

Brand New 981

Chapter 981: Do Yggdrasil A Favor

Although the Continent of Verdant was in a peaceful state right now, at this point fully recovered and cleansed of all the contamination left behind by the previous Demon Kings thanks to the perseverance of the Yggdrasil Tree's cleansing abilities, there wasn't anything saying there weren't threats.

And I mean the purest and most natural of them, not born from the demon kings, but just born from nature as it is, Monsters. This continent full of life was bound to be fully populated of deadly monsters that evolved over eons of adaptation and battle.

We've already fought all matter of ancient prehistoric beasts, giant dinosaurs mostly, my Avatar had managed to escape from a very strong lion-like beast, but there were more of them everywhere, all Level 300 or higher.

Their health and stats were naturally lower than most of previous foes obviously, as all of them were boss type, but these monsters were definitely not easy to kill, they took a lot of hits to die, nonetheless.

The worst part was no loot! Other than EXP, but we were all max level already too, so it wasn't like we could continue leveling up endlessly, at least the EXP was accumulated over time, so we'll get a lot of levels once we evolve.

Anyways, that was that, and this was this.

"Maybe mama could recognize you being worthy of her help if you do some favor for her!" Baby Titania said. "How about you defeat those pesky bugs that have been eating away at her farther roots to the east?"

"Bugs?" I wondered.

"Yes, now I remember that time, very annoying creatures." Adult Titania nodded. "They were called Crimson Flare Termites. Giant termite monsters that eat wood and devoured whole forests. They were an infestation left by the Demon King of Plagues, or well, descendants of the many bug monsters it summoned.

But because they've been assimilated with nature, I never paid too much attention to them until now."

"They are just very hungry, but it can't be helped, we can't let them use mama as their dinner!" Baby Titania said. "So can you please get rid of them? they have already eaten over five kilometers of mama's roots!"

I looked back at my party, everyone seemed willing and ready.

"Looks like we can do that for you, alright." I nodded. "You said they came from the East?"

"Northeast, near the Wild Savannah!" Said little Titania. "Please, please hunt them down!"

"Alright." I nodded. "Everyone's ready? I think I can teleport us there in an instant, my Avatar's already on the Savannah's after we arrived here."

"Oh, you can do that, teleport?!" Asked little Titania in awe. "Amazing!"

"That's how we got here in the first place, hehe." Rita giggled, patting her cute head. "Dammit Titania, you were such a cutie when you were a bay girl! I want to adopt her now."

"Nuuuh, you can't adopt me, mama would get upset!" Baby Titania giggled playfully. "Woah, wait a second, there's another fairy! What's your name? You look to be my age!"

"I don't know if we are of the same age, my liege..." Said Nieve with a slight sense of embarrassment. "I am Nieve, a knight from the future. In the future you will build a big and beautiful queendom of fairies. I belonged to your knights."

"Wow! Wait, what?! So there'll be more fairies!" Titania was very excited.

"Yes, but that will... Also bring you a lot of duties." Sighed Titania. "I hope you can do them without taking away the time you spend with your Divine Familiars here. Make sure to appreciate them and give them time, even when you have to take care of the fairies. At the beginning they might get upset or scared at the big familiars, but don't let that... stop you from having them by your side.

They will get used to them eventually."

"E-Eh? Oh, okay." Little Titania nodded while feeling lost.

It seems Titania really had a lot of regrets, her biggest one was leaving her Familiars alone, and making them feel so lonely the Demon King of Miasma was able to influence them and infect them, parasitizing and brainwashing them at the end.

This ended causing Yggdrasil to die by their rampage, while the Demon King of Miasma hadn't even stepped into the Continent of Verdant at all. Later, she got to meet Hero Luminous, the "Mushroom Hero" who wore mushroom-shaped armor and went everywhere with the Mushroom Brigade.

Hero Luminous had yet to be born in this time, so we can't ask for his help either. This is something we got to do ourselves. And first, let's exterminate some termites.

FLASH!

A green portal opened in the middle of palace once I gave the command to my avatar, as she set another tree there, where a portal opened by my command. I discovered I could either make Portals or directly teleport there.

"Let's go then, we'll be back sooner than you expect, wait for us!" I said.

We quickly went through the portal as little Titania waved her hand at us. The portal closed so she wouldn't end up sneaking in here and causing trouble. Her divine familiars were also left there, she offered their help, but it was better if they protected her at all times, that's what their purpose was at the very beginning.

"So these are the savannah, just like the ones you see in those Africa Documentaries." Gandalf said, looking around.

"It is truly a beautiful place." Anikitty said. "This dungeon is sure gigantic though!"

"It sure is..." Erdrich added.

"I believe it is more than a simulation, maybe, within the game's context, it might be like real? Maybe a fragment of the timeline of sorts, right?" Angelina wondered.

"Yeah, I also believe it might be real." I nodded. "It is way too real to be a simulation."

"A simulation within a simulation, now that's something, haha." Laughed Gandalf, caressing his beard.

"Yeeeah..." Said Anna. "Anyways, auntie, where to?"

"To the east. Follow me." I said. "The spirits are already leading me there."

We quickly moved towards the east, rushing through the Savannah, as a myriad of beast stopped our path from time to time.

But we got through them all with our army of players and NPC and landed on the Arid Wastelands.

A giant castle made of mud, the nest of the Termites, was right there.

Chapter 982: Creating A New Skill!

This was the perfect time to get some new Skills, the last two Skills I had yet to learn from my Class Skill Tree, which seemed rather interesting. Both skills also had a strong synergy with one another, almost meant to be used together as if they were a single skill with two steps or abilities.

And they were...

Ding!

[You have exchanged 100 Skill Points, you learned the [Yggdragon's Spirit Garden: Lv1] Class Skill!]

[You have exchanged 100 Skill Points, you learned the [Draconic Plant Seeds Creation: Lv1] Class Skill!]

[Error, you can't equip more Class Skills. The learned Skills have been stored within the Skill Storage. Please free space to equip them.]

Ah, right. I did have a lot of Divine Beast Skills, huh? Some are very high level, but not max level yet. Then what do I do? Can I merge them together? Wait, yeah, that's it!

I quickly opened the Skill Fusion forge and placed these two new Skills, and another two of the old ones that had reached max level a while ago.

CLANK!

CLANK!

CLANK!

The Divine Forgery Flames burned through the Skill Orbs, as I kept combining them and smelting them together. The process was quickly, as time itself inside of this pseudo dimension passed very quickly.

FLUOSH!

The flames of the forge then covered the Skill Orbs, the representations of the Skills on a physical form. All four orbs merged together at long last, into a single, larger sphere overflowing with divine spiritual light.

The last time I fused Skills they were only done by combining three, but after evolving into an Yggdragon, the maximum amount increased to five into one. Though, for now, I decided to only combine these four, which were simple Skills that seemed to work well together.

"It's done..."

The Skill Orb molded itself, showing its appearance, it glowed with a bright golden flame aura, with sparkles of rainbow color. The icon it showed, made of bright pixel art, resembled a huge and vast field full of colorful plants of all shapes and sizes, most of them draconic in appearance, overflowing with bright colorful auras.

Ding!

[You have exchanged 300 Skill Points.]

[You have successfully combined the [Spirit Ranch: Lv10 (Max Level)], [Elemental Spirit Seed: Lv10 (Max Level)], [Yggdragon's Spirit Garden: Lv1], and [Draconic Plant Seeds Creation: Lv1]!]

[SUPER SUCCESS!]

[Congratulations, the fused Skill has undergone a Special Evolution and has gained +10 Bonus Levels!]

[You have created the Fusion Skill: [Divine Draconic Spirit Harvest Field: Lv10]!]

[Divine Draconic Spirit Harvest Field: Lv10/40 (Fused Skill)]

A Fusion Skill created by combining the [Spirit Ranch: Lv10 (Max Level)], [Elemental Spirit Seed: Lv10 (Max Level)], [Yggdragon's Spirit Garden: Lv1], and [Draconic Plant Seeds Creation: Lv1] Skills.

A Unique ability that only the Yggdragon could ever develop. Combine the power of your Spiritual Essence with your Farming Abilities and Draconic Powers to summon an almighty Divine Harvest Field.

This Divine Harvest Field can be expanded as high as 100 Tiles from the get-go and will expand even further based on all the Tiles the user's Domain or Terrain had taken over, increasing its effects by +1.5% with each Terrain Tile taken.

Inside the Divine Harvest Field, it is possible to create Spirit Seeds and Draconic Seeds of your choosing, or any seed of normal or lower plants. When creating Spirit Seeds or Draconic Seeds, there's a 60% chance for them to be High Elemental Spirits or High Dragon Spirits, and a 30% chance for them to be Divine Elemental Spirits and Divine Dragon Spirits.

Once summoned, these Spirits will stay with the user for 10 Minutes, plus an additional minute with every tile the Field has taken over aside from its initial 100.

Additionally, the Field can be manipulated into a pocket dimension of its own, capable of holding a near endless amount of Spirits inside, which can remain inside without problems, feeding off your spirit and mana energies until they are summoned, giving you little need to initially spread your domain or terrain to acquire Spirits.

When summoned out of the Dimensional Field, all Spirits will gain a boost to all their Stats of +250%, with an additional +50% with each Skill Level for the next 10 Minutes. And passively enhances all Summoned Spirits Magical Abilities and Spells Power based in each Terrain Tile compatible with them by +10%, with an additional +1% with each Skill Level.

When combining Spirit Dragon Seeds, it is possible to summon special Spiritual Draconic Beasts, which unlike Dragon Spirits, are solid entities with varying appearances and levels of power.

Summoning Recipes:

10 Spirit Dragon Seeds = Lesser Spiritual Draconic Beast.

30 Spirit Dragon Seeds = Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast.

60 Spirit Dragon Seeds = Chimeric Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast.

100 Spirit Dragon Seeds = Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast.

The Summoning time is based on how many seeds are used to create them, with a base of 10 minutes +1 minute with every seed. Seeds can be made using Mana and Spiritual Energy. The Stats of these Summons is based on 50% of your own Stats +1% with every Tile the Field expands into.

[You have equipped the Skill on the Class Skills Slot!]

Wow, what a Skill!

And it was ideal, let's just use it right away.

"{Divine Draconic Spirit Harvest Field}, expand!"

FLASH!

A hundred tiles were instantly taken over without any issue or any time needed at all, this combined with my other skills rapidly created a large Domain and Terrain, and I was barely doing much at all. Mana and Spiritual Energy, and even Ki started flowing into my body.

"{Create Spirit Dragon Seed}"

From my hands, one, two, three, four, five, six, ten, twenty, fifty, a hundred, two hundred, three hundred, five hundred, one thousand, two thousand, three thousand, and more seeds kept being created.

I threw them out into the vast and open fields, which moved as I did, the seeds were instantly absorbed by the soil, and a second later, sprouts opened, and then a split second later, High Spirits and High Dragon Spirits appeared.

All of them overflowing with powerful Elemental Auras, and each one of them holding a name instead of being nameless lesser spirits.

This was, without a doubt, a substantial upgrade!

"SHYAAAGH!"

A giant red termite was alerted of our presence, as a swarm quickly came rushing out of the nest.

"Alright, time to get this extermination going."

Chapter 983: Summoning A Mighty Army And Exterminating Pests

The Crimson Flare Termites were not named like that for nothing, their bodies, of over ten meters each, were completely crimson red, so bright it felt like flames were flaring over their bodies, and actually, once they got close enough to us, they did indeed summon flames, from their jaws, and also their exoskeletons released auras of fire. They were quite the blazing little- I mean giant critters.

But that didn't matter much, although each one levels were between Level 280 to Level 300, our army was equally big and strong. All of my party rushed forwards, with the many stats given by my domain, terrain, buffs, and spells and skills, their stats had skyrocketed to completely insane levels, and it was only going to continue increasing.

However, above all, it was time to use my new Divine Skill!

I summoned thousands of seeds in mere seconds, spending my ever-regenerating mana and spirit energy, as I quickly planted it around. High Elemental Spirits and High Dragon Spirits sprouted endlessly from them, one, three, four, ten, sixty, a hundred, two hundred, a thousand.

The Mana cost wasn't cheap though, each seed was around 2000 Mana, but I already had a lot of Mana myself, which regenerated endlessly with the effects of my terrain and domain stacked together, hehe.

However, this wasn't the special part of the new Divine Fusion Skill anyways, there was something much more special just waiting to be summoned, the true power of this Skill.

With a thousand new seeds in my hands, I quickly combined them through the Skill's effects, while the rest of my Spirits attacked the termites with my friends, many imbuing themselves into my ally's equipment and weapons to give them higher attack and magic power.

"Fusion!"

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

One hundred seeds combined in that moment, by my command, and then a hundred more, and a hundred more, and a hundred more. In mere seconds, there were ten gigantic beasts summoned, made of flesh and not just weak and translucent spiritual energy.

Ding!

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Frost Hydra]!]

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Ocean Snake]!]

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Winter Wyvern King]!]

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Frostfire Dragon]!]

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Frostfire Hydra]!]

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Frozen Ocean Wyvern King]!]

[You have fused 100 Spirit Dragon Seeds!]

[You have summoned the [Divine Elemental Spiritual Draconic Beast: Two-Headed Frost Drake]!]

[...]

All kinds of different Draconic Beasts appeared one after another, after my very command, their elements were also of my choosing, water and ice, specially good against the fire attribute termites we were about to fight and demolish!

"Go. Destroy the termites, freeze and drown their nest! Don't let any alive!" I ordered mercilessly.

There was no point in being nice against wild creatures, I went all-out on my perfect extermination plot. As my friends clashed against the first hundred termites, my army of ever-growing spirits and draconic beasts rushed forwards.

Breaths of freezing ice, drowning waves of oceanic water, giant spears of ice, azure swords made of swirling and cold oceanic water, and more clashed and crushed the termites.

Explosions of frost, fire, and water echoed everywhere.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

"Everyone, I will enchant your weapons and armor with Frost and Oceanic Spirits!" I said, as I moved over the back of Belle through the battlefield, zapping the termites with my lightning horns and slashing their bodies with verdant emerald swords summoned with my spells. "Take it!"

FLAAASH!

I kept boosting their bodies, armor, and weapons with the elements the termites were the weakest against. Some simply gained powerful frost auras, while others changed in appearance more than I thought. Lily, Mark, and Nieve in specific.

"Blue flames?! This is sick!"

Mark was amazed as his flames turned completely blue after he combined with ten high ice spirits I summoned and fused into his body temporarily. His crimson spirit phoenix flames became frost fire phoenix flames, which froze anything as they burned through them, very amazing and incredible, if I say so myself.

He spread out his phoenix flames as they flared with blue flames of frost, each of his attacks released giant icicles, explosions of ice and snowstorms unleashed with the shockwaves of his big sword.

Lily in the other case, seemed to have become a golem made of ice, in her titaness form, her skin turned deep blue, and she gained a giant armor of ice over her body, her hammer was also made of frost, each blow released shockwaves of ice, further freezing the blazing termites.

And Nieve, which I've already seen transform in many ways with different spirits imbued into her, transformed again, resembling a "Titania" version of herself, now tall and no longer looking like a girl on her teens, it was weird how only Titania could "grow up" while the fairies remained eternally like children.

But it was perhaps because only Titania had managed to mature due to her old age and also her divine powers. When Nieve absorbed such quantity of spirits, she herself became a majestic Frost Fairy Queen, with enormous snowflake-shaped wings and a crown of frost above her blue skin.

With a single attack from her long, spear-like rapier, she unleashed a mighty attack through a straight line, devastating anything in her path!

CLAAASH!

Not only did she freeze the monsters, but they broke and shattered into pieces. No matter how many termites came, we easily overpowered them all, advancing further and further, until we invaded the interior of their nest.

"Keep moving down!" I ordered my summons. "The Queen's chambers must be below ground, let's hurry!"

As we massacred everything, Titania was with her younger self, perhaps sharing a cup of tea and talking a lot.

We'll get back there sooner than they expect.

Chapter 984: Taking Down The Entire Nest

The Draconic Beasts proved to be exceptionally stronger than the High Dragon Spirits in both durability, speed, attack power, vitality, and even magic power. The only thing the spirits have over them was that they could transform into shapes and forms and combine together into new spells or spirits.

However, in everything else, the Draconic Beasts were simply superior. Although they were also temporary summons, thanks to my ever-expanding terrain and domain and the Divine Harvest Field at full power, their ten-minute time limit extended to almost an hour in just a couple of seconds of being summoned, and now they were looking to be with us for at least five hours.

Once we destroyed the first three hundred Termites, we made our way to the interior of the nest, where we froze and drowned everything we found.

The termites panicked and some even tried to run away but were quickly taken care of by the second army of Draconic Beasts that were right behind me, accompanied by half of my Divine Beast Familiars, the other half left with the two Titanias for extra protection.

Like that, and quite swiftly, we made our way through the last layer.

Crack, crack...!

CRASH!

BAAAM!

The giant chambers broke open as the walls crumbled down, Mark, Lily, and Nieve led the entire army of players and NPC, the last chamber were the roots of Yggdrasil were located, where the queen of the termites was feasting on the wood and sap.

"There you are."

The queen, a gigantic and morbidly obese termite with enormous claws and mandibles, a fat abdomen, and sharp spikes across her body, roared back at us in anger. We found her sitting down relaxedly while drinking the sweet sap of the tree's roots and eating the crunchy wood.

"SHAAAARRRGH!"

Once she realized we came to ruin her relaxing day, she roared back at us furiously, a thousand termites guarding her rushed towards us. My Draconic Beasts leaped into action, most of them capable of flying and over fifty meters of height.

The hydras moved their giant heads and tore the insects apart, the drakes crushed them with their heavy bodies, the snakes summoned waves of freezing ice and water, and the dragons mightily crushed and froze them.

The termites combined their magic into giant spheres of flames, but Mark easily cut through them with his giant frozen sword, while Nieve and Lily kept advancing forwards.

Angelina's party were also doing their best, killing over a hundred termites on their own, my daughter's party was the same, but Elena loved jumping into the battle alone.

She swung her sharp katana, her body, armor and weapon enchanted with ice dragon spirits, slashing the giant termites and making them explode with her phantasmal flames and ice auras that froze and blew them up into pieces.

As everyone advanced forwards, the termites were quickly grinded to dust. The queen panicked, ignoring the root and then rushing towards the ground, attempting to dig away while her children distracted us.

"Nuh-huh, you're nothing going anywhere."

However, she didn't count on me and Belle appearing right above her. A hundred spirits fused into my hands, as I combined them into both of my weapons, forming a massive golden hammer, further fused with Belle's divine thunder until it started overflowing with overcharged electricity.

[You have combined your two weapons and hundreds of High Spirits and High Dragon Spirits with your Familiar's Divine Thunder to temporarily create the {Divine Thunder Hammer Spirit: Mjolnir}!]

"It's over."

The hammer descended rapidly, smashing the giant queen in the head and then, making her gigantic, fat body splatter into smithereens everywhere.

BAAAMMM!!!

Its death was swift, she wasn't even able to scream before immediately being crushed... Eugh, I felt a bit bad at the end, it was so big and fat, it left so much juice everywhere. I thought I was going to vomit, but I contained the sensation and just joined the battle with everyone else.

After the termites were finally exterminated completely, we safeguarded the area by setting up a special spiritual domain with the items that little Titania gave us, which were wooden idols that created a barrier that protects the root's end.

It fueled on the tree's own spirit energy, so it can be kept indefinitely.

"And we're done! Phew! Let's go then, that wasn't that hard, huh?" I laughed.

"Yeah, it was surprisingly easy, that new Skill you used was amazing." Said Mark. "Your Summons became incredibly strong."

"Yeah, you can just summon plain old dragons now, Elayne?!" Rita laughed. "You're ridiculous."

"Well, they'll disappear in a few hours, so I can't keep such strong beings, but yes, this is the result of my new Skill Fusion, it cost me a whopping 500 Skill Points to get, so it wasn't really cheap." I giggled.

"I have to admit mom, you're always one step ahead of me even when I am higher level..." My daughter admitted. "I need to fuse more skills and get stronger... I don't want to lose against you!"

"Hahah, you can't just treat your own mother as your rival, Elena." I laughed a bit. "Just let's work together. You're already Level 300 by now, right?"

"Yeah, now I am soft locked. I need to go to somewhere and do some weird trial thing to Rank Up." Said Elena. "Can't be doing special Rank Up Quests anymore."

"I've heard that the Level 300 Trials have been discovered in the Demon King Continent and to the further southern ends of Verdant, but some speculate there's a different continent where the vast majority of the trials locations are." Said Angelina. "They are specific towers where specific classes need to go, or so I've heard."

"Now I feel somewhat relieved I am not Level 300 yet, that sounds like a real pain in the ass." Laughed Rita. "But well, we'll need to eventually seek them too."

"Yeah." My daughter sighed. "Well, I can still keep growing stronger with Titles and such, but it's truly annoying."

"We can help you find your Trial Tower once we're done with the Luminous Kingdom's affairs, dear." I smiled. "For now, let's return."

Creating a new green portal, we made our way back to the two Titanias, finding them both still drinking tea and chatting.

The Yggdrasil Tree almost immediately started glowing with a rainbow aura.

Was it finally acknowledging us?

Chapter 985: Meeting The Ancient Yggdrasil Tree

FLASH!

The tree was glowing brightly, emanating streams of spiritual essence and mana from within its roots, which quickly "touched" us gently. I felt her emotions and her presence once she touched us. She was very motherly, I felt it. She wanted to protect us, to guide us.

And to help us.

She acknowledged our efforts, and through her "emotions", I could sense a great amount of relief. She looked happy and more relaxed now. The bugs eating her roots were all dead and now she was finally well protected.

"It seems mama is really happy!" Said baby Titania.

"Did we get her approval then?" Asked Rita. "We did, right?!"

"I think so!" Adult Titania nodded. "She seems very joyful and happy now... Then, perhaps you should try asking her, Planta."

"Yeah, I guess you're the only one that could directly speak with a being such as her." Nodded Johanna. "I could try, but my society of Druids do not praise to Yggdrasil but Verdant, so, despite being kind of similar, both are very different godly beings. Yggdrasil seems much ancient and connected with you."

"I suppose so..." I nodded. "Alright, how do I talk with her? Just by speaking?" I asked little Titania, and big Titania too.

"No, not like that!" Both said at the same time.

"You have to get your Soul and Spiritual Powers attuned with her Divine Spiritual Soul first...!" Said big Titania.

"That's right!" Little Titania nodded. "You must go meet mama in person and touch her bark, then, you can attune to her Spiritual Soul, and you can speak to her! Usually mama wouldn't let anybody but me close to her... She can zap most threats that touch her bark! However, I think she'll accept you."

"She'll zap threats away?!" Rita panicked a bit. "Hey, wait a second, what if she ends up killing Planta?"

"Hahah, there's no way!" Little Titania giggled. "...I hope."

"Ugh... Okay, I'll go then." I nodded. "There's no time to waste. Everyone, please just wait for me. I'll come back quickly!"

"Wait, Planta." Mercedes walked towards me, looking into my eyes. "Please, if possible, show this to her." She gave me a broken piece of a golden necklace with coin-shaped ornament that had the engraving of a big tree. "This is the Sunshine Relic we used to slay that Demon King fragment before, remember? It is apparently made with one of the scales of the Yggdragon, what Yggdrasil once was.

Maybe if you show her this item, something could happen?"

"Hmmm, you mean that I could convince her better?" I wondered.

"Maybe? I just wanted you to see if it could be possible to make her awaken some memories of when she was the Yggdragon, because from what I've heard. She apparently holds none, as if she is a completely different being." Mercedes said with a worried expression. "At least... You could try?"

"Of course." I smiled, nodding. "Leave it to me. I'll get going then." I said, holding the broke relic with my hands.

I didn't had time to waste as I said, flying into the skies with my wings. Titania and her younger version accompanied me through this. Titania decided to merge into my body, as she was on her Spiritual Soul Avatar form, and only little Titania remained visible.

It felt strange, the closer we got to the Yggdrasil Tree, the more it felt like the air became denser and it was harder to breathe. At the same time, we were constantly moving through many membranes, that made not only the air, but space itself very heavy.

"Ah, this is exhausting..." I sighed. "Just what is this?"

"This is the presence of mama." Titania said. "Because she's so big, she's constantly draining energy from everywhere. So the closer you get to her, the more it feels like the air becomes heavier, there's barely any Mana in the air because she always is draining it all."

"So that's how it is..." I looked at the giant tree in silence.

Until finally, we reached the bark. There seemed to be not zaps of spiritual lightning thrown at me. This meant Yggdrasil had already acknowledged me as an ally and not as a threat.

"Looks like mama trust you." Titania smiled. "Now, let me guide you there. I can't go with you, so you better explain mama what you need, okay?"

"Okay." I nodded timidly.

Titania grabbed my hand and then led it to the bark, as she closed her eyes and told me to do the same. We combined our spiritual auras, and then directed them into the tree's interior. A river of rainbow light condensed itself and then entered the tree, flowing through it all.

In that moment, I also felt my own consciousness drifting through this river of energy, as I entered the tree. And there wasn't just wood inside. No, it was a Realm. Not a simple Realm either.

A Divine Realm.

It was a world of endless sparkling light. There was no such thing as dirt or plants, or even wood. Everything was just light, countless colors spread through it all.

I found my own consciousness drifting through this endless ocean of light and colors, falling deeper, and deeper, and deeper.

I felt the very presence of Yggdrasil, the original one.

In all her splendor.

Yet I couldn't bear with it, her entire divinity seemed overwhelming, even if this was a simulation.

This was immense.

I felt her powers sinking through me, she was trying to speak to me, but I couldn't hear.

I was going to drown.

I was going to die!

I felt my soul slowly dissipating, dissolving through Yggdrasil's divine existence.

I couldn't do anything.

Yet.

FLASH!

A bright pink light surged from within my soul, as I saw Titania appearing, the adult one.

She hugged me tightly, imbuing her warmth into me, and helping me bear with the immense and overwhelming presence of her divine mother.

I had talked with Gods before, but the experience now, it was like nothing I've ever experienced before.

Was this the true power of a true god?

"Hahhh... I-I almost died..." I couldn't help but cry, tears flowing from my eyes.

"Calm down, it's okay... I am here for you." Titania hugged me tightly, leading me upwards. "Mother is waiting for you, she's here."

"W-Where?" I wondered.

"Everywhere."

"What...?"

All of the light, everything.

This was Yggdrasil.

Chapter 986: The Overwhelming Presence Of A Divine Being

The endless bright light, the colors, everything that I thought was a Divine Realm was actually, like, just Yggdrasil herself! I think we've entered her actual soul. And somehow her soul worked similarly to a Divine Realm?

Now that I think about it, if Yggdrasil came from Yggdragon, it makes sense she was so powerful. The original Yggdragon was what the Demon King should have been, a perfect creation, a perfect combination of all the Gods Divinities into one.

It made sense for her to be so powerful even as just what the Yggdragon became after "dying" or well, if we say it a bit fancier, what she became after the Yggdragon went into an never ending slumber.

All of this brilliance that almost consumed me entirely was just her own self, her own soul. If it wasn't for Titania, I might have died. And I don't know if only my game Avatar would have been affected.

This felt very much connected to my real, actual soul after all.

Yet here we are. Titania led me higher and higher, until we finally meet her, or perhaps the embodiment of what we thought she was.

It was just a tree again. An enormous tree made of rainbow light. After closer inspection, I noticed all the lights here came from her roots, spread everywhere.

There was no face, no eyes, no humanoid form, unlike Verdant.

"Mother..." Titania looked up, tears flowing from her eyes. "It is truly you, mother... I've missed you so much."

"Hahh... S-She's Yggdrasil?" I asked, gasping for air. Even though my soul didn't need to breathe, it felt like I was running out of air before Yggdrasil's presence.

"I am."

A voice reverberated through everything, my soul, our souls, the divine realm, the soul, the world, and even reality and everything I perceived, all my senses resonated as one when she spoke.

It felt like my head was spinning!

"My child, Titania? Is it you? You seem so big now. And you... You are the one that healed my roots? Strange. You feel similar to me, and to my predecessor." Yggdrasil spoke again.

Ugh! It hurts!

It hurts to even listen to her.

But I don't have any choice.

I need to sit down and just hear her speak.

I have to bear with this powerful pressure, with what she is.

"M-Mother... Yes, it is me." Titania nodded while crying.

"Yes... Hahh... We come from another place." I spoke. "We come from what you may think is the future. We accessed through this fragment of the past using a Divine Dungeon, we came to prevent a disaster, or perhaps... many!"

"The future..." Yggdrasil remained in silence for a bit. "You speak no lies. I have read your souls. Your honesty is the truth. Your words... You are being honest? How could this be..."

I never thought Yggdrasil would speak so many words, being so high and mighty, she really sounds like a clueless woman, kind of like me.

I guess we are similar in many things.

More than just race and magic.

"I-It's the truth, of great tree..." I tried to be respectful. "We want to stop the calamity from striking Cloudia, the Floating Continent. A calamity that would also later give birth to the third demon king, who would desire your end, and would achieve it, by deceiving and brainwashing your children, the divine beasts...! Ugh..."

"A third demon king..." Yggdrasil spoke. "Through my long life, I've had very few opportunities to speak. So forgive my manners, but I simply can't... I can't help you."

"Eh? But... why?!" I cried.

"My powers, despite how you may consider them, are not the strongest." She said. "My creation is... I am a husk, the husk of a former god, although it might seem I am powerful, I am stagnant. I only spread life, the Yggdragon's last wish was this. I can spread life everywhere. But I cannot help you defeat them, the Demon Kings. They are beyond my power."

"We don't need to defeat them...!" I groaned, trying to make myself clearer. "I just need some of your help. We need to stop a ritual from happening, that might summon something from hell! If we can stop that and then kill the cultist, maybe everything else can be stopped. You don't need to risk your life. We are not asking you to do that."

"..." She remained in silence. "But how are you going to do this?"

"I am going to expand my Domain and use all my insane Skills to do it." I told her. "I just need you to inject me with your essence and some of your divine soul powers... And... Hahh... A-And then I can expand my Domain until we can reach our destination."

"I have never considered doing such a thing. You can create Domains?" She asked. "That is not something that... Well, perhaps... but..."

Despite how praised and beloved she was, her true self was full of doubts. She sounded like a woman conflicted with her own emotions and her own role.

I guess I couldn't help but feel a bit of empathy with her, if not a lot.

"Here."

I gave her the accessory Mercedes gave to me, her powers making it float towards her tree-shaped astral form.

"This is... A relic made from the scales of my predecessor, from Yggdragon." She spoke. "It contains a faint amount of their powers, very faint. But it remains there..."

"It came from Mercedes, a woman that has gone through a lot, really, a lot..." I sighed. "She wants to save her home, and also stop those cultists from ruining everyone's lives. It happened already, and... We don't want to see it happen again... So please, give us a hand, please... help us!"

"Mother... Please help her. Planta is nothing but an excellent person. Someone that will protect the forest you left behind, someone that has protected and loved all of its inhabitants..." Titania cried. "And someone that even managed to become similar to you, she carries your legacy."

"..."

Yggdrasil remained in silence once more.

Until she finally spoke.

"Very well."

Chapter 987: The Blessing Of Yggdrasil

"Very well." Yggdrasil's voice reverberated across the entirety of the Realm. "You've convinced me, this scale, albeit small, has given me some new resolve. I don't know how to properly say it, but it has given me bravery, perhaps perseverance? The strength that the Yggdragon had, which wasn't given to me... I can feel it, flowing through it. Do you mind if I modify this relic?"

"I-I don't! Please use it as you please." I said. "Mercedes said it was a gift." I told her. "And thank you so much for... deciding to help us!"

Somehow, I was slowly getting more used to her presence. I don't know if this was thanks to Titania's help, or perhaps my own strength and magic powers were giving me the courage or might. Nonetheless, it was helping, whatever this feeling was.

"Okay, I will..." Nodded Yggdrasil. Her branches moved, grabbing the relic and injecting them with a large quantity of her rainbow-colored spiritual energies.

FLASH!

The relic's golden metal turned completely rainbow colored, and it suddenly became twice as large, with sharp spikes at the borders, making it resemble a sun.

The necklace's thread became metallic and gold as well, and then, it gained a small rainbow jewel in the middle of it.

Then, the relic slowly floated back towards me.

"I-Incredible, mother has made something amazing!" Titania said.

"This is...?!" I wondered, looking at Yggdrasil.

"I've used my powers to repair and evolve this Divine Relic." Yggdrasil said. "I've connected my soul with it. Please, use it to channel my powers whenever you go, and I will help."

"T-Thank you so much!" I said happily, taking the necklace.

As if it were alive, the necklace instantly moved, placing itself around my neck. It shone brightly and beautifully. A certainly otherworldly beauty that could not be imitated.

Ding!

[The Divine Entity Yggdrasil has blessed your [Broken Sunshine Necklace] and has repaired and evolved it!]

[Your Divine Relic has evolved into the [Divine Rainbow Yggdrasil Heart Necklace]! A bond with Yggdrasil's Divine Spiritual Soul has been made with it.]

[Through your own Mana and Spirit Energy, you can now channel and invoke Yggdrasil's divine powers to aid you in battle and more.]

"It is amazing, it works as intended I believe." I said with a smile. "Thank you, lady Yggdrasil! Now, we must get going. We can't let those cultists have more time."

"I wish you good luck... Please, people of the future, save the past." Yggdrasil said, as both Titania and I suddenly appeared outside of Yggdrasil, right in front of the bark.

Little Titania was there, staring at us dumbfounded.

"So? How did it go? Did you meet mama- Woah!"

However, her words were interrupted as she noticed the necklace glowing brightly around my neck. It emanated the same presence her mother had.

"W-Where did you get that?! it feels like mother!" She said.

"It is a relic made from the Yggdragon scale, and which has been further enchanted by Yggdrasil, so it is like your mother, in a way, it is connected to her." I explained. "With this, we might be able to raid the Demon King Continent at long last."

"Amazing, so you did it! You did it!" Titania celebrated. "Well done!" The little girl said, very happy. "Should I go help you too?"

"No, there is no need, I would never dare risk your life like that, Titania." I giggled, giving the girl a head pat. "N-Now, shall we return? I am a bit tired of being below Yggdrasil's Aura, it is too overbearing."

"S-Sure!" Little Titania led us outside, where we met with my group.

"Elayne!"

"Planta!"

"You're back!"

They greeted me with happy smiles and hugs, it seemed I had been gone for over an hour and they were all growing increasingly worried I might have been zapped to death. Fortunately, I was alive and kicking.

We moved back to little Titania's small wooden palace where, while drinking tea, I explained everything to everyone. I decided to explain it calmly and while drinking tea and eating the food my Yggdrasil Avatar was making, so we could regain all our stamina and energies.

We've been cooking and eating a lot of things, but I haven't acquired any new Skill, though I've accumulated a lot of Divine Gourmet Essence, which is important to Rank Up my Specialization. I also gain a few tiny stats from time to time.

"So that's what happened, I see." Nodded Mark. "That's a relief. With that necklace we might truly be able to win. So now what's the plan? Should we teleport there right away?"

"I guess we should, right? I feel ready any time." Rita said. "The faster we finish this entire dungeon, the better for me."

"Dungeon?" Wondered Titania.

"It's... Well, we came back to the past through a dungeon, so it is considered such a thing for us." I explained to the baby girl.

"I see! Feels confusing... but I wish I could help! I am still too young and weak I guess." Little Titania sighed. "And my friends here aren't strong either." She looked at the Divine Beasts, they were all very young as well.

"Don't worry about anything, Titania. We got this." I smiled. "Right everyone?"

"Yeah, you just sit down here and relax. We'll get stuff done." Said my daughter. "Right Anna?"

"Yeah, yeah, I just want this to be done already." Anna sighed, sipping some chocolate flavored milk.

"I think it has been a pretty fun adventure so far!" Said Greenie. "Thanks for inviting me along, Elisa."

"Ah, it's fine." Elisa said. "I am quite intrigued about how everything will end... We better help as much as we can. Monica too!"

"Y-Yes Elisa!" Monica nodded. "I think I've gotten a lot stronger after leveling up a lot. I-I've combined some skills too!"

"Nice, well done. You're getting there then." My daughter smiled. "Your curses are always the best to weaken foes and make them even more susceptible to our attacks, also the chains are good too. Remember you can use Spells here as well."

"The Spells I...? Really?" Monica wondered.

"Yeah, we can use all of them, so don't shy away from using them instead of the Skills." I nodded. "Now, is everyone ready? Angelina's party too?"

"We are!" Angelina nodded. "Let's go, Planta."

"Alright!"

Chapter 988: Let's Save The Past

Everyone was mostly ready to go, so we decided to depart. Although we couldn't bring Little Titania with us, she decided to still help us on her own adorable way.

"W-Wait a minute, please! Warriors from the future!" She stopped us. "B-Before you go, I want to wish you all good luck! A-And... Nngghh... A-And! Ugh, nnggghh...!"

Suddenly, she stopped us and started groaning adorable, trying to channel her own spiritual powers, slowly, her pink aura surged from her body, and then it channeled into her hands.

"There, t-take this! {Little Fairy Queen's Blessing}!"

FLAAASH!

A wave of pink and purple light washed over all of us, as an Aura of her powers remained permeating our bodies with a faint veil of spirit power. This was a weaker version of Titania's own buff blessing.

Ding!

[Little Queen Titania has given you her temporary Blessing!]

[All your Stats have increased by +5%, and your HP, MP, and Spirit Energy Regeneration Speed has increased by +20%!]

[Duration: 3 Hours.]

It was very small! Comparable to almost any skill or buff we provided; it was greatly dwarfed... However, the intention was what mattered. She looked exhausted after having conjured it, showing how adorable she was, she wanted us to win, and she lend us all her little strength for that.

"Hahh... Phew! D-Did you get it?!" She asked excitedly. "I-It's my first time using it! Mama said I have the power to bless people! D-Do you feel stronger?"

"Yes, we got it." I smiled. "Thank you! We feel much stronger now!"

"R-Really? It wasn't weak?" Titania wondered.

"Hell yeah it is strong! I feel like I'm bursting with power over here!" Said Anna. "You're incredible, little Titania!"

"That's right, this boost might be just enough for us to achieve victory." My daughter nodded.
"Incredible."

"It's pretty good!" Monica nodded.

"Y-Yeah, I mean... I could do it better maybe, but yours pretty good, yeah." Elisa nodded.

"She did her best, Elisa, try to cheer her up!" Greenie told her. "It was really good!" He gave the little fairy his thumbs up.

"It is amazing, well done, little Titania." Mark nodded, crossing his arms. "I feel like I am blazing with power now more than ever before!" He let his own flames flow through his entire body.

"Thank you! It really helps!" Lily smiled.

"Y-Yeah..." Johanna nodded, smiling a bit. "Thank you."

"It was a pretty good buff I would say." Ambil stroked his beard. "It got my muscles all strong."

"It was just enough, my young queen." Nieve smiled. "Leave the rest to us. We shall carry your intent within our hearts." She bowed.

"Yeah, thanks a lot queen Titania!" Acorn said adorably. "We heroes of the Forest of Beginnings will take care of things now! We won't let the bad future happen to this timeline!"

"You're so cute, NYAH! Any buff you give would be the strongest!" Anikitty said, wagging her tail.

"It wasn't really... Err, it was amazing, actually." Erdrich smiled while nodding. He was going to be honest, but Angelina patted his shoulders with a menacing smile. "I feel super duper strong! Wow!"

"Hahah, the sincerity and love you carry has been given to us. Of course we feel stronger and more motivated now." Gandalf smiled. "Even if this is a game... These experiences and the emotions we feel, they're all real after all. Thank you, little Titania."

"Truly." Angelina nodded. "We'll save the past, leave this to us."

"Yep! Thank you for the buff!" Brisingra said. "Leave the rest to us little girl!"

"Thank you, princess Titania." Mercedes smiled.

"It is as they say." I nodded, looking at little Titania. "Thank you so much for the help!"

Little Titania looked at everyone praising her and loving her, and she smiled, and a few tears flowed from her beautiful pink eyes. She looked really touched. Although our visit was short, I think we've been the first time she has interacted with more people for longer than a couple of minutes.

And we were a lot, so it was even more impacting for her. I could tell, Titania at my side, our Titania from the future, she seemed emotional as well, looking both slightly happy and also sorrowful. I suppose she was wishing she could have had our visit back then.

"E-Everyone... Good luck! Okay? D-Do your best to save Cloudia, a-and the forest, and mama!" She said, waving her little hand.

A green and golden colored portal opened as I gave the signal to my Avatar. Within the Demon King Continent, the Avatar unleashed their power fully. The necklace already activating, as Yggdrasil's energies flowed into my Avatar directly through our connection.

RUMBLE!

The dark lands of the Demon King Continent trembled and rumbled. The endless swamps of miasma and nether started to slowly dissolve completely. Plant life grew over the Demon King continent for perhaps the first time in history.

A domain was formed, and it kept expanding and expanding. All kinds of trees, flowers, herbs, and more constantly appeared. Spirits also were born, as I activated my new Skill, [Yggdragon's Nature Spirit Gardener], to expand my gardens over there instantly covering 100 Tiles, High Dragon Spirits and High Elemental Spirits being born constantly.

"It's done!" I said, the portal quickly led us into the new Domain I created inside the Demon King Continent, we all rushed in, saying our last goodbyes to little Titania.

I noticed adult Titania flying towards her young self. She looked at her and then hugged her tightly, kissing her forehead.

"Never forget your love for your friends." She said in tears, looking at the young Divine Beasts at Titania's side. "And never leave them alone, never. Okay?"

"O-Okay!" Little Titania smiled cutely. "Do your best, future me! I will do my best too, to grow like the cool queen you are!"

"You don't need to overdo it..." Titania sighed, smiling. "Just be yourself. It'll be fine..."

As she said those last words, we left the Prehistoric Verdant Continent, and we found ourselves inside the Demon King Continent.

A desolate land of darkness and miasma with a black sky, and also the cradle where the Demon Kings were born.

"We're finally here... Everyone, let's end this."

Chapter 989: Let's Create A New Ending

As we stepped into the Demon King Continent, the first thing we noticed were the endless dark lands. And the strange swamp-like matter spread everywhere. There was no place in this continent where there were only dry rocks. Everything, absolutely everything was covered by a thin veil of miasma, nether, and even demonic energy.

The only green and colorful thing was what I had brought here, the Domain of Nature, Life, Spirits, and everything else in between. It constantly expanded towards every place as I overtook more and more Tiles. But I quickly decided that was too ineffective, and it might end up wasting away my energies. The Miasma was deadly, eating away at my Domain quickly.

But my Domain grew only a bit faster for the Miasma to not be completely effective.

If this was another area of the world with just an infestation of Miasma, it wouldn't be hard to clean everything. However, this was much different in this continent. Miasma came endlessly from everywhere. This was a Continent originated from Erebus fall from the heavens after all.

I'll was the Domain if I let it expand everywhere, so I quickly decided to leave a minimum of a hundred surrounding meters for all of us to walk through. I wasn't going to expand the Domain until our foes though, that would be unrealistic. We'll go through the skies!

The thing is, without being able to have soil to plant the tree necessary to teleport here, we would have never been able to get here in time.

But now that we're finally here thanks to Yggdrasil's energies helping me make a domain strong enough to hold on against the miasma, giving me the opportunity to plant this special tree, we should definitely just go through the skies. The tentacles in the swamps will stop attacking you once you reach an altitude of half almost half a kilometer, I believe.

"So this is the Demon King Continent!" Said Mercedes, looking around. "It is much darker and horrid than I imagined. So much Miasma everywhere. It feels like hell on Earth. H-How do we even get through all of this? It feels utterly hopeless, everything."

"Through the skies, naturally." I smiled. "We didn't come here to walk through it, that might be way too exhausting not only for me but for Yggdrasil helping us set things up. I can already sense them from afar though. I've expanded my Senses; the Cultists are all gathered at the center of the continent. We'll need to fly as fast as possible before their ritual begins."

"Woah..." Brisingra was still looking around. "This place is so terrifying."

"Indeed it is. It feels like we don't belong here, that we shouldn't be here..." Ambil muttered. "I wonder if this is truly a simulation, truly a dungeon? The more we live here, the more it feels like we have truly gone to the past."

"If that is the true intention of the Dungeon or not, we'll have to discover on our own eventually." I sighed, looking into the distance.

"Yeah, she's right." Mark agreed. "Let's not get distracted, everyone, time is gold. Let's go. To the skies. Everyone that can't fly, quickly get over our Familiars." He summoned several flying Totem Spirits himself.

"Yeah, get up!" I told everyone, as they rode over my many Divine Beast Familiars. Every single one of them could fly. "Now... Wind Spirits! Give us as much speed as you can, please!"

FLASH! FLASH! FLASH!

I gathered all the Spirits I had created so far, every single one of them was a Wind Spirit or a Wind Dragon Spirit, which I imbued into our flying familiars, giving them Auras of Emerald Winds.

Ding!

[You have imbued your targets with the {Great Blessing of Wind Spirits} by merging several Wind Spirits and Wind Dragon Spirits into them!]

[Every Blessed target now has the ability to naturally fly through the skies, and all their Movement Speed, Flying Speed, Reaction Speed, Attack Speed, Agility, Dodge, and Evasion has increased by +2500%!]

[Duration: 20 Minutes.]

"Let's go!"

With a blast of emerald winds, all familiars flew through the skies, zapping through at sonic speed. As we moved closer, I checked the system notifications I had gotten. We might still have a few minutes until we get there, so I might as well get fully prepared.

[The Blessing of Young Titania has permanently merged with one of your Skills!]

[The [Fairy Queen's Protection: Lv8] Skill has Levelled up to Level 10!]

[The Skill has reached Max Level!]

[Fairy Queen's Protection: Lv10]

A Special Skill that can only be acquired through the Blessing of the Fairy Queen. This Skill can be equipped in any Skill Slot. Due to your affinity with nature and spirits, the Fairy Queen has taken a liking on you and has seen through your kind heart.

You have gained her Protection, which enhances your Physical and Magical Defense by +110%. Additionally, in a pinch, you have a small chance (100%) to be able to block a lethal attack against you or any of your registered [Party Members] once every hour.

Alongside that, you can also enhance Barrier-type and Ward-type Magic to gain greater effects, by using Spiritual Essence, you can further enhance their Defensive Power, Healing Effects, and Special Effects by +110%.

When enhancing already existing Barrier or Ward-type Magic, you can also shape it and control its form much better, using it to either encompass your body or as a temporary, emergency weapon.

Lastly, enhances the Total Stats, Power, Duration, and Insight of all Summoned Spirits by +110%.

Oh, this was amazing, it finally reached Level 10 thanks to Little Titania?! I had no idea this happened! So she ended helping even more than she ever thought!

"So this is the Demon King Continent..." Adult Titania sat by my side, looking through the skies and below. "The land where the Demon King of Miasma was born. And where Hero Luminous died after slaying him..."

"This is the past though; it hasn't happened yet in here." I told her, trying to comfort her. "And we won't let it happen either."

"...Thank you, Planta." She smiled. "Let's create a new ending, a happy one."

"Yeah!"

Chapter 990: Evolving Divine Beast Skills!

As I talked with Titania, yet another system message popped up, one I had not noticed earlier, but that I could now completely feel within me.

Ding!

[The [Divine Lightning Horn: Lv99/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill has Leveled up to Level 100/100!]

[The [Black Vines of Steel: Lv99/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill has Leveled up to Level 100/100!]

[The [Colony Mind: Lv99/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill has Leveled up to Level 100/100!]

[The [Space-Traversing Eldritch Body: Lv99/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill has Leveled up to Level 100/100!]

[The [Divine Domain Of The Holy Golden Koi Spring Palace: Lv99/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill has Leveled up to Level 100/100!]

Through all the battles so far, these Skills have been Leveling Up like crazy, especially with the bonus EXP gained from being near the Divine Beast Familiar related to each Skill in question.

However, the notifications didn't end there.

[Congratulations! All of your equipped Divine Beast Skills have reached Max Level.]

[Each Skill can now either Evolve into a stronger version of the same Skill with some extra abilities or perks or become available for Skill Fusion.]

[Divine Beast Skills will not cost any Skill Points in the Skill Fusion process of the Skill Forge, so fuse them to your heart's content.]

Now, I can either evolve them or fuse them together. Although evolution sounds appealing, that wouldn't free any Skill Slots, and I really want to free some! If I keep ranking up then I'll need more and more slots, and the System is always stingy about them. Even with a Subclass, I never have enough for everything I want, dang it!

I have to think fast though.

So, should I fuse them? To what do I fuse them into? I guess the easiest pick would be the horns, and then the vines. Do I combine them together? But that would be kind of strange. What would I get out of combining lightning-producing horns and metallic vines?

Then there's Colony Mind. I would rather leave that one intact- No, maybe I should evolve it? It is one of the few really useful Skills I can't afford to fuse away and end up making it, so it become something worse by accident.

And then the Space Traversing Skill and the Domain. I think I can sacrifice the Domain Skill into a fusion, but what about the Space Traversing one? That's also pretty useful. I guess the Space Traversing and the Colony Mind Skills should be kept and just evolved into better forms.

Yeah, let's do that first.

Ding!

[You have chosen to evolve the [Colony Mind: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill!]

[The Skill: [Colony Mind: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] has evolved into the [Myriad Minds: Lv1/200 (Divine Beast Skill) (Evolved I)] Skill!]

[You have chosen to evolve the [Space-Traversing Eldritch Body: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] Skill!]

[The Skill: [Space-Traversing Eldritch Body: Lv100/100 (Divine Beast Skill)] has evolved into the [Space-Warping Eldritch Spirit Body: Lv1/200 (Divine Beast Skill) (Evolved I)] Skill!]

Okay, first of all, the names already sound great. Second, they gained an "(Evolved I)" thingy at the end of the Skill name. Does this mean it has a grade, and its grade is "I" which means 1? So these skills can go past a single evolution and get higher and stronger ranks of evolution, I would assume.

Interesting, but it doesn't mean I'll just let the others evolve. These two were just that amazing and important. Now let's check them!

[Myriad Minds: Lv1/200 (Divine Beast Skill) (Evolved I)]

The Evolution of the [Colony Mind] Divine Beast Skill Inherited from your {Divine Beast Familiar}: [Terra]. This Skill cannot be leveled up through Skill Points and can only Level Up through constant usage of the Skill.

Through the Activation of this Skill, your mind can be divided through a series of bodies of your own, previous creation that are connected to both your Soul and Mind. Not only that, but you can surpass your previous limits and deposit several minds within these bodies to enhance the ability to multi-task, creating a Myriad of Minds.

The Myriad Minds will work and imitate the main Mind which they are connected to, without putting too much strain into it. Minds added to the Myriad Minds will become autonomous yet will follow any orders you give to them. You can also share your thoughts or place your mind into any mind at any time and share it with their Myriad Minds connected to it.

Your Mind Strength, Mind Capacity, and Mind Stamina increases by +550%, with an additional +2.5% with each Skill Level. This will directly enhance the Potency of your Soul, as it will contain your Mind due to your body's lack of a brain organ.

Your Soul has become stronger as a result, its Soul Power, Soul Stamina, and Soul Regeneration have increased by +100%, with an additional +1% with each Skill Level.

By the constant usage of this Skill, you have awakened some new Mind Abilities and Psychic Abilities, which grow in Power and Effects by +1.5% with each Skill Level:

{Telepathy}: You can connect your Mind Waves with the Mind of another target and directly speak inside their minds. Targets must be willing to let you speak inside their minds for the process to be secure. When using this on a foe, it might be possible to attack their Minds instead, though the power of such an Attack will be based on the Skill Level and the Power of your Soul.

{Telekinesis}: By spending Mana, you can wield Psychic Powers and manipulate objects with an invisible Mind Force. The Power, Dexterity, and Ability of the Psychic Mind Force is based on the Skill Level, Mana used, and the Power of the Soul. Invisible barriers of this Mind Force and other forms can also be created using it.

When fighting alongside Terra, Skill EXP earned increases by x10.

Woah, this is amazing! It became so much better now! Myriad Minds! I can make many, many minds and tell them to do things automatically! This means I can make Skills automatically activate using them.

Isn't that incredible?! And above all, my Soul, it feels so strong out of nowhere, so large, so dense, so powerful. If I had met Yggdrasil with this new enhanced Soul, I don't think I would have almost died...

And that's without mentioning the Telepathy and Telekinesis!