

BloodLine 48

Chapter 48 - Blood Element

Time passes weeks went like that.

I had made a schedule. Divided my time on spending a half-day at the high-performance chamber and half a day at the library facility. Soon two weeks passed after entering the high-performance chamber.

Ms. Adeline key had come to see us from time to time. To see progress on our hand-to-hand combat test. Three of us have had good progress so far. Seeing our development at hand-to-hand combat exercise.

She gave us two more weeks. After that, we will officially join the Advance class with our senior students. I am looking forward to it. Because not only my hand-to-hand combat course got improvement. My other arsenal as well.

I had spent my weekdays cultivating at Mountain Liz. I feel like. I need few more visits by then I will officially become a Mid-level Trainee Apprentice Warriors. But My Sword attack practice is quite lagging.

It certainly takes huge effort to pull off the New Black Sword. I'm not even consistent with the first move of the attack. There are still two moves left.

When comes to the library. I am very satisfied with it. What I need is knowledge. Each day I spend time reading books there opened my eyes even further. I came to know about different types of species living in our world.

What more shocking to me is that. Class Monster is one type of species that is present in our world. I already know about Pseudo Monster. It's very common among our human population. Most of the Pseudo Monsters are harmless. Rarely do people encounter cases. Where they come across deadly ones.

Still, there are more types of species were recorded in the library. It mentioned that they had a specific habitual zone. According to their body constitution. Now, it's the first day of the third week. I am looking at an important and small place in the library.

I would say it's an antique room. Filled with a collection of artifacts. It's a very small collection. I had a feeling that it's a private collection owned by the center. Usually, they move any old scripture to a research facility. If they found.

Looking at the design and crafting of artifacts. It is safe to know that it belongs to an old civilization. But it's not clear the rank and age of the civilization. I looked at artifacts once again before moving back to the Research facility.

The research facility is the real deal. Any findings and research is done in this place were being monitored. There are two sections in this room. Library and Restricted Zone. I can understand why is that. The restricted zone looks protected. I can see a beam of red light flashing. Presumably, sensors were installed in this place.

I moved my attention towards the library. Where they would publish any recent findings. I found one column while browsing A. I monitor the screen. It's intriguing. One of the doctors working here published his theory or speculation about an old tribe that lived in the age of old civilization.

As I was going through his theory. I got shocked by his bold claim. He described that this tribe as a hunting tribe. They had a physical strength comparable to a ranking warrior. They had an awful fight with warriors of prospering civilization.

The fight was so brutal that only a few people from that old civilization were able to escape. He described that he came to this conclusion from a cave painting of the tribe. In that paintings, the warriors from old civilization were aiming small balls at the tribesman.

The small balls were elemental manifestations. Only awakened people can do that. How did the tribes' people survive the elemental attack and effectively able to counterattack the elemental warriors from old civilization.

But people refuted his argument. Some renowned researcher replied that tribespeople was also awakened, people. There is no way they could defeat them without it. Because the Doctor claimed that the tribes' people are not awakened, warriors. Because if they would they paint themselves with the same elemental paintings as other Elemental warriors.

Looking at A. I monitor the screen. This guy had published his theory in the public domain of Alliance Network. I stopped looking at A. I monitor's screen. Then looked at the locked glass container. There were several things inside the glass container.

I read the notice placed beside the container. It says anyone can look at the old antique. After looking at they should carefully place it back in the same place. I scanned my details. The door of the glass container opened.

Revealing several glass cups, pottery, paintings, and so on. Suddenly I got startled. My perception ability turned on instinctively. It picked some signals. I looked at the place where it came from. It came from very yellow old paper. I wouldn't say it's a modern paper.

If one looked at it closely they can see its cloth. I took the cloth carefully. I wore gloves in my hands. Before I touched it. Took it to the place. Where could I sit and look at it carefully One by one?

I place the yellow cloth in front of me. My brain sends me a trickling sensation. I don't know what it is? I got an idea. I seeped my consciousness into the paper. Unlike the lightning scripture. The yellow cloth didn't fly into my eyebrows. But the wordings on the cloth understand by me.

I couldn't explain this mysterious happening. After I understood everything from the wordings. The wording on the cloth didn't disappear. I kept my emotion in check. There was a secret monitor system in the place. I got up from the seat and placed it back again in the container safely then I removed gloves from my hands.

I looked at the description in the A. I monitor the screen to know where did they found these artifacts. Surprisingly they found this item from the ruins of the hunter tribe. The same hunter tribe fought battle with the elemental warrior of an old civilization.

I froze for a moment. If what was written in the yellow cloth is real. Then the research doctor's claims were proved to be half-truth. Looks like they haven't deciphered the words. But I wondered how come I can understand it.

I had a hunch. It's not simple as it seems. I cannot affirm that it's due to my 7th region of the brain. Even I don't know. Anything about it. But my perception ability turned on instantly like it'd got a signal. I had a hunch that inheritance spirit left some backhand to help me. Before it went to deep sleep.

If it is backhand then that's good. I want to go home. To try the things mentioned in the old yellow cloth. I did not make any suspicious move. I do not want anyone to know about it. I will wait until it's the weekend.

Then I continued my routine just like that without arousing any suspiciousness. I maintained my schedule of studying at the library in the morning. And practice in the high-performance chamber in the next half a day.

Days went like that soon it's the time of the weekend. I am currently camping at Mountain Liz. Setting trap for Pseudo Monsters. I want to try the things mentioned in the old yellow cloth.

I was shocked and faintly had a guess. The reason behind the reaction of it. I'm not talking about my brain ability. I am talking about wordings written on the cloth. It's a primitive special Blood element cultivation technique. It looked like hunter tribe people were awakened, warriors. Unlike Natural Elemental warrior.

The hunter tribesman were Special Blood element warriors. The blood element cultivation made them physically stronger than the elemental warriors from the old civilization.

The researcher's claim is half right and half wrong. He is right about hunter tribesmen were physically stronger and there are no drawings of manifestation of elemental powers. Yet he was wrong about them not being awakened.

I guessed that the blood element works differently. It works internally that's why tribe warriors were stronger than the Normal awakened warrior.

That's why I am even more excited. Because when I awakened. I am not only awakened Lightning, with it I had awakened two more elements. After spending so much time in the library. I finally know what my unknown elements were.

They were blood element and healing element. If I cultivate the same method of the hunter tribespeople. I can certainly improve my physic. Having it I can easily reach the goal of domain level 15.

As per the blood cultivation technique. Only blood element people can cultivate them. They can level up their cultivation by consuming the blood of Monsters.

The blood element in our body gets energies from the blood of these monsters. Like affinity stone.

One can also attract blood energy from world energy. But consuming the blood of monsters can raise cultivation it's not time-consuming. No wonder they got the names of the hunter tribe. They hunted the different kinds of Monsters for food and cultivation.

But People from old civilization must have been blinded by the facts. They thought that they were hunting for food. But looking at today's world. There is no mention of the blood element. The hunter tribe was rare among humans. They are now extinct. And no one knows this discovery except me.

I learned and confirmed that I got a healing element from the library. When comes to blood element. Thanks to the yellow cloth and the burning sensation of blood I felt during the awakening of the blood element. I can confirm that my remaining element is the blood element.

My problem with leveling up my physic is gone.. Then I have to find a way to unlock more areas of the 7th region of my brain.