

BloodLine 50

Chapter 50 - Blood Element Cultivation

I opened the container. Looking at the thick blood and its horrible smell. I'm having internal struggles as to whether to drink the blood or not. I can't imagine the Ancient Hunter tribesmen consider drinking their blood as part of their daily routine.

To cultivate Blood Element. I'm going to follow in their footsteps. I know it's going to be hard. But I don't have any choice. The Blood Element will increase my physic greatly. Thinking that I comforted myself and drank the Blacksnake Pseudo Monster's blood.

After I consume the blood. I started to incite the wording that was written on the yellow cloth paper. Suddenly, I am being pulled into my conscious sphere.

I saw new runes being formed. It is a blood cultivation rune. A Bloody Red Color Circular Ring Finally, formed in the conscious sphere. It is located far left of the Lightning Rune. Which is located at the center.

The Blood Circular Ring starts to shine. I felt that my Blood Element had a Reaction to it. At first, I didn't feel anything. But moments later, I noticed something amazing happen.

I looked internally with my perception. Where my internals was quite visible. While there is Blood Circular Runes were still shining in the conscious sphere. Due to it, a red light covered my entire internal organs including my skeleton.

I felt warmth as my entire being bathed in red light internally. I didn't stop reciting the wordings. I'm repeating it continuously. I won't stop until the process stops internally.

After the red light was done covering entirely. Next, A strange new energy being released by the thick blood of the Pseudo Monster that I consumed earlier. It looked white with red outlines.

The white energies then drilled into my bones. I screamed. As the pain is not being stopped. It's getting worse every second. The white energies didn't touch any other parts except bones.

As I saw that blood I consumed was getting reduced. It's becoming thinner and thinner as my pain gets worsen. I felt I'm undergone torture for eternity. Soon, all the thick blood of monsters was dried up completely. And white energies stopped drilling into my bones.

I fainted after that. I gained my consciousness three hours later. I hold my head and rubbed the temple gently. After looking at the sci-fi watch. I said to myself, " My entire morning routine is gone." But I noticed somehow I felt light as a feather. This is Mysterious. It is illusion or what. I wondered inside.

I turned on my perception ability and observed internally. I gasped. There is a weird red line drawn on my bones. Its starts from the top of my head and ends with the toes. It's a single straight line.

You have to look at it carefully. Otherwise, you won't notice. It's a very thin line. I remember the white energies drilled into my bones. It made me feel light as a feather. It's just Pseudo Monster.

I said to myself, " If I consume the blood of Class 1 Monster. I am quite sure that I can break through to reach Mid-level Apprentice Warrior."

Then I mumbled, "This blood cultivation rune is not elemental cultivation method but body cultivation; Which is why there is no manifestation of blood totem in my dantian yet."

At first, I thought this method got something to do with my blood. But I was wrong. From start to end there is nothing wrong with my blood. This technique was cultivated using the blood of the Monsters.

And the red light which covered my internal organs seems to be My Blood Element. It somehow acts as a catalyst to attract the White energies from the Monster's Blood.

I looked at my conscious sphere. Everything was fine. The lightning rune, defense rune, and Sword attack rune. Connected by Violet Silk thread. Suspended at the center location of my sphere.

From looking at a distance. Three connected runes were in the shape of a triangle. While lightning rune at the top and the rest were at the bottom. Then I looked at the blood ring rune. Which is suspended at far most left positions from the lightning rune.

I wondered inside. This blood ring rune is a cultivation technique. Would there be an attack and defensive technique with blood element? If there is I have to find it eventually. Then It would be quite a lot of options in my arsenal.

I am very happy today. I sorted out my problem with physical strength. My lightning cultivation will have a breakthrough by the coming weekend. Everything seems to be fine for now.

Then I focus on practicing hand-to-hand combat exercises There is still one more week left. Before, Ms. Adeline Key will evaluate our performance.

Sometimes later. The practice came to an end. "It's time to go home," I mumbled.

As I opened the high-performance chamber to exit.

"What happened to you?" Asked Candace Wilkerson. She thought, "His breath somehow seems to be changed. I don't know why?; This time it's not due to intuition but my senses felt certain strangeness from him."

Hearing her, I was surprised in my heart. "Did she felt something?" I arched my eyebrow as I looked at her to reply.

"Nothing, I was practicing as usual," I replied to her. Then I left the place without waiting for her to reply.

On the way, I said to myself, " What is wrong with this girl. She is mysterious. I don't know what her element is?; Yet, she somehow notices things. Which were completely unnoticed by others."

"Should I discuss with Uncle James?" I shook my head thinking that. She is my classmate in this Training facility. But there will be a lot of people present. Once I joined the academy. I cannot discuss each and everyone with Uncle James. It would become quite a headache.

I left the facility and boarded the train to my home. Days went like that. Until it's the weekend. I am currently camping at the foot of the mountain Liz.

"It's time for a breakthrough" I uttered. As I felt my cultivation. Cannot remain in a bottleneck anymore. It tore through the limitation barrier and I officially entered the level of Mid-level Trainee Apprentice Warrior.

I got up from my meditation mat with excitement. I want to try out my new level. Then I smacked my head. I don't have lightning energy in my dantian. I have to recover it before trying moves.

Then I cultivated again. This time my dantian space is expanded a little. It is to be expected. As my cultivation progresses, my storage capacity in the dantian also increases.

With a large amount of lightning, the energy was being attracted from the surroundings.

It was quite large comparing to the early stage. As the energy is gathered inside the dantian. The Ancient totem also had some changes due to my breakthrough.

The Totem buzzes of giving hazy Violet light. It covers all the gathered energy. The gathered lightning energy was quite separated from each other. The Totem binds them together with its light and makes them purer. The purer the lightning energy, the attack would be more destructive.

I don't know these small activities before? only after a breakthrough, I can perceive small details, I believe following succession breakthrough. Hereafter, Unveil more Mysteries.

After collecting enough lightning energy I got up from the mat and went outside the tent. I looked at the surroundings and said to myself, "Last time someone spied on me. Should I do it or not?."

I remove hesitation from my mind. I don't like having the feeling to be on edge all the time. It's frustrating. After sighing a little. I activate my defensive technique.

"THE RECKONING CIRCLE"

As the lightning circle formed around me accompanied by small thundering sounds. This time the circle got thicker. I can feel the pure lightning energy gushing through my veins powering up the circle making it denser.

"All thanks to Ancient Scripture," I said to myself. Then I remove the lightning circle. I felt a huge adrenaline rush now. I want to try out this amazing lightning power on something. I sighed thinking that.

Little did he know. All his activities were monitored by a person sent by Sir Lowell McClain. This is the same person who spied on Zack last week. He disguised himself as a beggar.

A Perfect role to roam around the station of Mountain Liz. No one would feel suspicious.

After seeing Zack's breakthrough to Mid-level and later his summoning of the lightning circle.

He began to write a report. He already took a video of that. Not only he got a video of his current performance.

He made a ton of videos. Which recorded all the activities done by Zack. At the Mountain Liz. The Man send the report to Sir Lowell McClain.

Soon, From a faraway place. Sir Lowell McClain, Doing his work on a huge Multiple Sci-fi Screen suspended in the air in front of him.

He was looking at one particular screen. Where a team of seven people fighting a huge monster. It's a four-legged monster. It has a height of 200 meters from the ground.

Which is constantly breathing fire around the surroundings. Keeping the team at bay. If one looked closely at the screen they will find its a real-time monitoring system.. Sir Lowell McClain is evaluating the performance of the team.