

Chapter 313 A Large Pool Of Blood

That’s right. If this matter had nothing to do with Ryan, why did he call William here then? And why were they talking about the child?

This proved that what William said was true. Ryan was the father of Amber’s child!

“William Langford!” Ryan roared. His whole body was tense. William’s words had created a big misunderstanding.

His eyes fell on Elena. Although she was expressionless, her trembling hands betrayed her. She was shocked and disheartened.

Ryan’s throat moved with difficulty. “Elena, give me some time. I will explain everything.”

Elena looked at Ryan and her face was as pale as a sheet of white paper. Her voice was hoarse, "What else do you have to explain?"

The world was as dark as a crow. She should not have believed Ryan after the last incident.

Ryan clenched his fists. William was here now. He could not say anything.

"Ryan Monor, you are a man. If you dare to do it, then dare to accept it. Amber has your child in her womb. Why don't you admit it?"

"William, shut up!" Ryan's tone was cold.

However, William refused to give in. “Why should I shut up? You slept with my fiancée and now that your wife found out, you want to shut me up? Ryan Monor, you really don’t have any shame, do you?”

Although Ryan was in business field and William belonged to army, there was an incident happened years ago for which both of them basically became enemies.

A few years ago, when William heard about Ryan’s accident, he originally planned to let this matter go as he did not want to bicker with a disabled man. However, William had never thought that, the person whom he let go thinking as a “cripple” wasn’t cripple at all, but he was as cunning as an old fox who actually crippled the wedding between the Thomas family and Langford family.

Just thinking about this made William’s teeth itch.

William sarcastic words echoed the whole room, followed by Amber’s yell and Ryan’s gloomy voice.

The three people bickered, but Elena’s world was totally silent. Her ears were buzzing and mind was blank.

Her world collapsed in an instant.

Elena always knew Amber’s intentions towards Ryan were not as pure as she showed it to be. But she never thought much about it.

Because she trusted Ryan.

She trusted Ryan more than her life, more than her soul, more than anything else in this world.

But often the person whom you trust blindly reveals that your eyes were closed sooner or later.

Elena felt her eyes turn sore, but a single tear did not come out from them.

She stepped back step by step. The short distance of a few steps made her feel like she had walked for a century.

When she reached the door, Elena suddenly turned around and quickly ran out.

"Elena!" Ryan shouted and chased after her.

After Ryan left, Amber turned to look at William. Her eyes were full of coldness. Her tone was fierce. "Are you satisfied now?"

"It should be you who is satisfied. After all, Ryan Monor must have taken a great care of you.” William sneered coldly, “That’s it. The wedding ends here.”

After saying that, William too left in large strides.

The whole office turned silent in an instant.

Amber, who was originally angry, gradually returned to her original expression. After that, she revealed a relaxed smile that showed that she had gotten what she wanted.

...

After Ryan ran out, he saw Elena walking on the main street. The cars that came and went were shuttling in the middle of the main road, and they almost ran into Elena a few times.

Ryan was shocked and shouted. "Elena, don't go anymore! It's dangerous!"

Elena acted as if she did not hear anything and continued to walk forward like a puppet.

She really could not hear and think anything now. Her mind was blank.

Ryan was stressed to the extreme seeing her like this. He tried to run to her side many times, but every time he took a step forward, cars kept coming over, making him retreat again.

It was the peak hour of the day. Many cars came and went in a flash and it was almost impossible to cross the road unscratched.

Ryan somehow managed to run to Elena’s side. Just as he was about to grab her towards him, a car sped over and bumped into the woman who was in a trance.

CRASH –

A loud noise of car crashing into someone sounded, along with the sound of sharp brakes and the ear-piercing sound of tire rubbing the ground, followed by the screams of a few onlookers.

A figure flew in the air and then collapsed on the ground, rolling over to the side of the road.

Ryan’s whole body turned cold when he saw Elena’s figure flashing in the air and tumbling to the ground.

"Elena!" Ryan roared wildly. Without any care, he ran to her side like a madman.

Many cars had already stopped due to the accident and some people had already come to help.

Ryan fell on his knees. The woman was lying on the ground motionless. His whole body was trembling as he picked her up.

Her hair was scattered. Lines of blood appeared on her forehead, staining her fair face and the man’s hands. The corner of her mouth was crooked.

Her hands and legs were scratched, with blood oozing out of them. Her face was extremely pale.

She was heavily injured.

“Elena!” Ryan held her in his arms tightly. He was so scared that his mind stopped working.

Although Elena was badly injured, she had not totally lost her consciousness. Her whole body was in pain, but there was one place where the pain was exceptional. That was her stomach.

A stream of warm blood flowed down between her legs, making her stiffen. Elena reached out and touched her stomach. Her already pale face turned even paler. “Child. . .”

Her vision turned black and she lost her consciousness.

Ryan vaguely felt Elena say something, but her voice was too soft. When he lowered his head, Elena had already lost her consciousness.

Xavier and Finn had already rushed out of the Monor Group by this time. When they reached the spot, they saw Elena was lying in a large pool of blood and Ryan was trembling while holding her.

Some people present had already called the ambulance and they immediately carried Elena to the hospital.

When she was sent to the emergency room, Elena had already fallen into a coma.

Ryan's entire body was covered in blood as he leaned against the wall. His face was deadly pale.

When he thought about how Elena's entire body was covered in blood, he was so scared that his entire body trembled violently.

Elena had said that she would go and accompany her mother, that’s why he set this meeting with William today. He wanted to sort this matter once and forever.

However, he had never thought that Elena would show up in his office in the meantime. She even heard everything.

Ryan closed his eyes and Elena’s lifeless figure while crossing the road and how she was hit by the car appeared.

He shuttered violently. He had never been so scared before in his whole life.

If something happened to Elena, what would he do? How would he live after losing her?

He could not imagine it!

The doctor rushed out of the emergency room. "Are you the patient's family?"

"Yes, I am. How is my wife?" Ryan asked anxiously.

The doctor took off her mask revealing her serious face, “Sir, your wife is pregnant. The accident has caused a severe impact on her abdomen. The child cannot be saved. We have to perform surgery to remove it. I hope you can sign the consent form for the surgery as soon as possible.”

The doctor handed a piece of paper to Ryan as she spoke.
