

Bloodline 561

Chapter 561: On The Run

Gustav jumped up a little while spinning in mid-air with his leg swung out.

The blade missed his throat due to this, and his leg slammed into the face of the red jacket that stabbed forward.

Fwwhhiii~

His entire body was catapulted backwards by the force of Gustav's foot.

Gustav landed behind the red jacket, who tried tackling his footing. Still, before he could make any more actions, the red jacket with the massive gauntlet descended with his fist thrown down.

Bang!

A loud collision rang out as Gustav crossed his arms to block the strike from the gauntlets covered fists two times his head size.

Cracks appeared all over the road as chunks from the road blasted in every direction.

Gustav's legs lowered a bit due to the force.

Before he could act again, the other red jacket by the side, which Gustav dodged, shot out a beam from his mechanical arm.

Gustav leaped backwards to dodge, causing it to slam into a massive building by the side, which blasted a hole right through it.

From behind the other red jacket swung the blueish glowing blade at him again, which created a blue arc of energy that hacked forward with intensity.

Swwoossh~

Gustav dashed towards the side while conjuring the atomic blade again.

Fwwoommssshh~

He charged forward and swung the milky blade towards this red jacket.

Gustav was still too fast for him to react too quickly, so he stabbed towards the side as well, not minding that he might get injured.

Gustav noticed the blade and bent forward while changing his attack trajectory.

Just as he was about to slice through his waist area, the red jacket with massive gantlet-covered arms arrived behind Gustav, swinging his fist intensely.

[Combination Has Been Activated]

[Sprint + Dash]

Swwoosh~

Gustav suddenly swerved towards the side at the last moment, causing the red jacket to punch his comrade in the face.

Bang!

A loud cry of pain rang out as they both landed attacks on each other. The one with gauntlet-covered arms was unaffected by the stab due to it barely grazing him. His comrade, on the other hand, had been sent flying backwards with a cracked skull.

Gustav dashed towards the shocked red jacket back and jumped up before spinning around while swinging out his right hand.

The red jacket was able to react on time by quickly raising the gauntlet-covered hand to block his neck.

Shrreev~

Due to its toughness, he could not cleave through completely on cutting a few inches into it.

From behind, the other red jacket was already lunging forward at Gustav while shooting.

Zwhii~ Zwhhiiii~ Zwhhiiii~

Gustav dodged them by moving back and swerving left and right quickly.

He turned to the side and dashed towards the red jacket, 'No time to keep messing around,' He said internally as his arm suddenly increased immensely in size.

[Size Manipulation Has Been Activated]

His arm became as large as the red jacket as it shot forward and covered him instantly.

Gustav had grabbed hold of him and lifted him into the air like a chick unable to resist.

The red jacket with the gauntlets had managed to recover himself at this point and dashed forward towards Gustav.

Gustav only swung his massive arm, slapping him towards the side.

Bang!

He slammed into the wall of a building, and Gustav raised his hand and threw it at his body, which was lodged in the wall.

Bang!

Both masked red jackets broke through the wall as Gustav slammed the one in his grasp into the other one.

All three of them still had confusion in their minds before Gustav put them out of commission. They hadn't even gotten to ask who he was, which was the question ringing in their minds the most after seeing Gustav's skill set.

After putting them out of commission, Gustav turned around to start dashing forward again.

Swwooooosshh!

At this point, he could already sense the incoming vehicles headed for him with speed.

Hover cars were actually very fast, so he reckoned they would be catching up with him soon.

As one of the hover cars coming from behind arrived at the spot where Gustav had just finished dealing with the red jackets, three blueish orbs suddenly appeared in the middle of the road.

Boom!

A massive explosion sent the hovercar flying with multiple parts dislodging from it as the red jackets within were set ablaze.

"Kiiarrhhh!"

There were screams of pain heard from behind, which drifted into Gustav's ears as he kept dashing across the road.

"I need to get outside the region for it to work... Twenty minutes..." Gustav muttered as he kept dashing along the road.

The other hovercars bolted past the flames on the road, not even bothering to stop for a second to inspect the area whether there were any survivors or not.

Gustav could sense them getting closer behind him. There were a lot of attacks he couldn't use at the moment so as not to cause too much destruction to the surroundings. However, he still had many options so long as he didn't get crowded by the many red jackets whose power levels were higher than his.

One of the red jackets within a hovercar had a part of his body out the window by the side as he stared at Gustav through a scope.

"Locked on..." He muttered as the sniper-like weapon in his hand glowed with profound energy.

Click!

Thuuuuuummm~

Yellowish energy shot forward with intensity cutting a bright line across the air as it travelled towards Gustav.

Gustav sensed this energy and turned around to slash it in half.

Fwwhiiii~

The atomic blade cleaved right through it, and both halves travelled past him before slamming into the road behind, causing a loud blast.

"Confirmed... It's him," The person who shot the yellowish beam voiced out to the other three in the car.

"He has an entirely different body structure than before. What's going on here?" The other red jacket in the front seat voiced out with a look of confusion.

Chapter 562: The Chase

"He has an entirely different body structure than before. What's going on here?" The other red jacket in the front seat voiced out with a look of confusion.

They recognized Gustav as the same person impersonating Junior commander Dart back then because the four who were currently within this hover car were amongst the six red jackets Sahil brought along with him the other day.

"We have to take him out before he uses that power again," One of them voiced out as they recalled the pinkish energy that caused everyone to submit.

"We don't have to be worried about that. I don't think he would use that power casually. If it was something he could use all the time, he wouldn't have fled back then," Another one stated.

"Still, we cannot dispute the fact that he would be able to make use of it at least once. We would find ourselves in a disastrous situation if we get too close and he uses it against us. We have to take him out from afar," The red jacket, which was glowing with yellow color, voiced as he put half his body through the window again.

The person driving slowed down a bit and started moving the hovercar at a moderate speed to prevent moving too close to Gustav, but they were moving fast enough to keep up with him.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

More projectiles were shot out from the hovercar towards Gustav, a few hundred feet ahead.

Gustav proceeded to dodge every one of them with precision like he had eyes behind his head.

The more they fired at him, the more astonished they became, not understanding how he was able to keep up with the attacks.

Two hover cars bolted forward from the sides, slowly overtaking the one in the middle.

"Don't get too close to him," The red jacket, who glowed a bright yellow color along with his sniper-like weapon, voiced out to the car by the left.

They ignored his voice and zoomed forward even faster, closing in on Gustav.

"These fools," He voiced out with a tone of disapproval.

The ones by the right also ignored the warnings and zoomed forward, closing in on Gustav's figure.

"We can make use of their foolishness to land a hit on him. Let's wait till he gets crowded," The other red jacket sitting on the right suggested.

Their hovercar remained behind the other two as they maintained their speed and waited for an opening.

Gustav noticed these two hovercars closing in on him from behind.

He would still occasionally dodge projectiles shot at him from all vehicles.

As these two arrived a few feet behind by his left and right simultaneously, Gustav conjured an atomic blade again, but this time on both his hands.

Screeeevvv! Screeeevvv!

Both of them accelerated simultaneously to smash him together on both sides.

Fwhii~

Gustav jumped up a little, causing them to miss him, and landed on both hover crafts with his right and left leg stomping on their front.

The two cannons positioned on the bonnet area of the hover cars turned to face Gustav, but before they could shoot...

Shwwiii~

He swung both blades towards the sides at the same time, cleaving them in half.

Boom!

A small explosion happened, which caused both hovercars to swerve forward and nearly somersault in mid-air.

Gustav pushed himself forward using the force from both cars, traveling several hundred feet across the air.

Boom!

A shot was heard behind as a yellowish streak cut across the air headed for Gustav, who was still in mid-air.

The shot was fired in such a way that it would collide with Gustav's body as he descended.

[Hover Has Been Activated]

Gustav's body suddenly floated upward a little as he spread his legs wide.

Fwwioihhh~

The yellowish streak passed underneath his torso area, barely missing his crown jewels below, and slammed into the road ahead.

Boom!

A large explosion blasted across the vicinity as a crater appeared on the road.

Gustav's body descended once again and landed on the road before as he resumed dashing forward.

The red jackets behind had looks of disbelief on their faces after seeing Gustav's actions.

"He can fly?" They voiced out with looks of disbelief.

The one who had timed well and shot out the yellowish beam earlier couldn't believe his eyes after seeing the way Gustav suddenly floated upwards instead of descending.

"If he could fly at will, he would have done that already. I doubt he can properly use that ability," He voiced out with a logical tone.

The others within the hovercar agreed with him as well.

Gustav resumed dashing forward as he counted down, "Fifteen minutes left."

He turned towards the left after arriving at an intersection and kept running amidst a lineup of tall buildings positioned by the sides of the road.

The two hovercars who were closing in on him from behind earlier closed in on him again.

Unlike last time both cars didn't try to hit him at the same time. Instead, they swerved and changed lanes as one of them moved to his front while the other positioned right behind him.

The top of both hover cars swept open, and two fierce-looking red jackets jumped out.

One of them was on a triangular-looking glider, which had a blueish flame drizzling out of its bottom, while the other landed at the back of the car right in front of Gustav and jumped forward.

Gustav swerved towards the side to dodge the person who had leaped forward, but as he arrived by the side, the other red jacket on the triangular glider had also moved towards that direction.

A massive metallic-looking pole appeared in his hand, which he swung towards Gustav.

Gustav swung his fist out in response, which resulted in a collision that sent him sliding towards the side.

The moment his fist made contact, a weird recoil redirected part of the force from the attack towards him.

Chapter 563: Astonishing The Enemies

The moment his fist made contact, a weird recoil redirected part of the force from the attack towards him.

Gustav was nearly hit by the hovercar behind. Due to the close collision, the red jacket that jumped backward earlier grabbed hold of a part of Sahil's arm, which was also strapped to Gustav's back.

Gustav felt the pull from behind, slowing him back, and knew what was happening, but the problem was how to counter.

While he was hindered by this from moving forward faster, the other on the triangular glider was also charging towards him while swinging out the pole again.

Fwwhii~

Gustav jumped upwards and did a flip while twisting in mid-air. Not only was he able to dodge the pole this way, but he was also able to get the person pulling on Sahil's arm from behind to release his grip.

The instant Gustav landed behind him right on the hovercar, he swung his foot forward with force.

Bang!

His leg slammed into the head of the red jacket, causing him to be sent flying forward before slamming into the hovercar, moving in front and landing on the road.

Krrychuumm~

A weird noise was heard from underneath the car as the hovercraft glided over him.

The other one on the triangular glider had moved out of the way to prevent his comrade from slamming into him, and now he was charging towards Gustav again.

The glider traveled so fast across the air that it looked like a flying phantom.

Gustav had limited space while standing in the car, so he quickly conjured another atomic blade and started clashing with this red jacket.

Slash! Slash! Bang!

While they clashed repeatedly, another red jacket was trying to make their way out of the hovercar in front.

Gustav jumped into the air and threw the atomic blade forward the instant he spotted his body coming halfway through the hole atop the hovercar.

Swwhhuinnng~

A jet of blood sprayed onto the top of the hovercraft as this red jacket was cleanly decapitated.

The red jacket swinging the pole around saw this as an opportunity and swung the pole towards Gustav's face as his body descended from the air.

Gustav raised his hand and grabbed onto the pole tightly.

Fwwoomm!

His body was nearly swung towards the side, but he didn't let go and made use of that to spin around in mid-air while throwing out two round objects.

Fwiih~ Fwiih~

What came next was an explosion.

Boom!

The red jacket was blasted off the glider towards the side and slammed into the road.

"I'm going to have to use my over charge," The red jacket within the car far behind basking in a yellow glow voiced out.

"Are you sure?" The one in front asked with a look of wariness.

"Hmm, No matter how many openings I find on this guy, my shots never meet him because his senses and reaction time is on a high level," The red jacket with the sniper-like weapon stated.

"We're gonna have to warn the others in front," The one beside them voiced out.

"Don't bother. We'll have to sacrifice them, so he won't get suspicious. He'll only notice at the time it gets fired, which would be too late to dodge," As the red jacket finished saying this, he pushed his body partly out the window and aimed at Gustav again, staring at his frame through a scope.

At the moment, Gustav was on the glider trying to control it after blasting its owner away, but it was proving impossible. It would seem only the owner could make it work.

Gustav jumped back down as his arms increased in size and muscularity, becoming that of the mutated bull as he swung out both atomic blades in his grasp with force.

Shhhrrriiiiiieeeehehh~

The hovercar was divided into two halves as the milky-colored three feet blades cut across them fiercely, carrying immensely sharp energy, which also caused a long slash mark to appear across the road.

Boom!

An explosion went off after this, blasting the remaining red jackets within across the place as they were set ablaze.

Gustav charged forward with his gigantic arm, ready to deal with the other hovercar in front.

Meanwhile, behind a red jacket within the hovercar was gathering a massive amount of energy as he prepared to fire at Gustav.

Just as Gustav was dealt cleaved the hovercar in front into two halves, an explosion went off behind him.

Zwhhiii~

A yellowish streak carrying an immense wave of energy travelled forward, causing the middle of the road to be ripped apart from its force as it blazed across the air.

Gustav suddenly turned around as his body turned green and bloated as he stomped the ground.

A diamond-like wall suddenly sprouted out from the ground before him as this yellowish streak arrived.

Boooooooooommm~

A massive mushroom cloud appeared in the middle of the road as a loud blast rang out.

Fwwwooooooooommm~

It spread across the radius of five hundred feet, consuming everything in its way as even the buildings by the side had parts of their walls collapsing with windows blasting into pieces.

The shockwaves slammed into the hovercar where the attack came from and sent it flying backward by a few feet.

It somersaulted several times in the air before landing, stabilizing itself a few hundred feet behind.

"Damn Rahim, you're one hell of a bastard," The other red jacket beside him voiced out as he noted the damage done to the surroundings.

"I had forgotten how destructive your ultimate power move was. If boss didn't have that protective device that would activate to shield him, we wouldn't be able to use an attack of this scale without the risk of getting him killed as well," The one in front also voiced out as he stared at the buildings by the sides up ahead still vibrating from the sheer force.

"But I saw him put up a defense before the explosion went off," Rahim, the one who had fired the attack, spoke.

Chapter 564: Zergeref Pursues

"But I saw him put up a defense before the explosion went off," Rahim, the one who had fired the attack, spoke.

"There is no way he'll survive that, only the boss will still be in one piece because of the protective device," The driver said while staring at the massive embodiment of flames that covered the road up ahead.

About three hundred feet behind them, a figure stood atop a fifty feet tall building and stared in the direction of the blast.

"Looks like he got taken care of," The 7'9 male wearing a black tank top muttered as he prepared to turn around.

Just as he was about to do that, he noticed a very tiny figure moving out of the flames up ahead.

"He survived?" He mumbled as he saw the figure dart through the flames ahead, disappearing into the distance.

The man looked down the road at the only hovercar that could be seen positioned hundreds of feet behind the flames.

"Those fools," He muttered before leaping forward.

As the red jackets within the hovercar moved out of the vehicle, they heard a loud whooshing sound from above.

A dark shadow was cutting through the air with immense speed headed for their location, and by the time they noticed...

Bang!

The figure had landed in front of them.

"Zergeref?" They exclaimed at the same time after noticing this 7'9 buff man.

"You didn't hit him and now he's getting away," The man said with a loud tone.

"What? You must be mistaken. Ha ha. there's no way he's alive right now," The group voiced out.

Zergeref raised one eyebrow up and turned around to start walking towards the flames.

His foot made stomping sounds on the ground as he arrived before the flames and raised one of his legs up.

Bringing it down with force, a wave of wind spread across the surroundings that cleared out the fire instantly.

Fwwooooommm~

The group below had looks of awe as their red jackets blew backward due to the fierce wind.

Their eyes widened in the next instant as they stared at the damaged road. A massive crater had appeared in the middle, but no one could be seen within it.

Zergeref turned around to stare at them, "I doubt you even managed to harm him in the slightest," He voiced out.

All four of them were dazed and kept their mouths open in disbelief, not knowing what to say for a while.

"But... How is this even possible? He even made use of multiple abilities, " One of them voiced out with a tone of confusion.

Zergeref scoffed after hearing that and turned around to start walking forward once again.

"Gather everyone up and come take the boss back after I have destroyed the culprit," He voiced out before stomping his right foot on the ground once again.

Fwwwooopp~

His figure lifted into the air with immense speed and disappeared from their line of sight.

"He's truly finished now that Zergeref is involved," The red jacket who was driving earlier voiced out.

"Let's gather the rest and meet up with him like he said," Rahim voiced out as they got back into the hovercar.

They were still finding it hard to believe what they had gone through, and more than anything, they wanted to find out the identity of Gustav.

As they drove back, they could see other figures leaping across the air, headed for the same direction as Zergeref.

-

"Ten minutes away," Gustav muttered as he bolted across the road at speed close to sound. He had already started closing in on the outskirts of region six.

Even though Region six was at the edge of the city, he would still have to get back to region seven before he would be able to leave here.

If he tried leaving the city from region six instead of going back, he would be going in the wrong direction, and it would even take more work to leave.

As Gustav dashed across the street, he could hear a loud whooshing sound behind him coming from the air.

This caused him to turn alert as he wondered what would be moving at such speed.

The instant Gustav turned his head to the side to stare at the sky behind, he spotted a black object headed for him from above.

As it entered his range of perception Gustav's eyes widened slightly, and he proceeded to jump to the side.

Bang!

A loud sound of collision rang out as this black object landed in the middle of the road where Gustav was standing earlier.

And it just happened to be a person, not a black object.

Gustav paused kept sliding back by several feet even after coming to a stop due to the force which he made use of when swerving right.

"So it was you," Zergeref voiced out with a deep tone before chuckling.

Gustav instantly recognized this man to be the same person who told him to leave when he approached their street earlier.

"So what if it was me? I don't have the time to mess around, so I'll have to get a serious now," Gustav stated while slowly transforming into the combination of the bloodwolf and mutated bull again. Not only was Gustav trying to preserve energy by not combining more, but he was also trying to keep his mask on while he was transformed, so his head had to remain in its usual human shape.

"Oh, I see. I can sense that your energy just increased but it is nothing compared to someone with true experience," Zergeref voiced out as he stomped on the ground.

Fwwooooommsshhh~

Waves of silver-like streaks burst forth the instant he did that. Gustav moved towards the side, trying to dodge but was still hit by some weird metallic sounds.

'What is that?' He wondered in his mind as he shook off and dashed forward towards Zergeref.

Gustav threw his fist forward, which Zergeref dodged with ease, and proceeded to send a palm strike forward.

Fwwiiihhh~

Gustav moved to the side to dodge, but a circular wave shot out of the palm, which slammed into the building by the side, creating a massive boulder-sized hole within.

Sshhrrrikkkk!

This time Gustav staggered backward as a loud metallic sound rang profusely in his ears.

Bang!

Zergeref fist slammed into Gustav's gut the next moment, sending him flying towards the building on the left.

Chapter 565: Battle With A Powerful Sound Bloodline User

Zergeref fist slammed into Gustav's gut the next moment, sending him flying towards the building on the left.

Gustav did a flip in mid-air and landed on the side of the wall with his legs before pushing himself forward with immense force.

Bang!

The wall caved in, blasting to the side as Gustav arrived back in front of Zergeref with an outstretched hand.

Zergeref moved towards the left at the last instant and threw out his left palm towards Gustav's ribs area as his body shot forward.

Gustav felt the rippling shockwaves headed for him and spun his body in mid-air while also throwing out his own palm in response.

[Palm Strike Has Been Activated]

His palm and Zergeref collided, causing both of them to be blasted backward.

But once again, weird metallic screeching sounds played out in Gustav's ears, messing with his movement.

'He uses the power of sound. That's why he's able to predict my movements,' Gustav analyzed as he landed back on the ground and dashed forward once again to clash with Zergeref.

'Who is this person. I can sense from his bloodline energy that he's just a Martial rank and yet he's able to trade blows with me?' Zergeref was astonished as he repeatedly clashed with Gustav.

Even though he was using different sounds to mess with Gustav and slow his movements, Gustav could still keep up with him.

He jumped backward, dodging another of Gustav's punch that nearly slammed into his gut.

"For a Martial ranked you sure are more powerful than I expected. It's time I got a little more serious," While Zergeref was speaking, Gustav dashed forward again.

pah!

Zergeref snapped his fingers, causing an invisible wave to spread around the place.

It covered more than a thousand feet of radius across the vicinity.

"Cocoon of sound," As he muttered these words...

Boom~

Gustav was suddenly struck backward as a loud sound exploded in his eardrums.

Several hundred feet behind, he landed on the ground with blood oozing out of his ears.

Gustav's vision swayed as he tried standing to his feet only to be assaulted with loud sounds. Every single movement caused a loud sound to be blasted into his eardrums, causing him to pause his movements and hold onto his ears.

After so much effort, he finally managed to stand to his feet with his hands covering his ears as he stared at Zergeref in front.

Zergeref stood in place with a smile on his face.

"SEE I DON'T EVEN HAVE TO TOUCH YOU TO ATTACK SO LONG AS YOU'RE UNDER MY COOCOON!" Zergeref happened to be whispering, but every single word he said blasted in Gustav's eardrums loudly regardless of the fact that he was covering his ears.

'Just what is this power?' Gustav wondered as his face squeezed up in pain. His head was ringing due to this, and even his own movements were extremely loud to him, causing him to stand in place.

"GET LOST!" The instant Zergeref voiced this out in a normal tone, it blasted across the place like an explosion sending a sound wave of destruction forward that blasted Gustav backward.

The words rang in his ears loudly and kept echoing, disabling him from being able to think properly or perform any actions.

Bang!

The entire vicinity vibrated intensely as Gustav blasted through the building and landed about a thousand feet away from his initial location.

Zergeref smiled and took a step forward.

Bang!

The moment his feet made contact with the ground, another soundwave was sent forward, which slammed into the building in front, causing it to be crushed as it started crumbling to the ground.

Every single step taken sounded like an atomic bomb going off. At this point, the entire vicinity was caving in due to the force of the sound.

Gustav managed to jump to his feet as he spotted a part of the building in front of him collapsing and dodged it.

"Ugh!" Gustav moaned in pain as his ears suffered from the rumbling noise of the building collapsing along with his movement.

Blood still kept oozing down his ears as he felt his eardrums might explode anytime soon.

Zergeref stood several hundred feet away and stared at Gustav with a look of surprise.

"If my strength wasn't sealed, you would be dead ten times over, but it's still mind boggling that you're still alive even after all this..." He was still whispering, but it sounded really loud in Gustav's ears.

'How long will it take?' Gustav asked internally.

("Almost there... In five..") The system responded.

("four...")

Earlier, Gustav had asked the system if it could shut down his hearing functions. He could bear the physical force from the sound. Still, if it kept messing with his ability to form thoughts and battle strategy, he would eventually lose and die horribly.

("One and Zero... Congratulations you're deaf now,") The system announced in his head.

Gustav sighed in relief as he finally looked forward and put his hands down.

He had never been so grateful for silence as he was now. Zergeref was still whispering up ahead, but now he couldn't hear a thing. Also, his movement didn't give him headaches like before.

Gustav's eyes squinted as he glared at Zergeref, who was still whispering.

Swwoosshh~

Gustav suddenly charged forward, closing the distance between both of them in an instant as he sent a fist hurling at Zergeref's face.

Zergeref was extremely shocked at the sudden sneak attack, but his head was already swerving to the side to dodge Gustav's fist from the instant he moved forward. Every sound in the vicinity couldn't escape Zergeref's hearing, including minor body movements, but Gustav only made a sound at the moment he dashed out, which was what surprised Zergeref the most. Before anyone made a move, their bodies would make certain sounds in preparation for that act. It was impossible to normally hear these sounds, but due to Zergeref having a sound-based bloodline, he would be able to hear these sounds and use them to predict the enemy's actions.

Chapter 566: Using The Jiko Hakai Katana In Battle

As Gustav's fist passed by the side of his head, he was ready to voice out another sound attack when he felt a force headed for his gut.

Bang!

Gustav's knee slammed heavily into Zergeref's gut, causing him to spit out saliva as he was sent hurling across the air.

Bang!

He slammed into the building on the other side, causing a sound wave to get sent across the place.

Gustav got blasted backward once more due to the overamplification of sound in the vicinity.

He stabilized himself after sliding back for some feet and prepared to attack again when Zergeref screamed out from his current location.

Boom!

A massive wave spread across the vicinity, sending Gustav flying again.

The problem about the soundwaves as they covered a wide range, and now another building has collapsed from this.

It was practically impossible for Gustav to dodge them.

As Zergeref jumped down from the building, another set of waves spread across the vicinity.

Gustav leaped forward in response, using his body to push through the waves as he charged forward towards Zergeref.

Blood appeared on several parts of his body as he cut through the waves and landed right in front of Zergeref, who was stunned.

Bang!

Another punch slammed into Zergeref's jaw, sending him blasting upwards.

Zergeref realized he had underestimated Gustav and decided to use the full power of his sound cocoon.

Pah!

He clapped in mid-air as Gustav jumped upwards, causing a much bigger sound wave to blast across the vicinity again.

Unlike the last one, this one was so powerful that a massive crater was instantly drilled into the ground as destruction spread across the vicinity.

Boom!

Gustav was sent flying as loud bone-cracking sounds rang out. As the force hit him, he felt lots of bones in his body fracturing.

Each sound created a new wave which in turn created another one. Before anyone knew what was happening, it became a myriad of soundwaves blasting forth at the same time, creating an infinite amount of exploding soundwaves that caused panic all through region six.

Gustav was tossed across the place like a rag doll due to all these. He groaned in pain as his body was sent flying for hundreds of feet.

Zergeref suddenly appeared in front of him while his body was still blasting backward and reached out to grab Sahil, who was still strapped to Gustav's back.

Gustav opened his eyes at this point and stabbed Zergeref eyes.

Due to his arm being injured, he was slow, and Zergeref was able to dodge before punching Gustav further backward.

Gustav spiraled across the air as his body broke through a building, but just as he arrived here, he noticed that Zergeref paused his movement and landed on the ground several feet behind.

[God Eyes Has Been Activated]

Feeling that something was off, Gustav activated God Eyes and found out that he had arrived outside the range of the sound cocoon. He could see the energy wave from his point of view clearly, so he understood why Zergeref paused the pursuit right at the edge.

Gustav also stood in place as he held his right shoulder and pushed it. He popped all his dislocated bones back in place and cleaned the blood oozing from the side of his mouth.

His regeneration had already started working since he could see and feel himself healing.

Gustav jumped down from the six hundred feet tall building and landed in front.

"So now you can't move forward anymore eh?" Gustav voices out with a tone of ridicule as he walks towards Zergeref.

"Oh... Looks like you figured it out," Zergeref responded with a sharp gaze.

"If I had my original strength you would be dead by now..." He added.

'I have to spend a lot of energy to activate my cocoon much more spreading it out to this point,' He thought.

Gustav stood about fifty feet away. Although he couldn't hear, he could still tell what Zergeref was saying.

"There's no point in staying there, I can still attack you and you would only be delaying yourself even further," Zergeref voiced out.

'I can't go around this... It's spread too wide out and he could definitely come out and activate another one,' Gustav thought.

'I can't waste anymore time here so I have to end him now and I can only do that outside without getting disturbed by the shockwaves from the amplified sound,' As Gustav thought of this, he reached out to the button underneath his left sleeve.

"Come on, just hand boss over. You're skilled enough so you might be spared," Zergeref added, but Gustav still ignored him.

Zing~

A red-hilted katana suddenly appeared in his grasp.

Zergeref stared at it with a look of confusion as he watched Gustav slowly pull it out of its hilt.

Zzzrrhhhhrrrrhhhh~

Immense and dangerous energy suddenly spread across the vicinity as Gustav's hair and clothes started getting blown backward due to the wind generating from the energy.

Zergeref subconsciously jumped several hundred feet backward as he stared at the reddish katana in Gustav's grip.

Its hilt looked dangerously sharp and red, with blue electric arcs travelling across it.

"Just because you're outside the cocoon doesn't mean I cannot send out a powerful attack that will hit you... Put that down or I will end this now," Zergeref voiced out as he took a stance.

"No.. I will be the one ending this," Gustav voiced out as he raised the katana up with force, causing his muscles to bloat.

Zergeref sensed danger and immediately jumped up and landed back down with immense force while also clapping his hands together.

Thrrriiiiiiii~

A massive blast erupted as a wave of destruction that disintegrated everything in its path along with the road traveled forward towards Gustav.

It covered such a large range that even the roads by the side had split open, and the ground trembled intensely.

It was at this moment that Gustav slashed forward.

Shhhrrriikkkk!

An eighty-nine feet long reddish arc traveled forward with immense force as Gustav's hand descended, instantly cutting through the destructive wave headed for Gustav.

Grrrrhhhlkkk~

Gustav himself was also blasted backward as the katana flew out from his grasp.

All Zergeref could wonder as the reddish arc traveled forward in a vertical format was why his vision was split into two halves and why his body was disintegrating.

Chapter 567: Sudden Change In Weather

All Zergeref could wonder as the reddish arc traveled forward in a vertical format was why his vision was split into two halves and why his body was disintegrating.

He managed to get one more look at his body and noticed the blue electric arcs were turning one side of his body to ash as they travelled across it.

From Gustav's point of view, Zergeref had been split into two halves, with parts of his body tossed sideways by the immense wind and force of the strike as they disintegrated.

A two hundred feet long gash had been left on the ground, around ten feet deep.

Another building had suffered from the residual energy and had parts of it crumbling down again.

The electric arcs had blasted massive holes across the ground as they travelled forward.

Gustav, who had landed on the ground earlier, stared at his right arm and noticed it was gone.

He held his right shoulder area and groaned lightly in pain as blood oozed out like crazy.

His regeneration was fast, but this kind of injury would still take some time to heal.

Gustav jumped to his feet with a painful expression written on his face, but then he sensed something.

Fwwhiiii! Fwwhhii! Fwwhii! Fwwhhii!

Multiple people arrived on the scene, and he found himself surrounded in a few moments.

Gustav looked around the encirclement and planned his way out, but then he noticed that every single one of these new arrivals we're almost as strong as Zergeref. He has wasted so much time battling with Zergeref and even got himself injured.

He had no idea how he would be able to battle six more people close to his level of strength with an injured body.

Gustav picked up the Jiko Hakai katana with his left arm and put it in his storage device, knowing he wouldn't be able to wield it for the second time if he didn't want to get his left arm disintegrated as well.

More and more troops arrived and encircled him from all areas.

"So Zergeref got killed?" One of them voiced out from the side with a surprised tone.

"This guy must be pretty strong," Another one voiced out from the left.

"Looks like he didn't end him with no damage either..." The one directly in front of Gustav pointed gestured at his right shoulder as he spoke.

They spotted the missing right arm and saw fresh blood still oozing out.

Trrah! Trraah!

Two lightning bolts appeared in the sky and in the next moment it started raining again.

Gustav looked up and stared at the rain, 'It's time...' He said Internally as the group prepared to attack him.

All this while, A skin-tight protective layer of energy had been covering Sahil while he was strapped to his back. Even with all the blasts and hits from residual energy and the number of times Gustav landed on his back, Sahil remained unharmed.

Gustav reckoned that so long as a powerful attack didn't outrightly come into contact with Sahil, he would be okay.

"Now hand over the boss and we can kill you quickly instead of going through a rough painful death," One of them voiced out as they tightened the encirclement.

"Okay," Gustav responded affirmatively to their surprise.

They all paused in their steps staring at each other with a look of confusion.

But in the next moment...

Boom!

A loud explosion went off in the distance, far behind, causing everyone to turn around and look in that direction.

It was so far away that they had no idea what had exploded, but they could guess that it wasn't a small issue due to the intense blast.

At this point, a smile appeared on Gustav's face as the wind blowing across the vicinity suddenly turned weirdly intense.

About sixteen lightning bolts suddenly appeared in the sky, all at the same time astounding everyone.

The region was already thrown in a state of panic before this, and now it was even worse.

Brrrr! Brrrr! Brrrh! Brrrh!

A blaring alarm went off as the weather turned weird across the region.

Trrraaahh!

A thunderbolt landed right in front of Gustav, causing a scare in the vicinity as everyone jumped back. Smoke spread across the vicinity and what came next was a whooshing sound.

"Hey, he's escaping!" A shout was heard, causing all of Sahil's henchmen to be alert as they stared in a particular direction before giving chase.

Fwwooo! Fwwooo! Fwwooo!

The rain turned extreme at the point, falling like a waterfall was opened up in the sky.

They all struggled while trying to move forward as the weather became more intense.

Giving chase to Gustav, some of them managed to start closing in on him due to his decreased speed, but as time went by, the visibility of the environment reduced more and more, and they were barely able to see in front as the heavy rain and winds threatened to blow them away.

About a minute into the chase, a loud sound was heard from the west, causing them to turn their heads with looks of astonishment.

They noticed a tornado headed in their direction. It kept gathering more and more intensity as it travelled forward, increasing more in size and pulling everything in the vicinity towards it.

As if this was not enough, they heard the same sound behind and noticed that thousands of feet away, two more tornadoes were swirling towards them with intensity.

These tornadoes were a good distance apart from each other, but if they kept moving forward, they might end up clashing and merging into each other to create something even bigger, and at this point, they were thousands of feet tall.

The group saw buildings being ripped from the ground as the tornado swirled towards them. The henchmen of Sahil panicked as they witnessed these three tornadoes trashing around.

Multiple thunderbolts with different colors appear in the sky.

Trrraaahh!

A scream was heard as someone in front got struck down by lightning and blasted across the place with a nearly disintegrated body.

Chapter 568: I Have Completed The Mission

Almost everyone chasing Gustav started to disperse in different directions to keep themselves safe. Some decided to give up the chase and look for somewhere to take shelter.

Even though they were mixedbloods, they weren't powerful enough to handle tornadoes of this level. They would definitely be swept away if they came into contact with one.

Everywhere was also covered with fog, and the roaring winds and rain messed with their natural mixedbloods senses, making it harder to trace Gustav.

At this point, Gustav was already reaching the end of the region. He had managed to outrun every one of his pursuers because not only did they not have an idea of where he was going, they were also clueless as to which direction to head towards.

As he sped across the forest area in front of him, he suddenly felt something from above.

[Combination Has Been Activated]

[Sprint + Dash]

His speed increased as he went beyond the speed of sound crossing over one thousand two hundred feet instantly.

Bam!

A lightning bolt slammed into the area he had just dashed forward from, causing the ground to cave in behind him.

These weren't normal thunderstorms. They were more powerful than normal.

Swwoooooosshh!

Gustav arrived outside the region in the next instant and deactivated Combination.

'Finally...' He looked behind as he ran, glad to have left the crazy region behind.

He was currently dashing through a small street that was already decimated from war.

Gustav raised his left wrist up and started tapping on his dimensional bracelet to set a course back to Ruhuguy City.

All this time, he couldn't make use of it within region six due to the weather interference messing with the functionality of the bracelet. The machine was used to regulate the weather within the region also emitted a kind of signal that messed with the bracelet, so Gustav had to leave the region first before he could make use of it.

He had never tried using it with another person, so he had no idea if it would be able to transport him and Sahil together, but he hoped it would.

As Gustav tapped on the coordinates, he suddenly sensed powerful energy from the left.

«Initiating Spatial Jump»

As this notification displayed itself, Gustav also spotted a dark figure covered in a cloak dashing across the buildings towards his left.

He made eye contact with the purplish eyes of this figure and immediately felt a sense of crisis wash over him.

It was so immense that the hair on his body stood straight. Gustav had not felt this feeling of dread since he had no power, which raised the alarm in his head.

'This person is not one of Sahil's henchmen... He's emitting so much killing intent, I can tell he's not here to save anyone,'

[Combination Has Been Activated]

[Dash + Sprint]

Thuuuuuummmmmmm~

Gustav blasted forward with speed again as this figure suddenly leaped out towards the side.

Fwwwwooh!

This person appeared right beside Gustav, who had crossed the speed of sound with an outstretched hand headed for Gustav's neck.

This caught Gustav by surprise as his eyes widened while staring at the palm cutting through the air, only inches away from his neck.

Zing~

A bright glow suddenly enveloped Gustav, and he disappeared straight into thin air in the next instant.

Swwoooovv!

This figure's palm cleaved through the light particles in the air, missing Gustav's frame.

Fwwooo! Boom!

A massive arc was formed from the swinging of his palm, travelling forward and cutting straight into the already decimated building by the side.

It collapsed completely from the force as the figure stabilized himself after landing on the ground.

"He escaped..." He muttered with a raspy tone.

Gustav appeared right in the middle of a forest area with Sahil on his back and proceeded to sit right in front of a tree with an exhausted expression.

He touched his neck and noticed that it was bleeding due to a three inches cut that had appeared on it.

"Just who was that?" Gustav couldn't understand who or where that person came from.

He stared at his right arm area and noticed that his arm had grown halfway back already. It had stopped bleeding some time ago, and Gustav was nearly numb to the pain right now even though it hurt while regrowing.

He breathed in and out profusely before checking his energy level.

-Energy: 240/9,200

He was dangerously low on energy points at the moment, and even though he didn't completely run out of energy, he sensed the strain from using so many abilities in the last four hours.

'I'm about to break through to the Falcon rank. It could happen at anytime,' Gustav thought as he sensed the energy of his original bloodline within him.

Throughout the phase of this mission, he had made use of his original bloodline more than any other bloodline, so he happened to have gotten better at using some abilities he couldn't use properly before.

Currently, it was around six am in the morning, so the skies were still dark.

Gustav waited for his hand to grow completely back before unstrapping Sahil from his back.

Sahil still had his usual scruffy long ash-colored beards and the scar that ran down his left eye. Even while sleeping, he still looked like a menace.

Around thirty minutes past six pm, Gustav stood to his feet and picked Sahil up before placing him on his left shoulder.

He started walking towards the tent area situated some feet ahead.

The skies were starting to brighten up little by little as the mild breeze blew across the place while some birds made loud noises.

The instant Gustav arrived in the midst of the cleared-out space where the tents were located, he spotted one of the officers.

"Gustav?" Officer Tron voiced out with a surprised expression as his fat tummy shook.

"Is that...?" Officer Tron's eyes widened as he spotted the figure on Gustav's shoulder.

"Officer Tron, where is Officer Gooseman? I have completed the mission," Gustav voiced out as he arrived in front of him.

Chapter 569: Charged For Insubordination

"Officer Tron where is Officer Gooseman? I have completed the mission," Gustav voiced out as he arrived in front of him.

"That's Sahil?" Officer Tron asked.

"Affirmative," Gustav nodded while lowering Sahil from his shoulder.

"How did you manage to pull it off!?" Officer Tron's shocked voice travelled across the place, alerting the rest of the officers.

Officer Louis's bulky frame could be seen coming out of the tent on the left while Officer Gooseman and Milly came out of the main tent at the same time.

"What's goi..." Before Officer Gooseman could complete his question, he spotted Gustav in front.

"Gustav!? Is that...? Sahil?" He voiced out in shock as well.

They all had looks of disbelief on their faces as they moved closer to Gustav to inspect the body in his grasp clearer.

"How did you manage to pull this off?" Officer Gooseman asked as well with a look of disbelief.

"What matters is I completed the mission just as I said I would," Gustav responded while handing Sahil over to officer Gooseman like he was some merchandise.

"You used a tranquilizer on him?" Officer Gooseman asked as he observed Sahil's breathing pattern.

"Hnm," Gustav nodded in response.

"Looks like it was a tough one," Officer Louis said while staring at Gustav's tattered look.

His current wear was sleeveless on his right hand, and there were so many cuts and holes all over the jacket.

Gustav had kept his mask hidden before bringing Sahil here, so he was only dressed in the jacket and black pants he wore before going to abduct Sahil.

They could see a lot of blood and dirt stains on what was left of Gustav's clothing as well, so they could imagine just how crazy things must have gone.

"Let's go in, I need your report," Officer Gooseman was still very shocked and kept checking Sahil's body to make sure it was the real Sahil.

Officer Milly stood by the side, all this time speechless. She had been the one who had said Gustav wouldn't be able to pull off the three-star mission, and now he had managed to pull off a five-star mission.

One that many officers had failed in doing for a long time.

They moved into the main tent together and placed Sahil in restraints after finding a way to deactivate the protective layer of energy surrounding his body.

A circular-shaped ten-foot-tall structure was erected in the tent, and Sahil was placed within. His unconscious body floated within with restraints surrounding his hands and legs.

At this point, Gustav was busy giving a report of how the mission went down.

Officer Gooseman and the rest listened with awestruck faces as they heard how Gustav found Sahil due to the tracker he placed on him and infiltrated his hideout.

Of course, Gustav omitted some information, like the usage of some abilities he still didn't want to be revealed.

All in all, they were extremely surprised that even with all of Sahil's henchmen with the strength level stated, Gustav was still able to pull off the mission.

Even though they had footage of some parts in Leoluch city, they were unable to see region six since the place is where their network was cut thin.

Region six happened to be one of the places the MBO pointed out that Sahil could be hiding, and they weren't wrong with that information. Even if Gustav didn't manage to meet Sahil by using Junior commander Dart's identity, he would eventually visit region six due to it being mentioned as well.

"So, you destroyed their weather regulator generator?" Officer Milly voiced out from the side.

"It was supposed to be a last resort action. Things didn't work out as expected, so I had to destroy it in the end," Gustav responded as he recalled the weather situation back in region six.

He had actually placed one of his energy container orbs around the generator when he visited there earlier. The system had given him the location, which was where he visited before embarking on the abduction mission.

The weather situation of region six, as mentioned before, was very extreme, so the weather regulator generator kept it on a low.

Gustav really hoped he wouldn't have to destroy the generator since that was only a backup plan. However, he found himself surrounded by Sahil's henchmen without a right arm, so he had no option but to induct chaos.

"You endangered the lives of thousands," Officer Milly stated with a crossed look.

"It was necessary for the completion of the mission," Gustav retorted as the chaos created from the extreme weather was what helped him getaway.

"I'm sure they'll have a back up generator, so it must have all come out good in the end, " Officer Gooseman stated.

Officer Milly Brown seemed really pressed and moved back to grab something on one of the tables.

Gustav was still narrating some of the experiences when Officer Milly came up from behind him and grabbed both his arms before pulling them to the back.

"What are you doing?" As Gustav tried to free himself from her grasp, he suddenly felt both his arms being surrounded by cool energy.

A red glowing circular restraint had been placed on both his hands, binding them together.

He felt his bloodline being dampened at this point and turned weaker.

"What are you doing officer Milly?" Officer Gooseman, too asked after witnessing this action.

"He will be tried for insubordination and endangering the lives of the masses," Officer Milly said before kicking Gustav's leg, causing him to fall on his knees.

"Have you gone crazy? He just completed a five star mission?" Officer Louis voiced out from the side.

"It doesn't change the fact that he disobeyed direct orders to be extracted back to base and continued the mission on his own jurisdiction, also he confessed to endangering lives by damaging the region's weather regulator generator. For all we know lives might have already been lost before the backup generator began working," Officer Milly stated.

"Well, you're not wrong but..." Before Officer Gooseman could complete his sentence Officer Milly interrupted again.

Chapter 570: The Demon Queen Arrival

"Don't tell me you have decided to overlook these blunders because you are fond of this kid? Very laughable," Officer Milly stated.

"So this is how the MBO treats officers that complete five star missions? Quite laughable if you ask me," Gustav scoffed as he voiced out on his knees.

"Keep quiet! Keep your remarks to yourself till the date of your trial with the disciplinary counsel," Officer Milly voiced out as she grabbed hold of Gustav and forcefully pulled him up.

"Let him go!" A loud feminine voice was heard from behind.

"Huh?" They all voiced out in confusion as they heard this voice and turned around.

Gustav's eyes squinted as he recognized this voice without even turning around.

"Who do you think you are to just come in here and give out such order?" Officer Milly voiced out after she turned around to spot a feminine figure standing at the tent entrance.

She was about 5'8 in height, dressed in a brown leather suit and black tight fitted pants, which outlined her figure. Her hair was long and ashy in color, and her expression seemed quite cold.

"I suggest you let him go if you don't want to find out who I am," She said with an aloof gaze while slowly walking forward.

Officer Gooseman's eyes widened as he finally saw the figure of this lady, well along with the other two officers, by the side.

They now understood why they didn't hear a sound or sense her presence when she arrived until she spoke.

"Officer Milly, let him go," Officer Gooseman voiced out with an alarming tone.

However, Officer Milly did not recognize this lady and kept holding onto Gustav.

"He has business with the disciplinary counsel for insubordination. I suggest you back off till his trial date," She voiced out with a strong tone while turning Gustav around to face the lady.

Gasp~

The jaws of Officers Gooseman, Tron, and Louis dropped as they heard Officer Milly say this.

'No one can save her now,' All three of them had similar thoughts.

Gustav had a smile on his face as he finally stared at her. They made eye contact for a few moments as she walked towards them. Her movement looked so slow, yet so powerful and elegant.

The moment the lady arrived in front of Officer Milly...

Boom!

A strange force suddenly blasted forth, sending Officer Milly flying through the tent.

Her body formed a hole within it, and she landed several feet outside.

All three officers could not see what happened because it happened so fast. Still, Gustav being right in front, was barely able to see an outline of her index finger being flicked towards Officer Milly's forehead.

This was exactly what happened. She gave officer Milly a flick on the forehead, but it was so fast and powerful that it caused her to pass out after being blasted out of the tent, and their eyes were also unable to follow due to speed.

A smile appeared on Gustav's face as the lady reached out gently to caress his face.

Her aloof gaze suddenly became gentle and caring as a smile appeared on her face.

"Hey miss Aimee," Gustav voiced out just before he was pulled into an embrace.

Gustav was currently six feet tall, so she literally pulled his head downwards to place it on her chest.

"Did you complete the mission?" Miss Aimee asked after releasing Gustav from her grasp.

"Hnm," Gustav nodded in response.

"I knew you could do it," She stated with a bigger smile before reaching out to destroy the restraints on his arms.

The three officers standing by the sides all had looks of awe and confusion on their faces as they witnessed this unexpected display of affection between this two.

'What is Gustav's relationship with the demon queen? The most powerful female mixedblood in the whole of existence?' This was a question that plagued all three minds.

They had never seen miss Aimee smile before, and now she was smiling because of an unknown kid at the bottom of the MBO rankings.

They felt they were missing out on some information here.

Officer Tron decided to step out and get Officer Milly's unconscious body.

"What is the current situation?" Miss Aimee asked Officer Gooseman.

"Pardon me miss, I don't understand what you mean," Officer Gooseman said respectfully.

"This mission was issued in accordance to ours and Sahil is an important piece we needed, did you forget?" Miss Aimee stated.

"Oh that was you miss?" Officer Gooseman voiced out with a look of surprise. He had been told that this mission was just a branch of another, which needed to be completed to help a different major case, and some powerful people in the MBO just happened to be on this case.

So the mission happened to be very important. He had no idea that Miss Aimee was the one being referred to. All they were told was that they should communicate back to the second base when the mission was completed, and they would be visited by one of the powerhouses who issued the mission.

He hadn't expected anyone to arrive this early since they hadn't communicated back to base about the completion of the mission, yet neither did he expect that the legendary demon queen herself would be the one showing up.

At this point, he understood that the main case must be a big one.

"Yes," Miss Aimee responded.

"Oh ahem, yes. Gustav has successfully pursued and abducted Sahil," He said while gesturing at a structure at the far end of the tent that was covered with a massive sheet.

"Abducted? Are you saying he caught Sahil himself?" Miss Aimee voiced out with a slightly surprised look as she turned to the side to stare at Gustav.

Gustav just responded by smiling sheepishly while Officer Gooseman nodded affirmatively.

Miss Aimee already sensed a living person placed within that structure from the moment she walked into the tent, but due to it being wrapped by a massive sheet, she didn't see who was within.