see an F-grade defeating a B-grade!"

-"So Masuba was just defeated unfairly?"

The students within the vicinity spoke amongst themselves after hearing that.

Masuba had already realized that they must have known each other before this.

With the place getting chaotic one of the supervisors finally spoke.

"Gustav won the duel with Masuba fair and square! Do not discredit a genuine person's win!" Supervisor Bola disclosed.

He was a supervisor so he would know this much. If a person was to use enhancement drugs he would be able to tell at first glance.

His disclosure made the place quiet down. There was no way anyone would believe the girl over supervisor Bola. Some of them even started giving her weird looks wondering what she was aiming at.

"If he is trash then everyone must be trash too, since I'm pretty sure he would defeat everyone here," Masuba laughed as he spoke causing everyone to turn speechless again. They thought about what he said and realized that most of them here couldn't even defeat Masuba. The strongest spectator here would only tie with him so his words kind of make sense but they still had unwillingness in their hearts.

The chestnut-haired girl gritted her teeth in annoyance, "Yuhiko remember our plan... now that we know who the F-grade is, the plan must be executed with twice the intensity," She whispered in the ears of Yuhiko.

"You don't have to tell me, Keira... that look on his face irks me to no end!" Yuhiko said while staring at Gustav who didn't even try to defend himself when the others were speaking.

"Gustav, do you think I will win?" Masuba asked with a smile. He seemed to have taken Gustav as his friend already with the way he was speaking.

"No, you will lose," Gustav answered bluntly.

Masuba felt like he was shot in the head after hearing that but he didn't back down.

"Let the participants of the duel climb onto the stage now," Supervisor Samsuna spoke while making gestures at the stage.

Yuhiko and Masuba climbed onto the stage after hearing that.

Masuba smiled as he stood in front of Yuhiko.

"To think you can defeat me when you got beat up by trash... just like Keira said, you must be deluded," Yuhiko stated with a dark look.

"Ah you're still calling him that... tsk I hope you don't end up as I did," Masuba shook his head in pity as he spoke.

Supervisor Samsuna questioned if both sides were ready which they reacted to by nodding.

"Let the duel begin," He added.

"Hyaaah!" Masuba was dashed towards Yuhiko immediately after the go-ahead was given.

Black scales suddenly started appearing all over his body as he dashed forward with speed while Yuhiko reacted by removing a strand of hair from her head and stretched it forward.

Swwiiii!

Masuba swung out his palm at this time towards Yuhiko.

The strand of hair Yuhiko stretched out suddenly turned into a baseball bat which she swung towards the incoming hand.

Bam!

The bat slammed fiercely into Masuba's right arm but was smashed to pieces upon making contact.

Masuba smiled as his arm kept moving forward towards Yuhiko.

Zwwhhhi!

Yuhiko crouched her body downwards dodging the arm as she pushed out her right hand, slamming it onto Masuba's right side.

Bam!

Contact was made but there was no impact.

This was due to Masuba's bloodline that gave him protective scales which also made him faster and stronger. In his battle with Gustav before, he didn't even have the chance to activate it before he was knocked out.

Masuba smiled, "You will have to do better than that to hurt me," He said while swinging his right leg upward to meet with Yuhiko's arm.

Bam!

His right leg kicked her arm away. He was about to follow up with another attack when he suddenly felt heavy.

Dum!

He fell to the ground on his knees with a shocked reaction.

-"Gasp! Did his clothes just get turned into a metal weight jacket?" Someone voiced out from the crowd.

That was when Masuba noticed his upper clothes were now black and metallic in kind of jacket form. Yuhiko had used her ability to change his clothes to this upon making contact earlier. It weighed more than he could handle which affected his mobility.

He wanted to pull it off of himself but before he could do so he noticed a metal bat swinging towards his face while he was still in his kneeling position.

Bam!

The metal bat crashed directly into the left side of his face, smashing his nose and several of his teeth in the process.

Masuba fell to the ground while spitting out broken pieces of teeth.

Yuhiko was the one holding onto the bat.

Masuba left face was brutally bruised. His eye had swollen up and was looking black like that of a panda but he wasn't ready to give up yet.

'Form two,' he called out in his mind as the scales on his body suddenly increased in number each one becoming smaller than before.

He grabbed onto the metal jacket, ripped them apart, and threw them to the side before jumping up with intensity.

"You should have just stayed down," Immediately he jumped up a soft feminine voice drifted into his ears.

Yuhiko was holding onto a pebble which she was lifting upwards.

Masuba had decided he wouldn't give her the chance to do whatever she was planning and dashed out but, immediately he did, she threw the pebble towards him.

swwhhii!

'What sort of dumb joke is this?' Masuba smirked as he dashed forward while watching the pebble travel towards him in mid-air.

All of a sudden his smile started to warp. First from a smile to a look of confusion, to awe and then fear because right before his very eyes the pebble was increasing in size as it traveled towards him.

Masuba wanted to move to the side to dodge but it was already too late as the pebble had already transformed into a huge boulder that covered his entire line of sight.

Bam!

The boulder slammed into Masuba and kept moving forward without reducing speed till it knocked him off the stage.

"Yuhiko wins this duel," Supervisor Samsuna shouted out.

Supervisor Bola had already dashed towards the boulder and slammed his palm into it, causing it to break to pieces.

Masuba had passed out already on the ground. His scales retracted into his body which was covered with blood.

The crowd stared at Yuhiko with adoration and cheers rang out.

They had already expected this even though Masuba was also a B-grade like her. Yuhiko's bloodline was a unique creation type that gave her the ability to transform matter into whatever she wished. So even the air could be morphed into what she wanted if the right requirements were met.

Supervisor Bola had placed a healing pill in Masuba's mouth and he started healing up at a visible rate.

Yuhiko did not leave the stage after winning she stood there staring at a person in front.

Everyone followed her line of sight and noticed she was staring in Gustav's direction.

"Gustav, I challenge you to a duel!" She voiced out while giving Gustav an intense glare.

Our votes are decreasing, please keep Voting.

Chapter 48: Brutal Humiliation

Yuhiko did not leave the stage after winning she stood there staring at a person in front.

Everyone followed her line of sight and noticed she was staring in Gustav's direction.

"Gustav, I challenge you to a duel!" She voiced out while giving Gustav an intense glare.

'Oh, finally she's making her move,' Gustav stared at Yuhiko with an aloof expression while internally he was smiling.

Chatter! Chatter! Chatter!

The surroundings became noisy as everyone heard that. They had not expected Yuhiko to suddenly challenge Gustav but this was a battle they wanted to see.

Every one of them on the second to the last floor had heard about how Gustav easily defeated Masuba. They didn't have access to the third floor so none of them even had the chance to see Gustav talkless of seeing him battle. They wanted to see with their own eyes if the claims of him being strong was authentic.

Most of them after seeing Yuhiko's battle with Masuba believed that Gustav wouldn't be able to win while some of them didn't jump to conclusions yet after comparing the time it took both battles to finish.

They all stared at Gustav with anticipation waiting for him to accept.

"I refuse!" Gustav stated and turned around to head towards Masuba.

"Eh?" The sudden refusal shocked everyone.

-"He refused the duel?"

- "I would be scared too if I had to go against Yuhiko!"

- "What a coward! why is he called the strongest then?"

Voices of displeasure could be heard coming from the crowd as they stared at Gustav who was standing in front of Masuba at the moment.

Surprisingly Gustav was not in any way moved by their comments and glares. He stood in front of Masuba who had just regained consciousness and was still seated on the ground.

"My pay," Gustav stretched out his hand towards Masuba as he spoke.

Masuba nearly fainted again, 'At least show a little concern, I'm just regaining consciousness,' Masuba was speechless.

"How much is it?" Masuba questioned while gulping down spit.

"Precisely two hundred and thirty-six seconds, which is approximately four minutes. That brings the entire amount to thirty thousand Rad," Gustav held his chin as he spoke, "I wish you'd have lasted longer in the battle but I guess I'll just have to make do with this," Gustav added with a slight look of disappointment.

Masuba almost puked out blood on hearing that.

"Pay up, you're wasting my time," Gustav shamelessly demanded.

Masuba nodded and brought out a blue cube-looking device. He handed it over to Gustav after standing to his feet.

"Gustav you coward accept the duel," Keira the chestnut-haired girl shouted out from behind.

"Not worth my time," Gustav voiced out as he turned back around.

Yuhiko could see the aloofness on his face which annoyed her even more.

"Duel with me you trash, are you scared of losing?" Yuhiko finally snapped and shouted out.

"Why is she barking?" Gustav said with a casual tone, "Unfortunately I don't have time to play fetch," His manner of talking was so smooth that his statement didn't even sound like an insult which made Yuhiko's face twist even more.

'This...? When did he become like this?' Yuhiko couldn't understand and she kept staring at Gustav like she was seeing another person entirely.

"You... you..." She gritted her teeth in anger as she pointed at Gustav.

Gustav walked past the stage ignoring her actions. It would seem he was heading back upstairs.

"What would it take for you to duel with me?" Yuhiko turned around while asking as she stared at Gustav who paused in his tracks after hearing the question.

"Finally speaking like someone who has a little brain," Gustav grinned as he turned around.

"My demand is very simple," Gustav started speaking causing everyone to place their attention on him.

'He probably will ask me to go out with him... I just have to make su...' Before she could complete her thought process she heard Gustav speak again.

"Money!" Gustav answered bluntly.

Silence!

The whole place became silent again after hearing Gustav's reply. Yuhiko felt her intelligence was being toyed with.

'Is he being serious right now?' Everyone had a thought similar to this running through their minds.

"How about we make a bet," Gustav added with a charming smile.

Five minutes later Gustav was standing on the stage. In front of him was Yuhiko. They were positioned about twenty feet away from one another.

Yuhiko glared at Gustav intensely while Gustav returned her glare with a calm stare.

Supervisor Bola asked if both of them were ready which they reacted to by nodding.

"Let the duel begin," Supervisor Bola said with an authoritative tone.

Everyone had their eyes intensely focused on the stage.

"I won't waste time in crushing you," Yuhiko who seemed to still be greatly mad at Gustav had a pebble in her hand from before the duel even started.

Immediately the go-ahead was given she threw out the pebble with speed towards Gustav.

Shhwwii!

Unlike her duel with Masuba, she threw the pebble not only with more force but also increased the size of the transformation.

It had only been a second since the battle began yet a large boulder had already covered almost half of the entire stage.

The bolder was as wide as the stage and the speed didn't slow down as it traveled towards Gustav leaving him with no place to run to.

Everyone's mouth was opened wide as they witnessed this shocking scene.

This kind of attack would cost a lot of energy and stamina. They stared at Yuhiko like she was a monster but Gustav's action shocked them.

He suddenly dashed towards the incoming boulder.

Normally it would be impossible to dodge it but dashing straight into it was also no different from suicide.

To their surprise, Gustav's suddenly accelerated to an insane speed that they couldn't follow.

'Although this is still in its test phase and will probably drain a lot of energy I will try it out,' Gustav said internally as he dashed out.

He had activated sprint after dashing out and was about to make contact with the huge boulder which was moving towards him in a kind of slow motion.

His right hand glowed a milky light as he called out in his mind.

Gustav raised his palm causing the milky glow to coat his entire right palm before slicing down towards the large boulder in front of him.

A white line of energy surged out of Gustav's palm traveling forward along with his descending palm.

Before Gustav's palm collided with the boulder, the white line was already cutting through the boulder still descending along with Gustav's palm.

Screeevv!

The boulder was cleanly severed in two causing one half to move towards the left and the other to move towards the right.

Gasp!

The crowd gasped upon witnessing the incredible scene but Gustav didn't stop moving.

He deactivated sprint immediately after dividing the boulder in two since he knew his energy would be completely spent if it remained activated.

Even without sprint, Gustav could move fifty feet in a single second so closing the gap between him and Yuhiko was an easy feat.

Swoooshhh!

He arrived in front of her in an instant and swung out his left arm towards her face.

Yuhiko was still dumbfounded by the sudden feat he performed so she was still looking shocked. She could follow Gustav's normal speed with her eyes but before she could react physically his palm was already in front of her face.

Pah!

A crisp slap reverberated across the place.

Yuhiko staggered towards the side after receiving the stinging slap on her right cheek.

She could feel the hot burn which not only caused her cheeks to redden with blood but also made her sight blurry due to the heaviness.

Before she could stabilize herself Gustav's right hand was headed for her left cheek.

Pah!

Another crisp slap rang out again.

"Whhaaa...?" The crowd couldn't believe what they were seeing and before they could scream out in shock more slaps continued to echo in the vicinity.

Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah!

Gustav's hands didn't stop moving as his slaps landed on her cheeks alternatively.

Yuhiko's cheeks were already bloodied and swollen yet Gustav didn't stop.

Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah!

He kept slapping her around. When he slapped her left cheek she would stagger to the right where another slap was waiting to send her back to her initial position.

Gasp!

The crowd was in shock.

-"He is truly the strongest!"

-"How did he split the boulder?"

-"How can he be so brutal to a female?"

-"Does he have no human emotions?"

Some of them took their faces away in disgust while some of them continued watching with a look of astonishment.

"Supervisor Bola, Supervisor Samsuna, you should stop the duel now, it's obvious who the winner here is," Keira ran towards the stage while voicing out with a pale look.

"As the rules say, the duel cannot end until one of them either passes out or falls out of the stage and neither of that has happened yet... oh before I forget, it would also end if one of them surrenders," Supervisor Bola said while preventing Keira from getting to the stage.

"But... but... how is she... supposed to surrender in that state?" Keira stammered with a pale look as she watched Yuhiko's formerly beautiful face turn into a punching bag or in this case a slapping bag.

Pah! Pah! Pah! Pah!

'This will teach you to mind your manners,' Gustav said internally as he kept slapping Yuhiko's face.

Normally Yuhiko would have passed out if Gustav decided to slap her with his full strength from the start but he was purposely reducing his strength to stop her from passing out.

The slaps were painful but due to mixed-blood's tenacity, Gustav had calculated the right amount of force needed to make sure she receives numerous amount of slaps without passing out.

The way he speedily stacked her face with slaps, didn't give her the chance to surrender so she could only get tossed around while screaming in pain.

He was after causing her more pain and humiliation than just having her take an easy way out by passing out in one hit.

Pah! Pah! Pah!

The supervisors were also starting to get sickened by the way Yuhiko was receiving the slaps but if they tried stopping the duel they would be contradicting their rules.

Luckily for them, Gustav didn't make it any harder than he was supposed to. He stopped after landing another hot slap on her face that sent her crashing out of the stage.

"Gu-Gustav wins the duel!" Supervisor Bola swallowed saliva as he spoke.

Long chapter for you guys today. I really appreciate the support you guys have shown since the start.

From next week, two chapters will be released every day.

Thanks once again for the support, You guys are the best.

Chapter 49: Stacking Up Paper Bills

"Gu-Gustav wins the duel!" Supervisor Bola swallowed saliva as he spoke.

Even after the announcement had been made everyone still stood in place with widened eyes as they stared at the Yuhiko on the ground.

Her face was swollen than that of a pig. Her eyes and lips could be mistaken for black and red buns. Her cheeks were bloodied with parts of her facial skin torn off. Her look right now bore no semblance to that of her former. The beautiful face she always took pride in had been turned into this.

It was a disturbing sight to a lot of them there.

They stared at Gustav who was responsible for doing the deed. He was climbing down the stage casually after cleaning the blood on his palms.

Supervisor Samsuna arrived before Yuhiko and squatted while lifting her head slightly.

'This young man is truly a brutal type he showed no mercy,' Supervisor Samsuna parted Yuhiko's swollen to place the pill in her mouth.

A few seconds later her face started to heal up. Her eyelids trembled slightly proving that she was about to regain consciousness.

Supervisor Samsuna turned to stare at Gustav who was walking towards the crowd.

'Well, this might have been extreme but needed... I'm sure these young kids will learn humility from what they have witnessed today,' Supervisor Samsuna said internally.

"Time to pay up," Gustav said as he got to the front of the crowd on the left.

Chatter! Chatter!

"Just transfer the money to this storage device," Gustav said and handed it over to a boy in front.

Gustav started moving from person to person, performing the same actions.

-"I still can't believe Yuhiko failed," One of them said with a look of indignation.

-"Now we have to pay twenty thousand rad each after losing the bet, this sucks,"

They voiced out in disappointment but they had no choice other than to pay the money.

The bet was with everyone who supported Yuhiko. They would pay that amount if she lost but if she had won, Gustav was supposed to do whatever she willed for an entire month.

Yuhiko wanted to show that she had more supporters so she asked everyone to place their money on her winning and she would compensate them after the duel.

These teenagers could have remained neutral and decided not to support anyone but because they wanted to please Yuhiko, they agreed to her demand. Only Masuba and the two boys that came to meet Gustav on the last floor didn't bet since they knew he was going to win. Masuba was secretly praying for Gustav to deal with her for crushing him. He didn't expect that Gustav wouldn't just defeat her but also give her the humiliation of a lifetime.

All of a sudden a loud cry was heard.

"You bastard how could you do that to Yuhiko!" Keira screamed out as she ran towards Gustav who was busy collecting his winnings.

They were only a few feet from one another so she was able to arrive before Gustav in a second.

A red line of light appeared in her hand which she stabbed towards Gustav's chest.

'Well, Birds of the same feathers always flock together, since the both of you are so similar I guess you should receive the same punishment,' Gustav said internally as he swerved to the left to dodge the attack while raising his right hand and bringing it down with force.

Keira watched as the palm descended upon her face unable to react to the speed on time.

Grab!

Just before Gustav's palm could collide with her face it was grabbed by Supervisor Samsuna.

Keira who had nearly tripped due to Gustav dodging paused in her tracks.

"Fights are not tolerated, a duel must be scheduled before the both of you can go at each other," Supervisor Samsuna said.

'I couldn't even sense his approach with my perception,' Gustav analyzed as he withdrew his hand.

"I was only trying to defend myself," Gustav stated with a straight look.

"There's no need for explanation," Supervisor Samsuna replied, "For attacking a person out of the blue Keira will have to pay twice the amount of the said bet," He added.

Gasp!

"That's forty thousand rad... my entire allowance for a year," Keira stuttered as she spoke. 'There's no way I will be able to collect any money from father till the year runs out,'

"Either you pay the fee or leave this premises at once! Such attitude will not be tolerated," Supervisor Samsuna said once again.

Keira had a crestfallen look on her face when she saw Gustav stand in front of her again.

"Pay up," He stretched out his hand while speaking.

In a few minutes, Gustav had collected money from everyone except Yuhiko.

Yuhiko had regained consciousness some minutes ago. She had healed up and her face had gone back to looking beautiful but the humiliation she felt now made her feel like covering up her face for life so no one would be able to recognize her.

"My payment," Gustav arrived in front of her and stretched out his hand.

Yuhiko's face twisted with a crazy look.

"Grrrh! I will have my..."

"I don't care about that! Pay up!" Gustav didn't let her complete her sentence.

Yuhiko gritted her teeth and reached for her storage device with a look of unwillingness.

About thirty minutes later Gustav was on miss Aimee's hoverbike.

Miss Aimee was driving him home today.

"You did good today," Miss Aimee said as they streaked through the road.

"Hehe, miss Aimee missed out on all the fun," Gustav laughed lightly while holding onto miss Aimee's waist from behind.

"I really would have liked to witness it myself," Miss Aimee replied.

"Don't worry miss Aimee, next time I'll inform you," Gustav said with a smile.

"Next time? oh, there's going to be a next time?" Miss Aimee asked with a bewildered expression.

"The world is still full of idiots after all," Gustav answered with a look of anticipation.

"Hmm, just be careful and don't get too conceited," Miss Aimee advised.

"Hnm, I won't," Gustav nodded in reply.

In a few minutes, they arrived in front of the building where Gustav's apartment was located.

Gustav got down from the hoverbike.

"Have you considered their request?" Miss Aimee questioned.

"I'm still thinking about it... In the meantime, I'm doing more research so if I do accept, it will be when I have gathered enough knowledge," Gustav answered.

"Hmm, it's alright. It's up to you after all. If you find yourself in a situation beyond your control, you know how to contact me," Miss Aimee stated and proceeded to speed off with her bike.

Swweeiiii!

Gustav waved and turned around to head for his apartment.

The neighbors outside had smiles all over their faces as they greeted him with a welcoming look.

Gustav got to his apartment and settled down on his reading chair.

The first thing he did was to bring out his storage device.

Tap!

After tapping twice on it three small projections were displayed. Gustav tapped on the third one.

Zing!

Rows and stacks of paper bills appeared in front of him.

Gustav smiled as he stared at the money.

"A total of four hundred and eighty thousand rad..." He muttered with a delighted tone.

He reckoned that the total amount of money with him right now should be around six hundred and thirty thousand rad.

He was now halfway to becoming a millionaire. This would have been impossible if he wasn't dealing with rich kids. A lot of workers couldn't boast of having half a million after working for several years yet he had gotten that in a little over two months.

Gustav's goal was to accumulate at least a million before the MBO entrance test took place.

He called for the system interface to open up.

'Host attributes,' He called out in his mind.

-Class: ?

Gustav stared at it for a while. He had already distributed today's point earlier and his charm points had also caught up with the others. Things were progressing as planned but he was still left wondering about the class information up there, also he noticed that there was no longer Oslov behind his name.

'What is this about?' Gustav wondered.

He recalled something at this moment.

"The System said something about the recreation ability being operational," He remembered that this was one of the rewards he received after killing the bloodwolf.

He had been wanting to know about the recreation ability for the past two months now but unlike the rest, no information popped up beneath it even if he stared at it for a very long time.

He had even tried activating it the same way he activated skills like dash or Sprint but the result was the same. Now he understood that it wasn't operational all this time.

'Skills and abilities,' Gustav called out internally.

"I can't believe it has been leveling up all this time without even being operational," Gustav said while checking out his skills and abilities.

Since he had tried to use it several times to no avail, he ignored it so he didn't notice that it had been leveling up like the rest.

Gustav focused his eyes on the skills waiting for information to pop up beneath them so he could check out the information on recreation.

In three seconds information appeared under every skill and ability explaining their usage.

Gustav had seen the rest before so his eyes traveled down the list to where recreation was positioned.

"What?" Gustav's eyes widened in shock as he read the information beneath recreation internally.

Thank you all for the support. Let's keep climbing up the ranks.

Mass release of three chapters this weekend.

Depending on whether I'm chanced, I might end release four instead, It depends.

Chapter 50: Researching Mixedbreeds

Gustav focused his eyes on the skills waiting for information to pop up beneath them so he could check out the information on recreation.

In three seconds, information appeared under every skill and ability explaining their usage.

Gustav had seen the rest before so his eyes traveled down the list to where recreation was positioned.

"What?" Gustav's eyes widened in shock as he read the information beneath recreation internally.

(Ability to combine bloodlines to create a fused bloodline that will generate a new ability entirely. Based on the compatibility of both bloodlines, the fused bloodline could range from C - A grade)

(Ability to extract bloodlines and pair them with host if the right requirements are met. {C - F rank})

(Using either a weapon or a sharp object, host can multiply the force of his strike by three times)

(When a collision is made using this skill, it generates a force that infiltrates deep into the surface of collision)

Gustav's eyes were focused on the recreation. He couldn't believe that such a skill existed all this time and the system prevented him from using it.

The possibilities of what he could achieve with this made him shiver from excitement internally.

'Oh wait now that I think about it, I wouldn't be able to make use of this ability if I didn't have more than one bloodline,' Gustav realized this and understood that even if the system gave him access, he wouldn't be able to use it.

But now he could try it out since he currently has three bloodlines in total.

'Hmm, but what would happen to the original bloodlines after I fuse them? Would I still be able to use them singularly or would they become one entity that I won't be able to use separately?' Gustav thought hard about this.

He had wanted to test it out but when these thoughts popped up he felt he should look into it properly before thinking of using the skill.

'I can't try this with beast transformation or any of the three I currently have... I will need to steal more bloodlines and perform experiments on those first,' Gustav concluded but now the issue was how he was going to steal more bloodlines.

He couldn't steal bloodlines out in the open because he would have to make contact with the blood located in the neck area of a person before he could get the system notification for bloodline extraction. He would need to be in a secluded environment before he could think of doing that.

Gustav started to hatch a plan in his mind, he had decided he was going to move his plans for revenge forward with this situation at hand.

He didn't even notice that he could now steal C-grade bloodlines until a notification rang in his head.

Gustav stared at the notification with a look of anticipation.

'I need to acquire a C-graded bloodline?' This was when Gustav's happened to notice on the system interface that he could now extract C- grade bloodline.

Gustav couldn't help but smile at this since it came at a time when he was thinking of acquiring more bloodlines.

He knew scheming would be necessary before he could get the opportunity to steal a bloodline without drawing any suspicions yet he was glad because this meant, he could finally steal bloodlines from some of the students who gave him trouble back in the past since some of them were c-graded.

Gustav brought his eyes down to the rewards and punishment section.

"What the heck? Everything is hidden?" Gustav voiced out with a look of discomfort.

This was the first time the system was hiding both the rewards and the punishment.

The punishment was mostly hidden but he had never seen both of them hidden at the same time when a quest was issued.

'Just what is it playing at?' Gustav sighed internally in defeat. He just couldn't understand the system at times.

On the bright side, the system had stopped calling him an idiot but he still wondered why it didn't initiate a conversation with him like earlier but Gustav knew that no matter how hard he thought of it, there was no point.

It wasn't up to three months since he got the system so he knew finding out the secrets it held would take a lot of time. Even though he occasionally had questioning thoughts about where the system came from and all that, he wasn't really bothered. He was just happy he encountered something like this and right now his thoughts were still preoccupied with the present situations so he had decided to place this at the back of his mind in the meantime.

Gustav closed the system interface and tapped on the web board in front of him.

A holographic projection appeared in front of him after that.

"Time to continue my research," Gustav muttered.

In a flash, two days had gone by.

During these two days, Gustav's and Yuhiko's duel had been a hot topic in the dojo.

Everyone on the third to the last floor heard about it also.

The second floor only had twelve students that attended Echelon Academy and they happened to be simping for Yuhiko in one way or the other so they never mentioned the fight in school.

It was said in school that she lost to an A-grade mixed-blood instead of an F-grade.

The third floor of the dojo had lots of students from Echelon Academy there but because they weren't there when the battle happened they couldn't confirm that she was defeated by an F-grade.

In school, the matter of her losing to someone in the dojo quickly died down after the students heard it was an A-grade but in the dojo, it was a very hot topic.

They heard in school that the person's name was Gustav but no one linked it to Gustav himself because they felt it wouldn't be possible.

No one expected that Gustav who was known as trash was the same person who had defeated her.

Yuhiko didn't appear in the dojo since that day. She couldn't bear the humiliation. She was able to save her social life in the school but in the dojo, it had been totally wrecked.

Gustav wasn't even bothered by all the drama. He opened a bank account the previous day and kept his compensation money there.

At present, it was Saturday in the afternoon and Gustav had been on the web since morning.

He was currently seated on his reading chair tapping onto a virtual holographic keyboard.

"Bringing up the previous database!" A robotic-like voice rang out as holographic projections started appearing around Gustav.

Chhrrriinn! Chhrrriinn! Chhrrriinn!

Multiple of them appeared in form of squares scattered around the place.

On the projection were pictures of different kinds of beast-like-looking animals.

These animals bore a slight semblance to normal animals but there were quite different when it came to body proportions and size. Not only that but also, a lot of them had different shapes and a kind of fierce primitive look.

A large muscular-looking bunny with gigantic fangs, A tortoise similar to the size of a truck; standing on two legs, A butterfly as large as a chopper, e.t.c. Different images of bizarre-looking creatures were displayed.

"Mixed breeds are truly in varieties, these types would be out of my jurisdiction," Gustav muttered with a look of amazement.

Sorry for the late release, I'm suffering from an headache right now.

I will release two chapters for now. The third chapter will be released 8 hours from now unfailingly. It is only being delayed because of my headaches.
