Chapter 1291 Planta's Plan

-----

Planta didn't dissipate her World Boss Authority Domain yet, as she carried the dimensional bubble across space, floating above the skies. It was invisible and untouchable, usually. But certain people connected to her such as her friends and her divine guardians could immediately spot the huge bubble of nature within the skies.

"That's... Is that Lady Planta's domain?!"

"It must be it!"

"We should follow it!"

The Ents carried their King and father, who had been healed already, but that was clearly exhausted from all the battles.

He looked at the sphere of boundless, divine nature, realizing Planta's plan.

"I see... Our master has a plan, definitely..."

The same happened with the rest of her friends and family, who all followed the huge sphere of gold and green essence as it phased through space.

"Mom, what are you planning now?" Elena wondered. "It's already over so why she is carrying that thing around?"

"I wonder the same, isn't that exhausting all her Mana?" wondered Anna.

"Well, doesn't aunt have the ability to restore it very quickly anyways?" wondered Elisa. "As long as she's within the Domain and all."

"Yeah!" nodded Monica. "I think she's fine for now... the Undead committed the mistake of attacking us while we were in our domain. There's no way we would lose anyways!"

"I suppose..." nodded Anna.

"Let's go back to the forest for now, I think mom's doing something special," Elena smiled.

Acorn, Nieve, and Johanna quickly regrouped with Florie and the rest of the Mushroom Brigade and various other members of the forest's forces.

Achlys quickly joined them, who had been fighting the undead and defeating them all quite easily so far.

However, in the middle of the fight against Planta, the Demon King of Death sacrificed all his Undead to gain more power, so they all disappeared before they could defeat them.

"Looks like it's finally over," sighed Acorn. "Ugh, what a morning! I hope we don't have to fight like this every day... This is getting very tiring."

"I think we're already approaching the last battles," said Nieve. "Once we can manage to defeat Merlinus, then there'll be... the Demon King of Death himself. After that I doubt there'll be more troubles for a long time. We'll be able to rest and recover."

"I hope so, I sure damn hope so!" Johanna said. "I didn't sign to get involved into so many troublesome things! And these damn undead monsters... I almost died inside that weird, creepy domain!"

"Lady Planta saved us at the end, so don't be like that Johanna," said Acorn. "Let's be happy we survived to tell the tale! And look! She's moving that huge bubble over there! I wonder what's for?"

"It is... Ah!" Nieve gasped. "A huge domain!"

"A Domain?!" Acorn and Johanna reacted at the same time, shocked.

Meanwhile, Rita flew right behind them, smiling at Planta.

"Well done bestie," she nodded. "But what in the world are you planning with that huge balloon you're carrying? This girl... since she was in high school that she had always done weird things."

Meanwhile, inside of the forest, the battle had finally ended as the Withering and Decaying Flora created by the Vessel of the Demon King of Death had disappeared fully.

Titania and her fairies glanced around their surroundings, noticing the forest had been rather... ravaged. Although most of it remained, half of it had suddenly withered and died, leaving behind a barren land.

Without Yggdrasil in the forest, the barren lands might eventually spread and consume the rest of the forest... Although for now, it was very peaceful, nonetheless.

"It's over... but we've paid a huge price," Titania sighed. "It seems Planta had to sacrifice half of the forest to gain enough power to defeat that monster."

She had moved outside of her castle, meeting with Titan, Lily, and the rest of the allies Planta had brought, such as Ambil and the other participants of the Craftsmanship competition.

"So that's what happened..." Mark nodded. "Don't worry though, she got this. I know she'll heal the forest with her abilities. Let's have faith."

"Yeah, don't you worry about anything Titania," smiled Lily. "I'll also enchant the forest soil with my magic and give it a lot of nutrients! How about it?"

"Oh thank you, Lily!" nodded Titania. "That would be wonderful."

"So where is she right now?" Ambil wondered, resting his hammer over his shoulder. "She kind of disappeared out of nowhere. And that's a hard thing to do when she's a huge walking tree!"

"Indeed, she just poofed out of existence," nodded Goldanaba. "But she carried that guy with her..."

"She must have created a Domain," said Horshen. "A powerful one that even pierced through space itself... a small dimension of its own, I would say."

"Something like that is possible?" wondered Erdragon. "How incredible... I think I've underestimated Planta's powers! They're even more amazing than what she showcased yesterday."

"They really are, she's the strongest," nodded Mark, smiling as he glanced into the skies. "Oh? She's here! And she's... wait, what? She's carrying something huge!"

"That's her domain?!" Titania cried. "I had no idea a Domain could be carried like this!"

"But if the fight is over why is she carrying her domain here?" wondered Lily. "Wouldn't it be better to deactivate it, so she doesn't lose more energy?"

"I think she has other plans for it," said Titania. "Isn't she?"

"I believe so..." Mark agreed.

They remained in silence as Planta's domain floated right above the forest...

And then, slowly, it began to descend, touching the floor beneath.

And slowly, the balloon-shaped dimension was sliced apart.

Slowly, piece by piece, it opened like a blossoming lotus.

And alongside that, Planta unleashed her magic and Skills...

Combining several powers at once, such as her ability to manipulate space through her Eldritch Body Skill, and also by infusing spirits into the domain and using Spiritual Infusion and Synthesis.

She did something utterly ridiculous!

She fused the World Boss Authority Domain with what remained of the Forest of Beginnings.

FLAAASH!

A wave of golden and green light engulfed every single living being in the forest.

And when they opened their eyes...

They found themselves in a completely different place.

Chapter 1292 The New Forest Of Beginnings

Titania slowly opened her eyes, finding herself somewhere else. This place, filled with divine power and spiritual energy was beyond what the Forest of Beginnings. She felt her feet touching the cold, soft earth, the grasses, and the flowers everywhere, smelling sweet and fragrant aromas from their pollen.

"Ah..."

She slowly sat down, looking around and finding endless, beautiful greenery everywhere. Big, ethereal trees stood up, towering above her. They had brighter, more beautiful colors. Some had purple, pink, green, or even dark blue barks.

Their leaves were colorful as well, some of them even resembling jewels that shone brightly. From each tree, thousands of lesser spirits gathered and were constantly being born.

"W-What is this? Am I dreaming?"

The only time she had seen such a beautiful divine garden before was when her mother Yggdrasil was alive, back then, hundreds of thousands of years ago.

When her existence spread endless divinity across the entirety of the continent, creating a continent-wide forest and jungles of divine and spiritual nature.

This was... so much like that, like her mother's forest, her home.

She felt nostalgic.

She stood up, suddenly noticing gigantic flowers towering here and there.

As they blossomed, several tiny fairy spirits emerged from them, as tiny as insects, that flew around and disappeared by the wind.

"Even Lesser Fairy Spirits?"

She ran forward, as she noticed something, a gigantic presence resting in the middle of the forest. She ran faster and faster, noticing that her kingdom was within view.

"This is really... the Forest of Beginnings?!"

Everything had changed so much she could hardly believe her eyes! The Divine Spiritual Plants everywhere, the hundreds of thousands, if not millions of spirits.

The presence, everything!

The sky seemed to be twisting constantly as well, sparkles of pink, azure, and gold colors, pure spiritual divine essence flowed like rivers across the sky, decorating this already ethereal, dazzling, and fairy tale-like forest even more.

"This is beyond my wildest dreams..."

She reached her Kingdom, noticing many people also approaching it, and at the same time, what was right at its side.

A huge tree, Yggdrasil.

"It's different than before?"

Yggdrasil's bark had become white, and it had gained many golden rivers of energy flowing through its blank-colored bark.

The leaves also resembled shiny white- and azure-colored jewels, expanding endlessly across the sky, it twisted space around it, making it darker, cosmic-like.

It felt like Yggdrasil's treetop had become a small nebula, or maybe a starry night sky.

"What's... What's going on?" Titania wondered. "Planta... Did she merge her Domain with the forest? Is such a thing even possible?! But Domains are only temporary creations, they can't be merged into reality... right?"

Titania, through her long life, had never seen something quite like this before. And she was left more than just speechless, but utterly and completely flabbergasted.

"Titania! So you're here," she heard the voice of Titan behind her. "Looks like Planta did this... She's amazing!"

"Y-Yeah! I am just as surprised as you are..." Titania nodded. "The entire forest has recovered and expanded so much now! Just how big is it now?!"

"Perhaps... at least ten times as big," said Mark, as he sensed his surroundings with his Spiritual Aura. "It's just a rough estimation, because I flew into the skies for a bit to see it all. It now expands through hundreds of kilometers across the grasslands, which are now completely covered by this mystical forest."

"No way..." Titania muttered. "The Forest of Beginnings, the last patch of forest from an ancient age, it has revived to such an extent it expands for so much now?! I had already given up on the chance to see the entire Forest cover the continent once more but this... this is beyond my expectations and imagination!"

"Haha, I see you're really happy... I just received a message from Planta, she's in your castle," said Mark. "Let's go meet her then."

"A-Alright!" Titania nodded. "Thank you Titan!"

"No problem," Titan said.

In the way there, they ended meeting several new spirits and spiritual beings they had never seen before in the forest.

Some of them resembled large stones with shiny crystal eyes, smiling as they moved around.

"Grooh... Groohh..."

They made loud, rocky sounds as they moved, and seemed to be in large groups, with a big "mama rock" that carried them on her back.

"Is this a Stone Spirit?" wondered Mark. "I had never seen one like that..."

"No, this is..." Titania gasped. "It's a family of Stonemen, an ancient race of Divine Spirits."

"They're divine spirits?!" Mark gasped.

And then, as they continued moving, little creatures began chasing them around. They were no bigger than rats, but had cute little appearances, with a small torso and tiny little noodle-like arms.

They were either made of fire, wind, light, darkness, or gray color, which seemed to be "nothingness" itself.

They had cute little faces with barely any features other than two dots, and often times a smile or a sad face.

Their heads blazed with their elements, if fire, they blazed strongly, if wind, they spiraled around, if darkness, most resembled half-moons, if light, they looked like suns.

"I don't think I've ever seen guys like these before," said Mark, as he kneeled to pet them.

"Gyuuh! Higheldy gyuuh!"

They made cute little baby noises as they gathered around Mark, touching him and then jumping in excitement before they started chasing one another.

"T-These are..."

Titania kneeled, as the little spirits ran towards her and started climbing her body and playing around.

"Higgledingles..." said Titania. "A species of Ancient Divine Spirit. In Fairy Language, it means "little playful children", they're the children of nature and the elements. Spirits weren't so faint and invisible back then, Higgledingles filled the world, and you could see them, every single one of them in every element.

It was always a spectacle, and they're always so cute and friendly... I missed them." She caressed them gently, the Higgledingles gathered around her and gave her their little hands.

"Oooh..." Mark was amazed. "To think she revived even ancient spirits with this method... Let's go, we're almost there!"

"Ah, yeah!" nodded Titania.

Chapter 1293: Erebus' Words Of Advice

-----

(Planta's POV)

What I had to do wasn't easy at all, but it ended working thanks to all the abilities I've been cultivating this entire time, plus a bit of help from Erebus too.

Combining the Domain into the forest was no small feat though, and it drained me even of my own Soul Energy as I did it.

However, the results were completely worth it! I ended managing to not waste this opportunity, evolving the entire forest of beginnings and making up for what I had to take as a sacrifice to defeat that demon king's vessel.

The World Boss Authority Domain was incredibly powerful and filled with divinity and spiritual energies, so when it was merged into the Forest of Beginnings while I used myself as the anchor of this combination, everyone was... well, knocked out for a bit.

However, nobody suffered damage or anything, and they might have been slightly displaced from their original positions as the domain expanded and fused with reality and the forest of beginnings.

Now, I glanced from the skies my creation, it was as if I had created a second Domain similar to the one I had back in Earth, but in the forest of beginnings.

However, could it even be called a Domain? It was still vastly different and definitely its own thing too.

The colors, the atmosphere itself, everything.

And my true body, yeah, it also changed. It took upon the true appearance it has after I evolved.

In a way, it got "upgraded" after I possessed it and merged it with my other skills.

And I'm fairly sure my connection to the Domain on Earth has been strengthened, the forest might have absorbed some of its themes, such as Forest of Fantasia and Dreams.

"So many divine spiritual trees and plants!" said the Great Spirit. "There's even... Stonemen, Ancient Fairy Spirits, Fae and... Are those Higgledingles?! Oh my gosh they're so cute I'm going to die!"

"You seem really happy!" I giggled. "Like what I did?"

"This is just insane! Can you do it again?! Merge the same domain on top and make it even bigger...!" the Great Spirit got ahead of herself.

"No way, I don't think I'll ever be able to do that again," I laughed. "It was so hard and exhausting, and doing it once already disturbed and twisted space and the atmosphere of the forest. If I did it again the forest might explode or collapse on itself. Too much of anything is never good."

"Aw man!" the Great Spirit complained. "Oh well! This is more than enough, damn! Is everyone okay though?! Something like a domain collapsing should have done some damage to people..."

"They're fine, they were just knocked out for a few seconds," Erebus said. "I am... exhausted. I never thought you'll ask me for such an insane thing, Planta..."

I had asked Erebus to help me do this, without his help it would have been impossible. Thanks to his awakened Void Miasma Magic, the same power he used to break space and invade Earth back then, he was able to help me merge the dimensional membranes of the domain as it "blossomed" into the space within the Forest of Beginnings.

The merge was a success, and this beautiful paradise was born. I anchored my true body right in the middle, keeping the spatial and dimensional membranes together through my body's own powers.

"Hahah, but you helped me a lot, thank you!" I said. "See now? You've helped the forest more than you could have imagined at this moment. You're shaping to be quite the amazing cute little hero~!" I patted his head; his black hair was fluffy and silky.

"Hmph... well, I'm glad I could be of use," Erebus blushed slightly, although he didn't know how to respond too well to praises yet.

"Though won't we need more of her true body's powers if we fight the Demon King of Death later?" asked the Great Spirit. "And what if we fight Merlinus and we'll need that power too? If we take out Yggdrasil right now, will the dimensional membranes end up collapsing?"

"They're rapidly fusing together as Yggdrasil acts as the anchor..." said Erebus. "In a day or two it should be fully merged... But as long as it is not longer than an hour I think Yggdrasil can step out of the forest for a bit... When are you fighting Merlinus? I know a lot about him. After all, he was the leader of my own cult. I could help you.

I know his weak points, the weak points of his tower, I know his past too, and I know his ideals and his desires. Once you get to know who he truly is, manipulating him emotionally shouldn't be a hard task. His power is very powerful though, the Spatial Magic he possesses was refined through hundreds of years. I copied it though, fusing it into my Miasma Magic to create Void Miasma Magic."

"A-Ah! I see..." I nodded. "We'll probably fight him very soon, tomorrow... maybe. Right, having you at our side will be incredibly beneficial! If he was truly the leader of your cult back then... we could learn a lot from you, and we could even surprise him if we show you're still alive to him."

"It could definitely break his spirit or something similar to that!" said the Great Spirit. "Nice! Maybe giving this blud a second chance wasn't so bad, Planta! I disliked it at first, but it was a good idea! He'll surely be damn useful!"

"I'm glad you finally understand," I giggled. "Now, shall we go down? We should quickly regroup with everyone and check if they're doing okay. Come with me, Erebus. We must announce your reincarnation to everyone. As we talked before, no lies or secrets, alright?"

"Fine..." Erebus sighed, as I grabbed his little hand, and we flew together towards Titania's castle.

"Y-You don't have to hold my hand, I'm not a child anymore..." he muttered, very childishly.

"Is that so? To me, it feels like you're still a young boy that is growing," I said. "Perhaps because I knew that... I was able to forgive you and give you a second chance, son."

"..." he remained in silence, getting redder.

Honestly, just like with Gabriel, I'm weak to cute children, I just can't help but be motherly with them.

So maybe that's also why I'm being so nice...

This is the curse of being a mama.

Before we could even meet with my family and friends to celebrate our victory and the rebirth of the Forest of Beginnings, a flood of system notifications reached me one after another...

"Eh?! Two Titles..."

I felt a bit surprised by these two powerful Titles appearing out of thin air, and they sounded mightily strong as well. They could definitely help me fight the Demon Kings much more, as long as this garden is here.

But what are Higgledingles? That's rather specific for a Title... It says they're the most Ancient Form of a Spirit? I had never heard of such goobers before.

I'll have to investigate them later, I suppose.

[Congratulations! You have completed the {Emergency World Quest}: [Stop The Invasion of The Demon King of Death's Army!]

[Because you've won the Guild War against a large Guild Alliance, whose Players had agreed to a pact of {Permanent Death}, you have received all items within their inventories, alongside their Gold.]

[Additionally, you've gained between one to three Battle Spirit Fragments from all members of these Guilds, whose accounts had been permanently deleted.]

[You have also earned Battle Spirit Fragments from the foes you've defeated, giving you a large quantity of them.]

[Right now, it is possible for you to use them in either the creation of new Battle Spirits, or to absorb them to permanently gain stats, with the possibility of earning one of the skills they possessed.]

Okay, okay, I remember that, no need to remind me!

Chapter 1295: Status & Meeting With Titania

I had expected some gains from all of these battles, but I never hoped to end up completing a World Quest out of nowhere. It seems that because I'm so tied to these Demon Kings and their factions, whenever a battle occurs, its treated as a World Quest.

Oh well, there's no point in complaining about that, more rewards mean I can prepare even better against the enemies that are to come. Merlinus battle is... very soon. His power is tremendous, but with everything I've earned and grown, and with what's left that I can develop, plus Erebus and everyone else...

I think we finally started to have a decent chance against him. Nonetheless, it'll still depend heavily on who are backing us, the allies we make and also Erebus information regarding this old, demonic wizard.

Nonetheless, those notifications weren't everything, not at all. There were several notifications next of some Skills leveling up.

However, I decided to just check my entire Status instead, that gave me a better insight of everything that changed.

-----

My Stats at max Level 300 are very decent, and they had been increasing permanently over time as I accumulated Titles or used consumable items that granted more Stats, I suppose.

Then there were the Skills themselves, several of the Guardian Skills already reached Max Level! And the Evolved Divine Beast Skills I possessed had been leveling up rather nicely.

Now I also have five World Boss Skills, four of them which I had to learn while fighting that vessel of the Demon King of Death to make things a bit even.

Apparently the other World Bosses all come with these Skills already, so they use them as if they're a natural part of their powers!

I should have learned them earlier, the thing is, before I didn't even have enough World Boss points, just recently I was able to accumulate a lot and was able to purchase several of them.

With them, I finally began to shape as a World Boss... Player thing. I guess I'm still a strange combination of many things at the same time.

"And we're here..." I sighed in relief, landing inside of Titania's castle, just as the doors opened and my friends and family entered.

"Planta!" Titania cried, rushing towards me and hugging me tightly. "You did it! You did something amazing! I-I can't believe it! You're so amazing Planta!"

Titania was in tears as she hugged me, and then she started kissing my forehead, nose, and cheeks constantly...

"Thank you so much!" she kept crying. "Thank you so much for being here..."

"T-Titania..." I felt embarrassed. "It's alright, there, there." I patted her head; she reminded me of her younger self.

I guess she's still the same little girl from before. Seeing the forest of the past being revived like this must have made her feel incredible nostalgia.

"Shall we have a meal while we talk about what happened?"

Chapter 1296: The Demon King Of Miasma Officially Joins The Forest Of Beginnings

Ding!

[The Following Divine Beast Skills: [Snake Queen: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] [Silver Moon Dragon's Divine Scale Armor: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] [Abyssal Shadow Feather Projectile: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] [Divine Domain Of The Holy Golden Koi Spring Palace: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] have reached Max Level!]

[These Skills can now undergo a Special Skill Evolution and improve their base effects, or they can remain as they are and be fused with other Skills.]

[The Following Guardian Skills: [Blazing Totem Spirit Summon: Lv100/100 (Guardian Skill)] [Cursed Soul Heart: Lv100/100 (Guardian Skill)] [Fairy Queen's Magic Swordsmanship Arts: Lv100/100 (Guardian Skill)] [Sword Intent Embodiment: Lv100/100 (Guardian Skill)] have reached Max Level!]

[These Skills can now undergo a Special Skill Evolution and improve their base effects, or they can remain as they are and be fused with other Skills.]

The System once more was reminding me of these Skills... I suppose I should do something with them now that I think about it. They're the "inherited" skills from my divine beasts and my guardians, so they're fairly decently strong at Level 100.

If they're really good and I want their effects, I could keep them and evolve them to improve their power even further, or I could use them as fusion ingredients to create a different, separate Skill Fusion.

Seeing how half of these can't even be equipped due to the skill slot limitations, it's always better to combine rather than fuse...

Well, I'll leave this for later.

Anyways, the moment Titania entered her castle and hugged me while in tears, I felt a bit taken aback, and she reminded me of her baby form a bit... I guess that even after all these years, the little Titania remains within her heart, hidden within her adult form.

Eventually, as she finally calmed down, I greeted everyone else and thanked them for all their help. I instantly attended those who were still wounded, healing them instantly. Some people that had also recently died were healed enough that I managed to revive them while their souls were still close to their bodies.

I don't think I could do this outside of this forest, its entire atmospheric density and magic density has changed, it seems as if souls don't simply disappear instantly anymore. Maybe this led to such miraculous new developments.

Nonetheless, I offered them a meal and they accepted, although... I also had to tell them about Erebus before we even got to that point.

"Anyways, I'm sure most of you have already seen him, but this is Erebus," I said, pointing at the black fairy. "Maybe most of you don't remember such a name. But this is the true name of the Demon King of Miasma."

"E-Eh?!"

"Wait, what?!"

"T-The Demon King of Miasma?"

"That can't be true, didn't he die?"

"He's a fairy now? that's simply... not possible! Right?"

"Lady Planta, are you joking with us?"

Several inhabitants of the forest reacted in such ways. The Ents couldn't believe it, the fairies were questioning me, the gnomes were also rather annoyed, and the brownies remained flabbergasted. Meanwhile the squirrel kin talked with one another with a low tone of voice, while I also heard the Myconid discussing things between each other.

"Yes, I'm not joking," I said. "Erebus, greet them."

Erebus flew towards them, floating right in front of them with a poker face. His crimson eyes, black wings and hair, his pale skin and his horns gave him away immediately as someone that wasn't a fairy.

"Yes, I am Erebus," he nodded. "Even though I've been reincarnated in this form thanks to Master Planta's abilities, I am still the Demon King of Miasma."

"B-But that's just simply impossible..."

"How can that be true?!"

"I've never seen a black winged fairy before though..."

"Even less one with demonic horns and red eyes like that!"

"A-And that black hair, skin as pale as snow... it is as if he were dead."

Most fairies were very colorful, and with skin very vividly colored as well, none of them were pale skinned either. Most of them had a very strong rose-colored skin, brown, or toasty skin, most were even tanned.

But that was beside the point.

"My appearance is already very different than all of you because I am indeed not a true fairy," he said. "My body has been reborn as a sort of fairies, a subspecies perhaps. Because I was reborn through Yggdrasil, the species that birthed you fairies."

Then, he waved his little hands, conjuring gigantic spheres of miasmic darkness, and condensed them into his hands, creating a monstrous creation with tentacles and everything.

"GRYAAEEGH!"

The monstrous creature quickly scared everyone that wasn't my friends or family, the inhabitants really disliked miasmic beings.

"I-It's really him?!"

"His presence...!"

"This can't be happening..."

"Why has Lady Planta allied with a monstrous Demon King?!"

Many were shaken, some of them were angry at me too, I couldn't blame them for that. In fact, I would have found it weird they wouldn't had gotten angry. They were completely justified for doing so.

"I'm sorry, but this is the decision I took after a lot of consideration," I said. "Erebus has now become something similar to my familiar. He will never harm you all ever again. And will work towards helping and protecting this forest like he did. Without his help, the forest would have been destroyed when the undead army attacked. Also, if it wasn't for him, I wouldn't had been able to revive the forest and fuse it with the primordial divine garden of life. It was thanks to his space-manipulating powers that I managed to get this done."

"T-That's..."

"But this is..."

"Really?"

"Uh..."

"This is really strange."

"I know it's strange..." Titania suddenly stepped into the stage, as she touched Erebus shoulders. "If you know my past already, you must already know how much I despise Erebus for everything he did to me, my mother, and my friends. Yet here I am. I am not cowering in fear, and I am not going to hate him... anymore. He has saved our forest, and I saw it with my very eyes. I don't trust him, but I will trust Lady Planta's faith on him."

"Lady Titania..."

"If she says so..."

"Uh, well..."

"This is awkward, but he... maybe if he's Lady Planta's Familiar, I guess it's fine, right?"

"Familiars must always obey their masters after all..."

"Hmm, yeah!"

The fairies instantly changed their faces after hearing their Queen...

Wow, they really love her...

Chapter 1297: Everything Ended Nicely?

-----

"I am not cowering in fear, and I am not going to hate him... anymore. He has saved our forest, and I saw it with my very eyes. I don't trust him, but I will trust Lady Planta's faith on him."

Queen Titania ended helping me convince the fairies, and the rest of the inhabitants of the forest to accept Erebus, or at least not hate us because we brought him here.

"Lady Titania..."

"If she says so..."

"Uh, well..."

"This is awkward, but he... maybe if he's Lady Planta's Familiar, I guess it's fine, right?"

"Familiars must always obey their masters after all..."

"Hmm, yeah!"

The fairies instantly changed their faces after hearing their Queen. Wow, they really love her. It was a bit surprising how they just completely accepted it so quickly once she said something about it.

"I know it'll be hard, and I am not asking you to love him or anything of the sort," she said. "He'll simply live within the forest. And will try to amend for his many sins... Even if it might seem ridiculous, his power is needed for the powerful threats that desire our forest's destruction."

"I... I will do everything I can to protect the forest," Erebus didn't know what else to say, so he decided to be a bit direct. "Don't worry, you're in good hands now."

He tried to force a smile with his two little hands, although it ended looking creepier than I imagined, but not too much. It helped he was so cute and small, and honestly looked more like a girl than a boy.

The people of the forest looked at one another and didn't really say anything. Maybe his cuteness will win them over eventually, through time and effort. I might have to ask for Florie's help so he can become cuter and use his cuteness and charm to win everyone's hearts.

"Don't worry about anything," I said. "Erebus is my responsibility, and I'll do anything to take care of him and make sure he doesn't harm anybody. He promised me he would change. But if I ever see him going back to how he was even for a second, I will not forgive him anymore, and his soul will be destroyed. He knows this very well."

"Yes, I know..." Erebus nodded. "I obviously don't want to die either... So I'll obey and help as much as I can. I know the things I once did cannot be forgiven, and I don't blame anybody for hating me for the rest of their lives, you're all perfectly justified. But even then, I'll help you, even if you hate me, I'll protect you, and even if you despise me, I'll make sure this forest remains protected and safe from harm."

"Thank you Erebus," said Titania. "I'll try to trust you; I want to trust you... the things that happened before... I indeed cannot forgive me, and perhaps I still... there's a part of me that still despises you greatly. But there's another part of me... that has great pity for you. At the end, you and the other Demon Kings are all fragments of the child of the Gods. If you truly want to change, a second chance is the least we could offer."

"Ooh..."

"Queen Titania is so merciful..."

"And if Lady Planta assures us that he'll be immediately punished upon doing something bad..."

"T-Then maybe it's... okay?"

"Yes... maybe."

"Hmm, I suppose so..."

The people of the forest finally changed their faces a bit and began to look a bit more hopeful, it was a nice speech, it convinced them enough.

Doing more of that though, would end up coming as bothersome or forced. This is the most we can do, the rest is all up to Erebus, he has to prove himself an ally.

He will slowly gain their trust through his own actions.

"Thank you..." Erebus thanked us.

"Alright then," I nodded. "As you can see now, the forest has changed a lot. It has now become a recreation of an ancient primordial garden of life. As I merged it with my World Boss Authority Domain itself! Pretty amazing, right? The forest has become at least twelve times bigger than before, and you'll need to investigate every inch now that it has expanded so much. It doesn't mean its dangerous though. It is connected to me. If anybody gets lost while exploring, I'll quickly help you return back home. So I encourage everyone to explore and map the forest, expand your own villages, farms, and so on. This forest, this garden, is yours, my beloved people. All for you."

"Uuuooohhh!"

"Lady Planta, thank you!"

"I can't believe it; she did such a god-like thing!"

"She has been doing god-like things since she appeared, honestly!"

"I still remember the first time she appeared in our little village and healed us with the help of Acorn!"

"She's our guardian!"

As they celebrated this news, the food I left my Food Spirits preparing was already getting done. With Gordon's magistral assistance, hundreds of plates of delicious meals were produced constantly.

Fried rice, roasted wild boar, smoked fish, cheese-filled baked potatoes, and many other dishes were being made constantly, helping me gain more and more Divine Gourmet Essence as well as accumulating some EXP.

Gordon was also rapidly leveling up. We started the feast right away, as with a mere thought, I easily created hundreds of wooden tables and seats across the entire Fairy Queendom and also the interior of the castle.

With the help of many Spirits and Dragon Spirits that wanted to assist us, and even divine spirits of many new races, including the elusive and mysterious Higgledies, the feast began with a boom, as everyone was being served bountiful amounts of delicious, cooked meals.

"Oohooo! What a feast!" said Ambil, eating fried rice, drinking soup, eating roasted wild boar, and more. "I haven't had such a massive feast in months!"

"After fighting so much I'm already starving, this is too good! I'm so happy," said Johanna, eating all the meat she could.

"It seems everything ended nicely," smiled Mark, patting my shoulders. "Well done."

"Ah, yeah, though I feel like I'm forgetting something..." I muttered. "Hmm... Ah!"

I forgot to go meet the King and the Queen!

Chapter 1298: Relaxing For A Bit

I quickly decided to send a message to the Queen, Camilla as I remembered that we weren't there yet! She seemed a bit upset but responded quickly.

[Planta]: [I'm so sorry Camilla! An invasion occurred in the forest, and we had to hurry there to save it! It was the Demon King of Death invading the forest, and he brought a bunch of corrupted Players, and even revived Fafnir as an undead, and more! It was very chaotic! So sorry.]

[Planta]: [We're having a feast right now, but I'll go there right away!]

[Camilla]: [It's okay Planta, I understand. A lot happened there. Take your time. We're not going anywhere anyways. We'll delay it until you're back. But please don't take too long either.]

[Camilla]: [I'm glad everyone is alright. You should have told me earlier though; I could have easily deployed some of my forces to help you. We're technically allied nations at this point, we will protect one another from now on.]

[Planta]: [Really??]

[Camilla]: [Yeah, although nothing is official yet, signing a treaty is something we're already considering with my husband. You've helped us so much we want to repay you for everything with our military strength and anything else. We could even begin trading things we lack from one another. We're interested in the large quantity of food your forest produces, which I'm sure is so much that even all inhabitants are feed well.]

[Planta]: [Yes that's right, there's food everywhere, so much, everyone is never hungry at least... But indeed, we do lack a lot of things such as ores and magic crystals. There are small mines underground, but they are small and are almost empty due to years of being mined by the Gnomes and Brownies.]

[Camilla]: [I see, then we could indeed trade a lot of things! Gadgets, steel, stone, ore, fabric, and much more. Our city has been growing so big we can't easily sustain the entire population with our farms alone, even when they expand across such a large piece of land.]

[Planta]: [Okay, I'll consider this, but I also need to talk with the other rulers of the forest. I might be considered the guardian, but I can't take the decision for everyone.]

[Camilla]: [It's fine! Don't worry about anything, take care and enjoy.]

[Planta]: [Thanks!]

With that said and done, I guess I didn't have to hurry too much. It was a nice opportunity to check my items while everyone ate and celebrated.

"Oh, so she said we could take our time? That's nice," said Mark. "If we can bring Erebus to them it would be even better too."

"Oh yeah, he's definitely coming with us!" I nodded.

I told Mark about what I talked with Camilla, and he seemed rather happy he didn't had to hurry along with me.

Now, as for the items I got... Well, my inventory is as full as ever.

Aside from the Quest Rewards, I also got a bunch of stuff from every Player that died permanently in the battle!

I started checking my inventory, and there were literally like a hundred pages of different items to sort, this was truly hellish.

"Ah, how do I even sort this out quickly? This is too much... Helper Spirit, are you there? Can you do something?"

"Hmm, ok, let me sort it out for you, it's not hard," suddenly, the glowing blue colored Helper Spirit appeared by my call. "Let's see..."

"Thanks!" I happily said, eating my spaghetti.

After five minutes...

"I'm done," he said. "I've rearranged all the dropped items from those Players into Equipment, Potions, Food, and other Consumables, Usable Items for Weapon Enhancing, and then Materials. There's a total of... like five to six thousand items there."

"So much?!" I cried in shock. "I'm glad you were here to help... Alright, is there something I could use right now?"

"There are several consumable items that could help you, yes, a lot of little Stat Boosting Elixirs," he said. "Aside from that, there's some Skill Books and Death General Skill Jewels, all of them to learn new Skills... Oh, there's also a Specialization Marble! Over there."

"There's one?!" I gasped. "Who had this?"

"The leader... a guy called Elios," said the Helper. "He seemed to have received this and never used it like the rest."

"Wait, they had Specializations?!" I asked.

"Yes most of them had one but it seems they chose weak ones, or they were weak... it never showed completely," laughed the Helper. "I guess they were doing things wrong, or just played the game terribly."

"To think they had so many things given to them right away for free to make them strong and they were still so weak according to what I've heard..." I sighed. "Was it even worth it for them to end up risking their accounts over this? Now they're deleted... I just hope they're ok IRL."

"They're fine, the System protected their Souls this time," said the Helper Spirit. "It has been upgrading over time, rapidly adapting to better protect Players. Even Demon Kings can't easily affect souls now... Although they can still influence them sometimes. Nothing is perfect unfortunately."

"Huh... Why is the System letting these monsters brainwash Players and turn them into their servants though?" I asked. "They're the ones creating these quests and rewards, right?"

"Not entirely... the System cannot simply act towards one faction. The Demon Kings have equal rights to utilize the System like everyone does. Most of the time, they put almost everything necessary, the rewards are made by them, the power is also gifted by them, the system is simply a medium everyone uses, even them," said the Helper Spirit. "And... Well, I think that's as much as I'm allowed to say."

"Uhh... I see," I nodded. "Well, let's move on then. I'll use these first!"

Two tickets that were in my hands turned into light that flowed into my body, giving me a strong aura of power.

FLAAASH!

Ding!

[You have used the [All Skill Slots +1 Ticket (SSS Grade)] x2!]

[Your Race, Class, Subclass, and World Boss Skill Slots have increased by +2!]

Wait, what? It even increased my World Boss Skill Slots!

Chapter 1299: Using Various Items

-----

Ding!

[You have used the [All Skill Slots +1 Ticket (SSS Grade)] x2!]

[Your Race, Class, Subclass, and World Boss Skill Slots have increased by +2!]

After sorting things out with my inventory, I quickly decided to use the more important items, these Skill Slot Tickets were absolutely vital so I could equip more Skills after all!

With this, I can technically equip 6 more Skills and two more World Boss Skills. Most Skills I get now can be equipped in any Slot, be it Race, Class, and Subclass.

The only ones that are tied to these requirements are the skills I originally learn from the skill trees... However, they can be easily modified by fusing them with other skills.

Fusion Skills and Skills I obtain outside of the Skill Tree can be equipped anywhere after all.

And then there's World Boss Skills, which was originally 10 Slots from the get-go... I really thought it would be only that, but it seems I was wrong.

Anyways, about the other items I could use, there was a bunch of potions, dozens of themed treasure chests I've left behind, and some more...

I suppose I'll first drink the potions.

The Ki Reinforcing Elixir, Soul Reinforcing Elixir, and Magic Circle Reinforcing Elixir... There are 150 of each. But with my strange body, I think can consume them all very quickly.

I simple use roots from my hands to absorb the elixirs or eat them completely by opening large jaws within my wooden hands.

It's a bit creepy but it gets the job done.

Ding!

[You have consumed [Ki Reinforcing Elixir (S Grade)] x150!]

[Your Physical Body has been strengthened and enhanced, and your flow of Ki has grown exponentially!]

[Because you have consumed a large quantity of these Elixirs, their effects are beginning to not have as strong of a result.]

[You gained +7.500 KI Stat!]

[Your Physique: {Four-Winged Draconic Nephalem of Time} has gained +500 Physique Runes and has grown from Tier 3 Rank 6 to Tier 3 Rank 8!]

[Your Physical Strength, Stamina, Defenses, Agility, Durability, and more have been strengthened and your Reserves of Internal Energy have been increased.]

[You can now create one new Physique Ability.]

[You have consumed [Soul Reinforcing Elixir (S Grade)] x150!]

[Your Soul has been enhanced and enlarged, and the flow of its energies has been improved!]

[Because you have consumed a large quantity of these Elixirs, their effects are beginning to not have as strong of a result.]

[You gained +7.500 SOUL Stat!]

[You have consumed [Magic Circle Reinforcing Elixir (S Grade)] x150!]

[Your Internal Magic Circle has been magically enhanced and refined, gaining several additional Runes within it!]

[Because you have consumed a large quantity of these Elixirs, their effects are beginning to not have as strong of a result.]

[You gained +7.500 MP and INT Stats!]

[Your {Holy Draconic Spiritual Magic Circle} has gained +500 Spiritual Runes and has grown from Tier 5 Rank 1 to Tier 5 Rank 3!]

[Your Spells have been strengthened and your Reserves of Internal Mana have been increased.]

[You can now create one new Spell.]

"And done, phew..."

After that, I felt much stronger, not only did my stats increase, but even my real body's strength was strengthened, nice!

Now, what else can I do? Let's see what I got available to use from the quest rewards alone.

[Greater Spirit Elixir (S Grade)] x8

[Random Skill Book (A Grade)] x6

[Divine Skill Evolution Ticket (SS Grade)] x2

[Divine Skill Fusion Ticket (SS Grade)] x2

[Divine Gear Enhancement Scrolls (SS Grade)] x20

[Divine Potential Cubes (SS Grade)] x20

[Evil Demon Duke Themed Treasure Chest (SS Grade)] x1

[Evil Demon Prince Themed Treasure Chest] x1]

[Guild Victory Prize (S Grade)] x5

[Demonic Tree of Decay Qliphoth Themed Treasure Chest (SSS Grade)] x1

Hmm, okay. The Greater Spirit Elixirs actually are for revival, they can revive NPC that had died within a certain time frame, so they can't be used right now. I have to save them.

The Divine Skill Evolution and Fusion Tickets... yeah I think I'll be using these right now. I want to combine some Skills and maybe evolve others.

The Evolution Tickets can help me evolve even already Fused Skills so that's pretty nice, even if they haven't reached max level yet...

As for the fusion tickets, it's the same but without any requirement as needing the skills to be max level or something.

I think the limit for fusion was... Four or Five Skills? That's a lot!

Okay, let's check my Skill List and see what we can fuse...

[Race Skills: 14/16]

[Divine Yggdragon Time Spirit Guardian: Lv9] [Divine Draconic Heart of Time: Lv8] [Aeternitas' Divine Spiritual Vessel Guardian Protection: Lv23/50 (Divine Fused Skill)] [Verdant Green Domain Magic: Lv15/30 (Evolved Skill)] [Yggdrasil's Spirit Magic: Lv15/30 (Evolved Skill)] [Plant Synthesis: Lv10 (Max Level)] [Terrain Expansion: Lv10 (Max Level)] [Yggdryad's Divine Spiritual Presence: Lv10/15 (Fused Skill)] [Spiritual Sacred Sanctuary: Lv10/15 (Fused Skill)] [Dragon Spirit Summon: Lv7/10] [Heavenly Yggdragon Queen Of The Three Colored Crown Transformation: Lv20/40 (Fused Skill)] [Blazing Totem Spirit Summon: Lv100/100 (Guardian Skill)] [Cursed Soul Heart: Lv100/100 (Guardian Skill)] [White Ashen Tree Time Spirit Bearing Fruits: Lv1/10] [Divinity Domain Expansion: Fragmented Time: Lv1/10]

[Ray of Destruction: Lv10 (Max Level)] [Forceful Territory Takeover: Lv1] [Destroyer of Battlefields: Lv1]
[Tyranny of the Cruel: Lv1] [Monstrous Sacrifice: Lv1]

Uh-huh... Wait, what about Ray of Destruction? Can I use World Boss Skills to fuse or evolve?!

Let's see if its possible...

I tried selecting it first.

Then...

Ding!

[You have selected the World Boss Skill [Ray of Destruction: Lv10 (Max Level)] for Skill Fusion!]

[Skill Fusion is possible; however, you'll need to add additional World Boss Points, and the resulting Skill will always be a World Boss Skill when using a World Boss Skill as a Skill Fusion Ingredient.]

Oh so it works! But I need the points...? Hmm, and if it gets locked to a World Boss Skill, won't it always have some long cooldown then? Yeah, it's a characteristic every Skill always has, it's annoying.

Maybe for later... or I could use the Evolution Ticket instead! Yeah! If I have this nuke Skill as my Soul-Bound Divine Skill, wouldn't I have an amazing emergency technique IRL?

It might cost a lot of Mana but it's worth it.

I don't want anybody else to die after all...

Okay, let's pick that one Skill first then!

Ding!

[You have selected the World Boss Skill [Ray of Destruction: Lv10 (Max Level)] to Evolve using the [Divine Skill Evolution Ticket (SS Grade)] x1!]

[World Boss Points Requirement: 300.000]

[Do you wish to proceed with the evolution and spend the required World Boss Points?]

[Yes] [No]

Hm, it's cheaper than I imagined, alright then!

I pressed [Yes] and the evolution instantly started.

FLUOSH!

Chapter 1300: Evolving The [Ray of Destruction] World Boss Skill

-----

I decided to experiment and because I also wanted a World Boss Skill to become a Soul-Bound Divine Skill, I selected the Ray of Destruction Skill.

Ding!

[You have selected the World Boss Skill [Ray of Destruction: Lv10 (Max Level)] to Evolve using the [Divine Skill Evolution Ticket (SS Grade)] x1!]

[World Boss Points Requirement: 300.000]

[Do you wish to proceed with the evolution and spend the required World Boss Points?]

[Yes] [No]

I pressed [Yes], and the evolution instantly started. The Skill Orb surged from my Soul and merged with the ticket, which had turned into particles of light.

FLUOSH!

Both merged together, as the Skill Orb grew larger and larger, overflowing with swirling golden and green energies.

So this is how the Ray of Destruction Skill looks like? Or is it like this because it belongs to Yggdrasil?

Maybe their colors vary depending on whose these Skill Orbs belong to.

It quickly materialized a new pixelated icon. Before it resembled just the huge silhouette of a strange, gigantic being firing a beam of many colors.

But with this new evolution, it resembled the giant Yggdrasil Tree manifesting a massive wooden cannon from its body and firing a gigantic green and golden laser.

Whoever is doing these pixel art icons is very talented!

Then, once it grew thrice its original size, it flew back to me, and it connected to my Soul itself.

FLAAASH!

I felt a new surge of power, as something was directly imprinted into my soul.

The power of a World Boss, of Yggdrasil, my Avatar.

Ding!

[You have successfully evolved the World Boss Skill: [Ray of Destruction: Lv10 (Max Level)] into the Divine Soul-Bound World Boss Skill: [Divine Yggdrasil Cannon Of Destruction: Lv1/20 (Evolved Skill)]!]

[Due to the Effects of the Ticket, the Divine Soul-Bound World Boss Skill: [Divine Yggdrasil Cannon Of Destruction: Lv1/20 (Evolved Skill)] has gained 10 Bonus Levels.]

"Ooh, this is sweet!"

I quickly glanced at the new Skill that was born from it.

-----

[Divine Yggdrasil Cannon Of Destruction: Lv10/20 (Evolved Skill)]

[World Boss Points Required For Level Up]: [0/1.100.000]

The Evolved form of the [Ray of Destruction] World Boss Skill, which has now fully assimilated with the power of Yggdrasil, its original wielder to become a unique extension of her.

By spending a variable amount of MP and Spirit Energy, the user is capable of summoning a gigantic cannon made of Yggdrasil's Divine Spiritual Wood, which will charge with the user's powers and unleash a terrific, gigantic laser of destruction, whose element is based on the World Boss Five Main Attribute, or none. For a duration of time based on the energy spent to summon the cannon, the user will be able to continuously fire these lasers at any enemy.

Damage Dealt Increases by 4.500% plus 2% with every 10 Authority Stat Points. This Ray of Destruction can ignore 95% of a target's Total Defenses, plus an additional 0.1% with every 50 Authority Stat Points. This attack will always deal at least 70% of its total damage, no matter how high the foe's Total Defense is. 30% of the Damage dealt to any foe will be absorbed as Health and 15% of it as Mana.

Once the Cannon of Destruction hits a target, a giant explosion will occur, which will spread damage by 600 meters around the target, this explosion only deals 60% of the total damage, however. You can manually adjust the spread damage as you please. There's a 50% chance for the area affected to rapidly expand into {Yggdrasil's Divine Domain of Nature}, expanding the user's Domain Territory and creating Spiritual Energy and Spirits that will aid them in battle.

Total Skill Power will decrease the farther you are from your {Territory} by 0.5% for every kilometer up to a decrease in power of 30%. However, the more Authority Stat you have, the lesser this penalty will become.

Cannon Summoning Duration and its Cooldown depends on energy spent, damage dealt, and area of effect. You can shapeshift the Yggdrasil Cannon form and shape and either combine it with your body or make it as separate construction.

Oh wow, it's really good! It's a total upgrade from the previous one! And now because it is attached to a "cannon" construction, it can fire several times in a row as long as the cannon is summoned.

Its summoning duration is also based on how much energy I decide to spend while summoning it! Meaning that I could go for a long-winded battle and create one that'll last quickly or a smaller, faster cannon with little energy that can eliminate foes quickly and then move on.

"Alright, done with this... Which other Skill should I evolve?"

Maybe another World Boss Skill or...?

What other Fusion Skill I got which is very important and I would want as a Soul-Bound Skill?

Hmm, I am torn between.

[Yggdryad's Divine Spiritual Presence: Lv10/15 (Fused Skill)]

As an Yggdryad, you're the very source of Divine Spiritual Nature Energy. By merely being somewhere, Nature comes naturally to you, without you needing to do absolutely anything. By spending 100 MP per second while walking or simply staying idle, in any place, any surrounding Tiles will automatically transform into [Spiritual Forest Tiles] (Max 100).

While being close to a place with a high concentration of nature, or any Tile related with it, including the [Spiritual Forest Tiles], your Stats increase by +120%, your Spiritual Energy, HP, and MP Regeneration is enhanced by +200%, and any ally near you receives an enhancement of +50% to All Stats and Spiritual Energy, HP, and MP Regeneration per Skill Level. Additionally, there's a 50% chance for nature surrounding you to protect you from lethal blows.

Additionally, while bathing on the sun directly, or by being within the [Spiritual Forest Tiles], Stats are increased temporarily by +100%, your recovery of Spiritual Energy, HP and MP increases by +200% and the power of all your Skills and Magic Power and Effects are enhanced by +100%. And if you're within [Spiritual Forest Tiles], reduces Damage Taken by 10% of total WIS Stat (Max 50%), and you can summon your {Divine Aura} to enchant all Skills and Magic with {Divinity}.

{Divinity}: Increases the power of Magic and Skills by +500%, Ignores -50% of foe's Defenses. Can ignore Invulnerability Status.

And...

[Spiritual Sacred Sanctuary: Lv10/15 (Fused Skill)]

An Yggdryad's presence is said to be utterly divine, by merely existing, they exude a beautiful, powerful sacred energy forming a sanctuary around their bodies, where Spirits and the Energies of Nature converge together to protect her automatically from all Damage or Status Effects.

While activated, the Spiritual Sacred Sanctuary will form a powerful Great Spiritual Barrier around the user, which will take 100% of the damage for the user. This acts as a Passive Skill that can be turned on and off, and the cost of MP varies depending in the damage taken, the Barrier might break if MP runs out or its durability limit is reached.

The Barrier can be conjured several times in a row to create layers, and it can also be conjured over party members or friends as a Buff that lasts 30 Minutes. Summons and Tamed Monsters share your own Great Spiritual Barrier. Spiritual Barriers can be freely shaped into different forms and can naturally float in midair. They can be set as bubbles to protect items, or other people from farther away. MP Cost to maintain and create barriers is reduced by -50%.

By activating the Skill's True Effect, the {Spiritual Sacred Sanctuary} will be summoned, which will have double the durability of normal Great Spirit Barriers, and enhance all Stats by +250%, while being able to automatically absorb Spirits in the air to strengthen itself, however, Spiritual Energy will be drained in great quantities per second. While having the {Spiritual Sacred Sanctuary} Activated, any attacks will drain 50% of the damage dealt as HP and MP. Any attacks Drain Effects and you are able to combine this Skill with your {Great Spirit's Aura} to passively drain your foes HP and MP by 2.5% per minute.

At the same time, if foes hit the barrier with physical or magical attacks, 25% of the damage to the barrier in physical damage will be drained as HP and 25% of the damage to the barrier in magic damage will be drained as MP.

But I think I'll go for the first one. The barrier and defensive power of the second Skill would be ideal for defense, but the first one has a lot of special effects which I could benefit a lot IRL!

Especially if I can easily spread my Domain, it would simply be utterly wonderful. Mostly because it takes me so long to spread it normally...

But with this, I don't even have to actively do it, simply activate the Skill and move, and the Domain will begin expanding on its own.

Also the {Divinity} effect that can pierce through invulnerability is a must have for IRL! I need this broken mechanic immediately if I'll be fighting impossibly powerful foes in the future.

And even more, what other incredible effects could it gain once it evolves? I have to see that.

Alright, let's pick this one then.

Ding!
