

Chapter 325 The Monor Group Is In A Mess

Ryan arranged two bodyguards to guard in front of Elena’s hospital ward before leaving the hospital. Given the situation, he knew that as long as he stayed there, Elena would not eat anything, nor would she take a rest.

It was better for him to stay away from her sight for a few days, even though he was reluctant.

On the way back, he received a call from Xavier while he was driving. Xavier would not call him unless it was something urgent. Ryan answered the phone.

Xavier’s voice was not good. “Mr. Monor, the board members are very concerned about the current situation. They want to meet you and discuss it themselves.”

Amber’s interview yesterday not only dropped a bomb on the outside world, but also on the Monor Group.

Previously, Ryan standing up from the wheelchair after five long years and him acquiring the whole Monor Group overnight had caused a huge commotion in the city. Those things hadn’t faded yet and now such a thing happened again.

The Monor family was the wealthiest and most influential family in the Hai City. Although not as wealthy as Monors, but the Lewis family could be considered to be a top family as well. And the Thomas family was the leader of four families in the capital. The dispute between them was prone to become the talk of the city.

Various reporters and media houses were calling continuously to ask about the situation. Even the partners and collaborates were calling to know what happened.

Xavier and other secretaries were continuously receiving calls from business partners. The whole Monor Group was in a mess.

Although the shares had not fallen yet, Ryan’s image had been greatly affected. The public opinion was not any good either. In such a time, it was inevitable for the shareholders to worry about the company.

However, the problem was that the timing was not right.

Xavier tried his best to control the situation. However, these shareholders were as stubborn as a bull. They wanted to see Ryan and get an explanation from him. Therefore, Xavier had no choice but to call Ryan.

Too many things happened in a single day. No matter who it was, he or she would be exhausted. Ryan was not an exception.

Everyone thought that he had left yesterday. However, what they did not know was that later that night, he came back and was watching over Elena for the whole night.

How could he leave her alone at such a time? Even thought he could only stand in front of the hospital room, he had to do it.

The reason he left yesterday was because as long as he stayed there, Amber would not have left. And the longer Amber stayed, the more troubles she would create. Therefore, in order to chase Amber away, he had no option but to leave the hospital first himself.

It was not until dawn that he reluctantly left the hospital before Mrs. Baker woke up.

He had neither slept nor eaten anything from yesterday. He was exhausted both physically and mentally. Now he had neither the mood nor the strength to care about the company’s matters.

Ryan’s voice was cold. “Take care of them yourself. If you can’t, just buy their shares directly. I don’t need these old fools anyway.”

He directly hung up the phone after he finished speaking.

He never really cared about the Monor Group. If not for the fact that he doubted Roman for Elena’s kidnapping, he would not have bothered with the Monor Group.

These shareholders wanted an explanation from him? Sure. When the Monor Group went bankrupt.

He did not care about anything now. He just needed his Elena to recover as soon as possible.

Ryan directly drove back home. No matter what happened in the Monor Group, he would just ignore it.

The maids were shocked when they saw the man coming with a cold face. They did not expect him to come at this moment.

In fact, the maids were all shocked when they heard about the commotion outside. They had been here for a long time and had seen Ryan and Elena’s relationship. They had witnessed themselves how much Ryan cared about and loved Elena. How could such a person cheat?

Ryan did not even glance at the maids as he directly went up the stairs to the second floor. He was about to go to his bedroom when he suddenly stopped.

Ryan turned at his head and looked towards the door of the nursery. The door was not tightly shut and he could vaguely hear the children’s babbling.

Ryan went to the nursery and pushed open the door. A maid was sitting there, taking care of the twins.

Seeing the man come in, the maid stood up and bowed respectfully. “Mr. Monor.” She then went out and closed the door behind.

Ryan went to the baby cribs and looked down.

The twins were almost six months old now. They were soft and chubby but not too fat. They were just healthy. Their skin was snow white just like Elena. They were wearing a pair of matching baby clothes, prepared by their mother.

Elena often liked to dress the twins in matching dresses. She said that it would increase the love between them. Although he never understood this concept, seeing Elena happy, he was naturally very contented.

Ryan looked at the two children very carefully. Everyone said that the twins resembled him, but Ryan felt that they resembled Elena more. Especially their little noses and lips, they just looked like the little version of Elena.

When the twins saw their father standing in front of them, both of them moved their hands and legs vigorously as if wanting their father to hug them.

Ryan bent down and picked both of them with both of his hands. He went to the sofa, sat down and placed the twins in his lap, facing him.

Sitting in their father’s lap, the twins grinned and babbled. They bounced up and down, playing happily with the man’s collar and shirt buttons with their tiny hands.

Seeing his daughter and son, Ryan suddenly lost his strength. His hugged the twins and his eyes filled with tears. “I am sorry. It’s all my fault. It’s me who is incomppliant. I couldn’t save your sibling. I am sorry.”

His voice was very soft. “But I didn’t do it on purpose. I didn’t know about your sibling. I just want to save your mother. But your mother is hurt now. She doesn’t want to see me now. What should I do?”

The twins were so small to even understand a single word he said. However, it was a good thing for Ryan who wanted to express his emotions desperately.

Sometimes you just need someone to listen to you even though the other person do not able to understand your words.

Since yesterday, many people said many things to him. But he did not reply to anyone. First, he could not explain things clearly. Second, the person he wanted to explain did not want to hear him.

Now he desperately needed someone to hear him. He wanted to say the things of his heart.

Ryan was too engrossed in his own thoughts that he did not notice his daughter who was looking at him with her big black eyes wide open. It was unknown if she felt her father’s sorrow and agony, but her lips twitched and she began to cry loudly, shaking the whole villa.

It was only then that Ryan came back to his senses. He put his son on the sofa and hurriedly picked up his crying daughter. He hugged her and began to coax her.

After sometime, when the maid came back to check on the children, she was stunned to see the scene inside. The man was holding the two children in his arms and was leaning against the sofa. While the two children were laying on the man’s chest quietly. They all had their eyes closed.

It was unknown whether the man coaxed the children to sleep or he himself was coaxed by the children.
