

Bloodline 61

Chapter 61 - Savarinia Serpent Mixedbreed

Boooooom!

It exploded with an unfathomable force carrying a destructive wave of energy that spread across the surroundings.

The entire vicinity was blasted into smithereens including the glass walls.

They were supposed to repair themselves whenever they were damaged but they were blasted to pieces before the energy even made contact.

The energy raged across the vicinity for a few more seconds before the place became calm again.

The small mist slowly began to dissipate.

But even with everywhere becoming calm, the environment was riddled with destruction.

Everything was in shambles.

Pieces of equipment blasted to pieces, Same with the Scientific AI's. The Mecha cannon that fired the energy had melted to the point that only half of the legs were left. The upper part where the cannon was joined to, was nowhere to be found.

As the mist dispersed completely corpses with incomplete body parts could be seen scattered across the place.

Limbs missing body parts sprawled across the place.

Black blood splattered across the walls. It was obvious that the blood was burnt due to the immense radiation from the energy blast.

The roof was almost blasted open completely.

Surprisingly a man in a blue suit stood opposite where the blast occurred.

Not a single bloodstain or speck of dirt could be seen on his suit. He was as neat as ever, his looks contrasting with that of the environment.

This was none other than Yung and his face was still laced with coldness and aloofness even after seeing the destruction around him.

"It still didn't crack eh?" Yung stared at the green rock positioned in place.

Just like him, the rock didn't have a single scratch on it after the immense explosion.

"Jack, we're going to have to move to the next facility," Yung stated as he turned around.

The scientist wearing spectacles was right behind him. He also didn't have a single scratch on his body.

"Alright sir Yung," He answered with a sigh after looking around.

Not a single scientist survived. They were all torn apart by the energy.

'What a waste of good brains,' he sighed internally again.

Swwoosshh!

All of a sudden a dark silhouette streaked towards them from the other end of the room and arrived before Yung.

The man that appeared before them had a buff build and a half-green mask covering his face.

"Young master Yung I've found his whereabouts," The man spoke.

Yung's expression slightly changed when he heard that.

"You know what to do! It must be done immediately before that woman is alerted," Yung replied with a cautious look.

The man nodded and turned around to leave.

"Edan," Before he could leave Yung called out to him.

"If that woman catches you... You'll die!" Yung stated with a heavy expression.

"Be as quick as possible if you want to survive because even I cannot save you if she's involved... And besides, if you fail, you don't need to be alive. You're better off dead!" Yung said while walking forward.

Even with the mask on his face, it was obvious that Yung's words had struck fear into his heart.

He nodded and streaked out of the room leaving behind shadowy after images.

"Jack, get the rock, we're leaving!" Yung commanded as he walked forward.

Gustav was currently standing behind one of the last buildings that led to the forest region.

He stared at the wall behind the building with a smile hung on his face.

"You've kept me waiting for too long... Finally,"

Gustav muttered with a look of excitement.

A black figure that looked like a serpent was crawling on the wall.

The difference between this and a normal serpent was the size and some other body differences.

The length was about seven meters and its width was comparable to twenty abled body men joined together.

Its head had a red line cut across it and its tail was like that of a scorpion's.

The tip of its tail was extremely pointed and dark purple.

'A level 3 savarinia serpent mixed-breed... defensive scales that can bounce off the ninety percent of physical force thrown at it and it also has a deadly venom in its tail,' Gustav analyzed the mixed-breed.

He had researched about mixed-breeds enough to recognize this one at first glance.

The mixed-breed who noticed Gustav right from the time he appeared here finally leaped out.

Thoom!

Gustav was still on the ground so the serpent was practically leaping downwards.

The speed of the serpentine mixed-breed was fast enough to make it cross over seventy feet in a single second.

Gustav activated dash and ran towards the left.

Swooshhh!

While dodging the body of the serpentine mixed-breed, he transformed into the mutated bull.

Shhssshh!

After sliding forward for a bit the serpentine mixed-breed paused and twisted its neck area towards the side to stare at Gustav.

It was staring at Gustav wondering why he was no longer looking, human.

Gustav didn't give it the chance to think for too long before dashing forward again.

His speed was still greater than that of the serpentine mixed-breed and he arrived in front of it while swinging his fist towards its head.

Swhhhii!

The serpentine mixed-breed threw its tail forward towards Gustav in response.

Gustav noticed the tail coming and swerved towards the left to dodge while still moving forward.

He arrived at the left side of the snake and threw his fist towards its neck area.

Bang!

Gustav's fist landed on its body but he was the one who was thrown backward.

"Ugh!" Gustav exclaimed in pain as his body was blasted several feet backward.

'Looks like I didn't research properly... 90% of the force is actually redirected towards the attacker,' Gustav figured this out after receiving the full brunt of his own attack.

The pain was still coursing through his body as he wondered how his punch was so painful.

The serpentine mixed-breed didn't wait for Gustav to stabilize himself before swinging out its tail again towards him.

The speed of the tail happened to be faster than the serpentine's body movement as a whole.

Gustav's body was still moving backward from the force of the first attack.

Before he could stabilize himself the tail was already a few inches from making contact with his face.

Swoosh!

Using his quick reflexes Gustav grabbed onto the tail from both sides and used it to push himself backward.

Shhhssh!

His feet slid across the ground as the tail pushed him backward.

[Venom have permeated Host's system]

[Toxin immunity has been activated]

Gustav saw the notification appear in his line of sight just as he let go of the serpentine mixed-breed tail.

'Looks like even touching its tail is dangerous... But not for me,' Gustav secretly thanked his stars for the toxin immunity.

The serpentine mixed-breed thrust its tail forward again trying to pierce Gustav but this time Gustav jumped backward dodging its range of extension.

Sshhhsss!

He slid backward by few feet after landing.

He had distanced himself from the mixed-breed by about six hundred feet now which bought him about two seconds to think.

'Normal physical attack will be useless so I have to mix it with that,'

[0 seconds]

Immediately after dash ended Gustav activated sprint and ran dashed towards the serpentine mixed-breed again.

The mixed-breed who was wondering why the human didn't die from touching its tail swung out its tail again.

The tail was sweeping towards Gustav from the left.

Thoom!

Gustav jumped high up and landed on the large tail.

'Atomic disintegration,' Gustav's hand was coated in a white glow as he ran across the body of the serpentine mixed-breed.

Chapter 62 - The Power Of The Bloodwolf

Gustav ran across the body of the serpentine mixed-breed with hands coated in white light.

The serpentine mixed-breed swung its tail upwards trying to throw Gustav of balance.

Instead of losing his balance Gustav used the force to propel himself forward.

He leaped more than five meters across the air.

His body descended with his glowing white fist outstretched.

Bang!

Gustav's fist landed on the head of the serpentine mixed-breed.

The large creature's head shook slightly.

Unlike before Gustav was only thrown back a little by the force because the white light annihilated most of the force that was supposed to be sent back to him.

Gustav landed back on his feet after making a low grunt.

The atomic disintegration was only powerful enough to disintegrate part of the force which meant he would still receive damage from any successful attack against the serpentine mixed-blood.

The serpentine mixed-breed only received ten percent damage.

In fact, it hardly received any damage at all because apart from sending back physical force, it still had hard scales that would protect it normally.

Gustav dashed towards the side again and punched towards the left eye of the serpentine mixed-breed.

Gustav was almost twice as fast as the creature so it didn't notice the fist until it was about ten inches away from its eyes.

The serpentine mixed-breed opened its mouth wide.

As Gustav's fist was about to make contact with its eyes, he suddenly felt danger.

Thoom!

He immediately leaped upwards as a pillar of purplish light shot out of the serpentine mixed-breed's mouth.

It missed Gustav's feet by an inch.

The creature didn't wait for Gustav to descend from the air before raising its head to face upwards and fired the beam again.

Gustav looked down while being in mid-air and noticed the beam headed for him.

He twisted his body towards the left dodging the beam as he controlled his body to descend faster.

The beam passed by his side but the intense amount of heat it carried slightly burnt a hole in his cloth around Gustav's left rib area.

The creature noticed it missed Gustav and shot out the beam again severally.

Thwii! Thwii! Thwii! Thwii!

It looked as if Gustav could fly with the way he kept twisting his body in mid-air to dodge the beams as he descended.

He dodged every single one of them.

[Sprint has been deactivated]

[Dash has been activated]

Blam!

He landed on the ground and dashed towards the left again dodging the purplish beam.

Although his speed wasn't as great as before when using dash, it was still a bit faster than the attacks of the serpentine mixed-breed.

Thwii! Thwii! Swhii! Swhii!

It shot out beams while also sending its tail towards Gustav.

Gustav was able to dodge every single beam and its tail sweep but he couldn't find a way to attack the creature.

He could only attack its body if the tail swept towards him but it was useless since ninety percent of the attack would be redirected back towards him.

From Gustav's observation, the places that could be attacked on the creature's body were its eyes but Gustav couldn't get close to its face.

Gustav thought about the best way to deal with the creature without having to harm himself while dodging the attacks.

After dodging for a few more seconds his eyes widened as he realized something.

'Don't I just need to penetrate it,' Immediately this thought came to his mind, Gustav turned around and distanced himself from the creature.

[Dash has been deactivated]

Gustav was now more than five hundred feet away from the creature.

His body reduced in size as he transformed back into human form.

The serpentine mixed-breed slithered towards him violently.

[Mutated Bloodwolf Transformation has been activated]

Gustav's body transformed rapidly.

Brown furs grew out of his body as his eyes turned dark red, glowing with viciousness.

He grew to over two meters tall with a robust figure similar to that of a bear.

Four sharp claws about nine inches long protruded from both of his paws.

Grrhhhhhrrrr!

Gustav didn't know where it was coming from but he suddenly felt the will to shred the serpentine mixed-breed to pieces.

His eyes were fierce and he felt a wave of bloodlust trying to take over his sense of reasoning.

This time his sweatshirt couldn't take his buff build and started tearing apart. Only his pants were left in a better state.

The serpentine creature headed for him earlier paused and stared at him for a while.

It was just like when Gustav was transformed into the mutated bull when fighting the bloodwolf. The serpentine mixed-breed also had a look of confusion, wondering why the human would be able to transform not just once but twice.

Gustav calmed his raging bloodlust as he recalled what needed to be done.

"Grrhhhhhrrrr!" He raised his right paw before dashing out.

His speed was still generally the same when using bull transformation but he was more flexible in this state.

[Dash has been activated]

Gustav activated dash again boosting his current speed by a lot.

Thwii! Thwii! Thwii!

The serpentine mixed-breed started shooting out those purplish beams again.

The danger he felt from it was just as much as before so he still dodged.

He was already running out of energy after activating dash and sprint severally so he quickly headed for the body of the snake since he couldn't move towards its head.

Swhhii!

The serpentine mixed-breed swung its tail out towards Gustav again.

This time Gustav didn't even try to dodge the long tail headed for him.

[Atomic disintegration has been activated]

Gustav raised his right paw up as the tail headed for him.

His four claws were coated in whitish light.

He gathered power into his right arm before swinging it down, towards the incoming tail.

The intensity at which his claws descended upon the tail of the serpentine mixed-breed causing a ripping sound to echo across the place.

Shiiiiinnnnwww!

His claws made contact with the tail and smoothly severed it from the body of the serpentine mixed-breed.

Bam!

The tail fell to the ground and dark purplish blood jetted out it.

Sshhlkkkiihhss~

The serpentine mixed-breed made a loud and painful noise that was similar to both hissing and screeching.

[Host has learned the skill; slash!]

Gustav noticed the notification but he didn't focus on it.

While the serpentine mixed-breed was thrashing around in pain, Gustav dashed towards it again.

It noticed Gustav and shot out another beam but now it was slower than before which gave him the chance to dodge easily while closing in on it.

Swoooshhh!

Gustav arrived before the huge face of the serpentine mixed-breed whose mouth was still wide open.

Before it could shoot out another beam Gustav's claws were already swinging upwards towards its face from below.

[Slash has been activated]

Chapter 63 - Familiar Voice

[Slash has been activated]

Gustav's claws tore four deep gashes across the jaw area of the serpentine mixed-breed causing its head to tilt upwards as it screeched in pain.

Blood kept jetting out but Gustav didn't stop there.

As his left arm was already swinging from the side with a follow-up attack.

Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash!

Gustav's claws furiously slashed across the neck and face of the serpentine mixed-breed.

Dark purplish blood splattered across the place as he kept slashing non-stop.

Cuts that were deeper than thirty inches could be seen all over its upper body.

Claws mark that made the internal part of its head visible.

Gustav suddenly jumped up while raising both arms before swinging them down with full force.

His claws from both paws formed a white visible arc of light as it came down upon the head of the serpentine mixed-breed.

Slash!

The head of the serpentine mixed-breed was cleanly severed in two.

Plop!

Half of its head fell to the ground as purplish blood jetted out from its incomplete head like a fountain.

Gustav's body was already bathed in purplish blood but he wasn't bothered.

Grrhhhhhrrrr!

He growled again and grabbed the body of the serpentine mixed-breed.

He lifted it by the neck and brought it towards his face before taking a bite.

Crunch!

Gustav bit the rest of its head off causing more showers of blood.

<You killed a Savarinia Serpent mixedbreed>

<7000 EXP>

The notification brought him back to reality as he stopped himself before taking another bite of the Savarinia Serpent mixed-breed.

[Another Beast Transformation Bloodline Found]

[Does host wish to add Savarinia Serpent Transformation to beast Transformation Bloodline]

[Yes/No]

Gustav stared at the notification for many seconds while still holding onto the neck of the serpentine mixed-breed.

He could taste the blood of the creature in his mouth and surprisingly it tasted good.

He already guessed that this was because of the bloodwolf transformation.

He felt disgusted by the fact that he would look like that if he transformed to the Savarinia Serpent mixed-breed but upon thinking about it for a few more seconds he concluded.

'Its scales are capable of reflecting and sending back ninety percent of any physical attacks, it can shoot out a deathly toxic beam from its mouth... Its only flaw is its appearance,' Gustav analyzed.

He was only able to cut the scales open with the power of the bloodwolf and atomic disintegration combined.

It didn't work for the bull transformation because he was using fists.

The compounded force was easier to bounce off even when he coupled it with atomic disintegration while for the bloodwolf, his claws were able to cut fast and deep enough with the help of atomic disintegration to penetrate the scales.

The scales were responsible for bouncing off physical attacks but when it was cut through, its ability to perform that function was discarded.

Gustav had already analyzed all these after his first exchange with the serpentine mixed-breed.

'No matter how disgusting... Power is still power!' Gustav concluded.

He never knew when such power would come in handy so decided to go accept it.

'Yes!' Gustav called out in his mind.

[Extracting Savarinia Serpent]

<Extraction process: 1%>

Around midnight Gustav got back to his apartment.

He immediately went to the washroom to take a bath after removing his pants.

Sshhhsss! Sshhhsss!

The sound of dripping water could be heard inside the bathroom.

Gustav stood underneath the shower as he analyzed the previous battle.

The water falling on his head gave him a cool and refreshing feeling which made him take note of some things that he didn't think of earlier.

'To think it would still take me that long to defeat a level 3 mixed-breed even after I have increased in strength,' Gustav said internally.

Now he understood that not everything was all about being high-leveled because originally he should be able to defeat this mixed-breed with ease yet it took him time and he would have even been defeated if he didn't know what to do.

He now understood that different kinds of bloodlines abilities could really give boons to the owner.

A level 4 mixed-breed might not be able to defeat the Savarinia Serpent mixed-breed due to its attributes.

He had decided not to be careless when facing any creature with a bloodline because there were a lot of bloodlines out there. There might be some that gave the owner ridiculous boons which could help them in defeating creatures higher ranked than them.

Gustav finished taking his bath and went back to the living room.

He moved towards his reading chair after putting on pajamas.

'Hmm? My web board is about three inches away from where it used to be,' Gustav stared at the circular web board on his reading table with a contemplative look.

'I'm pretty sure it was three inches towards the left before,' Gustav was able to notice this minor detail.

He suddenly became cautious and started checking around his apartment.

He checked every part of his room, bathroom, toilet, kitchen, e.t.c.

After checking everywhere and seeing nothing else looking suspicious Gustav moved back to his living room.

'Maybe I'm just imagining it...' Gustav held his chin as his suspicion eased up a bit.

'The security measures of this area is pretty bad so maybe I should put personal security measures in place,'

The next day Gustav woke up by his usual time. He finished preparing and headed for school with Angy.

Of course, Angy kept questioning him about the night before and whether he even left his apartment.

She knocked severally and stood in front of his apartment till around eleven in the night before her mother called her to come back to the apartment.

Gustav only told her he left for his work earlier and she didn't need to bother about it.

Gustav didn't even mention anything about killing another mixed-breed. He decided it was better kept under the wraps but he also figured Angy's father should receive a report.

Angy kept staring at him weirdly inside the bus thinking he was telling a lie but after seeing the serious expression on his face she didn't know what to believe.

'Should I tell him, I heard sounds coming from inside his apartment yesterday night?' Angy wondered internally.

She didn't get enough time to ponder about it before they got to their destination.

Gustav wasted no time in getting off the bus and bidding farewell to Angy.

Angy decided to throw it to the back of her mind and head towards school.

'I'll argue about this with him later,'

-

The school was pretty much lively today but boring to Gustav.

All of his classmates were excited about the upcoming exchange event.

Some perverted guys were already thinking about how they would get hook-ups with girls from the other schools.

It was a three days event which meant, accommodations would be put in place.

Also, in their free time they would be able to mess around and do whatever they liked.

Gustav only shared their enthusiasm for the event because he was going to be traveling past the border.

'Oh I forgot to ask Angy if their school was also invited,' Gustav remembered this and decided to ask Angy later.

The day went by uneventful again but Gustav was already plotting something internally.

-

Just like that, another three days had gone by and it was Monday again.

During this time the wariness Gustav felt when he entered his apartment the other day, had faded away. But even with that he still decided to install security protocols in his apartment.

Gustav was walking towards his apartment from the stall with two boxes in his hands.

Miss Aimee gave him a free day because of the security protocols he wanted to install in his apartment.

He got to a corner in the second Street and was about to turn left when he suddenly felt a sense of dread.

He paused and looked left and right repeatedly but couldn't see anything around him.

He turned around, still, there was nothing.

Just as he wanted to step forward, thinking it was a misinterpretation of his perception...

"Don't move kid!"

He heard a voice behind him.

Chapter 64 - Successful Kidnap

The voice sounded really familiar to him.

The person had appeared behind him almost in an instant.

Gustav's face darkened, 'I didn't even sense his approach even though he's within my range of perception,'

"For your own good you shouldn't move," The person spoke again.

'This is the same guy from the forest?' Gustav recalled.

Now that Gustav wasn't as weak as he used to be, he could sense how dangerous this person was.

He now understood that if the system didn't teleport him home, there was no way he would have managed to escape.

[Sprint has been activated]

Gustav wasted no time in activating sprint.

He didn't have to think twice about it.

All, his senses were telling him right now was, "Run!"

Gustav crossed over one hundred and fifty feet in one movement after taking a step forward.

Wind blew fiercely as his figure streaked across the street.

Instead of running towards the neighborhood, he was running towards where he was coming from.

Gustav turned his neck around to look back as he crossed the two hundred feet.

"Uh?" Immediately after turning around

he saw a palm covering his entire line of sight.

"This time I won't mess around with you!" The voice sounded out again as Gustav's vision was blocked completely.

Grab!

It was way too fast for him. Even though he was currently using sprint, this person was like ten times faster.

Before Gustav could even react to the grip his body was lifted in the air.

"Don't blame me for doing this... You're a disobedient kid!"

Those words drifted into his ears before he suddenly felt his body descend with speed.

Bang!

His head slammed into a very hard surface causing him to pass out immediately.

The person who had done the deed grabbed Gustav by the head and lifted him.

On the street, a man in a tight fitted black bodysuit and a half green mask could be seen lifting a boy off the ground.

The ground had cracks across the surface and a small pool of blood could be seen in the middle of the cracks.

The man was currently holding onto Gustav who had blood smeared all over his face and blood kept streaming down his head.

His eyes were closed and his arms were stationed on both sides of his body without making any movements.

It was obvious that he had passed out.

'Did I use too much power? He passed out pretty quickly,' The man said internally as he stared at Gustav while still lifting him above the ground.

He was really feeling a sense of urgency and wanted to get things done as quickly as possible.

'We'll fix him with healing meds... Time to get out of here,' After he came to this conclusion, he pressed a green button placed on the left side of his head.

The people on the street currently were surprised to see what was happening.

They only saw both of them appear out of thin air due to their speed and before they knew it the boy's head had been slammed onto the hard ground causing it to split open.

A black car that was similar to the length of a limousine drove into the street in mid-air and stopped before the man holding onto Gustav.

The doors opened up and he threw Gustav in before entering himself.

Fwooshh!

The car blazed across the street after turning around.

In a few seconds, they were out of sight.

Chatter! Chatter! Chatter!

- "What's happening?"

- "Who was that boy?"

- "He looked familiar but everything happened too quickly, I couldn't catch a glimpse of him very well!"

- "We need to call the police!"

Voices of the people that witnessed the scene could be heard.

Truly none of them were closer than five hundred feet from the scene of the incident.

Apart from that, it didn't even take up to one minute before the scene ended so they were not able to see Gustav's face.

This street was only two streets away from where Gustav's apartment was located so it also happened to be among where he protected during the night.

Had they seen him clearly they would have recognized him.

-Thirty minutes later

Inside a dimly lit room, a person was strapped to a long bed-like chair.

A black cover cloth was placed on this person's head and metallic hands that extended from the bed-like chair held onto the person tightly preventing any chance of escape.

At the left corner of the room, two men in tight fitted black bodysuits stood side opposite each other.

They seemed to be in a discussion and the man wearing a half-green mask held a purplish and blue helmet.

This helmet had some aqua-colored stones embedded all over its surface which crackled with electricity.

"We can't waste time in projecting and watching his memories since it happened three months ago,"
The man in green mask spoke with a tone of urgency.

"Boss Edan I can only suggest that we make use of the truth function and ask him specific questions to make our interrogation faster!" The other man suggested.

"Let's go with that, we don't have the time to be sorting through his memories... We'll ask him specific questions about that day! Although he might become a vegetable due to his young age, we will have to risk it... No matter how powerful she is, she won't be able to trace who turned him into a vegetable!" The man with the green mask known as Edan agreed.

After concluding, they walked towards the person strapped on the chair.

After arriving before him, Edan grabbed the piece of clothing and pulled it off revealing the face of a blonde teenage boy.

The teenage boy who was obviously Gustav stared at the man with a cold look.

"Good thing you're awake now, looks like the healing med worked just fine... If you had just listened and didn't run I wouldn't have had to crack your skull open!" He said with a slightly bitter tone.

"Who are you and What do you want? Why are you after me? Why did you break into my apartment?" Gustav threw a series of questions at the man with a look of wariness.

"You don't need to know who I am... All I want is for you to tell me what happened three months ago in that forest mountain area... I'm sure you already remember me from that day..." Edan spoke while bending down to stare into Gustav's eyes.

"Now tell me what happened to the mountain, there is no way you didn't witness what happened since you were in your school uniform it means you were there the whole night... Especially after I found out your residential address is far from that place... I don't even care about how you evaded me during these three months, all I want to know is... What happened in that mountain region?" Edan stared intently at Gustav as he questioned.

Gustav stared back at him for a few seconds before speaking.

"Beats me, I have no idea about what happened to the mountain," Gustav said with a look of certainty.

"Why kidnap me when you should be calling an Orologist to investigate?" Gustav asked with an irritated expression.

"Oh, you're not meant to answer until after wearing this..." Edan replied while raising the helmet.

"What is that?" Gustav suddenly became wary upon seeing the helmet cackling with electricity at the top.

Chapter 65 - Brain Tweak Helmet

"Oh, this is something that will help you in spouting the truth!" Edan pushed the helmet towards Gustav's head and try to put it on for him.

"I won't let you," Gustav shifted his head towards the side causing the helmet to be placed on his neck.

"Behave yourself... I don't have the time to mess around!" Edan shouted out and shifted the helmet towards Gustav who was still moving his head around trying to dodge it.

Grab!

Edan grabbed Gustav's chin with his left hand and forcefully held his head in place before placing the helmet on his head.

"Nh...Nhhuo...Grhh!" Gustav muttered some incoherent words while trying to move his head but it was to no avail.

The grip was so powerful that he could hardly make noises.

He could already tell what the function of the helmet was but he was powerless to try and stop it.

'No! No! No! No! No! No!' Gustav kept screaming inwardly. He didn't want the secret of the system to be exposed but he wasn't strong enough. This was the brain tweak device and one of its functions was to force a person to answer truthfully to any questions asked.

Even if he decided to transform he wouldn't be able to break through the bonds holding him down.

Even if he could break through the man in front of him was more powerful than he was and that would also reveal his ability.

"Activate it!" Edan said to the man beside him.

The man nodded and clicked on a button behind the helmet.

Crackle! Crackle! Crackle!

The electric sparks on the helmet grew in number and size causing Gustav's eyes to widen in pain.

In a few seconds, his eyes turned listless.

Edan stared at Gustav's expression which looked like he was awake but also asleep.

"The brain tweak device is currently functioning," The man beside him stated.

"What is your name?" Edan asked.

"I am Gustav Oslov," Gustav answered like a robot.

He looked like a puppet at this moment.

"Good it works with no issue, that's the brat's full name," The man beside him confirmed.

"Now tell me what happened in that mountainside three months ago... Tell me what happened from your time of arrival in that forest," Edan commanded.

Gustav whose eyes still looked like that of a lifeless puppet started speaking.

"On that day, I went to the forest to go commit suicide..."

In the neighborhood, more than thirty minutes had gone by and people were still talking about what happened.

Angy was walking across that particular street trying to trace Gustav.

She had been waiting for Gustav to arrive since she saw him leaving his apartment earlier.

Since he said he was going to get some things at the stall that was only three streets away she expected him to have arrived by now.

She noticed the people outside their houses talking to some cops.

'Why are the cops here?' She wondered as she moved closer to check out what was going on.

-"So you can't describe the face of this person?"

-"Officer not only were we distant from the scene, but they were also moving too fast for us to see their figures properly and when they stopped moving, a car arrived instantly to pick up the kidnapper and the boy,"

Angy could hear the discussion between the police officer and one of the people in the neighborhood who witness the crime.

'Kidnapper?' Angy moved closer to listen properly.

-"So from his figure, you could tell that it was a kid,"

- "Yes officer, the boy that was taken away was certainly a teenager,"

- "And from their movements, the boy included, they are mixed-bloods?"

- "They are definitely mixed-bloods, the boy also suddenly appeared just like the man so it's very obvious that the both of them are mixed-bloods,"

At this point, Angy was already starting to have a bad feeling in her heart.

She kept listening feeling like some important information was coming next.

- "So there's no way to identify this boy?"

- "Officer if you were here when it happened you will understand what I mean... Their figures were practically blurred due to their speed,"

- "Hmm, with the way the situation is we might not be able to do anything since we can't get a single form of description,"

- "Officer if I remember correctly... Although they moved quite fast, I'm sure the boy had blond hair... Yes, blond hair. They moved about quite fast but I could at least point out that color!"

Immediately after Angy heard that her mind froze.

'Blond hair?'

Although it could be another person since having blonde hair wasn't exclusive to a single person but Angy knew that only one person in this neighborhood had blonde hair and was also a mixed-blood that surpassed her in the speed she had always been proud of.

She started panicking, "oh my God... What do I do?"

She didn't try to go meet the police because she knew that in this situation they wouldn't be able to do much or do anything at all.

The cops around here were weaker than Gustav so for him to be taken meant there were stronger forces at work here.

She kept thinking of who she could go meet.

She suddenly remembered something.

'He always headed for the Gami Dojo after school to train with his teacher... She's the only one I can go meet,'

Angy remembered asking Gustav why he never came home with her. At first, he didn't want to tell her but after she disturbed him for an answer repeatedly he finally gave in and told her about the dojo.

Angy quickly sped off towards the nearest bus station to hitch a ride.

This was the first time she was feeling so tensed. She didn't know if she would be allowed to enter into the dojo but she had no choice but to try.

-

Five minutes later Angy alighted from the bus and ahead of her was a huge seven hundred floors story building.

She quickly ran towards it.

The four bulky men in front of the entrance noticed her and called out to her to stop running.

Angy paused her steps in front of them and politely asked for permission to go in.

- "Young girl I don't know who you are and where you have come from so I will explain to you... This is the Octavia group business building, without proper identification you can't get in!"

"Please it's an emergency, I just need to inform a teacher here about her student!" Angy pleaded.

- "I'm sorry but I cannot let you in, call that teacher on your communication device!"

"I don't have any means of contacting her please let me in! It's urgent!" Angy kept begging but the guards wouldn't listen to her.

They asked her to leave but she didn't comply she kept begging and shouting.

Her voice even attracted the people within the vicinity.

Some of them that were coming out from the building had looks of disgust and suggested for her to be thrown far from the premises.

Even with the looks of contempt and disgust, Angy kept begging.

The guards couldn't take it anymore. One of them moved forward to grab her when a voice was heard from behind.

"Falco, what's happening?" A smooth feminine voice made him pause.

The guards turned around and noticed the lady in red walking out of the building.

"Young miss," The guards bowed slightly to her as she walked over.

Chapter 66 - Finding Gustav

"This young lady is disturbing the peace of surroundings! She keeps asking to go in without an identification," The guard said to the lady in red that had just arrived.

"Please I need to see her, it's urgent, the more time we spend here the more dangerous it becomes!" Angy shouted out again.

The guard turned around to grab Angy again after she shouted that out.

"Falco wait!" The lady in red commanded.

She walked towards them and stood in front of Angy.

"Who is this person you're referring to?" She asked.

"Maybe I can help you pass the message across," She proposed with a friendly look.

"She's a teacher here... Her name is miss Aimee!" Angy responded to the lady.

The guards' eyes slightly widened.

'She's looking for young miss?' The guards were surprised by this revelation.

Angy noticed the reactions of everyone around her were a little bizarre including the lady who was staring at her with a contemplative gaze like she was trying to figure out whether they had met before.

"Hmm, tell me kiddo... Why are you looking for me?"

Angy heard the female ask her this and her mouth hung open in surprise.

"You're miss Aimee?" Angy asked.

-

A few minutes later Angy had finished explaining everything that happened to miss Aimee.

Miss Aimee's expression was surprisingly looking bright after hearing that.

She had a smile hung on her face as she stared at Angy.

The guards felt a chill run down their spine when they saw the smile.

Everyone knew that she wasn't the type to smile unless something disastrous was about to go down.

"Angy... That's your name right?" Miss Aimee asked.

"Hnm," Angy nodded in affirmation.

"What are we going to do miss?" She inquired.

"Not we..." Miss Aimee answered.

Suddenly a chill spread through the air as miss Aimee's smile grew broader which made Angy looked confused.

She wondered why miss Aimee would be smiling but she could undeniably feel the chill spreading across the place.

"Go home, I'll take care of this!" Miss Aimee said and walked forward.

The ice-cold tone at which miss Aimee spoke left no room for debate.

Although Angy was still worried she had no choice but to comply.

She stared at Miss Aimee's back which was currently getting farther and farther away.

"Miss Aimee will he be alright?" Angy shouted this out subconsciously.

Miss Aimee paused in front of her hoverbike before tilting her head towards the left to stare at Angy.

"I don't know but... For the sake of the captives, he better be alright!" Miss Aimee answered.

The amount of bloodlust her words exuded caused the guards along with the people in the vicinity to shiver subconsciously.

Miss Aimee sat on her bike and started the engine before zooming off.

-

A few minutes later miss Aimee arrived in front of a well-secured and barricaded area.

This place seemed to be swarming with different kinds of security operatives that moved around the vicinity.

Most of them were laced in armor like uniforms.

The space within the walls that barricaded this environment was as wide as a small City.

The tallest building in Plankton city happened to be located inside this well-guarded stronghold.

Miss Aimee stared at the rocket-shaped building up ahead that happened to be so tall that its top couldn't be seen.

She sighed in dissatisfaction before moving towards the entrance of the stronghold where tons of guards clad in intimidating looking sci-fi like armors could be seen.

Inside the darkroom where Gustav was kept captive.

Edan stood in front of Gustav who had just finished speaking.

"Is that all?" He asked.

"Yes, that was everything that happened during the time I was within that forest," Gustav's eyes still had a listless look as he spoke.

"Hmm, now we know everything that happened," Edan said with a low tone.

Miss Aimee stood in front of a large room filled with holographic computers and a multitude of technological pieces of equipment.

A group of people in orange uniforms could be seen moving from place to place within this room. Some were handling the computer devices which showed the state of different places in the planet.

Beside miss Aimee was a man clad in dark orange uniform with black stripes.

He sported light green hair and was pretty short in height. Around 4'5 in height.

"To what do I owe this visit... Aimee!" He said with a playful tone while chuckling.

"I don't have time to mess around, I need you to use the Orion satellite to track someone for me!" Miss Aimee stated without extending any greetings.

"So sharp, so straight to the point... But seeing your urgent looks, hahaha, I have to use this to my advantage and make a deal with you first," The man smiled sheepishly as he spoke.

Miss Aimee kept glared daggers at him before answering.

"Fine!"

"It's time to get this kid back before that woman figures out anything... We'll decide what to do next after giving Young master Yung feedback about his narrative," Edan said while pulling off the helmet from Gustav's head.

"Canfur, take him back to his apartment," Edan called out to the other man.

The man nodded and started unhooking the metallic holds strapping Gustav to the chair.

After he completed that he tapped Gustav, "Get up kid!" He demanded but there was no answer.

"Hey kid get up!"

He called out again but there was no response once again.

The man stared at Gustav's face in confusion and noticed that his eyes were the same as before.

Listless!

"Boss Edan I think this one is gone," Canfur said while raising his hand and placing it in front of Gustav's face.

He waved his hand repeatedly, looking for signs that Gustav had regained his normal consciousness but there was no reaction whatsoever.

He grabbed Guatav's arm raised it and dropped it.

The arm dropped back towards Gustav's side like he was dead.

"He's underaged so it's normal for this to happen, just get him out of here!" Edan said with a slightly annoyed tone.

The man nodded and lifted Gustav upon his right shoulder before walking out the exit.

Inside the technology room miss Aimee was still speaking to the short man.

"Accepted, just find him for me," Miss Aimee said to the man who showed a shocked expression on his face.

"You accepted without even listening to my demand first?" The man said that with a dumbfounded look.

"What if I make unreasonable demands?" He questioned.

"Do not waste my time, Zach, find him for me, or do you wish to die?" Miss Aimee face darkened as she threatened him.

Chapter 67 - Punishment

The smile on the man's face disappeared as he noticed her glare.

"Ahem, give me his life signs..." Zach demanded.

"His life signs..." Before miss Aimee could complete her statement she heard a ring.

Tring! Tring! Tring!

Miss Aimee took a small button from her sleeves area and placed it on the left side of her head.

Miss Aimee's eyes slightly widened in astonishment as a masculine voice drifted into her mind.

"Gustav? Are you alright?" She voiced out with a worried tone.

...

"Good, where are you?" She replied with a tone of relief.

Zach watched from the side with a confused look. He could already guess that she was communicating with the person she came to search for which had him wondering what exactly happened in the first place.

"Alright, I'm coming!" Miss Aimee said and removed the button from the side of her head before turning around.

"The deal is off Zach!" She said and walked out of the room.

Zach stared at her back and sighed.

'So much for getting my hopes up... I thought I could finally get her to do something for me,'

Edan stood at the left corner of the darkroom.

He was speaking to someone with a communication button glued to the side of his head.

These days, easy communication was possible with the use of these technological buttons.

Calls could be answered with a thought so there was no need to bring out the device.

It was mostly used on the battlefield for communication. A person could be fighting battles and receiving instructions at the same time.

Also in this age where bloodline abilities existed, some mixed-bloods could listen to people talk from afar but with this, it would be impossible for someone to eavesdrop on your conversation since the voice of the person on the other end was going directly into your mind and not your ears.

"Yes, young master Yung we just finished interrogating him using the brain tweak helmet,"

"Yes, he recounted the whole train of events,"

"Yes... Yes... I was surprised also,"

"Everything adds up now,"

"Yes, young master Yung... I will give you the full details once I return,"

Edan's voice could be heard multiple times.

'Should I also inform him about how that kid happened to use a speed that was on par with a serial ranked mixed-blood... According to the information gathered, he's only an F-grade, how would he be able to use such power...?'

Edan wanted to ask Gustav about this but there was no time for that.

'well he's now a vegetable, this practically spells the end for him so I don't think master Yung needs to know,' Edan concluded.

"Alright Young master Yung, I will be leaving the facility in a few,"

"Understood!"

He voiced out before the call ended.

After the call ended Edan walked towards the bed-like chair that Gustav was strapped on before.

He arrived before it and reached out his hand to grab the helmet when...

Boom!

The wall behind him blasted apart.

"Huh?" Edan turned around in shock to look behind him but he saw nothing.

He suddenly felt wary.

"Who's there?" He shouted out while looking left and right.

"Show yourself!" He shouted out again as his arm suddenly turned shadowy and he raised it.

"I will kill you if you don't reveal yourself before me!" He started walking forward slowly with a look of caution while looking left and rights severally.

Sometimes he would even rotate just to check behind him but even after doing that for more than one minute, he still didn't see anyone.

"What is going on? There's no way the wall just exploded on its own..." He could see the bright corridor from the space within the broken wall up ahead but he couldn't understand how the wall could explode by itself.

"It didn't explode by itself, I'm responsible for that!"

He suddenly heard a cold feminine voice whisper into his left ear.

"Who are..." He quickly turned around while speaking only for him to notice a fist headed for his face.

Bang!

A loud bone-cracking sound rang out upon collision causing Edan's face to cave in as the fist buried itself two inches deep into his face before throwing him backward.

Fwoooosshhh!

The half-green mask on his face broke to pieces revealing a half-burnt face.

Splurt!

Part of his face cracked open as blood came spilling out of his face while he was being catapulted backward in mid-air.

He couldn't even scream in pain due to the destruction of his face.

Bang!

His body slammed into the wall and broke through it.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

His body kept crashing through the walls in a straight line until it finally came to a stop, several hundred feet ahead.

From within the darkroom, the body-shaped holes within the walls could be seen.

Swooshhh!

A red figure dashed through the holes with intense speed causing more parts of the walls to break and expanding the size of the holes.

The figure came to a stop before the body of Edan which was laying on the floor with a sunk-in face.

A fountain of blood was spilling from his face and head.

The figure who happened to be, miss Aimee raised her foot and stomped down upon his face again.

Bang!

The sound of flesh being mangled and hard skull cracking, resounded across the place as blood spilled across the floor.

"You really have guts! For you to lay hands on my student!" Miss Aimee's voice was cold as ice.

"How dare you?"

Stomp!

"How dare you?"

Stomp!

"How dare you?"

Stomp!

"HOW DARE YOU?!"

This time she raised her foot very high and stomped on his chest.

Bang!

Her foot crushed his sternum and down to down his lungs, causing another splatter of blood.

Miss Aimee raised her blood-soaked foot and placed them on the floor back. Her blue shoe was soaked in blood.

She noticed the man was no longer moving and squatted to pick him up.

She held onto his head that was battered beyond recognition and raised it.

She picked a pill out from her storage device and looked for his mouth which was almost missing due to the disastrous way his face looked.

She placed the pill in his mouth.

"You're not dying on me yet... You still have a lot of pain to go through at my hands!" Miss Aimee voiced out while dragging him by the hair, towards the darkroom where Gustav was held captive.

Edan's face was slowly recovering, along with his chest and lungs.

His body was healing up at a very fast rate as it would seem Miss Aimee gave him a very high-graded healing medicine.

Miss Aimee dragged him back into the room and lifted him.

"You will tell me who you work for and why you came after him!" Miss Aimee stated with a threatening tone.

Edan was starting to regain consciousness after the initial beating.

He shivered upon seeing her face.

Ash-colored hair, beautiful but very cold looks. It reminded him of Young master Yung.

'It's her... I'm finished!' A cold stream of sweats ran down his bloody back.

"Before you tell me what I want to hear..."

Miss Aimee said while dashing towards the wall on the right and holding onto his hair.

Swooshhh!

She arrived before the wall and paused her movement before smashing his face into it.

Bang!

Chapter 68 - Torturing The Abductor

BANG!

Edan's face crashed through the wall causing debris to scatter across the place.

Miss Aimee dragged him by the hair again and dashed towards the wall on the other side.

Bang!

She slammed his face into the wall again causing it to collapse entirely but she still wasn't done yet.

Swooshhh! Bang! Swooshhh! Bang! Swooshhh! Bang! Swooshhh! Bang! Swooshhh! Bang!

She repeated the same actions severally until there were no walls left within the vicinity.

Only corridors that led to different places within the facility could be seen.

But it would seem miss Aimee wasn't satisfied with the pain she had inflicted on him.

She clenched his hair tight and used it to lift him.

Edan's face was practically crushed again. His teeth were missing, his nose completely caved into his face, both eyes were swollen and bleeding.

Miss Aimee brought out another pill and placed it in his mouth.

He started healing up once again.

Immediately he regained consciousness he started pleading for mercy but Miss Aimee acted like she couldn't hear him.

There were no longer walls but the ground was available.

She lifted him high before slamming his face down with intensity.

Booom!

This time it sounded like an earthquake as the ground split open.

Cracks covered a radius of over five hundred feet from the point of impact.

Miss Aimee lifted Edan by the head again and raised him high up before slamming his face back onto the ground.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom Boom!

The entire structure shook like it was going to come crashing down as miss Aimee slammed Edan's face into the ground repeatedly.

A small pool of blood was already forming within the three feet wide hole that Edan's face had created from being slammed on the ground repeatedly.

Miss Aimee raised Edan by his hair again and placed another healing pill in his mouth.

"Ple-ase, ju-st ki-ll m-e," Edan voiced out hoarsely.

"Kill?" Miss Aimee said rhetorically.

"It's too early for that... I haven't even started," Miss Aimee as she dragged him across the ground towards the bed-like chair on the left side of the room.

"You strapped him on this chair didn't you?" Miss Aimee asked another rhetorical question before she lifted him again and placed him on the chair.

Edan was like a weak and defenseless chicken before her.

Miss Aimee strapped him to the mechanical chair that was glued to the hard ground.

She held onto Edan's head again and stared into his eyes with a devilish smile on her face.

"How do you think it would feel to lose a body part and have it regenerated only for you to lose it again and have it regenerated once again? Wouldn't the repetition of this procedure be magnificent?"

Edan's eyes widened in fear as he heard that.

"N-o pplease n-o!" He started begging once again.

Miss Aimee acted like she wasn't listening and moved towards his right.

She grabbed his right arm and released it from being strapped.

"Why don't we start with this one?" Miss Aimee said with a smirk.

"Nu-o pplease do-n't..." Edan tried pulling his arm back as he begged.

Miss Aimee smiled once again while her grip on his arm became stronger.

"N-o pple-ase do-n't d-o..." Edan was still trying to plead with her when Miss Aimee pulled his arm with force.

Yank!

The sound of tendons and cartilage forcefully being ripped apart reverberated across the room.

"Kiiaarrrrhhh!" He screamed out in pain like a pig being slaughtered as he stared at his right shoulder which was spraying out a fountain of blood.

His shoulder was missing an arm.

Miss Aimee raised the arm she tore off his shoulder and threw it towards the side.

"Kiiaarrhh!" Edan was still screaming in pain.

He had never felt such pain since his arm had never been ripped off his shoulder before.

Snot and tears filled his face. It was obvious that he was going through indescribable pain at this moment.

He wanted to pass out to escape from feeling such pain but he couldn't. He could only keep screaming out as he watched his shoulder squirt out more and more blood.

"Oh, this is just the beginning... There's more to come," Miss Aimee said as she walked over to Edan's left side.

Edan who was still in pain slowly turned his head towards the side as he felt his left arm being gripped.

His eyes were filled with dread as he saw miss Aimee holding onto his left arm.

He wanted to plead again but before he could miss Aimee pulled his left arm with force again.

Muscles and ligaments disconnected as his left arm was pulled out of its sockets.

"KIAARRHH!"

Edan screamed out again after losing his second arm.

Blood squirted out of the left side of his shoulder.

Miss Aimee threw the second arm away and moved towards his legs.

In Gustav's apartment, he sat on his bed with a small triangular-looking device in his hand.

"Why is miss Aimee taking so long?" Gustav questioned no one in particular with a low tone.

"If she plans to check the place out, it should only take a few minutes... It's been almost an hour now," Gustav muttered.

He looked around with a contemplative expression.

"To think I'd actually be taken because of the mountain phenomenon..." Gustav's mind recalled the last day's event.

-

After his head was slammed to the ground by Edan, he pretended to have passed out.

The man was stronger than him so trying to escape by using more power or transforming would only reveal more of his secrets which would end up in disaster for him.

Since he would still be taken either way he decided to pretend that he had passed out and made use of that opportunity to observe where he would be taken to using his perception.

His perception granted him the ability to see his surroundings with his senses even if his eyes were closed.

He memorized the path that the car took, the turning, and movements. None of them escape his senses.

When he was strapped on the chair and noticed the brain tweak helmet, he thought that would be the end for him since he might end up spewing the truth about everything.

To his surprise, something happened when the helmet was placed on his head.

[Host Brain Functions are being hijacked by external forces]

[Mental Fortitude needed for blocking mind invasion: 25]

[Host has acquired enough mental fortitude to block mind invasion]

[Mind Invasion has been successfully blocked]

Chapter 69 - Gustav's Ploy

When Gustav saw the notification he was extremely shocked but he was quick-witted enough not to show the expression of surprise on his face.

He decided to act like his mind was actually being manipulated.

Gustav pretended to be mind-controlled by the brain tweak helmet.

The information he gave them about the mountain phenomenon was the same as what the locals around there gave.

He only added more details to it than they did.

He mentioned that there was an outburst of purplish electricity that sent destructive charges across the body of the mountain after the star slammed into it.

Since he happened to be closer to the mountain than others, Edan didn't have a shred of doubt in Gustav's words.

Gustav was able to easily deceive them with his actions due to the fact that they were in a hurry to get the information out of him and return him to his apartment.

If they had studied him a bit more, they may have figured it out, alas they didn't.

He could tell that they were tensed but he didn't know why.

Gustav also faked brain damage so they wouldn't feel cautious towards him.

It would have been weird if he wasn't affected since the brain tweak helmet could even turn adults as old as twenty-two years into vegetables.

He was able to get a proper outline of the Facility and the routes that led him there when he was being taken back to his apartment.

He also sensed a destructive force within the facility that made him feel really suspicious towards the abductors.

They were already suspicious for trying to abduct him in the first place and successfully doing that now.

He could already sense that they probably worked for a big shot in the city since they could go around abducting people however they wanted.

Gustav was afraid they knew about the system earlier, whenever he recalled almost being abducted three months back but now he had confirmed that they didn't know anything about it.

They were only suspicious about the energy that radiated from the mountain after the impact of the blast that led to it being halved.

Gustav knew the energy probably came from the system which was now inside him so it would definitely be a disaster if he revealed that.

Gustav thanked his stars that he stuck with even distribution, if not his mind would have probably been taken over.

The destructive force he sensed within the facility made him feel more suspicious about these unknown people.

Immediately he was returned to his apartment, he contacted miss Aimee.

He was surprised that she already knew that he was abducted since it happened only about two hours ago.

He explained the situation to her and where the facility was located.

He had been returned to his apartment an hour ago which was also when he spoke to her.

Gustav had tried contacting miss Aimee again after this but he couldn't connect to her device.

Gustav decided to open the system interface to check on his attributes.

[Host Attributes]

-Name: Gustav

-Level: 5

-Class: ?

-Exp: 18500/25000

-Hp: 320/320

-Energy: 150/150

{Attributes}

»Strength: 34

»Perception: 34

»Mental Fortitude: 34

»Agility: 34

»Speed: 34

»Bravery: 34

»Intelligence: 34

»Charm: 34

{Attributes points: 24}

He had evenly distributed all the points and kept stored some for emergencies so even if his mental fortitude wasn't up enough, he would have been able to add more points to it in that situation to save himself.

'Doesn't this mean mental fortitude can protect from anything that has to do with mind control?' This made Gustav see mental Fortitude in a new light.

He didn't see it as a necessary stat beforehand yet he placed points in it like the others.

Now that he understood what it could do, he realized that it could turn out to be a very useful attribute.

Protection for the mind was absolutely necessary.

His perception and intelligence had also helped him today. He was able to properly analyzed the routes taken to get to the facility due to his perception while his intelligence helped him in memorizing every single turn and swerve.

He was even able to calculate the distance from the street he was abducted down to the facility.

The facility happened to be an underground laboratory located towards the east of the city. That particular area wasn't too far from the mountain he usually visited when he tried committing suicide.

He was able to easily describe how to get there to Miss Aimee.

Gustav checked some other things before he stood up and walked towards the door.

He was tired of sitting around.

The suspense was already killing him. He wanted to know what was happening and if miss Aimee had checked out the facility like she said she would.

He had decided he would visit that mountain region again.

His apartment door slid open and he walked out.

Immediately he arrived in the corridor he saw Angy approaching his apartment from the other end.

"Gu-stav?" Angy voiced out in confusion as she stood in place with a surprised look.

"Hey Angy," Gustav kept walking forward with a smile on his face.

Angy ran forward and grabbed hold of Gustav.

"Are you okay? Did they harm you?" She asked while checking Gustav's body for injuries.

"I'm okay," Gustav smiled warmly while answering.

"Thanks for informing my teacher, Angy," he added with a look of gratitude.

Angy was smitten by his charming smile which was very rare.

She stared at him for a few seconds before turning her head towards the side in embarrassment.

"It's nothing," She replied.

"How did you know I was abducted?"

"How did you escape from there?"

Both of them asked at the same time with Gustav being the former and Angy being the latter.

"Hehe," Angy smiled sheepishly, "I'll Answer first then,"

Gustav was about to reply to her when he sensed something and stared at the stair area.

Kom! Kom! Kom! Kom!

The sound of heels colliding with the ground could be heard.

A female in black top and blue jeans entered into the corridor from the stairways.

She noticed the duo and started walking towards them.

Angy also heard the sound of footsteps and turned around to see who was approaching.

"Miss Aimee!" Gustav and Angy voiced out together.

Miss Aimee arrived before them and also stared at Gustav in a similar way to how Angy did.

"Are you okay?" She asked with a worried tone.

"I'm fine miss Aimee, nothing of consequence happened," Gustav answered.

Miss Aimee nodded with a relieved look.

"Did Miss Aimee go shopping?" Angy voiced out with a look of bewilderment as she stared at Miss Aimee's wear which was different from what she saw her clothed in earlier.

"Oh, I couldn't help it since my wears had stains... Although the color of the stains has certain similarities with the color of my initial clothing, it won't be sensible to keep wearing it," Miss Aimee explained.

Gustav didn't have an idea of what miss Aimee was putting on earlier so he didn't make much of her words.

"Gustav let's go, we have to talk," miss Aimee said and walked forward.

"Angy I'll see you later," Gustav turned around and walked towards miss Aimee.

"Hmm, bye Gustav," Angy waved at Gustav as she spoke.

Miss Aimee got to Gustav's door and it slid open for her without having to use keys.

Gustav's mouth hung wide open as he saw that. His jaw was nearly falling to the floor.

"How did you get it to open without a key?" Gustav asked miss Aimee after entering his apartment.

"Your security details suck over here... A burglar could easily break into your home," Miss Aimee answered bluntly.

'Looks like the installments of security protocols are really needed,' Gustav sighed internally.

"By the way miss Aimee, how did you know that this was my apartment... You've never been to my apartment," Gustav asked with a dumbfounded look.

"Are you sure about that?" Miss Aimee smiled with a playful look.

"Ugh?" Gustav exclaimed with a look of confusion.

"Anyways, we have other important things to discuss," miss Aimee's voice suddenly became solemn when she said this.

Chapter 70 - Assurance

"Hmm, Did you discover the place?" Gustav asked while sitting on the couch.

Miss Aimee also sat opposite him.

"Did your Abductor look like this?" Miss Aimee brought out a rectangular device and tapped on the screen.

A holographic image of Edan wearing his half-green mask was displayed.

"Yes that's him but he wasn't alone, there was also another..." Before Gustav could complete his sentence another holographic image was shown.

This time another face was displayed.

It was a man sporting yellow hair and beards.

Gustav recognized this man as the second person within the room who also happened to be inside the car that they used in transporting him to the underground facility.

"Yes he's also one of them," Gustav stated as he pointed at the projected image.

"Good, looks like the hospital didn't receive the wrong guests,"

On hearing that Gustav could already sense that something must have gone down.

"Miss Aimee what did you do?" Gustav asked.

"Nothing much... Just put a group of people in a state where they'll never be able to bother anyone again," While miss Aimee was speaking more projections were displayed one after the other.

Gustav was only able to recognize three earlier, the rest of the seven were unknown to him.

'Looks like miss Aimee went on a full raiding session... That's probably why she came so late,' Gustav was gobsmacked as he came to this realization.

"Uh, miss Aimee did they say anything about who sent them?" Gustav inquired.

"Hmm, about that, it's a very tricky person... This person happens to be the brother of Hung Jo, your former classmate... His name is, Yung Jo!" Miss Aimee revealed.

"Also the first son of the Jo technological industry that helps the MBO create their weapons, armors, and other tools," Miss Aimee added.

Gustav's eyes slightly widened in realization, "Is it because of that...?" Gustav asked.

"No far from it... He has no idea about what you did to Hung Jo. You just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time," miss Aimee responded.

Gustav sighed in relief after hearing that, 'But if I wasn't there I'll probably not receive this power,' Gustav shrugged internally.

There was no way he would change his decision of going to that mountainside to experience the same thing all over again if he traveled back in time.

"He's the type that is very shrewd, cunning, and meticulous... Even though I've found out that he's responsible for this, there is no way to deal with him on the surface but I have managed to place the MBO on his tail so he will have to lay low for now," Miss Aimee said.

She noticed the slight look of distraught on Gustav's face and added,

"You don't have to worry about it, such people won't come after you again I can guarantee that... You just have to focus on your path, I won't deal with your peers for you but when it comes to big bullies like these old bastards that are beyond you, I'll step in!" Miss Aimee assured Gustav.

"Hnm, thanks Miss Aimee," Gustav smiled while replying.

Miss Aimee returned the smile for a few seconds before her face became solemn again.

"I found what you were referring to... And just as you said, it was truly something dangerous," Miss Aimee stated.

"What is it, Miss Aimee?" Gustav asked with an intrigued look.

"Hmm, that facility has been experimenting on mixture of energies..." Miss Aimee replied.

"Mixture of energies?" Gustav asked with a confused look.

"Are you aware of the different energy crystals mined underground?" Miss Aimee asked.

"Yes, my fa... The man who biologically brought me into this world works as a miner so I know a bit about it," Gustav said with a contemplative look.

"There are several hundred mines all over the world but only seven different energy crystals exist which can be used for different technological purposes. According to a ton of research, due to their diversity..." Gustav eyes suddenly widened when he got to this point, "Mixing them can cause a catastrophic disaster since they happen to be unstable together,"

Miss Aimee nodded in affirmation.

"It is against the law to mix them... A crime punishable by death because experiments like that have been performed in the past which led to the destruction of an entire city..." Miss Aimee said with a dark look.

Gustav gasped in shock upon hearing that.

'Destruction of an entire city?' It was nearly unbelievable for him but he had to believe it since it was coming from miss Aimee's mouth.

In this age, destroying an entire city was practically an impossible feat because different technological security protocols are put in place.

If an alien race tried to invade in this age, they would find out that the earth is not an easy target.

This made Gustav believe it to be impossible for a city to be destroyed no matter how powerful the cause was supposed to be but now his beliefs were being overthrown again.

"The amount of energy that is created from mixing the power contained within the energy crystals is capable of causing extinction to all races living on earth and according to the Slarkovs, this was one of the reasons for the destruction of their planet thousands of years ago," Miss Aimee explained with a slightly worried tone.

Gustav couldn't imagine how powerful such energies were after hearing this but it made him wonder why anyone would try mixing them since they have been proven to be dangerous.

"This is his doing, but the reasons for him mixing those energies are unknown... It might be a little hard to tackle him since he's very good at hiding his tracks, even this incident cannot be connected to him..." Miss Aimee said.

"Then what do we do now?" Gustav asked.

"Not we, this matter is none of your business anymore, it's up to the MBO to investigate now. I'm only telling you about it because you kind of got involved... He's probably forgotten about you now since you have nothing to do with whatever he's planning," Miss Aimee said.

Gustav nodded in understanding to her response.

"You did well in quickly informing me about the location... Now those people will owe me a favor, I should take you out on a date again," Miss Aimee voiced with a smile, "But I'll probably be busy for a while,"

"I don't mind, whenever you're ready miss Aimee," Gustav was now feeling slightly relieved but there was still a nagging feeling deep down like he could sense that this still had a kind of connection to him.

He decided to place that feeling behind him.