

Chapter 317 I Am Not An Outsider For Elena

On the other side, Amber heard the news of Elena’s car accident and rushed to the hospital.

When she saw Ryan sitting in a dispirited manner at the door of the ward, an unknown glint flashed in her eyes.

Amber quickly walked over and sat beside Ryan. She held Ryan’s hand and said in an anxious tone, “Ryan, are you alright? I really did not expect Elena to have an accident like this. She was even pregnant. I heard that the child. . .” Amber paused and shook her head, “Is Elena alright?”

Ryan was silent. He did not answer Amber. He just pulled his hand with force as if he had been touched by a dirty animal. He felt disgusted with Amber’s touch.

Ryan’s disgust was too obvious. Amber’s face froze. She bit her lips and revealed an innocent expression. Her eyes instantly turned red, “I’m sorry, Ryan. If it wasn’t for me, Elena wouldn’t have been in trouble. No, I will go in and explain to Elena. I have to apologize her in person!”

Amber stood up as she spoke and was about to walk into the ward.

Just as she was about to push open the door, a hand reached out and grabbed Amber’s shoulder with force. It pushed her back mercilessly.

Amber was unprepared and the force was too great. As a result, she was pushed backwards and staggered violently, almost fall to the ground.

She looked at Ryan in shock. "Ryan?"

Ryan looked at Amber coldly. His gaze was so sharp and intimidating that it could pierce through people’s flesh and bones, directly killing them.

"No need for that." Ryan's tone was cold. Elena was already stimulated enough. He did not want this woman to go in and make her even more sad.

Now he knew better than anyone that Amber would never do any good. Her explanation would only cause more harm.

Looking at Ryan’s hateful gaze, Amber got goosebumps all over her body. Although she knew that Ryan did not like her, he never showed his hatred like this before. For a moment, she felt guilty for her actions.

However, that feeling only lasted for less than a second before Amber forcefully suppressed it.

"Ryan, I just want Elena to not misunderstand us. I just wanted your help to escape from that marriage. But I did not expect things to turn like this. The consequences of this matter are too great. Elena had an accident and lost her child. We need to explain the whole thing. Or are you going to let her get hurt again?”

Amber's face was full of worry, as if she was really thinking for Elena.

Ryan looked at Amber in an unfathomable gaze. He raised his leg and stepped in front of Amber. Step by step he pushed Amber to the wall. "Stop this hypocrisy. No one is watching. You don’t have to act here. If you were really that considerate, why did not you explain it at that time? Why did you keep silent?”

"Ryan. . . I. . . I really couldn’t say anything that time. You know. . .” With each step Ryan took, Amber took a step back. Ryan looked very scary, just like a demon from underworld. Amber was so scared that her voice trembled when she spoke.

"Ha! You can leave. From today onwards, we are dead for each other." Ryan took a few steps back. He turned his head to not look her. Whenever he looked at her, he remembered how his child died miserably in cold blood.

Hearing Ryan’s distant and hateful tone, Amber’s heart skipped a beat. She became somewhat flustered.

She grabbed Ryan’s arm. She said in a sense of urgency, “Ryan, you know that I did not mean it that way. We all feel sorry for what happened to Elena. But the matter has already happened and there is no way to change it. Why do you have to drag the past and not let it go?"

At this moment, Spencer rushed to the ward from the entrance of the hospital. He happened to see this scene.

If he was shocked hearing about Ryan and Amber before, he was furious now.

Such a big thing happened and Elena lost her child. Yet, these two people still had the courage to show their affection in front of Elena’s door.

Spencer’s expression tightened and he walked over aggressively, “The world is full of audacious people, isn’t it? Even after such a big thing happened, Ryan Monor, you still have the mood to talk love with your little lover? You wife is lying inside the ward, yet you dare to act so brazenly outside the door?”

Ryan’s expression turned dark when he saw Spencer. Why was he here?

Spencer came in front of Ryan and spoke in an unfriendly tone. "Why are you staring at me like this? Is nobody allowed to tell that you have done something wrong?"

"This is our business. No outsider is allowed to interfere. What are you doing here?" Ryan was already in a mess. Amber had already pissed him off. He did not expect Spencer to interfere, too.

"Outsiders?" Spencer scoffed, with his eyes burning with rage, “That's right. In your eyes, I am indeed an outsider. After all, I have nothing to do with you or this shitty lover of yours. But Ryan Monor, I am not an outsider for Elena and her child. Because. . .”

Spencer paused. Seeing Ryan’s expression change, he finished his remaining words, “I accompanied Elena to the hospital to find out about the child.”

As he spoke, he could not help but recall Elena's expression at the hospital that day.

Joy, anger, sadness, all types of confronting emotions filled her face. When her husband was holding another woman, she found out that she was pregnant. He could not imagine what Elena would have thought at that time.

"What did you say?" Ryan suddenly stepped forward and grabbed Spencer's collar. His eyes emitted fire as if he was going to skin Spencer alive, "You said that you and Elena checked it together?"

He knew about this matter just a few hours ago. However, Spencer knew it beforehand?

Spencer shook Ryan off impatiently and patted his wrinkled clothes. Looking at the furious man, he sneered, “Why are you overacting? We all know what type of person you are, so don’t pretend. You didn’t care when Elena was so sad and ran out. You were busy with this shitty lover of yours. How would you have cared about your wife?”
